Paddington, the largest station on the Great Western Railway of England, was designed by Brunel, who planned that famous ship, the Great Eastern. The station was built over half a century ago at a cost of $3,250,000, but has since been very much enlarged and now covers an 70 acres. Each of the nine platforms is 800 feet in length.

Germany, which stands at the head of Europe for the number of its newspapers, has over 5,500, of which 800 are dailies. England takes second place with some 3,000, but has the most dailies, 800 in all. France is close behind with 2800, of which a quarter appear daily, bi- or triweekly. Italy has 1200, while in order follow Austria, Spain, Russia, Greece and Switzerland.

MAN AND HIS TAILOR.

Plaids In Subdued Colors For Business Suits.

As in materials for women's garments, plaids are very popular for men's clothes this winter. The higher class shops show these plaids in patterns formed by diagonal lines that cross on dark grounds. In colors the lines are yellow, lavender, dark red, blue and green on grounds of mahogany, slate, bottle green, purple and other dark shades. The most recent changes in the formation of sack coats include four grouped buttons, the absence of coat cuffs, the sidetrack of unsightly, shape exhibiting lines and accentuated pressed side seams, thus rescuing real man from effeminate emulation. The only conforming considered proper now is at the waist line, and that in moderate degree. A sensible center vent is again in evidence, side openings being deemed out of date alike on overcoats and sacks. The newest wrinkle in shirts is the tiny tuck that is seen on the cuff of a new dress shirt and that follows out the idea of the tucks in the bosom. The new house robes made on the lines of the Japanese kimono are quite novel and decidedly luxurious. These garments are, of course, very loose fitting and have large sleeves. Some of them are seen in the most gorgeous of silks with embroidery in oriental designs.

Rock Whitefish.

Put one cupful of milk in a pan, bring to boiling point and sprinkle in one and a half ounces of ground rice; add one ounce of butter, one tablespoonful of mushroom catchup, a little grated onion, a pinch of mace, salt and white pepper, a quarter of a teaspoonful of made mustard, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and a very little grated lemon rind and one cup of hot mashed potatoes.

Mix all well together and pour on to a flat dish to stiffen. When quite cold divide into cutlets, brush over with the white of an egg beaten slightly, toss in breadcrumbs and fry.

Serve very hot, garnished with fried parsley, slices of lemon and parsley sauce.

Potato fritters or souffles should accompany this dish.

Modish Colors.

The browns in the russets and tobacco tones are holding their own, varied latterly by that of the golden tinge, as prime favorites in colors in the new season's hats. Rivaling the browns, olive and moss greens appear in many of the most admired of late French models. Very charming Paris hats are in taupe, a moleskin color, smoke color and the metallic grays and rich raspberry red, plum, petunia, and iris and strong dark blues are all seen in the imported models, while black hats seem to be in growing demand.

Then there are the green and gold shadings, the old rose nuances and the green and brown conjurings and, indeed, such subtle and unexpected inspirations as quite bewilder the seeker after millinery.

British Women's Larger Feet.

Are British women's feet growing larger? The fact that the boot and shoe manufacturers of Leicester and Northampton, who are now catering for the footwear fashions of next spring and summer, are offering sizes up to eights, would seem to show a tendency in that direction.

With what withering scorn a blushing British maiden would have looked at a shop assistant who dared to suggest "5's" to her a few years ago! But one Leicester manufacturer now says, "We have found lately a special demand for girls' boots in 7's and 8's." Another Leicester factory has had to throw away all its old lasts for children, in response to loud complaints from buyers, "in the North particularly," and to make the standards of next year's fitting for children somewhat easier. Even the nursery and children's wear attributes the change in part to the effect of the recent sandal craze in expanding young feet.

Manufacturers are now offering for next year's fashions lower heels and broader rounded toes; "the extreme pointed toe," they declare with one accord, "is doomed."

"And a little child shall lead them." The entire meaning of the festival of Christmas is contained in these words. It is the festival of the children because on this day God, the Son, the Second Person of the Blessed Trinity, took upon him human nature in the shape of a helpless and beautiful child. —Rev. John Talbott Smith, LL. D., President Catholic Summer School of America.

TAWNEY'S TORTURED FEET.

The Minnesota Representative's Early Recollections of Christmas.

"Early Christmas recollections are associated in my mind always," says Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota, "with the picture of a great and beautiful church lighted in every part with wax candles—thousands of wax tapers—a surpliced choir and the strains of a wonderful organ; this picture against the background of a cold, black morning before sunup, of frozen rutty roads, of a bleak north wind, a breakfast of ginger cookies and a pair of stiff crumpled boots, which made every step of a three mile trudge through the darkness a twinge of exquisite pain.

"I was nine years old. My brother was twelve, and with superior strength and determination he overruled my desire, due to the boots, to turn back for home. The trouble arose from the fact that we had tallowed the boots the night before, and the tallow had hardened. It was necessary to suffer until the warmth of the foot melted the tallow and made the boots less torturesome. So we plodded on.

"It was our first Christmas festivity. We lived on a farm two miles from Bonpeouville, in Adams county, Pa., and brother had conceived the idea of going to mass at the Catholic church three miles distant. For this purpose we had risen before 8 o'clock in the morning, had quietly abstracted some cakes from the jar in the cellar, and, as I have described, painfully I trudged to the town and the big church.

"It seemed big to the nine-year-old boy, and it seemed gorgeous in its illumination. Wax candles I never had heard of, and so many I never dreamed existed. We edged in with the crowd and stood at the rear of the church, and my boy eyes drank in a scene which never has been nor probably will be forgotten: It was wonderful, spectacular, dramatic to me, and that picture punctuates the vista of past Christmas days like a striking work of art in a gallery of vaguely remembered pictures."—Pittsburg Press.

The Church Militant.

The Bishop of Sodor and Man, speaking at the prize day ceremonies at King William's College, Douglas, said that he valued military training, and looked back with pleasure to the time he was a volunteer at Cambridge. Four members of his university squad, he said, were now bishops.

GEO. J. TOVEY
FOR ALDERMAN

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been once again nominated as your representative on the Aldermanic Board for the year 1907, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections. In the future as in the past if elected, I shall always advocate an economical civic government as consistent with public needs, and devote my services in the interests of the whole community; I shall support all measures leading to municipal ownership of public utilities, providing the operation of the same will assure to the citizens maximum results at a minimum expenditure of public monies, and at the same time furnish sufficient surplus revenue to pay off the capital invested. I am strongly in favour of this city acquiring its own electric power, in which event Peterborough will be in a position to guarantee new industries all the power they need at the lowest possible price.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year, I remain,

Your obedient servant,

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been duly nominated a second time as alderman for the progressive City of Peterborough, I once again solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections, January 7th. In the future, as in the past, if elected, I shall always advocate the policy of municipal ownership of all public utilities, strongly believing such principles to be in the best interests of the general public. During the past year I have consistently supported and advanced such measures as would assure to the ratepayers economic civic government, and municipal control of public services. If once more honoured with your confidence, such measures will receive from me unqualified support, and I shall make it my business to see that permanent improvements are equally distributed throughout the whole city, and that the expenditure of public monies is commensurate with value received.

I strongly advocate a policy of sanitary measures which shall assure to the city the highest possible standard of health at a minimum expenditure of public monies.

CARD TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—After having served as your representative in the city council for the past year, I again appeal to your support. I have endeavoured in the year just ended to serve the public interests without any other considerations than the promotion of the welfare of the ratepayers. As I have done in the past, I will do again, if honoured with your confidence. Every good measure promising to build up and advance Peterborough will have my hearty support.

THOS. J. WILSON.

WATER COMMISSIONER

MR. E. F. MASON'S

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

I respectfully offer myself as a candidate for election by the ratepayers of the city, for position of Water Commissioner vacant.

I do this at the urgent request of many ratepayers, who think enough to say that my services as alderman, and experience in the Council during the last two years qualify me to render important and helpful service in this position in the city.

I believe it to be a duty which is endorsed by others, that I may a citizen gain the benefit and be in a position to serve the needs of the municipality in service on your Council.

Should you see fit to elect me, you will please remember in voting that I am thoroughly interested in municipal matters, having had important position on the Finance Committee for the two years. It is admittedly the most important committee of the council, and one requiring considerable attention at the hands of its members, particularly as to its Chairman.

I believe I can truly say that I understand the financial problems of the city thoroughly as far as your city Water Department is concerned, I promise, if elected, to faithfully perform the duties of the position and to bear in mind the needs of the city, as improvements are carrying on of the Department and its expansions in future years.

I may call attention to the legislation which Mr. Moore, the present member of the Commission, has been urging, and which it is proposed to ask for at the next session of the legislature.

(a) To constitute the Water Commissioners of the said City a body corporate.

(b) To authorize the said Water Commissioners to levy and collect a water rate upon properties fronting on streets along which water mains are laid and to provide that all water rates shall be a lien upon properties served with water mains; with right of distress and sale as in the case of unpaid taxes.

I do not favour such draconian legislation, and am thoroughly convinced that the people should be given first to endorse the proposition, and that if elected, I will endeavour to have this matter submitted to vote of the ratepayers before making application for such a sweeping change in the policy, system and conduct of the Water Commissioners.

I may not be able to personally wait on all ratepayers before polling day, but solicit their votes and influence. I trust that my candidature will receive a hearty and generous support, and I shall be proud to be elected.

Yours respectfully,

E. F. M[illegible]

WATER COMMISSIONER

CARD TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have pleasure to announce that I am a candidate for member of the Board of Water Commissioners. I submit that my business experience acquired with my desire to serve the interests of Peterborough in the most effective and beneficial manner constitute a reasonable claim upon your confidence and support. I may say that I have given a study of the details of the management of this public utility; and if favoured with election by the ratepayers it shall be my constant aim and endeavour to continue and improve, as far as possible, the valuable and efficient service which this city possesses.

Respectfully soliciting your vote and influence, I remain,

Yours truly,

W. EASTW[illegible]

Card to the Electors!

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been nominated as one of many to represent you as your Council Board, for the present year, I take this opportunity of soliciting your votes.

I am a firm believer, that to have a good representative council, the office should seek the man, instead of the man seeking the office.

When an Alderman gives the time and attention that is required of him if he represents the electors, it is quite sufficient, without spending his time, (which was always very valuable to him) in canvassing votes.

As I am opening up a business and become one of your merchants in time for the future will be spending your city, therefore, at the service of the ratepayers.

I shall devote my energies to the ratepayers faithfully, (as I have no axe to grind.)

Having made a success of my own business, I think I am capable of assisting to manage that of our prosperous young city.

It shall be my duty to procure municipal ownership in all cases where public thoroughfares are utilized, as I have visited a large number of towns and cities during the last two years, and I have yet to find one in which it has been a failure.

It shall be my duty to assist in the careful expenditure of money, consistent with the advancement of the city.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours very truly,

R. H. LEA

PRAISE FOR MOUNTED POLICE OF NORTH-WEST

Mr. Richard Lillico Tells the Examiner of Conditions in the Vicinity of Moosejaw, Sask.

HOW LAND PRICES HAVE RISEN IN 7 YEARS

Mr. Richard W. Lillico, of Moose Jaw, is another of the many visitors to old Ontario who is captivated with the Canadian West, and particularly, of course, with the district in which he lives. Mr. Lillico was formerly a resident of this city, who left almost eight years ago to build up a home in the West. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Irene, and Mr. Edward Might, who are also visiting with friends in Peterborough and vicinity for a few weeks.

Mr. Lillico was seen by an Examiner reporter yesterday evening, to whom he gave some interesting and valuable information about the environments of his present home. His farm is situated only four and a half miles from the town of Moose Jaw, which is rapidly becoming an important spot in that portion of the Province of Saskatchewan.

Building operations there, Mr. Lillico says, are going ahead with a boom. The town has a very creditable municipal building, and only last year a fine postoffice building was erected. In this the Government looked to the future, and have had constructed a building which will meet the requirements of the town for a number of years to come. The people of Moose Jaw are religiously inclined, too, as a Methodist church, which will cost about $5,000 to complete, is now in course of erection. These are only a few evidences of the building operations, as many private residences, as well as stores, manufacturing establishments and elevators are continually being added.

Increase in Value of Land

The increase in the value of land in the section in which Mr. Lillico lives has been very great. When he went West eight years ago he purchased a quarter section at the rate of $14 per acre, and, he states, he would have little difficulty in disposing of the same at $35 per acre. The increase is of a general character, and land is now "land" around Moose Jaw.

Year Was a Good One

Mr. Lillico states that the harvest of 1906 was a good one in the West. The yield of spring wheat was about 25 bushels to the acre, while oats averaged from 60 to 80 bushels per acre. Fall wheat is not grown very extensively in the West yet, but Mr. Lillico intends attempting to raise it. There are eight elevators at Moose Jaw, but these have been so well patronized, that many of the farmers, including himself, have not had an opportunity to dispose of their grain.

Mr. Lillico a Councillor

Mr. Lillico has been accorded municipal honours in the township in which he lives. The system of election there is somewhat different from that in the townships of Peterborough County. The Province is divided into districts, which are again sub-divided into five townships, each being six miles square. One councillor is elected from each subdivision, and at the first meeting of the year the five agree upon a chairman, who has somewhat the duties of our reeves. Mr. Lillico has been for two years a councillor in the district of Dorchester, but before leaving had signified his intention of withdrawing.

Praise for Mounted Police

"If it were not for the Mounted Police," said Mr. Lillico, "we wouldn't be allowed to live out there." His farm is only about 90 miles north of the State of Montana, from where horse and cattle thieves migrate in large numbers. The Mounted Police, however, take good care of these, and it is very seldom that a bandit is allowed to escape the officers. They also watch the red men very closely lest outbreaks should occur.

Mr. Lillico also spoke about the climate at Moose Jaw. There was good sleighing when he left, but the weather was no colder than what he has experienced in Ontario. The farther west a person goes the milder the climate becomes.

Among other former local men who are living at Moose Jaw and who have returned home for a visit are Messrs. Ed. Might; Thos. and Robert Franks, of Emily, and Mr. Lang, of South Monaghan.

A Welcome Weekly Visitor

Mr. Lillico takes the Weekly Examiner and so keeps in close touch with the changes which Father Time makes around Peterborough. Before parting, the reporter offered his hand to Mr. Lillico, but he was a little previous. The visitor had first to come to the office and renew his subscription to The Examiner.

"Why," he exclaimed, "I couldn't live out there without the Weekly Examiner."

A BACHELOR'S CLUB ELECTS ITS NEW OFFICERS

Annual Meeting and Banquet of the B. A. C. Held Last Night—An Interesting Gathering of a Live Social Club

SOME PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

The annual meeting of the B. A. C. Club, for the election of officers, was held last night, and the gathering was in every respect one of the most successful in the history of an organization characteristic for providing unique features in its meetings.

Prior to the business of the meeting three candidates, Messrs. G. N. Gordon, C. Sisson and B. T. Huston, were initiated into the mysteries of the club with the customary ceremonies.

The banquet, which is one of the essentials at a B.A.C. gathering, took place at Long's palm parlours, and, following the supper, the officers for the coming year were elected:

Most Illustrious Chief—Dr. J. E. Middleton.
Brave and Beligerent Bachelor—P. Hetherington.
High Priest—W. Richardson.
Magistrate—Ray Best.
Secretary-Treasurer—J. W. Wood.
Conductor—E. Sisson.
Guide—B. T. Huston.
Auditors—G. N. Gordon and W. Warne.

Mr. Maurice van der Water, representing the Toronto members of the Club, and on their behalf made a request to organize a club, as a branch in that city, which request was granted. It is the intention of the two clubs to exchange fraternal visits during the winter, and the athletic propensities of the members will very likely find an outlet before the hockey season ends, in a game between the Toronto and Peterborough clubs.

After toasts to the new members the gathering closed with the National Anthem.

G. A. GOHEEN BRANCHES OUT IN HIS BUSINESS

Moved This Week Into a New and Larger Store Building

Yesterday Mr. G. A. Goheen, who for a number of years has been conducting a steadily-increasing grocery business at the corner of Dalhousie and Rubidge streets, has moved across the street into a new, large, brick store, which he has had erected during the last few months. Mr. Goheen, with his removal to his new store, will go into business more extensively and will add a number of new lines to a stock which, in the past, has been well assorted. He will now add dry goods and tinware to his stock.

WILL SELL TICKETS AT RINK IN FUTURE

Reserved Seat Plan and Advance Sale of Tickets for Hockey Games will be at Brock St. Rink for Future Games

FAST CONTEST TO-MORROW NIGHT

The management of the Brock Street Rink, and the Peterborough Hockey Club, have decided that in future, the plan of the reserved seats for hockey games, as well as general admission tickets, shall be on sale at the rink, instead of in stores down town, as has been the custom in the past. The plan for the game to-morrow night will be at the rink this afternoon, and to-morrow, from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The general admission tickets will be on sale at the same time.

The game to-morrow night with Varsity promises to be very fast. Last week in Berlin, the College boys gave the senior champions a bad scare, and it was only by a very small margin, that the "Dutch Companie" won out. The team which will play here to-morrow night is practically the same that played the last game of the season here last year, when with only two minutes to play the local team ran in two goals and won the game. It was the most exciting finish ever seen on local ice, and there is reason to believe that the game with the College team to-morrow night, will furnish an equal amount of excitement.

ST. ANDREW'S SUNDAY SCHOOL GAVE CANTATA

At the Annual New Year's Entertainment of the Junior Classes and Kindergarten

The annual New Year's treat for the kindergarten and junior classes of St. Andrew's Sunday School was held last night. Tea was served at 5 o'clock, after which games were enjoyed till 7.30, when a cantata entitled "The Magi Children," was rendered by the scholars of both departments. The superintendents of kindergarten and primary, Miss L. McMillan and Mrs. George Laing, had trained the children, so that all took the various parts well. During the rendition of the cantata, Willie Cannon and Olive Kennedy recited appropriate selections.

The pastor was then asked to distribute the gifts off the Christmas tree, after which each child was treated to fruit. The singing of the Doxology and the benediction brought this happy gathering to a close.

LECTURE TO-NIGHT AT YOUNG MEN'S CLUB

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will Speak on "The Evolution of the Boy"

The prominent feature at the Methodist Young Men's Club meeting to-night will be the lecture by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt on "The Evolution of the Boy." The meeting will be held in the lecture room of the George Street Methodist Church. A splendid musical programme has also been provided.

FOR 17c.

The Port Hope Knitting Works will place on sale all this week 150 Doz. of Heavy Ribbed Black Wool Stockings for 17c. Come early.

Music and Drama

DOLLY VARDON

The return engagement of "Dolly Vardon" at the Grand Opera House to-morrow night will be one of interest to the theatre-goers and the music lovers of this city. When the opera was presented here in September many were away from home, and it was so exceptionally hot that there were few of the real theatre-goers who availed themselves of the opportunity to see this splendid production. The verdict, however, was so emphatically in the favour of the company that efforts were made to get the company to return, but only until recently was it possible to induce the company to return. Those who are familiar with the opera need not be told that it is one of the daintiest productions on the stage. That it is, one of the wittiest, cleverest and most brilliant productions now before the amusement-loving public.

ANOTHER SUPPORTER OF THE BY-LAW

Mr. H. LeBrun Thinks That a New Collegiate Institute is Needed

Voting day is close at hand, and so far there seems to be no opposition to the bylaw providing for an additional $21,000 to complete the Collegiate Institute. On the other hand, everyone approached so far has been strongly in favour of the bylaw.

Mr. H. LeBrun was seen this morning by an Examiner reporter, and expressed himself as being strongly in favour of the bylaw, which, he said, would receive his hearty support. Mr. LeBrun said that there was no doubt that a new Collegiate Institute was badly needed in the best interests of the city. He pointed out that the present Collegiate Institute was inadequate, having been erected when the city was considerably smaller than it is at present. While it served its purpose then, it was not large enough to accommodate the pupils of to-day. "I hope the bylaw will carry," said Mr. LeBrun, in conclusion.

MACABEES INSTALLED THEIR NEW OFFICERS

C. A. Yule, of Colborne, the Installing Officer—Lodge Met in Their New Quarters, Simcoe Street

Last night the installation of officers of Peterborough Tent, No. 69, K.O.T.M., took place in the new meeting place of this Lodge, in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, with C. A. Yule, of Colborne, acting as installing officer. There was a good attendance of members, evidencing an interest in the affairs of the Order, which speaks well for the future progress of the local branch.

The officers, who were installed in their respective positions last night, with the usual ceremonies, were:

Aftermath At Stratton's

—The week before New Year's is always a busy and interesting week at Stratton's Bookstore. One reason for this is that all gift goods have ticket-of-leave orders and nothing will be exempt from radical reductions. Some goods have orders to go at half former prices, rather than carry them over to the new year. Some lines in fancy goods, the Poets, Grecian Ware, Jewel Cases, Framed Pictures, Cards, Calendars, etc., come in the half-price list. A. H. Stratton & Co.

CLERK OF LEGISLATURE HAS RESIGNED

Lieut.-Col. James Clarke Has Held the Position for Sixteen Years

Lieut-Colonel Charles Clarke, the clerk of the House for the Legislative Assembly, has retired from office. Mr. Jas. D. Clarke, city, is a son of the veteran official, concerning whom the Globe to-day has the following to say:

There will be general regret at the retirement of Lt.-Col. Clarke, the veteran Clerk of the House for the Legislative Assembly, although it has been expected for some time.

For 35 years Col. Clarke has been at every session of the Ontario Legislature. From 1871 to 1892 he represented Centre Wellington, occupying the positions of Speaker of the House from 1880-86, and Chairman of the Public Accounts Committee, 1886-91. In 1891 he was appointed Clerk of the House, which position he has held ever since.

No member of the Legislature now living and no other official, can boast of a longer or more intimate connection with legislation in this province than Col. Clarke. He was a member of the Assembly nine years before Hon. Richard Harcourt, the present "father" of the Legislature, was elected, and he can recall the incidents of each session of the House for nearly two score years.

His retirement is due to advancing age, he having now passed his 80th birthday. His well earned time retiring annuity which will be granted to him by the Government.

WE TALK TOO MUCH DEBATING CLUB DECIDES

Most Successful Meeting of the Season was Held by the Organization Last Night

MOCK PARLIAMENT HELD LAST NIGHT

The open meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club last night was undoubtedly the most successful of the season. The attendance was very large and a most interesting and enjoyable programme was run off.

The most interesting feature of the evening was the debate on the subject "Resolved that we talk too much". This took the form of a mock parliament in which Mr. Wilfrid Shiner was the leader of the affirmative and Mr. Chas. Reid the head of the negative party. Each leader chose sides until the entire audience was included in the debate, Mr. Ben. Simpson, of the Hamilton Collegiate Institute, acted as Speaker of the House and the proceedings were of a parliamentary nature and proved highly interesting. Every one present had to make a contribution to the argument and some good points were brought out by both sides.

Mr. Simpson decided in favour of the affirmative and gave a short address outlining the points made by the speakers of both sides.

The evening's programme included some enjoyable musical numbers, comic songs, etc. Those who contributed to this feature were Messrs. Coleman Bros., Mr. Barrowman and Mr. W. McLaren, whose selections were greatly enjoyed and warmly applauded.

At the conclusion of the programme delightful refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour spent.

The next meeting of the club will be on January 16th, when there will be a debate on the subject, Resolved that Canada should secede from the British Empire and adopt a Republican form of government. The speakers for the affirmative will be Messrs. Frank Simpson and Mr. Fred. Ray, while the negative will be supported by Messrs. W. McLaren and N. Greenhalgh.

WEDDING BELLS

RAE--DAVIDSON

The Toronto Globe of to-day says: Yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's Church, St. Vincent street, the marriage of Miss Frances Rosetta Emma Davidson, daughter of Mrs. John Davidson, and Mr. Harry Croft Rae, was solemnized, the service being conducted by the Rev. Canon Davidson, of Peterborough, brother of the bride, and the Rev. Mr. Dicker, rector. Mr. Davidson Ketchum, nephew of the bride, presided at the organ, and, with several of the choir, rendered some beautiful musical selections. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Ferrar Davidson, and wore a lovely light and delicate dress of chiffon silk with broad satin gauze stripes over white satin, the corsage and high girdle of white satin, with a deep yoke and berthe of Maltese lace, the sleeves being ruffled with the same lace, the tulle veil was arranged over a pretty wreath of orange blossoms, and some exquisite pearl ornaments were worn. The bouquet was a large shower of lilies of the valley. The maid of honour, Miss Moss, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jessie Rae and Miss Maude Campbell, Colborne, wore exceedingly pretty dresses of white chiffon voile, with much lace on skirt and corsage, and touch of green on the satin girdle; picture hats of cream panne with chiffon swaths of dark and light green, and shaded green plumes, large granny muffs of soft green panne with chiffon ruffles and clusters of deep red roses on each. The flower girl, Miss Carroll Davidson, wore a picture frock of cream mull and lace, large green and white hat. The best man was Mr. Alan Marks, of Cannington, the ushers being Mr. R. Henderson, Mr. T. Ketchum and Mr. W. E. Davidson. A reception was held at the residence of Mrs. Davidson, Charles street, the large rooms of the fine old house being embowered in white flowers, green wreathing and palms; the table with the bride cake was especially pretty with trails of smilax and white roses. The presents were unusually lovely, and a beautiful cabinet of silver from the Bank of Commerce to the bridegroom was much admired. The bridesmaids wore empire brooches of gold and amethysts set with pearls, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Rae left for the south, the going-away dress being dark blue, with handsome furs, green velvet toque with gull blue wings.

FIRE BRIGADE WAS GIVEN A RUN LAST NIGHT

Small Fire at Pea Factory Was Speedily Extinguished

The fire brigade were given a run about ten o'clock last evening, when an alarm was sent in from Boudrey and Sons' pea factory.

Three brigade responded quickly and found that a cot in the office had in some manner caught fire. The blaze was speedily extinguished with a Babcock. Little damage was done.

HORSE BADLY WOUNDED IN RUNAWAY

Shaft Pierced the Flesh of Its Side Behind the Fore Leg

The horses in the city appeared to have been let loose this morning, when a couple made lively dashes from the direction of East City. One of the runaways was unaccompanied by considerable damage both to the cutter and horse. This was owned by Mr. J. J. Lundy, of East City, and was being driven by a young man who works for Mr. Lundy.

The animal which is naturally quiet, frightened at a car at the Quaker Oats Company's tracks and bolted. The cutter was upset throwing the driver into the road and was only brought to a standstill by running against a post on Chambers street. A shaft of the cutter caught beneath the horse's fore left leg staking it badly. Blood spurted freely from the wound as the animal stopped of its own accord on Chambers street at the rear of the Examiner office. The animal was taken to Gibbs' livery barns and afterwards removed to its own stable where it was attended to by a veterinary surgeon. The cutter was badly smashed and will need considerable repairs to regain its former appearance.

The flight of Mr. Lundy's horse was responsible for the running of the steed attached to Mr. Duffus' milk sleigh. It, however, turned into the Munro House yard and other than spilling a quantity of milk no damage was done.

AN ASSAULT CASE HEARD TO-DAY

Timothy Kearns Fined Twenty Dollars

Timothy Kearns, Jr., appeared before Magistrate Dumble on the rather serious charge of having assaulted a young woman on Dec. 29th, on George street. It was proved that he struck the woman and used abusive language and generally made himself obnoxious toward her. From her testimony it appears Tim met her in Toronto at the Exhibition time, where she was employed in a Toronto hotel. He told her where she could get employment in Peterborough, and she followed his advice and came to this city.

She said he continually forced his attentions upon her, which she always tried to discourage. He followed her frequently, much to her annoyance and the climax came on George street on the 29th inst., when the assault occurred.

Magistrate Dumble considered the charge a rather serious one, but as Kearns has been endeavouring to do better than in the past, and has been working steadily, he did not wish to impose too severe a punishment. He fined him, however, $20, which Kearns paid. Mr. Dumble has not very much sympathy for such conduct towards defenceless women, and said in reviewing the evidence that he wished to warn all such offenders.

Edmonton property, compared as to situation with Peterborough and other Ontario cities, is now half and less than half in some cases in price. Edmonton property, compared as to situation with other citties in Western Canada, is much less in price (about half.) Edmonton's population July 1st, 1906, was 10,500; Oct. 31st, was 13,600—Edmonton Bullletin. Edmonton, as predicted by conservative men, will have a population of 20,000 to 25,000 by July next. This means an increase of 10,000 to 15,000 in population in one year which is fifty to one hundred times the increase in Ontario cities. Therefore, the demand for property will be fifty to one hundred times as great, which means the opportanity for making money is fifty to one hundred times greater in Edmonton than in Ontario cities.

1907 A.D., the following buildings will be commenced :—1, Alberta's Parliament Buildings, to cost two million dollars; 2, Post Office, to cost two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; 3, High Level Bridge, from Edmonton to Strathcona, one-and-a-half million dollars; 4, Meat Packing Plant, to cost five hundred thousand dollars; 5, Court House, Railway Stations, Hotels, Warehouses, etc.

The Canadian Government is building a Post Offic to accommodate a city many times larger than Edmonton is at present. The Railways are doing likewise in building Stations, Roundhouses, etc. These two institutions are very reliable authorities to follow. When they predict a thing to come to pass, it generally comes. Edmonton will be one of Canada's largest cities.

You haven't seen Edmonton property advertised as you have other Western Cities during the past year. That fact, and the fact that Edmonton property is cheap compared with other cities in Western and Eastern Canada proves that a boom has not yet struck Edmonton.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY EDMONTON REAL ESTATE WHILE CITY IS SMALL, AND PROPERTY CHEAP

MIDLAND TEAM WON BY CLOSE SCORE

Defeated Arrows at Basketball by 50-49 Last Night—No Combination Work by Local Team

In an interesting game of basketball Tuesday night, the Midland team won from the Arrows of the local Y.M.C.A. by the close score of 50-49. The game was rough and fast play was impossible. The visitors had a big advantage in weight and owing to the close checking, the Arrows did not display nearly their old form, as it was almost impossible to work in any kind of combination, except at odd times during the game. The Arrows' line was somewhat broken, as Richardson, their centre man, was out of town for the day. Darling was taken from the defence and played in centre, while Hall took his place on the defence. The teams lined up as follows :—

Midland—Morgan, Baldwin, Brodd, Hastings, Moore.

Arrows—Miller, Cressman, Darling, Dobson, Hall.

Two solos sung by Mr. Duncan Campbell, were much appreciated.

TO-NIGHT SEES OPENING OF CITY LEAGUE

Two Big Games are Scheduled for the Initial Contests

The City League opens to-night with two big games scheduled. The Strathconas and Auburns meet in the first game which should be a great exhibition. Some new players will be seen on both teams and some star puck-pursuers are said to be among the bunch. The old rivals Charlotte Street and the High Lifes will be the contestants in the second game and a red hot contest should be the result. The champions have most of their last year's team available while some new faces will appear on the High Life bunch. Mr. Geo. Lynch will manipulate the bell.

WAS DRIVEN OUT OF THE BIG LEAGUE

This is What a Player on the Canadian Soo Team Says of "Hod" Stuart—He Was a Marked Man

The reasons for "Hod" Stuart's departure from the ranks of the International Hockey League are given in the Toronto News as follows :—

"Hod" Stuart will probably play his first game with the Wanderers to-night, when they open the E.C.H.A. with a game against Victorias.

Discussing Stuart's case last Friday night after the game at Mutual Street Rink, with the Toronto Pros., a member of the Soo team predicted at that time that the big fellow would jump.

"He will go to the Montreal Wanderers without a doubt. He has dominated the International League for a long time and has been giving it to players on the other teams for a long time past, and they are beginning to pay him back old scores. Every man in the league has something for some, and 'Hod' is beginning to realize that he is up against it. He is simply reaping what he sowed, and the referees are powerless to help him," continued the speaker.

"It has been coming to him for a long time, and you mark my words, he is now looking for a soft spot to fall on, and will jump Pittsburg for the Wanderers the very first chance he gets.

"At that Stuart would be foolish to stay in the International League under present conditions. He has only to play twelve games in Montreal, and will receive the same salary that he is getting at Pittsburg. And then every player in the Eastern League will not be laying for an opportunity to hand him out something.

"If he goes to Montreal it will simply be a case of having been driven out of the International through fear of great personal injury. The other players will get him good if he doesn't light out quick. Their hatred of the big fellow is not engendered by jealousy either. He has been handing it out for a long period, and they are all coming back at him now. They owe him something, and they are giving it to him and giving it to him good."

TO-MORROW'S BIG GAME WILL BE FAST

Speedy Varsity Team Will Meet the Senior O. H. A. Team

The hockey loving public is assured of one of the best games of the season to-morrow night when the fast Varsity team will meet the senior O. H. A. team, Varsity with only one practice gave Berlin a bad scare last week and they are in far better shape now than they were then so that the locals will have to extend themselves to the utmost to gain a victory over the speedy Collegians. Varsity has the all star team which made the locals travel so hard in the final game last year. The two Clarks, Keith, Toms, Davidson, and Hanley are on the line-up. There will be a big crowd on hand for this contest which promises to be one of the fastest and most scientific seen here for many moons.

MAY GIVE WATSON A PERMIT WITH BERLIN

To Enable Him to Play With Berlin This Season

The Toronto Star last night said :—L. M. Watson, now of Berlin, will likely apply for a change of residence permit from the O.H.A. He is a bank clerk, and was transferred recently from Peterborough. Watson has been transferred from Ayr, Galt, Berlin, and Peterborough, just after the commencement of each hockey season, and has been kept out of the game in consequence. However, this year the O.H.A. Executive has power to grant permits and Watson will likely get one, as his transference was obviously in the natural course of business, and not for hockey purposes.

HOCKEY

BERLIN LOSES STAR PLAYER.

Berlin, Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Captain Goldie Cochrane of Berlin O. H. A. senior champions made farewell to his hockey associates in Berlin this evening and boarded the train for Houghton, Mich., accompanied by Dr. John L. Gibson, the former point player of the Houghton team, who has been visiting in Berlin during the holidays. Captain Cochrane's departure from Berlin will be regretted, but a tempting offer of $400 for the balance of the season could not hold him here. It is probable that L. M. Watson, late of Peterborough, will take Cochrane's placce on the senior team.

• • • •

Tickets for the Varsity-Peterborough hockey match to-morrow night were on sale to-day at Sanderson's. To-morrow the tickets will be sold at the rink and this will be the rule throughout the winter. The public hereafter may secure tickets at the rink where the plan will be kept.

• • • •

The senior team had a splendid workout last night and are in good shape for to-morrow night's game with the fast Varsity team. The practice was noteworthy by the appearance of Ernie Wasson, the veteran goal keeper who was in the fiasco last night for the first time this season. He was warmly welcomed by the players and showed up in his old time form. With Wasson out there will be only one change in the team from that of last year. The other players on the ice last night were Glover, Crowley, Moore, Whitcroft, Morgan, Graham, Ferguson, Parnell, Lang and Derocher.

• • • •

At a meeting of the Charlotte Street Hockey Club held last night Walter Miller was elected captain of the team for the season. The choice is a popular one as he is a favourite with his fellow players and knows the game thoroughly.

A PRESENTATION TO POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kingdon Honoured by Their Friends in St. Luke's Congregation

A DELIGHTFUL EVENING WAS SPENT

A very pleasing social function took place last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scott, Mark street north, who had kindly placed their hospitable home at the disposal of the Men's Guild of St. Luke's Church. The young ladies and gentlemen who had taken part in the Men's Guild concert, held in December, were enjoying themselves at an oyster supper to celebrate the success of their undertaking. The festive board was decorated with carnations and ferns, and the menu was of a very high order. After ample justice had been done to the inner man, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, who had been favoured with an invitation, arose to express to Mr. and Mrs. Scott his own and the guild's hearty appreciation of their many kindnesses shown the guild, and the great help accorded by allowing them to hold the practices at their residence. He felt that Mr. and Mrs. Scott were always ready to help in any good work and to stimulate the interest in church work among the young people. He was glad to be present and to take part in these proceedings. He complimented the young ladies and gentlemen upon the excellency of the entertainment which they had provided. The present occasion gave him also the opportunity to extend to his good friend, Mr. Arthur Kingdon, the best wishes of the guild on the occasion of his wedding. Since Mr. Kingdon had come to St. Luke's he had been a leader in the work of the church, and his influence among the young people was inspiring and wonderful. He was indebted to Mr. Kingdon for his loyal assistance and ever-ready help, and he was delighted to honour him on this special occasion. He called upon the president of the guild to reread the following address :

Ashburnham,
January 2nd, 1907.

Dear Mr. Kingdon,—On the occasion of your wedding, the members of St. Luke's Men's Guild wish to express to you their hearty congratulations.

Since you have associated yourself with St. Luke's you have been a leader in every good work, and an inspiration to your many friends, who admire your sincerity and earnestness.

We extend a hearty welcome to Mrs. Kingdon, and we hope that she will be at home with us in our Church — and social life.

Permit us to present you with the accompanying gift as a mark of our friendship and esteem for you.

Wishing you and Mrs. Kingdon a Happy New Year, we remain on behalf of St. Luke's Men's Guild, E. A. LANGFELDT, M.A., Rector.

G. F. WARDE, President.
H. C. M. POTTER, Secretary.

Mr. H. Potter, secretary of the guild, presented Mr. Kingdon with a silver nut dish.

Mr. Kingdon was much overcome by the expressions of good will and goodship. In a few well-chosen words, he thanked the guild for their kindness and assured them that at St. Luke's he felt very much at home, and that he had met there with a class of people who, for friendliness and harmony could nowhere be surpassed.

Mr. G. F. Warde added his testimony of regard for Mr. Kingdon, and concurred in all the rector had said about him. Several other short speeches were made, expressing hearty congratulations to Mr. Kingdon.

The host, Mr. Scott, returned thanks for the kind words said about him and Mrs. Scott, and assured them of the pleasure it gave him to do all he could for the young people.

Hearty words of appreciation were also spoken of the great help given the guild by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neil, who had taken a great interest in its welfare.

The evening was pleasantly spent, with selections from Mr. Potter's gramophone and social intercourse.

CONCERT IN SELWYN ON JAN. 1ST.

Given by Members of Selwyn Baptist Church

The anniversary tea and entertainment of the Selwyn Baptist church, was held on New Year's night, in the Temperance Hall, in that village. Some of those from Peterborough kindly assisted in the evening's entertainment.

Rev. Mr. McKinnon, the pastor, occupied the chair and opened the programme with an address of welcome.

The following contributed to the musical part of the programme :—Vocal solos, by Mr. Campbell ; instrumental solo, Miss Montgomery, Lakefield ; vocal duet, Misses Ida Jackson and Clara Kidd, Peterborough ; violin solos, were rendered by Miss Girvin ; address by Rev. ARE DOING WELL AS FARM HANDS

English Immigrants Who Were Sent to Canada by Rothschilds, Are Making Successes In This Country

J. B. Dargavel, M.P.P., for Leeds, who undertook at the request of the Immigration Bureau to look after a party of 75 immigrants sent out from Stanford, near London, Eng., during the past summer by the Rothschilds, has reported to the bureau that they are doing well, and with the exception of two or three who have gone into factories in Brockville and Gananoque, are still on the farms.

Another party of 27 immigrants sent out under the auspices of the Leeds Distress Committee, were located by the Bureau near Paisley, Kincardine and Underwood. These, without exception, have done well, and in fact two or three of them have saved up their money and gone back for a trip. One man named Ross left for the lumber shanties a short time ago, leaving a sum of money with his clothes with his landlady and as he has not been heard from since it is thought that he went down on the steamer Jones. The department are trying to locate him in response to the inquiries of friends.

INSTITUTE SPEAKERS UNABLE TO ATTEND

Some of the Difficulties Under Which Farmers' Institute Meetings Are Being Held in West Peterborough

The supplementary meetings of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough are being held under somewhat discouraging conditions. The two speakers, whose presence at the meetings to be held in this riding, had been arranged, were unable to attend, Mr. D. C. Anderson, because of illness, of which he was the victim, an operation being necessary, and Mr. J. W. Clarke, the other delegate, by reason of the fact that his wife is very ill and he is therefore unable to fill his engagement to speak at the meetings in West Peterborough. In the absence of these gentlemen, the department filled their places by Messrs. Annis, of Scarboro, and Mr. Zufeldt, Chesterville. Both these speakers are thoroughly posted on agricultural matters, and no doubt their addresses will be interesting and instructive.

The meetings open to-day at Lakehurst, in Harvey, and to-morrow at Selwyn. Next week meetings will be held at Ennismore and at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee.

Residents of the eastern section of Toronto, will protest to Ottawa against the entrance of the railways by way of the waterfront.

LABOUR REPORT IS SATISFACTORY TO ALL

Mr. Johnston Presents Monthly Report to Labour Gazette—All Classes Were Well Employed During Dull Month

THE FUTURE PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

Considering that November is usually regarded as a dull month, so far as labour is concerned, that month in Peterborough, according to the report of the correspondent of the Labour Gazette, was quite satisfactory. Ald. Johnston's report to the Gazette for that month is as follows :

November was very active for all classes of labour. Civic improvement work had stopped, though sewer construction was still in progress. Dredging and building were still actively under way, many of the industrial establishments enlarging their premises. The Cavendish Lumber Company's output was 11,000,000. This company has 450 men and 45 teams at present in the woods. The Lakefield Cement Co. used 1850 carloads of clay last year. Wholesale and retail trade was active. Winter schedules went into effect in some trades. Flour and saw mills were busy and general trade was good.

Condition of Local Industries

Agricultural — Excellent weather conditions prevailed.

Manufacturing Establishments. — Very active with heavy orders in advance.

Condition of Particular Trades

Building. — Very busy conditions prevailed.

Metals, engineering and shipbuilding. — Conditions were active to very busy, though bicycle workers were quiet.

Woodworking and furnishings. — All were actively employed.

Printing and Allied. — An excellent month was reported.

Clothing. — Activity prevailed, although hat makers were quiet.

Food and Tobacco Preparations.—All were very busy.

Leather.—Conditions were busy.

Miscellaneous employees were active.

Transport. — Railway employees ployees were active. Teamsters, expressmen, etc., were busy.

District Notes

Lindsay. — The Baker & Bryans Company will take out 100,000 logs, having 80 men and 12 teams in the bush.

Whitby — The fruit and vinegar factory was working overtime. The new stocking factory began operations.

Kingston, January 3. — Hiscock, Van Horne, Richardson, Capt. Potter, Bernier, Powell, and a point yet to be selected, will be the 14th Regt. hockey team to meet the Argonauts of Toronto, here to-morrow night, in the first senior O.H.A. game of the season.

Chronicles of Don Q.

BY K. AND HESKETH PRITCHARD.

(Copyright by Pearson Publishing Company.)

HOW DON Q. STOOD AT BAY.

Winter was breaking and the plains were already gay with flowers, when Garth Lalor returned to the Boca de Lobo as Don Q.'s guest. An invitation from so uncommon a source might not have been accepted by every one with the eagerness shown by Garth Lalor. Don Q. wrote that he had need of a friend, and Lalor responded by setting out at once, for he had long ago grown to like Don Q. for many of the remarkable points in his strange character.

Lalor, as will doubtless be remembered, had accompanied Don Q. on that eccentric tour of justice, during which summary vengeance was dealt out to a certain Gen Don Basilio; and the brigand's conduct had inspired Lalor with unmitigated respect for him and faith in his promises.

He had already spent nearly a month with the famous sequestrador, but during the last couple of weeks his host of the sierra had remained plunged in a mood of melancholy, shot and illuminated by flashes of cold rage.

One morning as Lalor sat on the terrace sunning himself in the brilliant air, Don Q. joined him. Chilly as usual, the chief, wrapped in his cloak, his sombrero pulled low over his brows, sat for a few moments in silence, then he disengaged one meagre hand, and pointing downward at the men gathered in groups in the valley below, he told a story in his sibilant voice. It was the first break in his silence of several days.

"One of these wolves, these mountain apes," he began sourly, "has dared to play a little part in imitation of a man—of me, in short—with the grotesque result one would expect from such a travesty. As regards the animal himself, it matters not at all. But he has injured me in a degree so monstrous that his blood alone cannot wash out his crime!"

"One Pablo has captured and held to ransom a lady of wealthy though not noble family. It came to my knowledge as all events ultimately come, and I descended the mountains and caught the fellow red-handed," the chief went on. "Perhaps, senor, you did me the honor to miss me at the desaynno yesterday? I returned, bringing both Pablo and his captive with me. The senorita had been frightened, even maltreated! Past!" Don Q. emitted a hiss of such contempt and malevolence that Lalor involuntarily rejoiced that it was not directed against himself. "Then I considered what I should do."

The outcome of these terrible musings appeared to be a letter that Don Q. now unfolded before the young Englishman.

"What do you think of this, senor?" he asked. "I will read it to you, omitting the compliments of greeting with which you are familiar. I address myself to the governor of the prison of Castelleno."

"What!" ejaculated Lalor, "not the man whose ears—"

Don Q. bowed in his courtly manner. "Whose ears I regretted being obliged to add to my little museum up here in the mountains—the same, senor." He began to read—"Don Q has the honor to send herewith the person of Pablo Gomez, formerly of his band, who has committed the unpardonable indiscretion of holding to ransom, on his own responsibility, the Senorita Dona inez de Lucas. Don Q., as all who acquaint themselves with the great events of the day are aware, has never during his long, memorable and blameless career, held to ransom a lady. Don Q. trusts that his excellency the governor of the prison of Castelleno will, as a man of honor, clear the name of Don Q. of the stigma cast upon it by the horrible action of the scoundrel, Pablo Gomez, and garrote the fellow on the highest point of the prison roof in the sight of all the world." After that the usual greetings of farewell. Does it appear to you, senor, that I have made my meaning plain?"

"Very much so," replied Lalor.

The chief clapped his hands and Robledo came running up the path to the cave. Giving orders to bring Pablo and the senorita into his presence. Don Q. resumed—

"You must understand, dear friend, that the rabble of the plains are but too glad to soil the record of a man so much better than themselves. I could naturally cause Pablo to be killed in many excellent ways. I could, for instance, blindfold him and request him to walk 10 paces forward—the ninth step including a fall of 400 feet. This little promenade, when explained beforehand to the person of whom there is question, causes a highly unpleasant quarter-of-an-hour, I can promise you, senor."

In a moment a group of men, haling with them a reluctant captive, appeared climbing the path. In front of them walked a handsome girl of, perhaps, 20 years of age. She had the graceful gait of her nation, and the droop of her shapely figure, her extreme pallor, and the appeal in her beautiful eyes seemed to touch the long-chilled heart of the chief.

He rose, and with conspicuous elegance of movement, swept his hat to the ground.

"Senorita, I kiss your feet."

The girl grew whiter as she gazed at the baldbrowed vulture aspect of Don Q. She turned to Lalor, and, reading pity in his glance, she begged him to plead for her.

"There will be no need senorita," replied Lalor, in halting Spanish. "Don Q. is your best friend.

"I beg you, senorita, to accept my most humble apologies for the indignity with which this miscreant has treated you." The chief pointed to Pablo. "I have written to the governor of the prison of Castelleno to deal with him to the utmost severity of the law, while you shall be conducted with all care and tenderness to your family."

"You are about to set me free?" cried the girl.

"Doubtless, you have heard many things of me, Dona Inez," replied Don Q. sadly. "Have those stories ever included one of cruelty or imprisonment imposed upon a woman?"

"No, no, senor. You are good, you deprive me of words!" she faltered. "How can I thank you?"

"Very easily, most beautiful flower. Be good enough to make it well known in the plains that in whatever manner I may deal with men, my bearing toward ladies is above reproach. Cruel falsehoods have been spread about me down below there. You will more than repay any small service I may have been fortunate enough to render you, if you will clear my reputation of the slurs certain unworthy creatures have thrown upon it."

"I will tell them. I thank you with all my heart, senor."

Don Q. turned to Lalor.

"Amigo," he said softly, "you will go with this lady to the lower pass. You can reassure her as these rough ones never can."

On Lalor's return a few hours later to the cave, he found Don Q. in unusually good spirits.

"By this time the guardias civiles have charge of our good Pablo," he remarked. "Robledo will see him enter the gates of the prison, and in a day or two will bring to us news of the execution. Perhaps, dear friend, you think I have shown weakness in allowing that rascal to get off so cheaply, considering his crime in causing distress to the senorita, who is indeed as beautiful as rumor declared her to be. But what will you? I, of all persons, cannot afford to lose my good name."

"You have never thought of retiring from the sierra—from your profession?" inquired Lalor.

Don Q., who had been huddled by the fire, sat up. The glancing flames played over him, and never had the contrast between his fragile body and fierce heart been so apparent.

"But senor, you appear not to comprehend this matter!" he exclaimed, his thin voice taking on the sibilant sound of anger. "Your question is ill-considered. It proves that you have failed to understand the motives which led me to adopt my present profession. In business, perhaps, as in that of the wineseller or the dealer in vegetables, which has as its object the amassing of a competence, one hears of persons retiring. But have you ever heard of a poet, an author, an artist retiring?"

Lalor hastened to acknowledge that he had not.

"The same rule applies to me," pursued the chief haughtily. "The excitements of my life and the greatness of my career are as dear to me as ever, and the idea of leaving them is intolerable!

"A man of my eminence cannot disappear. No, senor, the feud between the law and myself will never be ended until I am dead. And when the names which to-day appear notable in the land, are forgotten, men will still speak of Don Q. My fame and my doings have enriched the Spanish language."

"Senor, have you no fear of capture?" Lalor could not withhold the question.

"Ah, no, my dear friend, none," the thin claw-like fingers were spread to the blaze, "none whatever. I shall die at my own time and in my own fashion."

The young author sighed. He had grown almost attached to the strange inhuman outlaw, whose nature, as he now knew, could be touched to such fine issues.

"Why do you sigh?" Don Q. asked in his courteous way.

"Pardon me," exclaimed the young man impetuously, "but who of us can say that luck will forever be on his side? You are here alone. Those about you are wolves—you have called them so. And wolves will drink each other's blood. Listen to me: England offers a safe retreat. Come there—"

The delicate yellow hand went up to deprecate further urging.

"I thank you, Senor Lalor. As for me, have no fear. When I die, it will be here. And unborn men will fear to linger alone among the sierra, where the great chief of the sequestradores lies asleep."

* * * * * * *

On the third day reports circulated that Pablo Gomez, the brigand of the sierra, had expiated his many crimes.

Robledo was free to return to the mountains, but one little half hour must still be snatched to further his own affairs. Perhaps those who read may remember a certain Isabellita with a fine ankle and lustrous eyes, also those dark eyes were lit with lovelight for the ragged, brave and picturesque Robledo. The thought of her tempted him to delay. It was nightfall when he strolled into a narrow lane to sing a serenade of passion and farewell under a barred window, but a sound of hurrying footsteps coming down the street, Robledo and his guitar were at once swallowed up in the darkness of a neighboring doorway.

Two men appeared striding swiftly along the line of shadow, but as they drew near Robledo's hiding place, a shaft of moonlight through a break in the house roofs caught the half-muffled profile of one of them. Robledo first started and crossed himself, then with a quick, monkey gesture he put out his hand and touched the cloak of this person as he passed. It felt rough and real enough to thrust all notions of ghosts out of the brigand's mind.

This was no apparition, but Pablo Gomez very much in the flesh.

Robledo comprehended that this portended serious trouble against the whole band of the sequestradores in the sierra. He himself could not guess what it might be, but he would hasten back with the news to Don Q., who knew everything, who could defeat every stratagem.

Robledo inserted one lean brown hand behind a bar and drew himself up to the window until a comely, powdered face and his own sun-browned one were close together, and a brief whispering ensued. Two minutes later he dropped down, wiped some powder from his lips, and slid away through the shadows. On the second day he was urging his mule at a speed it had never before attained through the Boca de Jobili.

"Well, my child," said Don Q., gently, when Robledo once more stood before him, "you have fulfilled my commands or you would not be here?"

"Yes, lord."

"And the vile Pablo has been garrotted?"

"No, lord."

The chief's livid eyes flickered ominously at the young man.

"Corpse of a scullion! You have dared to disobey me!"

"No, lord, no! On the third day it was spoken on authority from the prison that Pablo was dead, and that his excellency the governor had given 50 pesetas to pay for masses for his soul."

"Go on."

"I desired to see the dead body, and I went with the crowd to the prison, but none were admitted. So I waited, for it is not good for a poor man to bring news on hearsay to my lord."

The chief nodded impatiently.

"When dark fell I went to the house of my cousin, for I was doubtful," Robledo went on with nervousness.

"With a guitar?" sneered the chief venomously.

"It is true, lord." The robber crossed himself, for Don Q.'s knowledge always seemed uncanny. "I carried my guitar in order to make those who met me believe that my service was to a lady's eyes, not to my lord of the sierra."

"And the name of the cousin is Isabellita, is not that so?"

"Yes, lord." Robledo was apprehensive, but the importance of his news gave him courage. "While I waited two men came down the street. One was the porter of the prison gate, and the other had the face of Pablo."

A spasm of fury seemed to shake Don Q.

"Ah, infamy!" he whispered half to himself, then louder—"And what did my good Robledo think? That he had seen a ghost?"

"No, lord, for I spoke to my cousin at the window—no more. Isabellita had heard—for her mother has the washing from the prison of the laces and the linens of her excellency Dona Catalina—that one said at the prison that Pablo had been spared, and another executed in his name. That is all!"

Don Q.'s peaked nose sank from sight in the breast of his folded cloak, and he sat brooding in his bird-like attitude for many minutes.

At length. "Robledo."

"Yes, lord."

"You will give this money—it is $500—to thine Isabellita."

Robledo bowed and muttered his eager gratitude.

"And you will forget all you have told me."

"It is forgotten, lord."

"Also there is a message for Isabellita."

"Yes, lord."

"Say to her that if she fails to procure the earliest news of all that passes in the prison I will cut off the nose of her cousin Robledo. . . . Go!"

"The governor of Castelleno is, in truth, a vain fellow, but I believed in his honor. I have been too generous. Never again, senor, will I trust in the motto of noblesse oblige."

Lalor inquired what he supposed the authorities meant to do.

"They have given Pablo his life on the condition that he betrays me. That, of course, is clear. Pablo Gomez is to lead them here to the Boca de Lobo!" he laughed with sibilant mockery. "So the governor dreams of my capture—dreams that Pablo will guide him to my unknown retreat? It is well! For Pablo will find no path to follow. And more, senor, I say to you that before many days are over the monks of Castelleno will have grown husky with singing masses for the soul of that very infamous caballero and calumniator, Don Hugo, governor of the prison of Castelleno."

Days passed, and spies departed from the valley and found their way back again; ragged goatherds and charcoal-burners came cringing and crossing themselves into the presence of the chief, who seemed to tear out the inmost soul of each with a brief question or two and the glare of his malignant eyes. Lalor listened, marvelling more and more at the intuition with which Don Q. pierced to the bottom of every man's knowledge.

News from the plains grew more and more ominous. Stories floated up of in-

SURPRISE
A PURE HARD SOAP.

SOME PEOPLE WASH FLANNELS with common laundry soap. The rubbing and boiling to get the dirt out makes all the wool fibres contract, and the flannel shrinks until much smaller each way.

When you use "SURPRISE" Soap it isn't necessary to boil or rub hard. "SURPRISE" loosens up the dirt so that it drops right out. The flannel doesn't have any excuse for shrinking.

Everybody who dreads washday should try "SURPRISE" Soap. It does n't cost any more than common soap.

HOW DON Q. STOOD AT BAY.

raiding, arriving and encamping outside the town of Castelleno because the barracks were full. Military maneuvers were publicly discussed, though the troops assembled hardly amounted to the number necessary for even a fragmentary rehearsal of the tactics of war. Then in the dusk of one starlit night half-a-dozen messengers followed upon each other's heels with the news that a systematic movement had begun towards the sierra.

In fact, Don Hugo, the governor of the prison, had gained from Pablo Gomez a fairly clear knowledge of the topography of the Boca de Lobo, the valley in which Don Q. had always found safe retreat, baffling the expeditions sent out against him. It was approached by a tunnel-like passage and, as far as the band knew, had no other outlet. The governor boasted that the capture of the great brigand was now but a matter of time. He would be bottled up in his valley and secured by an overwhelming force. After this the governor promised to put him in a cage in the grand Plaza of Castelleno for the crowd to gaze at. Upon the third day he would be garroted in public with much ceremonial to impress evil-doers.

All these sayings were faithfully carried to Don Q.

"Imagine this animal without honor to whom I sent Pablo!" he exclaimed to Lalor. "Truly I took an overhigh view of humanity! As to my garroting in public—" he laughed. "Come with me, Senor Lalor, and see how Don Q. begins to stand at bay."

He went out and stood on the edge of the terrace and clapped his hands. The valley was unusually full, for all outlying parties of the band had been called in. From the fires and shelters the men hurriedly collected in a group looking up at their chief.

"Place yourselves in your ranks, my children," the sibilant voice cried softly, and the three-score and odd picturesquely-clad figures fell into line. The chief examined them slowly between his eyelids before he spoke again.

"My children, there are many soldiers and many of the civil guard coming from the plains against us. I am told that 300 hope to stand where you now stand before three days pass. We shall see."

The men broke out into a tumultuous defiance of words and gesticulations. For a moment only, and then the yellow, meagre hand again imposed silence.

"We are 70. I shall not need so many to protect me. Every alternate man fall out, and stand together."

They did so. Don Q. looked them over in their turn.

"Thirty-four. That is well," he said. "You will scatter, you will go down into the plains and lose yourselves in the towns. Go where you will, but, my children, remember, lead always honest lives, give none occasion to speak against you. And when I have destroyed the army of the governor of the prison of Castelleno, I will in due time send for you again."

The wild faces were painted with astonishment and awe. Who but Don Q. would prepare to resist a powerful force by half disbanding his own? The very act added to the mysterious reputation he already owned.

Next morning a similar scene was gone through. Again the chief carefully examined the men, gave orders for every alternate one to fall out, exhorted them to lead honest lives and dismissed them with the same formula.

By this time Lalor noticed that, with the exception of Robledo, the chief had got rid of all the staunch and most reliable men of his band. It seemed strange that in a moment of such peril, he should retain the least loyal about his person. He ventured presently to ask Don Q. a question on the matter.

"I have my little design," replied the chief, smiling with a cruel inflection of his thin lips. "You perceive that I have already made an immense impression on my people—when they come to hear all, it will be yet deeper. As for these wolves, these jackals, rather," he pointed a scornful finger at the fellows remaining in the valley, "they are quite good enough for the purpose I intend them to serve."

"What are we going to do then?"

"Senor," said the chief, turning his bald-browed peaked face to the young man, "we—that is, you and I—are about to part. Perhaps the hour of my death draws near. Should you be sorry, tell me?"

Lalor caught the sad smile on the other's lips.

"I believe I should," he said.

"Then, senor, if I die yonder, you will grant me a favor I am about to ask of you?"

"Yes."

"To-day you go down into Castelleno to a little posada, where you will dwell in safety until Robledo brings you the last news of me. Listen, Senor Lalor, the favor that I would beg is that you will chronicle, or cause to be chronicled, the manner of my death, you will tell the world how the greatest brigand of all ages turned at bay among his mountains, alone, as he had lived, save for 16 disloyal men, against huge odds."

"I will do so."

"I have further left you a large sum to engage an adequate illustrator. It would be a pity senor, that so memorable a fight, as that which is about to take place, should not receive full justice. I have had much pleasure in your society, my dear nephew," Don Q. put out his slender bony hand to take Lalor's, "and I recognise in you one whom the saints sent to a lonely man to record, perhaps, his last exploit, which would have been lost to humanity had none lived who could add it to the page of Spanish history."

Lalor went down the mountains, leaving Don Q. with a priest the chief had caused to be fetched from the little chapel of San Pedro. For Don Q., in view of his possible death, desired to confess and to receive absolution from the hands of the trembling father.

The young Englishman took up his abode in a posada on the outskirts of Castelleno, where he waited for nearly a week, listening to the townspeople discussing news from the sierra, which was sensational and contradictory, and also the diversion they expected from staring at Don Q. when he should be exhibited to the public gaze in a cage on the Plaza! Lalor heard in silence, knowing well that if ever they gazed upon the fierce chief, it would be upon his dead body.

One afternoon a young woman touched him on the arm and raising her handsome eyes to his—"You have heard of Isabellita?" she said, laying an indicative finger on her own breast and pausing a moment for his acknowledgment.

Lalor bowed and made a suitable reply.

She went on to say that the hospitality of the poor dwelling of her mother, who was a laundress, was open to him if he would follow her, for there was one come from the mountains who desired to speak with the senor.

She moved off at once and Lalor followed. At the house he found Robledo. The young brigand was very pale under his sunburn.

Isabellita waited on them. Lalor has since said she was the handsomest woman he had ever seen. As up to the date of that memorable supper three men had been stabbed for her sake, his opinion probably only did her justice.

During the meal, which was made up of an excellent puchero, beans and fruit, Lalor asked no questions. After it, he lit a cigarette and inquired how Don Q. fared.

Robledo shook his head.

"I will tell the senor the story."

And he told it, backing his words with look and gesture, till Lalor felt he saw the scenes described.

Robledo told of the final look at the deserted valley of the Boca de Lobo, of the march to the last fastness of the brigands on an isolated peak surrounded by precipices on every side, and joined only to the mass of the sierra by a narrow bridge of living rock. Here was situated one of the dwelling caves of Don Q., and the spot was fortified by sangars craftily constructed to dominate the approach of the long isthmus.

"My lord and I walked last, for those others were not willing to go to the Punta de Lanza," said Robledo.

"But why?" Lalor asked in surprise. "It could never be taken."

"True, senor. But also one could not run away from it. Therefore, those 15 moved slowly."

He spoke of a man who tried to desert, and whom he and a companion had hurled from the cliff, and of shepherding the remainder across the rocky bridge. Having completed the preparations, a characteristic fit of gloom fell upon Don Q. The last scout had been withdrawn, the bridge strewn with stones and bowlders to make the footing treacherous. All was ready. Two days of waiting followed, while they lay cut off from all the world. Two blue golden days, that showed the glories of the sierra above, and far beneath the peaceful smoke rising from scattered chozas, and the haze that clung round distant towns on the warm and drowsy plain.

"Thus we waited watching, my lord and I and those 14, for the coming of 300." The young Spaniard stopped and sat musing with frowning brows, until Isabellita, growing impatient, laid her arm across his shoulder. He started slightly and resumed his tale.

Once or twice, he said, the echo of a shot rang from gorge to gorge. And at last came a dawn which showed the enemy advancing. Don Q. had supplied each man with three loaded magazine rifles, bidding them reserve their fire until he gave the signal.

"My lord lay beside me in the trench," Robledo told it with pride, "and we saw that none of our foes were quick to step first upon the bridge, till a tall captain thrust out of the crowd. He had a white face under big black eyebrows, and he drove a man before him with his naked sword. It was Pablo. My lord laid his cheek to the rifle and it yelped in my ear. Pablo twirled round, screaming, and seized the captain about the middle. They twisted on the bridge as strong men twist in a grapple, and in a moment they reeled over the edge together.

"Then our great lord leaped upon a high rock, where all could behold him, and called to Don Hugo to see how a traitor died! Senor, I shut my eyes, I could hear the bullets chipping upon the rocks round my lord, I almost felt the weight of his body as it fell." Robledo rubbed himself reminiscently. "But it was only a sore thrust in the side from the butt of my lord's rifle—I doubt but it broke a rib or two—for he was angry. 'Fool! can they kill me?' he said.

"A great battle followed. The slaughter upon the narrow path was terrible. The troops tried to rush it many times, but we shot them down. The vultures wings came between us and the sun, casting their shadows on the dead. Still we held off the soldiers. My lord was everywhere—passing from trench to trench without fear.

"Shouts there were, senor, and many screaming above the loud rattling of the bullets. Men and muskets tossed like rags before a wind as they pitched into the chasm. Death I have seen many a time, senor, but not like that," the young fellow shuddered.

"By midday the governor drew off his people, and sat down to wait until starvation should begin to tell upon our courage. But though only a single man among us was wounded, those evil ones began to grumble among themselves, and concoct plans for betraying the chief.

"But one cannot deceive him, senor, when night fell he called them from the trenches, and read their hearts as a priest reads his book. They denied their treachery with oaths. Then my lord said if any would still follow him and fight, let them stand out on his side."

Isabellita, crouched by the young robber, gazed up at him with blazing eyes.

"How many stood on his side? Tell me," she said, husky with emotion.

"But one only."

"And that one? I know him! It was you, my Robledo!" exclaimed the girl, and she flung her arms around him in a fierce caress.

"My lord laughed," Robledo crossed himself. "He laughed, but I feared his laughter. He drove those others from the cave, and bade them live or die as they would. For awhile he sat silent, senor, and then, he told me to renew him. We crept in the darkness over the peak, and down upon the other side, and my lord led me by great tracks for a long time, and we came at length to a hole, and he bade me enter. In truth, I feared to enter—but I also feared my lord.

"In a little time my lord lit a lantern. We were in a tunnel under the bridge of rock, and it grew smaller till we crawled as a wildcat crawls through the underbrush, and my breathing came hard. I know not how long we crept through the heart of the mountains, my head was bursting, and I vowed an offering to the patron saint of hunters (for when I am not a brigand, senor, I lead hunting parties to shoot the ibex), if I ever escaped to the free air again. At the last I found myself lying in a hollow of deep grass with the good wind blowing over me.

"The moon was out, and through a screen of bushes we could see the bridge and the peak. The soldiers were flying a white flag and taking their wounded from the bridge, and a white flag came up out of the trenches on the Punta de Lanza. I feared for the anger of my lord. But he only laughed very softly, and pointed to one who lay on his face beside the end of the path and held talk with some of the civil guard."

"They were betraying the peak—your own men?"

"Yes, senor. But the people of the governor feared treachery, and would not pass over. In the end the civil guards rushed across, led by one Moruno, whom I know—there are men of spirit in the civil guard," Robledo remarked generously—"and by degrees nearly all the troops passed over and swarmed upon the Punta de Lanza, searching for my lord. Then I found that my lord was gone from beside me.

"Had gone!" exclaimed Lalor.

Robledo held up his hand with much the gesture of his old master.

"Listen, senor. Don Hugo himself passed over, for I saw him. Indeed, when they knew the surrender was complete all would have gone to look at the cave of Don Q., for never before in all the history of the sierra has any expedition, found a dwelling of my lord's. So I thought of these things within myself and wondered what my lord would do, when I was shaken by a horrible noise. The mountain vomited a leaping flame and trembled with the pain of its torment. Great stones and rocks were hurled upwards, and for many minutes the voices that my lord of the mountains called to his aid, rang and roared in the sierra that is his."

Lalor felt his own face pale. "Go on," he urged.

"I could hear men stumbling and groaning and crying on the saints. And then, senor, I think I slept, for I was weary. When the sun rose I awakened and my lord was standing beside me in the thicket and bade me look down, I looked. Senor, it was a wonderful sight! The bridge was gone, and there upon the Punta de Lanza, upon the crags we had defended only yesterday, half an army was clinging, able neither to go forward, because of the precipices nor to return back because of the broken path across the chasm.

"After I had looked a long time, my lord spoke. 'Robledo,' he said, 'you see that none may ever triumph over me. Tell that in the plains. Many will say I am dead. You alone know I am not. Go to Castelleno and tell but two only—the senor Lalor, and your Isabellita. If you tell the secret to any other in Spain, I will know.'"

"And your lord, where is he?" questioned Lalor.

Robledo shook his head obstinately. "I will tell my story to the end," he answered. "My lord and I sat together in the hollow to rest, and my lord said I should not see him again for a long time. 'Go you and marry your Isabellita, and be happy if you can,' he said. 'But I do not think you will be so, for that woman has a fierce heart. And you had better sell your guitar or bury it, Robledo, for men do not serenade their wives, and such a wife as yours will not allow you to serenade others.' So spoke my lord."

Isabellita sighed in the silence.

"My lord was the wisest of men," she murmured.

"And have you no message for me?" asked Lalor in some disappointment.

"Yes, senor," Robledo took up a package from a corner. "My lord said—Tell the senor that though for the time men think me dead, I live still. Tell him that I have bequeathed to him a little autobiography of my life which—if none hear of me again within a year—he will, for my sake, offer to the consideration of an English publisher, in order that the world may know a little more of one of its greatest and most blameless men.'"

FICTION and FRICTION

By Margaret Mussey

Copyright, 1906, by Homer Sprague

The most popular novel and "biggest seller" of the year was "Aunt Mary Moffat," written by an unknown author, whose name and fame had suddenly gone abroad throughout the land.

Young Dr. Brandon, just returned from Europe, hastened to congratulate his successful friend, and to his amazement he found the writer in the depths of despair.

"John Hastings, what is the matter? Are you not satisfied with being the most admired and discussed man of the hour? You ought to be ecstatic, elated, delirious with joy, and you look as if you had swallowed a bad oyster."

"Why should I rejoice in success when the only reason I tried for it is gone?" John groaned.

"What do you mean?"

"I was engaged to Ethel Ransom, you remember, and only waiting for money to support her"—

"Some people consider that an insignificant detail."

"Unfortunately Ethel's father did not, but now my fortune is assured she refuses to marry me altogether."

"May I ask why?"

"She declares that I have drawn the character of Aunt Mary Moffat from her grandmother and held her up to ridicule before everybody."

"She is crazy!" Brandon exclaimed.

There are plenty of others," pointing to a pile of letters. "All those are from people who recognize themselves or one of their relatives among the characters of my book. Listen to this:

"Dear Mr. Hastings—I was so pleased to find you made me the heroine of your book. I told the editor of our village paper, and he put a piece in the Huckleberry Junction Post about it. Please send me your autograph.

"There are more heroines, a number of heroes, and you remember the man I called the 'patriarchal parson'—the woods are full of grandfathers exactly like him, it appears. As for the Aunt Marys, their name is legion—there are at least three in every village in the states."

Brandon helped himself from the pile and read aloud:

"Dear Hastings—Perceiving, as I cannot fail to do so, the depiction of my late lamentable aunt in the title character of your book, I suggest that it would be a thankful act for you to put a monument on her grave. Her folks can't afford it. It would be a good ad. for the book too."

Brandon laughed heartily.

"What fun it would be to get these people together! Suppose we go to my house at Knowlbridge and give a party for them. Perhaps if Ethel sees the numerous other claimants she will give up her idea about grandma."

John demurred, but was finally persuaded by Brandon, who assumed the entire responsibility, and sent the following letter to each of the originals:

Mr. John Hastings requests the honor of your presence October the sixteenth at seven o'clock to meet the ladies and gentlemen from whom characters in his "Aunt Mary Moffat" were drawn.

"I have seen your capricious charmer and prevailed upon her to come to our party," said Brandon, a few days later. "She hesitated, but she will be there—the unmistakable glitter of curiosity was in her azure orbs."

First among the author's guests to arrive on the auspicious 16th was an alleged "patriarchal parson," personally conducted by a nephew named Samuel Bangs. The heroine was represented by a married woman (whose husband came also), a young widow and a sentimental maiden. Two clerks, a bank cashier and a commercial traveler appeared for the hero, and four Aunt Marys in various stages of senility came attended by enterprising relatives.

"I wish we had never invited them," said John nervously. "We will have a row as 'sure as sparks fly upward.'"

"Leave it to your uncle," said Brandon. "I wouldn't miss it for a golden corkscrew."

"Suppose they find one another out before supper."

"They can't break loose and wax confidential between now and 7 o'clock."

Brandon announced the guests as they entered the drawing room. Sam Bangs came last, his face radiant with smiles and soap; placing one hand on his spine, the other on his heart, he made a real dancing school bow and said:

"This is the proudest moment of my life."

John thanked him and Brandon said he was lucky to keep his heart where he could lay his hand on it so readily.

Ethel arrived and insisted on going with the housekeeper to the butler's pantry, where she stayed, looking through the door.

Brandon, opposite John at table, forced the conversation to be general, steering it off the book, until the dessert appeared, then John rose.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I have been fortunate enough to bring together a number of people represented in my book. We have the hero, Thomas Presley; the heroine, Jennie Jenkins; the patriarchal parson, and Aunt Mary Moffat herself. Will those I have named rise while I drink their good health?"

"Here is to Aunt Mary Moffat and all her friends, relatives and acquaintances!" said John, and glasses were drained amid great applause.

Then, in order to identify each character, he suggested that all should be seated except the hero and heroine, and four Thomas Presleys and three Jenny Jenkinses were left staring, first in perplexity, then in rage, at one another.

"There must be a misunderstanding," said John. "Surely there can be but one hero or heroine of a single book."

The three women talked at once, the heroes muttered bitterly, the personal conductors exchanged hasty confidences; John cast a glance toward the door, but Brandon laid a detaining hand on his shoulder.

"My friends," he said, "it is plain that Mr. Hastings has drawn composite characters, taking from each the quality for which you are best known. Is one clown in a three ringed circus less a clown because there are two others?"

Nothing could have been more ingeniously offensive, and smoldering irritation threatened to burst forth. The widow stood by John to protect him. Brandon tried again.

"We have all seen 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' with two Uncle Toms, a pair of Topsies and a brace of Evas, and none of them differeth from another in glory."

Here the butler announced that the doctor was wanted across the street.

"For heaven's sake, don't go!" whispered John.

"Talk to them yourself; make 'em laugh."

Before John could utter a word Sam Bangs rose in wrath.

"This is a nice job you have put up on us. If these ain't the real folks in the book how do we know you are the real author?"

Approaching footsteps turned attention toward the door, through which marched a lively gentleman, who saluted and addressed the company.

"I am rejoiced, delighted, enchanted to see you all," he bawled, "the creatures of my imagination—the characters of my book. I—the famous—the clever—the inimitable—the greatest of authors, greet you."

"I knew it," Sam exclaimed. "Then you really wrote 'Aunt Mary Moffat,' and he is an impostor?" pointing to John.

"To perdition with him in five minutes! Certainly I did—I wrote all the books in all the libraries—I made the world, and the people are my children."

"It's genius," said the maiden.

"It's rum," said the widow.

"It's mania," said Brandon, entering, followed by a man who, stepping behind the elated gentleman, took him by the elbows and walked him out of the house.

"That is a paretic patient of mine, who overheard me speak of this party to his daughter today, and stole away from his attendant to come."

"I don't believe he is a bit crazier than you are, with your composite clowns, your three ringed Topsies and your piratic patients," said Sam.

"There is no time to explain—I have terrible news," said Brandon. "One of the servants has developed malignant smallpox, and you must all leave the house as soon as possible to avoid infection. There is a train to New York in half an hour."

Sam made a bolt for the door, followed by all but the widow, who refused to leave John.

"You needn't wait—I will attend to him," said Ethel, confronting her suddenly.

"Who are you?" demanded the astonished widow

"I am the girl who is to marry Mr. Hastings."

"Are you sure you are the original girl or only one of several?" asked the widow sarcastically. "But perhaps you are a composite.

Without saying goodby, she marched majestically out of the room.

"Heaven forgive that lie about the smallpox," said Brandon, mopping his brow. "Nothing less would have saved the roof over our heads."

An Autocrat of The Poultry Farm

By Otho B. Sonja

Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe

Josiah Preston always had been of a despotic disposition, but his natural tendency in this direction seemed to strengthen after his remunerative experiments in poultry raising.

Josiah's mind apparently held but one thought—his hens. The earth was made for the sole purpose of providing them with a scratching ground. The sun rose to give them light and warmth; night followed day that they might have time to rest.

When Flower Preston, Josiah's only daughter, came home from boarding school, and her father discovered by diligent questioning that the words incubator, brooder, trap nest, bone cutter elicited no answering enthusiasm, he grunted sarcastically, "A gal that's been to boardin' school for three years and don't know a leg band from a bone cutter!"

"You must learn about things as soon as you can, dear," whispered the mother nervously. "If you can't talk poultry talk with your pa you might just as well be in the desert of Sahary!"

"There's one comfort," continued Josiah; "I ain't raised the only fool there is in this county."

"There, there, pa," Mrs. Preston spoke soothingly. "What is the matter?"

"Squire Curtis' boy got home from collige t'other day, and what do you think, instid of studyin' law so's to help his pa, he's been studyin' bugs. Four years in collige, and don't know a thing but bugs!"

"Maybe his pa wanted him to," remarked Mrs. Preston pacifically.

"Waal," harshly, "I can't crow over Squire Curtis none. His boy don't know nothin' but bugs, and, as near as I kin figger out, that gal don't know nothin' at all. The only advantage is it took her a year less to learn it!"

When young Curtis began calling at the farm, which he did with suspicious promptness, Josiah's cup of misery was full.

"For the land's sake," he exclaimed testily to his wife, "can't you go in there and set?" indicating with his thumb the room from which came the sound of young voices and laughter. "You let that gal git boys and bugs later that slim brain of hern and she won't be good for nothin'."

"There, there, pa, don't talk so loud. You didn't want my ma to come in and set when you used to come to see me."

Josiah's face purpled; he clutched at his collar band as if he were choking.

"You don't mean"— he gasped.

Mrs. Preston nodded.

"Don't take it so hard, pa," she murmured soothingly. "Jim Curtis is one of the likeliest young men, and"—

"I could stand it better if 'twan't for the bugs," he moaned feebly. "If he didn't want to be a lawyer like his pa, why didn't he take up somethin' sensibler than bugs? What good is a bug? Bugs—millions on 'em—couldn't hatch out one chicken!"

"He's studying bees now, pa, and they're good for honey," appeasingly; "he has ever so many hives—newfangled ones—in his pa's back yard."

Josiah only groaned.

"And, pa, it's all arranged, only I said he'd have to be old fashioned enough to ask your consent, and Flower, like a good girl, said she'd never marry anybody without her pa's consent. That's a good deal nowadays, pa."

Perhaps it was because of Josiah's reputation for irascibility, perhaps because the young man felt that he could express himself more satisfactorily in writing, that his formal application for the consent of the autocrat reached Josiah by mail.

The old man read the letter several times, groaning and grunting. When he rose there was a grim smile on his face and a look of determination in his keen gray eyes.

This was on Thursday. In the evening Mrs. Preston reminded him—"Aren't you going in to see Jim, pa?"

"Dunno's he's callin' on me," testily.

"But you—his letter"—

"I ain't in no hurry to answer it. I'm makin' up my mind."

A similar reminder the next evening met with a like rebuff.

But on Saturday evening Josiah did not want to be reminded. He marched into the "best room," carrying a small basket, and displayed its contents—twenty large eggs, fair and beautiful, to the astonished young persons.

"There, young man," he growled, "there is my answer. Three weeks from tonight, if you bring me fourteen chickens out'n them twenty eggs, I'll give my consent."

"All right, Mr. Preston," returned the young man, easily, "I shall be on hand."

"Pa Preston," cried Flower, indignantly, "Jim doesn't know anything about chicken raising, and"—

"Time he did, then," sharply. "He'll have a chance to show what four years of science is good for. And any little thing he don't happen to know you can learn him," and with a sardonic chuckle the autocrat tramped out, leaving a greatly perplexed young man and a dismayed, tearful girl.

"He knows you can't do it," she sobbed. "Three weeks from tonight."

"Good thing he gave plenty of time," observed Jim, cheerfully.

"Plenty of time!" echoed Flower despairingly. "Why, Jim, don't you know that twenty-one days are required to hatch chickens?"

"Well, I'll buy a hen on my way home and put her right to work," with twinkling eyes.

"There's very little chance of your being able to get a sitting hen," gloomily.

"Is that a particular breed?" innocently.

"Jim Curtis! Don't you know that you must have a hen that wants to sit? You can't make one hatch eggs if she doesn't want to."

"Well, I can buy an incubator," undauntedly.

"You'd be four or five days late by the time you could order one and have it shipped here. And tomorrow is Sunday. Oh," she cried understandingly, "pa had it all planned—that's the reason he wouldn't see you until tonight."

"I know, Flower," with sudden inspiration, "I'll make an incubator. Come out and show me one of your father's, so I may get an idea of the principles involved. Come!"

Slightly encouraged, Flower led the way. Meeting her father, she asked coolly: "Have you any objections to my showing the incubators to Jim, pa? He's going to make one to hatch those eggs."

Preston grinned.

"No objections. Not in the least. Go ahead! Show him all about 'em, and tell him everything you know. 'Twon't burden his brain none. He might put the eggs into cold storage while he builds the incubator."

On Tuesday of the third week the autocrat remarked sarcastically: "I saw Jim this morning, Flower. I told him if he brought the chickens I'd announce the engagement in the county paper an' give you $300 for weddin' folderols."

Flower set her red lips in a firm, straight line. She had not inherited all her characteristics from her submissive mother.

"Lend me your pencil, pa. I want to make out a list of wedding folderols."

Saturday evening came, but Mr. Curtis did not appear.

"Where's the bug professor, Flower?" asked her father tauntingly.

"He's wrapping the chickens up in cotton so they can't take cold," retorted Flower spiritedly.

The old man smiled grimly, but the smile died away as Curtis entered the room.

"I'm a little late, Mr. Preston," he said cheerily, "but here are your birds."

He handed the autocrat a flat wooden box, which the latter opened with trembling fingers. He removed a sheet of cotton, displaying a number of fluffy, sleepy, peeping chickens.

"There are eighteen," remarked Jim carelessly, "four more than you asked for, but I put them all in for good measure."

"Them chicks didn't come out'n the shell today," he declared with conviction.

"No," answered Jim quietly. "They came out Thursday."

Josiah gazed at him in actual consternation.

"I hope, Mr. Preston," courteously—"I hope there is no doubt in your mind that these chicks came from the eggs you gave me?"

Josiah shook his head mournfully.

"No," he said slowly. "They're all right. I know the strain."

He sat in silence pondering over the mystery.

"'How doth the little busy bee improve each shining hour,'" suggested Curtis, smiling. "Bugs are good for many things, Mr. Preston."

The autocrat sprang up excitedly.

"Jumping gingerbread!" he exclaimed. "I'll bet a dime you hatched them eggs out in the beehive."

Jim laughed pleasantly.

"I surely did, Mr. Preston. When Flower showed me the incubators three weeks ago tonight, I observed that the temperature was similar to that in my beehives. I verified this on reaching home by placing a thermometer in a hive. So I put the eggs in the upper section of the hive, separating them from the working apartments of the bees by a cotton cloth. I was positive they would hatch, but you may imagine my surprise when they began chipping the shell in nineteen days."

"I guess I'll put 'em in a brooder," said Josiah, recovering himself somewhat. "These chicks has cost me $300—too expensive to be allowed up dissipatin' at this time in the night."

He bore the precious peepers away, muttering wonderingly:

"Bugs! Hatched by bugs! And two days ahead of time!"

Later the autocrat announced in the county paper the engagement of his daughter to the "brilliant young scientist, James Curtis."

Told Her Woes In Song.

A stately woman of middle age was telling her troubles to a younger woman as they were on their way to an employment agency.

"I have had all sorts of servants," said the stately matron, "and they have done all sorts of queer things, but the colored girl I have now embarrassed me so last night that I really didn't know what to do. My dear, I was so angry I could have cried. Company came in unexpectedly to dinner and there was hardly enough to go around. I served every morsel of all that was on the table, and there was nothing left for the maid. When she came in to clear the table for the dessert she took in at a glance the emptiness of the dishes and her face fell visibly. Then, seizing the crumb tray and beating a tattoo on it with the crumb brush, she danced around the table singing:

'My lord, they've licked the platter clean.
My lord, they've licked the platter clean.

"Of course, I stopped her as soon as I could regain my composure, but not before she had given it away to my guests that they had eaten me out, so to speak. I'll discharge her just as soon as I can get another girl."—New York Press.

Cures In Cancer Hospital.

The first annual report of the first institution of its kind in the country, the American Oncologic hospital, for the exclusive treatment of cancer and other tumors, has just been issued, says the Philadelphia Press, and shows the remarkable record of forty-five one time sufferers from this dread malady discharged "without any manifest evidence of the disease" out of a total of 106 treated during the year. Of the remainder twenty are still in the institution. But eleven deaths are recorded,

COMFORTING NEWS.

How Some Women Have Solved the Servant Question.

There is one bright spot in the ever darkening outlook of the omnipresent servant question.

Chronic croakers and hapless housewives whose time is spent between their kitchens and the various employment bureaus will do well to sit up and take notice that in spite of the flitting tendencies of the present day servant there are mistresses who keep their servants year in and year out.

At the annual meeting of the German Housewives' society premiums were given to no less than thirty-eight servants who have held the same position for two years. Some of them have been with one mistress for four, six, eight, and one has been in the same place for ten years.

The custom of the society is to give premiums each year to those who have served for at least two years. Sometimes the premiums consist of gold pieces, but this year they are in the form of pins—pretty golden bees, with the recipient's name and the date engraved on one of the wings.

Following out the idea of a similar society in Berlin a number of prominent German women founded this society some years ago so that they might meet the ever increasing difficulty of the servant problem.

The membership, which has steadily increased, is no longer restricted to German housekeepers, nor are woman the only members. To be a householder is the only qualification necessary.

By payment of the annual dues, $6 a year, members are furnished with capable servants of good character, who are encouraged by the prospect of premiums as well as by considerate treatment to remain for a considerable length of time.

The greatest care is taken to have on the list only the names of servants who are thoroughly desirable. Good references are not only required, but they are followed up, and in the case of girls who have just landed from steamers the police stamp, which in the European cities is a reference of good character, must be shown.

On the records of the society there are numberless instances of the most faithful service—cases in which the entire responsibility of household management has fallen on the maid and has been attended to in the most satisfactory way.

In one instance the mistress died and the maid had for months the charge of a household of no small proportions, and there are others showing an equal amount of faithfulness and capability.

All of which goes to prove to housekeepers who are certain that the situation is hopeless that there are still "treasures" to be had in the realm of the kitchen—if one only has the good luck to find them and the good sense to treat them with some consideration.

Man Against Horse.

A man (Shrubb) has run ten miles in 50 minutes 40 seconds; another man (Hutchens) has run 300 yards in 30 seconds; another man (George) has run a mile in 4 minutes 12¾ seconds. Of all running records this last appears most unapproachable, and it seems likely to stand for a very long time. Men like Shrubb, Bacon and "Deerfoot," who have covered very close on twelve miles in the hour, could certainly hold their own with most carriage horses over a good road. If the gait chosen were walking instead of running, the quadruped would be badly worsted.—Grand Magazine

Bank Note Paper.

The nine kinds of notes printed by the Bank of England are all on thin, white, crisp paper. The ink used is black, a hard, dry preparation, said to be made from naphtha smoke. A peculiarity of the English notes is that the engraving is simple and old fashioned, in contrast to the notes of other countries, which are most elaborately engraved by complicated machinery, the designs being difficult of imitation by hand and the lathes and ruling engines being so costly as to discourage counterfeiters. The English paper is made by a private concern, as is that in use in the United States, the pulp of the latter being a mixture of linen, cotton and silk, the silk threads coming into prominence after the printing. The French bank note paper is of similar texture, hair being used with the pulp instead of silk threads. Over 50,000 notes are issued by the Bank of England daily of an average value of £20.

BRIDAL PARTY IN ACCIDENT.

Stage Overturned by a Falling Tree in British Columbia and Several Prominent People Injured.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 4.—Numerous minor accidents are a result of Wednesday night's gale. There are grave fears of disaster on the west coast. All wire communication is down.

During the storm a stage conveying a wedding party at Westholme was overturned through the falling of a tree. Among the injured are Mrs. Innes, Archdeacon Scriven, Jesse Longfield (the composer), Miss Schofield, M. W. Clayton and Basil Prior, the latter the eldest son of Col. Prior.

In Victoria, Mr. Blyth, official stenographer, retained for the beef commission, fell on the icy walk, breaking his right arm.

MAIL HOOK DEALS DEATH.

Engineer's Skull Fractured—Apparatus Failed to Work Properly.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—Charles W. Goodrich of Santa Clara, N.Y., son of Max Goodrich, this city, is dead as the result of being struck by a mail hook while leaning out of the cab of an Ottawa and New York engine near Pomsayville, Russell County.

The mail bags had been taken off the hook and the apparatus had not fallen back to its position when not in use.

The engineer got the full force of the blow on the side of the head.

A Farmer Killed.

Woodstock, Jan. 4.—James Snell, one of the most widely-known farmers of South Oxford, was instantly killed at his home Wednesday evening. While running a wagon out of his barn, one of the wheels struck an obstruction, throwing the tongue of the wagon against his head.

Collision In Blinding Storm.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 4.—Union Pacific Overland Limited and Los Angeles Limited trains Nos. 2 and 8, both bound for this city, had a collision last night at Brule Station, 20 miles west of North Platte. There was a blinding snowstorm. The Los Angeles train crashed into the observation car on the rear of the Overland Limited. Twenty-five to 30 passengers were in the observation car, and one—E. W. Hastings, an actor, of New York—was instantly killed. Mail Clerk Gilbert Worley of this city sustained a fractured skull, and a passenger named Jennings was scalded.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—There is a possibility that the dead man may be Ernest W. Hastings, formerly of Toronto, who has won high laurels on the American and Australian stage.

Thirty Dead.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 4.—Rock Island officials here yesterday insisted that but 30 persons were killed and 30 others seriously wounded in the collision Wednesday.

Mine May Burn a Year.

Sydney, N.S., Jan. 4.—The problem of flooding the Hub colliery at Glace Bay is more serious than was anticipated. In three weeks hundreds of thousands of gallons of water have been poured in, but the fire is not under control, and experienced miners say it will not be under control for a year.

Steel Merchants Fail.

Glasgow, Jan. 4.—The suspension of Neilson Bros. & Co., iron and steel merchants, was announced yesterday. The trouble was due to the firm's inability to deliver steel plates sold for forward delivery. The concern had also been speculating in the iron and steel markets.

970 Cases of Typhoid Fever.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 4.—Scranton's typhoid fever epidemic yesterday showed a total of 970 cases since the outbreak six weeks ago. Thirty-one cases were reported for the 24 hours ending at noon. There have been 72 deaths. Bad water was the cause of the epidemic.

Women's Strength Is Overtaxed
BY WORK AND WORRY, BUT GOOD HEALTH IS RESTORED BY
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food
With her strength overtaxed by too much work many a woman finds herself weak, nervous and exhausted, subject to indigestion and headaches and spells of discouragement and despondency.
Under such circumstances Dr. Chase's Nerve Food comes as a blessing of great value, bringing new hope and confidence and restoring vitality to the blood and nerves.
Dizziness, heart disturbances, pale, bloodless appearance, smothering, choking sensations, heavy heart beating and palpitation are some of the symptoms which give way before the persistent use of this great food cure. The appetite is sharpened, digestion is improved, the form is rounded out to healthful proportions and gradually and certainly strength and vigour replace weakness and disease.
Mrs. D. Scott, Cobourg, Ont., states: "After recovering from typhoid fever I was left in a very low state of health and my system was very much run down. I was very weak, nervous and in fact was not fit to do any work at all and began to fear that I was of little use in the world.
"A friend of mine, Mrs. G. M. Brown, had used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and told me that it benefitted her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of this medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in my health, and now after using four boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."
For men who are suffering from headaches, indigestion and sleeplessness, for women who besides these symptoms suffer from weaknesses and irregularities of the delicate feminine organism, for children who are pale, weak and puny, there is, we believe no preparation extant which will bring about such satisfactory results as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food; 50 cents a box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

BLAZE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Over Million Dollars Damage to Army and Navy Stores — Corps Equipment Destroyed.

Portsmouth, Eng., Jan. 4.—The fire which broke out Wednesday night among the camp and equipment stores on the Gun wharf here caused damage, according to the official estimates, to the amount of $1,250,000.

The entire equipment of an army corps was destroyed. Although the conflagration is under control, masses of smouldering blankets and other stores occasionally break out into fresh flames.

KILLED IN BIG FIRE.

Property Loss In Montreal Fire $700,000—Exciting Features.

Montreal, Jan. 4.—One life lost and property to the extent of more than $700,000 destroyed was the result of a fire here yesterday.

The dead man is Hormidas Gagnon, who was crushed in his own home by a falling wall when trying to rescue his son, who escaped without injury.

Following is a list of estimated damage: Two buildings of G. W. Stephens estate, $500,000; I. Mistriken Co., $10,000; Cheeseborough Manufacturing Co., $60,000; Otis Tenson Co., $250,000; Smith Patterson Co., $50,000; Graham Co., $40,000; Gillette Safety Razor Co., $35,000; Stewart McDonald, $10,000; Woodburn Sons Co., $30,000; Hudson Bay Smelting Co., $50,000; Thos. C. Doyle, $2,000; Montreal Cotton Co., $2,000; Allan Duplicating Co., $3,000; Telson Co., $15,000; Standard Clothing Co., $40,000; Beaver Rubber Co., $5,000; Bargain Clothing $10,000; Dodge Pulley Co., $20,000.

The St. David's lane wall crashed down and many of the firemen were injured, and it was there that Gagnon met his death. The injured firemen are John Dupuis, Patrick Hamel, John Livingstone, J. Brosseau, Michael McGrab, James Messett. None are very seriously injured.

Fully three-fourths of the firms affected have been burnt out, but it is understood that the majority of the losses are covered by insurance.

Brennan, the caretaker, told his wife to get a box containing $500. In her excitement she picked up a clock, leaving the cash to burn. With his family, he had to run from his room, and before he could reach the street it was necessary to smash two doors.

The insurance covering the losses amounts to $334,000, well divided, not including the Gorham Co. and the Smith-Patterson Co., whose insurance is carried in the United States and will come close to a total of a quarter of a million.

Big Fire In New York.

New York, Jan. 4.—Fire destroyed the big furniture store of Copperthwaite & Sons at Third avenue and One hundred and twenty-first street last night, entailing a loss of half a million dollars or more and causing the injury of four firemen, none seriously.

WAS A TRAIN ROBBER.

Charge Against a Berlin, Ont., Youth At Richmond, Va.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 4.—The man arrested here Wednesday night charged with holding up and robbing a Seaboard train at La Cross is named Charles Powley.

"My home is in Berlin, Ontario," he said. "My sister, Mrs. William Hilborn, lives there. I have three brothers, Norman, William and Benjamin Powley, who have been traveling with a circus. My father, William Powley, sr., lives in Ottawa."

Powley told three or four different stories.

Skipped Out of Berlin.

Berlin, Jan. 4.—Wm. Powley, jr., formerly of this town, is a son of William Powley, a well-known circus man. Young Powley was once in a shooting scrape here, but skipped out, evading arrest.

Strange Shooting Affair.

Hamilton, Jan. 4.—There was a strange shooting affair last night about 10 o'clock. As Norman McCardle, 49 Cathcart street, was walking alone Kelly street, a man darted out of an alleyway exclaiming, "You're the man I want to see." With that he pulled a revolver and shot McCardle. The bullet entered McCardle's leg above the knee, and he was taken to the City Hospital, where the bullet was removed. His assailant made his escape. McCardle says that he has not the slightest idea of who his assailant is, or the motive for shooting.

PLANS FILED BY G.T.R.

Location of Proposed New Entrance Into City of Toronto.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—The Grand Trunk Railway Co. has filed with the Railway Commission the location plans for a proposed new entrance into Toronto. This proposed diversion is in order to avoid the heavy grade on the Scarboro' Heights. If gone on with the line will take two years to build.

The Canadian Northern have filed a route map, devoid, however, of any detail, which shows a line passing north of the proposed Grand Trunk diversion from the Don to lot 17, concession C. southeast of Scarboro' Junction. Then the Canadian Northern branches off in a northeasterly direction.

The Minister of Railways will hear the Grand Trunk's application for approval of the route map of the contemplated diversion on the 16th inst.

Toronto Will Fight It.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—The application of the G.T.R. and C.N.R. for an order granting them permission to enter the city from the east along the water front has aroused the powers that be at the City Hall, and strenuous opposition will be made to the granting of the order by the Minister of Railways and Canals.

THE MANITOBA SPEECH.

Principal Subjects Referred to at the Opening of the Legislative Assembly of the Prairie Province.

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—The Legislature of Manitoba convened yesterday at 3 o'clock. The reply to the speech from the throne was moved by F. Ashdown of Morden, and seconded by Glen Campbell of Gilbert Plains. The speech intimated that the Government, during recess, had been pressing upon the Government of Canada the justice of Manitoba's claim for an extension of the boundaries.

A conference had been held at Ottawa, consisting of representatives of Ontario, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, with members of the Federal Government, "but, I regret to inform you, with no substantial results to our province." Strong protests had also been made as to the methods, delays and costs in selecting swamp lands that properly belong to the province, under the agreements made between the Dominion and the province in 1885.

"The results of such protests, however, have not so far been of any effect, and as a consequence we not only suffer direct financial loss, but are losing large blocks of land that properly belong to Manitoba."

The recent vote taken on the principle of public-owned system of telephones," the speech says, "has been accepted as a declaration of approval, and my Government has already taken the necessary steps to construct at least 1,000 miles of long-distance lines during the coming summer, which is a guarantee of greatly reduced rates for that very important service.

"The large increase of population, as shown in the census returns, demanding that some changes be made in the boundary of the electoral division, Parliament will therefore be asked to deal with the matter so that a mere equable representation may be secured.

"A bill for the purpose of amending the Public Act will be submitted for your consideration, the main feature of which will consist of provisions for the flying of the Union Jack upon a public house in the province."

Regiment For Woodstock.

Woodstock, Jan. 4.—Official notification was received here yesterday of the authorization by the Minister of Militia of a city regiment for the city of Woodstock. Will Take, Not Give.

London, Jan. 4.—(C.A.P.)—The invitations to the colonial conference were sent out this month.

The Yorkshire Herald's London correspondent understands that Lord Elgin will make it clear that the British Government will not entertain any proposal for preferential treatment of colonial goods, but the Government hopes that the conference will be productive of some practical result regarding contribution by the colonies of their share in imperial defence.

Dakota Miners Strike.

Deadwood, S.D., Jan. 4.—All the mines and mills in Bald Mountain and flour mills in Deadwood are closed to-day, and the mines will be allowed to fill up with water, as neither operators nor miners will make any concessions. The ushering in of the strike was greeted with great rejoicing at Terry, where the miners paraded with a band, shouting and cheering.

HERE AND THERE.

Novelty In Dress Trimmings—Reversible Sleeves on Fur Garments.

A novelty of an extreme sort in dress trimmings consists of large diamond shaped pieces of dull green broadcloth, with applied designs of old rose velvet outlined with black and gold caught here and there with tiny gilt buckles over copper colored taffeta. These diamonds are connected by an irregular open latticework in deeper tones, held together by tiny buttons. Dangling ornaments to match this trimming are sold with it.

Sleeves of fur garments are both long and short. One maker shows a smart sleeve idea in his pony coat models which is quite the most novel seen this year. The sleeve is really full length and is so worn for general street wear, but the lower part is so constructed that it may be turned back to form a cuffed sleeve of three-quarter length. The fur is used as a facing between the wrist and the elbow When worn long, cords and olives button the sleeve in form and when reversed have the effect of an ornamental trimming.

Among the fur shoulder capes and wraps the favorite new model seems to be something in the shape of a dolman.

The useful blouse in the cut is a pretty pattern to make up in silk. The plaitings, edging, collar and cuffs may be of the same silk or of chiffon or lace.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Tassels a Smart Trimming—The Japanese Iris a Modish Flower.

The use of fringe has brought into fashion tassels, which were so much used a few years ago. They first reappeared on the season's evening coats as a finish to the hoods, but now they are on jackets and house gowns—in fact, everywhere that room can be found for them.

A modish little walking suit for a young girl is of invisible plaid in black and bottle green colorings. The skirt is an all around kilted affair, exquisitely fitted to the waistband, perfected, pressed and then allowed to flare. The jacket is a little longer than hip length and fits loosely, though smoothly. It is double breasted and has a small turnover mannish collar. The vents at the sides of the coat are rather deep, and the sleeves are the regulation coat size.

The Japanese iris is a popular flower this year for embroidery and millinery. The lovely blue tone is very pretty when used on certain hats.

The short skirt is worn with every style of coat, but the exaggerated short skirt is "out," the regulation length being, if anything, too long this season. The best looking walking skirt for town clears the ground by about an inch and a half.

The school dress pictured is of blue serge. The box plaited skirt and bretelles are of this material, while the blouse is of a harmonizing plaid. Ecru embroidery trims the collar, cuffs and bretelles.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Breaking the Chain.

In 1881 a bill was introduced in the Massachusetts senate which provided for a bounty of $5 for the killing of "a lynx or wildcat," says the Boston Herald. When the bill was under discussion Senator Rice of Essex, who had a habit of asking the committees to explain some parts of bills they had reported, said he would like to ask the committee who reported the bill whether the term "lynx or wildcat" referred to two different species of animals or whether it was the same kind of animal called by different names. Senator Rockwell of Pittsfield, who never let an opportunity to say a good thing pass, arose and said, "In the absence of the chairman of the committee who reported this bill I would say for the information of the honorable senator from Essex, who, having always lived in the eastern part of the state, is not probably aware that for years there has been a chain of wildcats roaming over the Berkshire hills, that the object of this bill is to take some of the links out of that chain."

ABUNDANT PROOF BEING FURNISHED

Ontario Bank Money is Being Accounted For.

CHAS. M'GILL'S GRAIN DEAL

Only One Broker's Statement to Be Obtained—Taking Their Cue From the Advice of Counsel of Marshall, Spader & Co., Other Brokers Desire Their Dealings With McGill to Be Kept Private.

New York, Jan. 4.—Proof that Ontario Bank money was paid out to the accounts of New York brokers at the request of Mr. Charles McGill is found in the statements of the stock market dealings here, now placed in the hands of the Toronto commission for use in the Canadian courts. The dealings of four firm alone, Messrs. Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., Marshall, Spader & Co., Cuyler, Morgan & Co., and Chas. Head & Co., run up over a million dollars, and these are not all.

The specific amounts are: Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., $485,500; Marshall, Spader & Co., $305,000; Charles Head & Co., $232,000, and Cuyler, Morgan & Co., $329,000, the total being $1,281,500. The Canadian Bankers' Association say that the total is $1,814,800, and are suing Mr. McGill for that amount.

How the Story Is Told.

Sight drafts dotting the account here and there tell the story of moneys paid out to the former manager of the wrecked bank. Recognizing the urgent necessity of finding out just exactly what each item meant, Mr. Corley went over the voluminous brokers' statements. Instances when heavy losses were incurred and some where the dealings netted a profit were reviewed, the investigation lasting nearly the whole of the day. Taking the cue from the advice of the counsel for Marshall, Spader & Co., who declined to make their branch of the inquiry public on Wednesday, the brokers petitioned the commission to make their investigation equally private, and representatives of the press were not not allowed to be present.

Thread of Story Leaked Out.

Threads of the stories related behind the closed doors of the apartments on Wall street, however, were picked up, and it is admitted that a clear account of what transpired is had. The account of Mr. McGill with Cuyler, Morgan & Co. interested the commission, who questioned Mr. A. C. Vaughan, the representative, closely in regard to special entries of sight drafts for $6,000, ranging in sums from $25 to $2,500, said to have been personal payments to the former bank manager. Mr. George P. Mellick, named in the commission as the representative of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., is in Florida, and the examination of the accounts of the company could not go on in his absence. Mr. McGill had no dealings with the company in the last three years.

Mr. McGill's Grain Account.

Marshall, Spader & Co. came forward with their grain account with Mr. McGill. It was in 1904 and lasted about a year, being closed out by carrying the balance over to the general account. The transactions during the year totalled $30,000, and there was a special transfer to the account of V. C. McGill of $15,000. The work of the commission will be concluded this morning with the receipt of a statement of Charles Head & Co. The commission leaves for Toronto to-day.

VALPARAISO CLAIMS.

British Insurance Companies Repudiate Liabilities.

London, Jan. 4.—All the British insurance companies have repudiated their liabilities arising from the earthquake at Valparaiso last year.

THE ASSASSIN'S BULLET THE CAUSE

Strikes St Petersburg Prefect of Police In Base of Brain.

LAUNITZ A PETTY DICTATOR

Was Attending the Consecration of Institute Chapel on Invitation of Prince Alexandrovitch, Husband of Grand Duchess Olga, Youngest Sister of Czar—His Assassin Was Killed by an Officer.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—Major-General Von Der Launits, prefect of police of St. Petersburg, was shot and killed by a young man at the Institute of Experimental Medicine yesterday afternoon.

Von Der Launits, at the invitation of Prince Peter Alexandrovitch, Duke of Oldenburg, husband of the Grand Duchess Olga, youngest sister of Emperor Nicholas, was attending the consecration of the institute chapel. During the services there and while standing near several high officials the prefect was approached from the rear by a young man who drew a revolver and shot him in the base of the brain.

Assassin Cut Down.

As the assassin turned to flee, one of the officers present drew his sabre and cut the man down and killed him. The identity of the assassin has not been established.

After dissolution of the Russian Parliament, powers little short of those of a petty dictator were conferred upon Von Der Launitz. He issued a long proclamation, explaining the Government's reasons for dispersing the legislators. Last September Von Der Launitz refused to legalize the Constitutional Democratic party on the ground that its program did not clearly show its political views and refused to legalize the Octoberist party because of the omission in its petition of the address of its headquarters.

Made 588 Arrests In Three Days.

Some idea of his activity may be gathered from figures which he caused to be published Dec. 28 last. It was then announced that the "flying section of the secret police" had made 588 arrests in St. Petersburg during the three days preceding Dec. 29. The prisoners, who, including thirty-three women, were charged with "revolutionary activity and illegal election agitation." It was added that further arrests and searches were proceeding vigorously.

On Nov. 23 last, Von Der Launitz, acting, it was said, under a hint from a higher authority, dispersed a meeting of Constitutional Democrats in St. Petersburg, which he himself had previously sanctioned. The police authorities complained that the speakers would not confine their remarks to answers to their political opponents.

Suppressed the Russ.

On Nov. 14 last Von Der Launitz suppressed The Russ of St. Petersburg because of the publication of an article of M. Karavaeff, a well-known jurist, who deplored what he termed "the debasement of all moral consciousness in Russia."

Vladimir Von Der Launitz came of an old family of the German nobility, in the Baltic provinces. He served with distinction during the Turkish War of 1887-88, was decorated for bravery, and, in addition to holding the rank of major-general, he was one of the equerries of the court. Von Der Launitz was Governor of Tambov for three years. He stood high in the favor of the Emperor.

Dr. Dubrovin, president of the reactionary League of the Russian Police, was attacked by a revolutionist on the street Wednesday night, several shots being fired at him without effect.

Freezing to Death.

Odessa, Jan. 4.—Snowstorms and blizzards of exceptional severity are prevailing throughout southern and southwestern Russia.

Situation Worse Than For Many Years—Railways Feel It.

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—One of the worst snowstorms which has struck Winnipeg in years has been in progress during the past few days.

The railroads are being taxed to the utmost in fighting the snow, and yesterday all trains were late or abandoned entirely.

The C.P.R. state that the last snowstorm, when eight inches fell within forty-eight hours, cost them $250,000 The Canadian Northern this winter is costing $12,000 a day more than in the summer time to operate, not counting the loss of traffic.

Old-timers state that even the record of 1879, when the town was snowed in for nearly a month, has been beaten.

PRIN. GARDINER'S DEFENCE.

Resumption of the Blind Institute at Brantford Enquiry.

Brantford, Jan. 4.—The O. I. B. enquiry was resumed yesterday afternoon, when an examination of Dr. A. J. Marquis, G. Haymond and F. Lewis was held as to the general workings of the institution.

John Nicholson, a pupil, submitted as evidence for the defence that students were allowed to go to political meetings of both parties. Pupils had attended the resort of the Conservative workers, where a conference was arranged with the candidate, Brewser.

Principal Gardiner's defence will be forthcoming to-day.

St. Thomas, Jan. 4.—Rev. Francis Berry, a veteran member of the Detroit Methodist conference, is dead here. Burial will be at Mt. Clemens, Mich.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

Duties of Members Set Forth—Must Support Revolutionists—Work to Be Done for Poland In Case of War Between Powers — Committee Must Arrange Intelligence System and Collect Information.

Breslau, Silesia, Prussia, Jan. 4.—The articles of association of the Polish National League describe the aim of the league as being "to unite all the national resources for the restoration of the independence of Poland."

The central committee of the league is bound to support any revolutionary action tending to change or destroy the Government.

Article 10 reads: "In case of war between the powers that took part in the dismemberment of Poland, the league's principal care must be to secure for Poland at the critical moment an important position and therefore the central committee must prepare plans for a military and an administrative organization. The committee must collect accurate information concerning the amount of money in the country available in the event of war, and also must arrange a military intelligence system, to obtain information regarding the number, equipment, mobilization, quarters and transportation of troops, the plans of fortresses and magazines, and all technical secrets."

Submarine Cruisers For France.

Paris, Jan. 4.—The Admiralty has ordered the construction of four submarine cruisers, which are to be superior to any existing type of similar vessels. They are to be of 800 tons, to have a speed of fifteen knots on the surface and 10 knots below the surface, and are to have a radius of action of 2,500 miles.

Made Soldiers to End Strike.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Jan. 4.—The train service in Bulgaria is greatly disorganized, owing to a strike of the employes of the railroads. The authorities will summon all the striking railroad men to join the colors, all of them belonging to the army reserve and they will then be drafted into the engineer corps and detailed for duty on the railroads.

The Persian Constitution.

Teheran, Jan. 4.—The revised constitution, which was accepted by the national assembly Tuesday, gives the assembly control of all financial matters. Matters pertaining to the administration of the provinces may only be discussed by the assembly. The assembly can only be dissolved with the consent of the Ministers and two-thirds of the Senate. The Senate is composed of 30 elected and 30 appointed members.

Barrie School Opened.

Barrie, Jan. 4.—The $23,000 school in Allandale Ward was formally opened yesterday afternoon. Hon. Dr. Pyne, school inspectors and local representatives, delivered addresses. W. E. Allen, on behalf of the Allandale ratepayers, presented the board with a handsome piano.

A PITCHED BATTLE.

Lumbermen and Essex Farmers In a Struggle In Which Blood Flowed.

Essex, Jan. 4.—Six employes of the Scott lumber mill at McGregor, and the Hesbons, farmers, engaged in a pitched battle over the possession of a load of wood, and it will be continued before Magistrate Beeman on Saturday on a charge against the Hesbons, of doing great bodily harm.

Scott claimed to have bought the wood from the former owner of the land. The Hesbons claimed that it was theirs. They fought the mill men who went to the farm to remove the wood with clubs, cordwood, spades and other implements, and blood flowed freely.

LAST RESPECTS OF 12,000.

Remarkable Tribute From Londoners to Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

London, Jan. 4.—Twelve thousand persons visited the famous house on Stratton street, where the Baroness Burdett-Coutts died Dec. 30, in order to pay a last tribute to the philanthropist, who was particularly beloved by the people of the Whitechapel district of London, whose condition she did much to improve.

The coffin was placed on a catafalque, with a life-size portrait of the Baroness at its head. Long lines of people, many of them belonging to the poorer classes, stood for hours in the streets in the vicinity, awaiting their turn to enter the mansion.

Charge Against Hollwey.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—Another charge of fraud is to be laid against T. W. Hollwey, in that he did obtain $575 from the University of Toronto as commission on the sale of university property, said sale being alleged to have virtually been made to himself. Hollwey was too ill to appear in court yesterday and his case was remanded until Tuesday.

Strathcona's Retirement.

London, Jan. 4.—(C. A. P.)—The Yorkshire Post's London correspondent says the view that Lord Strathcona has gone to Ottawa to plead that the Government allow him to resign is discredited, it being contrary to all that is known by his friends. There is the best authority for believing that matters are the other way about.

Pleads Guilty to Bigamy.

Galt, Ont., Jan. 4.—A woman named Bate pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy, preferred by her lawful husband. She confessed to a subsequent marriage to a Preston man. Husband No. 1, who wanted the custody of his little son, but was denied it, had the woman arrested. She was sent up to Berlin to await trial.

Mr. Hicks Again Explains His Position On The Smith Street Bridge Question

Candidate for Mayoralty Replies to Mr. Kendry's Letter--His Action was One Taken to Protect Best Interests of City as a Whole

WILL NOT BOW HIS SUPPORT

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir, — Mr. Kendry, in a controversial mood, is generally amusing, sometimes abusive, and nearly always unconvincing. His statements in regard to the Smith street bridge, can all be arranged under these heads.

As chairman of the Board of Works I am quite willing to take my fair share of the responsibility in regard to the council's action in this matter. Once more, let me state the plain facts:

Immediately on being notified by the engineer that the bridge was in an unsound condition I visited it with him, and others. His report was of such a serious character that I at once placed men on guard, to warn parties using the bridge to exercise all care a crossing.

I at once called a meeting of the Board and laid the facts before them, and they unanimously decided on the closing of the bridge for repairs or rebuilding. No one knows better than I do, or regrets more than I do, that this action was bound to entail considerable inconvenience to the residents of the North Ward, but I do not believe there is one ratepayer north of Dublin street, not excluding Mr. Kendry himself, who really believes there was not the strongest desire to deal with the bridge as promptly as possible, in the interests of the city at large. I would like to ask Mr. Kendry if he or any of his family had suffered injury through an accident at the bridge, would he not have come on the city for heavy damages? If only on the ground of ordinary common sense, the Board could do nothing else than close an insecure bridge for the protection of the lives and limbs of the community. The repairs, as I have explained, were completed as soon and as economically as possible, and if this is the only complaint the residents of the North Ward have against me, I have not the slightest fear of the "dose" I am to get on Monday next.

However, I don't want to quarrel with Mr. Kendry. He is quite entitled to his own opinion as to the relative qualities of the candidates for the Mayoralty, and I frankly tell him I do not care very much whether he supports me or not. At any rate I would not buy his support with any "unholy alliance," even to secure my election to the Mayor's chair of my native city.

It is quite true Mr. Kendry refused me permission to enter his mill, but I think an action of this kind is more likely to help than to injure me in the eyes of the people of Peterborough.

Such conduct is very different from the courtesy always extended to Mr. Kendry in his past political contests by other large employers who certainly were not in sympathy with him. But really, I don't know that it proves anything, unless it is that Mr. Kendry's liver is a little out of order.

That "Business Deal"

Mr. Kendry accuses me of not treating him fairly in a business deal. I invite him to be a little more explicit in making this charge, either through the medium of the press, or the law court, at his option.

I admire a fair fighter but despise a man who attacks private character.

That "Coal Yarn"

The evening papers some time ago gave Alderman McWilliams and myself credit for conducting a clean campaign. This I think is true so far as I am aware, up to the present, with one exception, and in justice to the firm of R. Hicks & Co., I feel it my duty to refer to the exception more particularly since Mr. Kendry's letter yesterday.

It has been repeatedly told me, that in order to prejudice the working man against me, stories have been circulated to the effect that I was president of a coal combine and was responsible for having coal sold above a reasonable figure. These charges are neither true nor fair. I never was, nor am I now an officer or president of any combine, but I give you here the retail prices of coal in several other cities or towns showing that Peterborough's prices are lower, correspondingly, freight considered, than in any of them, except Lindsay, which is five cents lower than Peterborough.

In Toronto coal costs 65c. per ton less for freight than Peterborough, and sells for only thirty cents less per ton, namely $7.00, thus making the profit here thirty-five cents per ton less than in Toronto.

In Orillia coal sells for five cents per ton less than in Peterborough, namely $7.35, but it costs less by 15s. per ton to get it there, so making the profit less in Peterborough by ten cents per ton.

In Barrie coal is retailing at five

ARE PETERBOROUGH YOUNG MEN BECOMING MORE INTERESTED IN PREACHING AS PROFESSION?

For the first time in a number of years Peterborough Methodists have furnished a young man who is to be a candidate for the ministry.

The sacred calling of preaching the Gospel has not, in the recent past appealed very strongly to the young men of Peterborough—they have gone into profession and business and have made brilliant successes, but it is some years since there has been a decided preference evidenced on the part of young men in this city to take up the work of preaching the Gospel.

There is, however, about to be a change, apparently. Last night the members of the Epworth League of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church met to bid farewell to the late president of that society, who leaves the city to-morrow to enter college to study for the sacred profession, and it is understood that in a short time another member of the same society will leave the city for the same purpose.

Is there to be a revival of interest in the preaching profession among the young men of the city?

SURPLUS WILL BE AT LEAST $2,000

Gratifying Balance Result of Careful Adminstration of Finances

It is certain that the financial statement for the year will show a surplus of at least $2,000, a condition of affairs that will give great satisfaction to every one who has the interests of the city at heart. Mr. Felix Brownscombe, the retiring city treasurer, when seen by a press representative, said that, while the actual figures were not available, the surplus would be at least $2,000.

The surplus reflects credit upon the Finance Committee, who, although the general rate was reduced half a mill this year, while there were some unforseen expenditures to meet, were able, by careful administration of the finances, to show a balance on the right side of the ledger.

The Water Works Problem; Mr. V. Eastwood's Position

As a Candidate for Member of the Board of Water Commissioners, He Enunciates His Policy on Matters Connected With the Water Works System

To the electors of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

At the request of a large number of ratepayers, and owing to a strong desire on my part to further study and assist in the development of our excellent system of waterworks, I am a candidate for the position of Water Commissioner.

I am strongly in favour of obtaining a plentiful supply of power that may be disposed of by the city at reasonable rates to manufacturers, thus attracting additional industries to our city and offering exceptional advantages as a commercial centre.

Cheap Power

Power to-day is the most valued asset of any municipality, and cheap power can and should speedily be our happy possession. As indicated in my remarks on nomination, I am intensely interested in the public ownership problem, and I am prepared to devote my time to a successful forward movement in this, my home city. I have been a close student of contract and day labour construction work, and in view of my intimate association with the various works that have been promoted and completed during several years past in this city, I believe that I am better posted than either of my opponents with respect to installation, equipment and maintenance of public utilities, coming under the head of power development.

Filtration Scheme

I am decidedly in advocate of a system of filtration. Why? Because we find that in many densely populated parts of Great Britain typhoid fever is almost unknown. The reason is that their water supply is pure, and this happy condition of affairs is brought about under far greater difficulties than exist in Peterborough. I am in favour of taking a plebiscite on this question, and thus learning the views of the ratepayers on this very important matter.

Legislation Asked For

With respect to the proposed legislation to tax all property fronted by mains, I am of the opinion that this principle is correct. I believe also that this application can be modified to entirely satisfy all classes of property owners. This is a city of industrial house owners and I am decidedly in favour of adopting all forms of taxation in the interest of that class. If favoured with your support and election, I will endeavour to advance the very best interests of the people. I have no leaning to corporations or individuals, and will refuse, for the sake of election, to become obligated in any way to support the sale or purchase of any properties or water power privileges, as I believe the city owns ample in its own right for development, unless the property is offered at proper value.

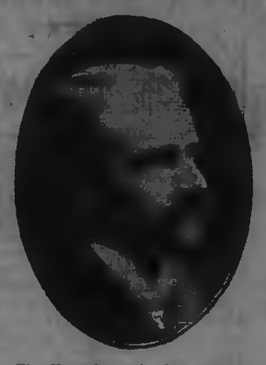
Believing that my measure of success as a business man in this city will commend itself to you, I respectfully solicit such hearty support as will ensure my election on Monday next as a Water Commissioner for Peterborough.

Yours respectfully,

VINCENT EASTWOOD

Peterborough, Jan. 3, 1907.

THE NEW PASTOR AT MURRAY ST. CHURCH



The Examiner to-day presents to its readers the first good picture of Rev. John R. Welsh, the new pastor of the Murray street Baptist church. He will preach his first sermon in his new church on Sunday, January 13th, coming here from the Point St. Charles Baptist church, Montreal.

NORTH CHINA HAS WORST FAMINE IN OVER FORTY YEARS

Pekin, January 4. — Owing to the excessive rains and the consequent failures of the crops in the north of Anhui province, in the east part of Honon, and in the whole north section of Kiang-Su, is worse than that of any time during the last 40 years. It is estimated that four million persons are starving. Tens of thousands are utterly destitute and wandering over the country. About fifty thousand refugees have reached the vicinity of Nanking in a pitiable condition. The authorities are unable to cope with the situation.

EVOLUTION OF THE BOY WAS MUCH ENJOYED

A Delighted Audience Heard It at George Street Church Last Night by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt

In spite of the most disagreeable weather conditions there was a large attendance at the lecture given under the auspices of the Methodist Men's Club last night in the George street Methodist church Sunday school room. Over 200 persons were present and they gave ample evidence of their appreciation of the lecturer's efforts.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, rector of St. Luke's, was the speaker of the evening and delighted the large audience with his humorous lecture, "The Evolution of the Boy." That his hearers were delighted with the lecture was evidenced unmistakably by the applause which punctuated its deliverence.

The chair was occupied by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Crothers, and two enjoyable musical numbers preceded the lecture. The Misses Chasty sang a duet and Miss Reesor a solo. The lecturer was introduced by the chairman in a few eulogistic sentences and at its conclusion a vote of thanks was moved by Mr. G. N. Gordon and sentenced by Dr. Middleton.

The evening was one very enjoyably spent, and in acknowledging the vote of thanks, the lecturer referred to the pleasure it had given him to have spoken before an audience which evidently appreciated his efforts as this audience had done.

UNVEILED PORTRAIT OF LATE BROTHER WEIR

At Last Meeting of Diamond Lodge

There was a special meeting of the Orangemen in the Orange Hall, Simcoe street, on Wednesday night, to unveil the portrait of the late Robt. Weir, P.G.M. of B.A.

The chair was occupied by W. Bro. Joseph Batten, Past County Master, and he was assisted in the ceremonies by W. Bro. Robert Wilson, Past District Master, W. Bro. Geo. Bartley, District Secretary; W. Bro. W. H. G. Armstrong, County Secretary; W. Bro. Col. J. W. Miller, W. Past Master; W. Wyley, P.M. No. 80, Bro. E. J. Clarke, P. S., No. 80; W. Bowley, P. Director of Ceremonies.

Before W. Bro. Bartley unveiled the portrait, speeches were made by the brethren, all expressing the feeling that they had lost a brother, who had occupied a position it would be hard to fill in the Orange Association, not only locally but throughout the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of British America. They expressed the hope that his example would be in incentive to all to try and follow in his precepts, which were in strict accord with the principles of the Orange Order.

The portrait, which is of life-size, shows the late brother in his official capacity of Grand Master, with jewels of office. It is the work of A. A. Grey & Co., Queen street west, Toronto, and reflects great credit on that firm.

Only Two Marriages In Burleigh and Anstruther

Vital Statistics for the Year 1906 Show Two Marriages, Nineteen Births and Fourteen Deaths---A Small Increase In Population

The ministers of Burleigh and Anstruther if they had to depend upon the revenue from weddings would not wax fat. The vital statistics for these townships, published, show that during the twelve months ending December 31st, there were only two weddings in these municipalities. The population, however, as indicated by the statistics is increasing, and if one has patience to wait long enough, the record may be better than that of 1906.

During the year just closed there were in these townships, 19 births and 9but 14 deaths. The population increase however, is hardly represented by these figures, because some new residents who have come to the townships during the year have increased the number of residents.

It is probable that in the number of marriages performed during the year Burleigh and Anstruther have the distinction of furnishing the smallest of any township in the County of Peterborough.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEA AND CONCERT A SUCCESS

A Delightful Evening Was Spent by the Senior Sunday School Pupils of St. Andrew's School Last Night

PRESENTATIONS OF DIPLOMAS MADE

One of the most successful gatherings in connection with Christmas and New Year's festivities at St. Andrew's was held last night. The intermediate and senior scholars of the Sunday school had a most enjoyable time. Tea was served at 6 o'clock, and up to the time of the programme the spacious hall gave every opportunity for a real good time.

The programme throughout was excellent. Miss Langford's class presented a very lively scene as "Busy Bees in the Kitchen." The chairman, Rev. J. G. Potter, remarked that many of the parents would be surprised at the possible activity of the girls. Mrs. Stevens' class of boys gave a humourous dialogue, "Ten Boys at School." A highly entertaining and delightful number was the drill performed by about twenty girls. The marching, wand exercise and chorus were much admired, and reflected great credit on Miss B. King, who directed the exercises.

The highest enthusiasm was manifested at the recitation of little Miss Gretta Lebar, daughter of J. Lebar, of Charlotte street. This was Gretta's first appearance, it is understood, in public, and her winsome manner, perfect gesture and distinct enunciation made it a pleasure to listen, and, although only seven years old, her voice carried with ease to every corner of the large hall. Gretta is one of the most promising pupils of Mrs. Agnes Paterson Mowry, of Stewart street.

The illustrated recitation, "Immanuel," given by Miss Armstrong's class of eight girls, was very successfully rendered.

Other numbers worthy of mention were the instrumental duet by Misses Hope Miller and Viola Fraser; humourous solos by Robbie Langford and John Common, instrumental solo by Myrtle Kennedy, a recitation by Willie Common, an interesting reading by Adeline Grant, and a chorus by four little girls.

The Young Ladies' Bible Class was represented by Miss Cora Montgomery, who, in a most pleasing manner, rendered, "She Liked Him Real Well."

The officers of the Sunday School were well represented in the person of Mr. Stewart Laing, who rendered, in good voice, "The Old Black Mare."

The pastor then announced the names of those receiving prizes and diplomas. Last year Mr. C. S. McClelland offered a lady's silver watch for a prize. It was decided to make the conditions an examination of the year's lessons. Examinations were held last week and resulted as follows: Harold H. Lees, 83 per cent.; Grace Evans, 77 per cent. Harold Lees received the prize of a boy's silver watch, and Grace Evans the gift of Mr. C. S. McClelland.

Awards were presented by the Session of St. Andrew's for regularity of attendance at morning services throughout the year. Mr. Richard Lees, Clerk of Session, read the names, and the Moderator presented them to the following: Ida Grant, perfect attendance; May Henry, Laura Grant, Myrtle Kennedy, Vernon Henry, Bert Gilleagie, Norman Brand.

Those who will receive diplomas and gold and silver seals, are as follows:—

75 per cent and over—

Violet Copeland, Ida Grant, Alex. Fortye, Adeline Grant, May Henry, Myrtle Kennedy, Grace Stevens, Mary Carter, Laura Grant, B. Hart, Helen Henry, Carl Potter, F. Saunders, Grace Evans, Mary Potter, Ethel Robson, Harold Lees, William Hanstore, Ernest Thornton.

Grant Potter, Eva Stenton, Dollie Evans, Ruby Hart, Louise Mather, Annie Reid, Jennie Richardson, Kenneth McClelland, Mary Atkinson, E. Armstrong, Edna Sharpe, N. Mather, Jessie Stevens, Jennie Saunders.

Mr. Wm. Stevens, superintendent of the school; Mr. Rich. Lees, director of the boys' department, and Mr. T. C. Elliott, chairman of the Board of Managers, expressed their congratulations to the parents and scholars, and extended their hearty good wishes for the new year. The pastor, in closing, announced that Mr. McClelland had repeated his offer of a silver watch for the year 1907. The examinations will be conducted at the close of each quarter's lessons.

A most happy night was brought to a close by the singing of the Doxology, and benediction.

MANY ATTENDED THE ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

On "Life of Joseph" Given in Gospel Hall

Last night an interesting gathering was held in the Gospel Hall, George street, when Mr. G. W. Mulligan gave an illustrated lecture on "The Life of Joseph," his talk being illustrated with lime-light views. In spite of the disagreeable weather about 100 persons were present. In addition to the views on the life of Joseph, the 23rd Psalm was illustrated and The Lord's Prayer. Mr. Mulligan sang "My Mother's Bible," which was illustrated.

Moral Teaching In The Public Schools

Morality Department of Methodist Church Will Ask the Ontario Government to Teach Moral Ethics in the Schools

Toronto, Jan. 3.—The morality department of the Methodist Church, the university authorities and the Ministerial Association will shortly take steps to bring before the Ontario Government a number of changes.

It is claimed that the Public School, while it teaches many things, is entirely ignorant of any course of ethics that might be calculated to inculcate the principles that are conducive to good citizenship.

It is not the intention to bring this about by the reading of Scripture, but have added to the curriculum of the Public Schools something that will develop the civic principle, but not based on anything bordering on the dogmatic.

It is also the intention to have the curriculum of the university changed so as to include sociology. This at the present time is entirely neglected, and is regarded by the majority of the clergy who have studied the question, as one of the most important of all the sciences or "ologies."

IS SPEEDING ON HIS WAY TO ENGLAND

Tom Weller's Romance in Canada Becomes a Thing of the Past

County Constable Cochrane left on the 11.38 C.P.R. train this morning bound for St. John, N.B., in company with Tom Weller. The latter was a pitiable looking character as he boarded the train with the constable, although quite resigned to his fate. —"I've promised to go," he said, "and I'm going."

From all appearances his departure was not keenly felt by many, as few friends were there to say a farewell word. Those who forwarded the money to defray deportation expenses might never have been born so far as appearances went at the station. His little romance in Canada is ended, and the opportunity for making a name for himself in Great Britain's greatest colony, has long to the past.

MRS. CAHILL IS MUCH IMPROVED IN HEALTH

And Hopes are Entertained for her Speedy Recovery.

Word was received in the city today from Winnipeg, to the effect that Mrs. Thomas Cahill, who with her daughter was in that city, where they were called by the illness of the former's son, Mr. Joseph Cahill, who took sick while in the western city, was considerably improved in health, and it is hoped that she will be able to leave for home in the near future. The body of the son is now on the road home, Mr. R. M. Denniston having volunteered to take charge of the transportation in view of the circumstance of Mrs. Cahill's illness, which made it necessary for her daughter to remain with her.

It is impossible to announce yet the date of the funeral. It was at first expected that the body would arrive to-night, but it will not be here until later.

THOS. BLAKER BROUGHT TO THE CITY

Trial Will Come Off on Wednesday Next

Thomas Blaker was this morning brought down from the Chemong village, a prisoner in the hands of Constable Jacobs. He was arrested there on a charge of the theft of a rifle from Edward Johnson, another Indian, while the latter slept at his house. The Examiner has previously mentioned the natures of the case so that it is not necessary to repeat the circumstances.

Blaker's preliminary trial was held shortly after his arrival, before Magistrate Edmison, who allowed him out on bail of $100.00. The case will come before him on Wednesday, Jan. 9th at 11 o'clock, when County police court will be held. There will be three witnesses for the complainant, Messrs. George Taylor, Samuel Knott and Evan Blaker; and for the defence, Thomas, Cornet and Stephen Harrington and Mrs. Ann Jacobs. A couple of the Harringtons were in the sleigh with Blaker and Johnson the night they drove home from Peterborough.

The case of the Douro man charged with obtaining $145 under false pretences, will also be heard at the same court before Magistrate Edmison.

DON'T FORGET THE BY-LAWS

There's a tremendous attraction in a fight like a mayoralty contest; the personal element arouses a keenness and bitterness of partisanship such as no abstract question can do. While it is important to have a good mayor and council, it is imperative that other important matters which are turned over to the people for final consideration should not be neglected. In addition to a vote for mayor and twelve candidates for aldermen, qualified ratepayers will have a vote for five bylaws a vote which will practically ratify and pass them, or defeat and nullify them. Don't forget the bylaws—don't lose interest in them. The city's business will go on no matter who are elected or defeated but the defeat of the bylaws will, in many cases, mean disaster, temporary at least, and perhaps permanent injury.

The question of a new Collegiate Institute is far more important than the election of mayor and aldermen. For upon it depend the welfare and efficiency of our public schools, the schools of the masses. It is quite a mistake for any ratepayer to suppose that the Collegiate Institute is only a school for higher education for those who can and wish to take advantage of it. The public schools, from the kindergartan to the highest forms, are directly dependent for their good quality and success upon the Collegiate Institute. This is the training school for public school teachers, without good public school teachers we can't have good public schools, and we can't have good teachers without a good Collegiate Institute. We don't have a good Collegiate Institute unless we build one, and we cannot build one unless the people vote the $21,000 additional required for the new building.

Think this matter over and don't tie up all your interest in the mayoralty and aldermanic contest. There are other bylaws which should receive attention and the sub-joined list to be voted upon on Monday next will be a guide to the elector:

The bylaws to be voted upon are as follows:—

A bylaw to provide for the borrowing of a further sum of $21,000 to pay for the erection and equipment of a Collegiate Institute.

A bylaw to provide for the borrowing of the sum of $13,850 for the purpose of reconstructing and repairing bridges.

A bylaw to provide for the borrowing of the sum of $8000 for drainage purposes and the diversion of creeks in wards 3, 4, and 5, and to provide that all future payments to be made under Bylaw No. 689 of the said municipality, shall be paid by general tax.

A bylaw to authorize the borrowing of the sum of $1500 for the purpose of constructing a main sewer on the right of way of the Grand Trunk Railway, from Smith street to Aylmer street.

A bylaw to aid the Rapid Tool Company, Limited.

TEMPERANCE SOCIETY SEVENTY YEARS AGO

Recent Tragedy in Norwood Recalls the Organization of a Society in Early Days

The Norwood Register this week says: In his sermon in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, the Rev. W. H. Adams adverted to the tragedy of the preceding week, and pointed out that a temperance organization was formed here seventy years ago. He also read the following resolution of the Quarterly Board meeting of November 1853:—

Moved by P. Pearce, seconded by P. Cannon, and resolved that this meeting consider the traffic in and use of intoxicating liquors as destructive to the moral, social and intellectual interests of mankind, and pledges itself to use every possible exertion to promote a prohibitory liquor law. —Carried nem con.

Successful Opening Of The City League Last Night

Charlotte Street Whitewashed the High Lifes and Strathconas Trimmed Auburns in Extra Time

BOTH THE GAMES WERE VERY FAST AND STRENUOUS

The City League had a successful and strenuous opening last night, when the Strathconas trimmed the Auburns and the champion Charlotte Street team scored a whitewash over the High Lifes. The contests were played on ice that, considering the weather conditions, was surprisingly good, but that was far from being conducive to fast hockey. In view of this fact the games were marked by good hockey and the large crowd certainly got the worth of their money in amusement. Under the existing conditions there was naturally a great deal of close checking and the games were by no means of a parlour variety. In fact at times they were decidedly strenuous and the referees had their work cut out for them in keeping the players on the ice. There were only very few intervals in which two full teams were playing and although only a few injuries were reported to the spectators it looked as if ambulance calls would be frequent.

First Game

Extra time had to be played in the first contest which was won by the Strathconas by a score of 4-3. Each team had scored three goals at full time and in the second extra period the red and white team managed to notch another. There was little to choose between the two teams on the form displayed last night. On the play the teams were even but the victory of the Strathconas was earned. They had the most speed and although they have not had enough practice to work up a combination they should be well up in the running for the league championship. The Auburns also made a good showing considering the amount of practice they have had. They have a fast heavy team and have a defence that is very hard to penetrate as the Strathconas found to their sorrow last night.

Neither team had much combination although the winners had the most of what was going. They have a light but very fast team and when they develop a combination will be a most formidable bunch.

Wallie Parnell at rover for the winners did very effective work at all stages and did much to win the game for his team. McMillan and Weatherston on the forward line were always prominent and did good work along the boards. White on the defence showed fine speed getting away with two rushes that resulted in goals and playing a stubborn defence game. For the Auburns McDonald at centre was undoubtedly the star. He did some very pretty stick handling and scored all three of the goals notched up by the losers. Derocher made some clever stops saving the citadel on many occasions when a score seemed certain. Bellegham and Crough made up a strong defence which checked like pile drivers and kept the speedy Strathcona forwards working all through. Mr. Geo. Lynch gave every satisfaction as referee and had a very busy hour the penalties numbering twelve. The teams lined up as follows:—

Strathconas.		Auburns.
Wilson	Goal.	Derocher
W. Weatherston	Point.	Bellegham
White	Cover Point.	Crough
Parnell	Rover.	Shaw
Seymour	Centre.	McDonald
McMillan	Right Wing.	Clegg
P. Weatherston	Left Wing.	Tougas

It was seen as soon as the contest started that it was going to be close Neither team seemed to have any advantage and for the greater part of the half neither goal was very often in danger. Penalties were coming fast however, if goals were not and Referee Lynch kept a pretty steady procession to the fence. Clegg was the first to go off and he was quickly followed by McMillan. From that time on there was generally some one paying a visit to the penalty time keeper. Neither team seemed to be able to score and it was not until twenty-two minutes had elapsed in the first period that McDonald scored for the Auburns from a pass from Clegg after a scrimmage.

The second half was hardly under way when P. Weatherston pulled his team up even by scoring after a pretty rush. The Auburns were not long in getting ahead again. A minute after McDonald found the nets again from a scrimmage, making the score 3-1 in favour of the team from the north. The Strathconas evened up soon after on a nice rush by White who carried the puck from centre for a score. McDonald was there with the necessary and once more put his team in the lead with a nice shot. The game began to get exciting at this stage and when White by another fine rush scored again, there was nothing to pick between the teams. Both sides worked hard for a score, but the call of time found the score still a tie.

It was decided to play five minutes each way. The first period was productive of nothing in the scoring line and it was not until well on in the second period that Parnell scored the winning goal after a combined rush with McWilliams.

SUMMARY.

First half,—
1.—Auburns, by McDonald.
Second half,—
2.—Strathconas, by P. Weatherston.
3.—Auburns, by McDonald.
4.—Strathconas, by White.
5.—Auburns, by McDonald.
6.—Strathconas, by White.
Extra time,—
7.—Strathconas, by Parnell.

The penalties were as follows:—Clegg Bellegham (3), White (3), McMillan, McDonald, Seymour, Shaw.

Second Game

Charlotte Street won the second game by 4-0 in the contest which was faster and correspondingly rougher. It was strenuous hockey from start to finish and referee Stroud had no easy time preserving order. Eighteen penalties in all were meted out and in the most cases at least they were merited. There seemed to be considerable ill feeling between the two teams and the players mixed it up very lively at times. The teams were playing five men a side when time was called. Myers was hurt in the first period and had to go off while Hall and Lang had a mixup in the middle of the second half and both went off for the rest of the game.

The game was very warmly contested and Charlotte Street's victory was not an easy one. They scored three of their four goals in the first half, when the High Lifes were playing four men to six. At that, however, the winners had a shade the better of the play. Their work, especially on the forward line was better. They played what combination was in evidence in the game. The team lined up almost the same as last year, Herb Long replacing Nicholls, who is out of the city. They have a strong team and will take a lot of beating again this season.

The High Lifes made a remarkably good showing considering the fact that they have had no practice together. They never let up for a moment and made things decidedly interesting at all stages.

For the winners Miller was the luminous light. His stick handling and skating were brilliant and his rushes the feature of the game. Dusty and Grose gave him good support on the wings and the defence proved capable of resisting all attacks and stopping rushes in good style.

For the High Lifes Rose and Hall were the stars both working like beavers. There was no combination, however, and individual efforts were of no avail. Sawers played a star game in goal getting in front of some shots that looked like certain counters. Winch played a strong game at point and Myer was doing well until he was hurt.

Mr. W. Stroud gave satisfaction as referee and was a very impartial official. The teams lined up as follows:—

Charlotte Street		High Lifes.
Lang	Goal.	Sawers
Roddy	Point.	Winch
Moore	Cover Point.	Myers
Long	Rover.	Ferguson
Miller	Centre.	Rose
Grose	Right Wing.	Kelly
Dusty	Left Wing.	Hall

The game started off at a lightning pace and with the first thirty seconds Charlotte Street had scored, Miller doing the trick after a pretty combination The High Lifes took a brace after his bad start and the game became close 2nd by no means ladylike. A steady procession of players went to the fence for three minutes and there were rarely two full teams on the ice. Myers received a cut over the eye and went off taking Long with him. Soon after Rose and Ferguson were sent off for slashing and the High Lifes were playing four men to six. The Guild team took advantage of the opportunity and rushed in three goals, Moore getting the first after an individual dash and Grose the next two on combined rushes.

Neither team scored in the second half when the pace was just as fast and the game as rough. About the middle of the half Hall got into a fistic mixup with Lang, the Charlotte Street goalkeeper, which promised to result in a lively free-for-all. The spectators climbed into the ice but peace was soon restored and the pair ruled off for the balance of the game. Roddy played goal during the remainder of the half and turned away several shots. Both teams were tired and neither seemed to be able to find the nets.

The penalties were as follows:—Roddy, Miller (2), Grose, Dusty (3), Lang, Ferguson (5), Rose (2), Myers Hall.

ONE SCHEDULED CAME AT THE CURLING RINK

Only one scheduled game was played at the curling rink last night, but what was lacking in the number of rinks was made up in the keenness of this contest. W. J. Thompson and D. Cameron were the skips and the play was so evenly matched that it was anybody's game until the finish. The latter won out by 4 up amid the applause of the bystanders. The following were the rinks and scores:—

J. Watson	H. Evans
J. H. Ferguson	W. S. Dodds
E. Hiland	W. J. Reid

TO-NIGHT'S GAME TO BE A SPEEDY CONTEST

The Fast Varsity Seven will Cross Sticks With Whitcroft's Braves To-night

THE ICE TO BE IN THE BEST OF SHAPE

There will be good ice for the big game with Varsity to-night and a great exhibition is assured. Varsity are in good shape and the locals have been practicing faithfully, so that both outfits will be in condition to play fast hockey from start to finish. The Varsity team will be a formidable team. Their showing here last winter is still prominent in the minds of the fans and they started off this year by almost trimming Berlin. There will no doubt be a big crowd at the game, judging by the way in which the reserved seats are selling.

The Peterborough line-up will be somewhat changed from that of the last game. Wasson, the veteran goalkeeper will be in the flags once more. Graham will be moved over to his proper position on the right wing and "Jakie" Moore will be found holding down the boards on the left wing of the ice. The two teams will line up as follows:—

Peterborough.		Varsity.
Wasson	Goal.	Keith
Glover	Point.	Hanley
Crowley	Cover Point.	Harold Clarke
Whitcroft	Centre.	Herb. Clarke
Morgan	Centre.	Southam
Graham	Right Wing.	Davidson
Moore	Left Wing.	Toms

THE FIRST GAME WAS PLAYED UNDER PROTEST

Auburns Objected to Parnell Playing With the Strathconas

The first game in the City League last night was played under protest. The Auburns objected to Wallie Parnell on the ground that he was eligible, having played one game with the Peterborough intermediate O.H.A. team last year. The Strathconas decided to play him however, in spite of the objections.

I can name you ten towns or cities with higher prices for coal than Peterborough for every one you can find with lower prices.

Personally, I have no more to do with regulating the prices of coal in Peterborough than Messrs. Scott & Rogg, The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, or J. E. A. Fitzgerald, or any other of the coal dealers in Peterborough, and any of them will, I am sure, confirm my statements.

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

My term of office as Water Commissioner will expire on the first of January, 1907, and as I have time to devote to the duties, and a strong inclination to serve the city in the same capacity for a second term, I solicit your support at the election to be held on January the 7th next.

Mr. Hill and Mr. Matthews, the one in 1905 and the other in 1906, asked for renewal of your confidence as commissioners at the end of their first term, and it was given to them without a contest.

Services Rendered

I have had the honour to serve in the City Council, the City Trust, and Little Lake Cemetery Board, for many years, and have yet to learn that I ever failed to give full attention to duties; and I believe I might in all fairness, have expected the recognition on the Water Commission that was accorded Mr. Matthews and Mr. Hill. It will be for my opponents to show I did not deserve it.

A Business Asset

The early years of every great undertaking are always difficult and trying ones, and the management of our system of water supply has been no exception to this condition. It has required the continued attention of the Commissioners and their best exertions to bring the works to their present state of efficiency. Their conduct has always been based, as no doubt you have observed, on the same strict business considerations they carried into their own affairs, and therefore the general expression of confidence extended to them, and the success that has attended their efforts. But one of the greatest amendments to the works was beyond their powers. I refer to the present dam, on which everything depends, which is of timber held in position by stone, gravel and earth. It was built by the old company fourteen years ago. It has lived almost its life, leaks badly, and is one the city cannot rely on with that sense of security its vital importance demands.

New Dam, Revenue Produced

Over two years ago the Commissioners obtained a report from Mr. Keefer, an eminent engineer, upon a new concrete dam, which he estimated would produce 1400 h.p., or about 800 h.p. over what would be needed for pumping for many years to come, that could be applied to public lighting or be sold, and worth at least $12,000 per year, a sum sufficient to redeem the debt to be incurred, without adding to general taxation, and with still a substantial surplus for city purposes. The subject must continue to engage the most earnest attention of all concerned in the welfare of our city.

A year ago the Commissioners employed Mr. Allan Hazen of New York, an expert engineer on water filtration, to devise and report on a water filtration scheme, which he did. He estimated the cost at $80,000, with an annual charge of $7000. If undertaken, the city would have to supply the money and pay for the yearly outlay. Personally, I approve of any reasonable expenditure for this purpose, although the water now is of fairly good quality, but not always free from sediment.

Prepared Regulations

Upon entering upon my duties three years ago it fell to my lot to frame a set of regulations and by-laws in relation to the use of water, and for the information of citizens generally, which occupied my attention for upwards of two months, in their preparation, the draft of which with a full index of subjects, having been placed before the Commissioners and amendments agreed on, and a complete tariff of rates appended, was printed in book form, and is free to all who apply for it.

Legislative Work

Last year I undertook the legislative work of obtaining more effective laws against the pollution of streams of water, used by cities and towns, and I secured from Parliament provisions covering our river and the lakes to the north, which if enforced by the Board of Health, as no doubt they will be, will subject offenders to extremely severe penalties, and water users may rest assured of a much improved water, without recourse to expensive filtration.

Preparing Legislation

I have lately been preparing at the request of the Board further legislation for the next sitting of the House in Toronto, giving the Board larger powers in the public interests, particularly in relation to the laying down of mains adjoining property that pays no water rates, so that such property shall contribute in respect of the mains that front it, a sum that bears a just rate to the value conferred by the main. This certainly will, if obtained, tend to materially lower charges to all water users, and lead to a more rapid extension of the system. If again honoured by you, I will present this matter in the Private Bills Committee at the next session, and am very hopeful of success.

It is a matter for congratulation, indeed, that the purchase of the works, which many supported with the gravest fears, and others opposed with predictions of failure, has, because of good management, proved an eminent success, has reduced the cost to consumers over thirty per cent., given ten miles increase in mains, and a relative increase in fire protection, in five years.

If re-elected, I shall continue to take my share of the work, and do my duty, in every respect.

I am very faithfully yours,
W. H. MOORE

TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been duly nominated a second time as alderman for the progressive City of Peterborough, I once again solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections, January 7th. In the future, as in the past, if elected, I shall always advocate the policy of municipal ownership of all public utilities, strongly believing such principles to be in the best interests of the general public. During the past year I have consistently supported and advanced such measures as would assure to the ratepayers economic civic government, and municipal control of public services. If once more honoured with your confidence, such measures will receive from me unqualified support, and I shall make it my business to see that permanent improvements are equally distributed throughout the whole city, and that the expenditure of public monies is commensurate with value received.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, and relying upon your support at the coming elections, I am,

Yours faithfully,
GEO. BALL

TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been a member of the Aldermanic Board for two years I believe I am qualified by experience to serve your best interests during another term. As alderman last year I have been honoured with the chairmanship of important special committees, taking up work in the interests of the whole community. And I am convinced that the experience so acquired will stand my fellow citizens and myself in good stead should I once again be vested with the responsibilities resting upon a representative of the public on the aldermanic board. I strongly advocate a policy of sanitary measures which shall assure to the city the highest possible standard of health at a minimum expenditure of public monies.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I remain,

Yours faithfully,
A. A. McINTYRE

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having served you as Alderman for the year 1906, to the best of my ability, and at the request of a large number of the electors, I hereby offer myself as a candidate for re-election and if elected will continue to serve the city as my best judgment dictates, having due regard to economy in all its branches.

Thanking you in anticipation for your vote and influence,

I remain your obedient servant,
GEO. H. DUNCAN.

CARD TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—After having served as your representative in the city council for the past year, I again appeal to your support. I have endeavoured in the year just ended to serve the public interests without any other considerations than the promotion of the welfare of the ratepayers. As I have done in the past I will do again. If honoured with your confidence. Every good measure promising to build up and advance Peterborough will have my hearty support.

WATER COMMISSIONERS

MR. E. F. MASON'S ADDRESS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

I respectfully offer my services to the ratepayers of the city, and am a candidate for election by you to the position of Water Commissioner, now vacant.

I do this at the urgent request of many ratepayers, who are good enough to say that my services as alderman, and experience in the City Council during the last three years, qualify me to render intelligent and helpful service in the interest of the city.

I believe it to be a fact, and it is endorsed by others, that in no way may a citizen gain the information and be in a position to appreciate the needs of the municipality as by service on your Council Board.

Should you see fit to elect me you will please remember in so doing that I am thoroughly in touch with municipal matters, having held the important position of Chairman of the Finance Committee for the last two years. It is admittedly the most important committee of the Council, and one requiring considerable time at the hands of its members, and particularly so of its Chairman.

I believe I can truly say that I understand the financial position and needs of the city thoroughly. In so far as your city Water Department is concerned, I promise, if elected, to faithfully perform the duties of the position and to bear in mind the needs of the city, as implied in the carrying on of the Department and its expansions in future years.

I may call attention to the legislation which Mr. Moore, the retiring member of the Commission, is drafting, and which it is proposed to ask for at the next session of the Legislature.

(a) To constitute the Water Commissioners of the said City a body corporate.

(b) To authorize the said Water Commissioners to levy and collect a water rate upon properties fronting on streets along which water mains are laid and to provide that all water rates shall be a lien on properties served with water or mains; with right of distress and sale as in the case of unpaid taxes.

I do not favour such drastic legislation, and am thoroughly convinced that the people should be asked first to endorse the proposition, and, if elected, I will endeavour to have this matter submitted to vote of the ratepayers before making application for such a sweeping change in the policy, system and conduct of the Water Commissioners.

I may not be able to personally wait on all ratepayers before polling day, but solicit their votes and influence. I trust that my candidature will receive a hearty and successful support, and I shall be proud to be elected.

Yours respectfully,
E. F. MASON

WATER COMMISSIONERS.

CARD TO THE ELECTORS:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I hereby beg to announce that I am a candidate for member of the Board of Water Commissioners. I submit that my business experience subjoined with my desire to serve the interests of Peterborough in the most effective and beneficial manner constitute a reasonable claim upon your confidence and support. I may say that I have made a study of the details of the management of this public utility; and if honoured with election by the ratepayers, it shall be my constant aim and endeavour to continue and improve upon, as far as possible, the valuable water service which this city possesses.

Respectfully soliciting your vote and influence, I remain,

Yours truly,
V. EASTWOOD.

Card to the Electors!

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been nominated as one of many to represent you at your Council Board, for this present year, I take this opportunity of soliciting your votes.

I am a firm believer, that to have a good representative council, that the office should seek the man, instead of the man seeking the office.

When an Alderman gives the time and attention that is required of him if he represents the electors, it is quite sufficient, without spending his time, (which was always very valuable to him) in canvassing votes.

As I am opposed to my business becoming one of your merchants, my time for the future will be spent in your city, therefore, at the services of the ratepayers.

I shall devote my energies to serve the ratepayers faithfully, (as I have no axe to grind.)

Having made a success of my own business, I think I am capable of assisting to manage that of our progressive young city.

It shall be my duty to procure municipal ownership in all cases where our public thoroughfares are utilized. I have visited a large number of towns and cities during the last two years, and I have yet to find one instance where it has been a failure.

It shall be my duty to assist in the the careful expenditure of money, consistent with the advancement of our city.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours very truly,
R. H. LEARY

YEARLY MILK RECORD OF A HOLSTEIN COW

A good example of what the Holstein cow will do in the hands of the average dairy farmer is furnished by Mr. Fred. C. Clark, Victoria, P. E. I. Mr. Clark writes:—

"I am sending you the yearly milk record of Jacoba E., bred by Logan Bros., Amherst Point, N. S. We began weighing March 20th, 1905, and weighed every milking with the exception of the week she spent at the "fair" which was estimated from previous week. Regular samples of milk were taken from six or eight consecutive milkings and tested by our creamery man, from whose figures the amount of butter is taken. As correct an account as possible was kept of feed consumed, and when charged her at the following figures:—roots $3 per ton; hay $10 per ton; grain and meal $1 per hundred, and pasture and green feed $12 for season, make a total cost of $40.55. Her monthly amounts of milk were as follows:—March 464, April 1231, May 1170, June 1092, July 1208, August 1170, September 1093, October 1231, November 791, December 698, January 661, February 550, March 341; total 11,449 lbs. milk and 515 lbs. estimated butter. Her milk at average price received at Tryon creamery, where the milk was sent, amounted to $93.70, and the skim milk at 20 cents per hundred was worth $20 more, or a total of $113.70, which after deducting the cost of feed, leaves to her credit a total of $73.15, to say nothing of a bouncing heifer calf. I consider the use of scales and keeping a daily record of great value in a dairy herd, as I am convinced that Jacoba E. gave several thousand more than the previous year, as we were able to keep track of how she was doing, and took greater interest in the work, and next season intend to keep a record of the rest of the herd."

FOR ALDERMAN

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been once again nominated as your representative on the Aldermanic Board for the year 1907, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections. In the future as in the past if elected, I shall always advocate as economical a civic government as consistent with public needs, and devote my services in the interests of the whole community; I shall support all measures leading to municipal ownership of public utilities, providing the operation of the same will assure to the citizens maximum results at a minimum expenditure of public monies, and at the same time furnish sufficient surplus revenue to pay off the capital invested. I am strongly in favour of this city acquiring its own electric power, in which event Peterborough will be in a position to guarantee new industries all the power they need at the lowest possible price.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year, I remain,

Your obedient servant,

WM. PITT THE REAL FOUNDER OF CANADA

Conclusion Drawn From a Splendid Address Given by Mr. E. A. Peck Last Night

YOUNG CONSERVATIVE CLUB'S WORK

The regular smoker of the Young Conservatives in their club rooms last night was, in spite of the inclemmency of the weather, well attended, and, like those in the past, was a decided success. The assembly room was filled with appreciative listeners to Mr. E. A. Peck's exhaustive address on William Pitt, the Earl of Chatham, and the father of Pitt, the Commoner.

Mr. Peck first said that he chose the life of the great English statesman because it was due to the energy, patriotism, and strong personality and force of William Pitt that we have Canada as it is today, an important section of the British dominions—"He is entitled to the credit of laying the foundation of the Dominion of Canada."

The speaker gave a detailed account of the life of Pitt before entering Parliament, afterwards as director of the war in Canada, where he accomplished so much for England, as he likewise did in Europe.

Early Life

He was born in 1708, the second son of Robert Pitt, a former Governor of Madras. He received his education at Eton, and afterwards entered Trinity College, Oxford. His father died while he was attending college, and Pitt was forced to choose a profession, taking a commission in the army. He entered Parliament when 26 years of age, attaching himself to a party under the leadership of Walpole. This party opposed the Crown, and by his eloquence, and oratorical as well as administering powers, he in time became its leader. In his very first speech he demonstrated that he was a speaker of more than ordinary ability, and afterwards was always listened to with attention. The strong opposition soon began to give annoyance to the Government, with the result that he was dismissed from the military service. To compensate him for this, the Prince of Wales, with whom he was a great favourite, appointed him to a position in his household.

Career in the House

Lord Newcastle and Lord Pelham, in 1744, desired that he should become a member of the Government, but as Pitt had rendered himself very obnoxious to the King by repeated opposition, the latter refused to allow him to enter. For a short time the Premier submitted, but, further demands being again refused, the ministry resigned. The King was then forced to allow Pitt to become a minister of the Crown. For this he was never reconciled with Pitt.

Pitt's political life was one of virtue. He disdained to touch the public's money, which he might easily have done, and avarice was never one of his vices.

American War

Mr. Peck then related how Pitt was given the direction of the American war, involving the gradual growth of the supremacy of Britain over Europe. His direction of the war in America proved that Pitt was a leader without a peer. His insight into future events was never wrong, his choice of generals never mistaken. The conduct of the war against the French in Canada is a lasting monument to Pitt's great ability as an administrator of military and political affairs. His last appearance in the House was a very memorable one. Assisted by two friends, he made a very strong appeal for the American colonies, and while speaking, was attacked with an apoplectic fit, and had to be taken from the House, where he had, on so many occasions, held large audiences spellbound by his enthusiasm and eloquence, and into which he was never again to enter.

Pitt was a lover of liberty, and his own people. It was this that prompted him to stand by the rights of the colonists in their connection with the Crown. Mr. Peck portrayed Pitt's character in a very effective style, mentioning the great pride of the statesman, his affection for the people, his tenacity to public life in the face of great physical frailties. The address was received with much applause from the audience, who had listened attentively throughout.

Mr. Burnham then invited a general discussion of the address, complimenting Mr. Peck on his fine effort.

Mr. Dumble

Mr. Dumble expressed his pleasure at being present. He considered that the members of the Conservative Club were doing an excellent work in holding these regular meetings and having local gentlemen give addresses on popular subjects. He was very much impressed by the impartiality with which the political club discussed different politicians of the past. He also passed complimentary remarks upon Mr. Peck's lecture. He said that he thought the subject of the address was to be Pitt, the Younger, and supplemented Mr. Peck's address by a discourse on the second Pitt, the great Commoner. Mr. Dumble gave a very bright and brief account of the younger Pitt's life and history. Like his father, he was a great speaker and true patriot. He died as he had lived, a man of little means, although he had many opportunities to enrich himself. That Mr. Dumble's address was appreciated was evidenced by the hearty applause given him. The club has invited him to lecture early in February.

Before Mr. Peck's address a musical programme of piano and mandolin solos, and also a vocal number by Mr. Coleman, was rendered.

The meeting was closed with a hearty rendition of the National Anthem.

EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF ST. PETER'S T.A.S.

Will be Celebrated on Sunday with the Usual Ceremony

On Sunday, the eighth anniversary of the institution of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society will be celebrated in the usual manner. In the morning the members of the society will receive Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock mass, and, after their return to the hall their pledges will be renewed. In the afternoon the annual meeting of the society will be held, when the reports of the progress of the cause represented by it will be presented.

The good work done by the society in the eight years of its existence would be hard to estimate. It has undoubtedly had a very material influence upon the young men of the city, and the results have fully justified its existence.

The deep interest which Rev. Dr. O'Brien has taken in the society is in a large measure responsible for its success.

PRICES OF HOGS HERE REGULATED FROM LONDON

Cables to the Local Dealers Come Every Friday Evening

Select hogs during the past week have been selling at $6 per cwt. live weight. Very few have been brought to the local market this week, although a large number have been brought to other stations in the county. Stabler Bros. brought 71 from Indian River station during the week for local wholesale buyers. The prices of hogs for the coming week will be known this evening. It is not a very widely-known fact, but nevertheless it is true, that the price of hogs in Peterborough is regulated by the price of bacon in England. Every Friday afternoon the local wholesale buyers receive cable messages from the Old Country, and it is from these that they set the price of hogs for the week to come. The better the prices there, the better for the farmers in Peterborough County.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE PRESIDENT FOR MINISTRY

Mr. H. Latimer, President of Charlotte Street Epworth League, Leaves Saturday for Albert College

AN ADDRESS AND A PRESENTATION

At a special meeting of the Epworth League of the Charlotte street Methodist church last night, the members said farewell to the President, Mr. H. Latimer, who leaves to-morrow for Albert College, Belleville, which institution he will enter to study for the ministry. The gathering was to a large extent of a social character, refreshments being served by the ladies in the early stages.

The feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr. Latimer of a handsome gentleman's companion in a leather case, accompanied by an address, the latter being as follows:

From Charlotte Street Epworth League.

To Mr. H. Latimer, Ex-President,

Dear Fellow Leaguer,—We have met to-night, not to take part in sad farewells to you, whom we have learned to respect, and in the work of the League, as our leader, to follow as you should direct, for the general advancement of the work amongst the young people of our church, in whom and in whose societies you have taken an active and energetic interest, since your stay amongst us and your connection with such.

We have come rather to extend to you an expression of our esteem for you as a Christian and a co-worker with us in the Master's vineyard and to express our appreciation of the step you have taken in response to the Divine Commissioner who has issued to you the command "Go into the world and preach the gospel of Salvation." Our appreciation of your self-denial and sacrifice in putting to one side the other personal prospects which to every young man counts for much, that is so far as the temporal affairs of this world are concerned. We are glad to have the privilege of congratulating one of our members, who has been called from our League to higher and grander service in the Christian work. We assure you that our prayers will follow you in the arduous and oftimes discouraging work of preparation and study, and in times when you are tempted to look back, and be inclined to doubt your call, we trust that you may ever be enabled to keep your eyes on the goal and with firm and unwavering faith in God, may you be able with Paul to exclaim "This one thing I do; forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before. I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. We trust after successful preparation has been achieved that for many years you may be enabled to render the cause of Christ noble and efficient service and that such service may be rewarded by an abundant ingathering of golden grain, the result of earnest and faithful sowing and reaping.

Signed on behalf of the League,—
M. EMMERSON
D. W. ELLIOTT
M. SHERLOCK
S. A. CLARKE.

Peterborough, Ont., January 3rd, 1907.

The address was read by Mr. S. A. Clarke, while Mr. W. Elliott made the presentation. Mr. Latimer to whom the specific character of the gathering had been kept a secret, acknowledged the address, and the gift, in appropriate terms. He referred to his very pleasant associations with the members of the Epworth, and assured them that he regretted the fact that these associations would be broken. His work in the League and church had been performed under very encouraging circumstances and he would look back on his tenure of office as president of the league, with many very happy memories.

While to a certain extent it might be thought that he was making a sacrifice in taking the course which he had decided upon, he was assured that in reality this was not the case, and he felt certain that he was taking a wise step.

A number of the members of the League referred briefly to the loss which the organization would sustain in Mr. Latimer's departure, and universal wishes for his continued success were expressed.

OBITUARY

JOHN ROBERT AIRRIESS

Apsley, Jan. 4.—The death of Mr. John Robert Airriess, which occurred here on Dec. 22nd, after an illness of only five days, removed one of the most highly respected residents of this community, one whom everyone loved, and whose death will be most sincerely regretted.

The late Mr. Airriess, was born June 7th, 1858 at Barmondsey, London, England. At the age of sixteen he united with the Mass Pond Baptist Church, of which he was an active and consistent member. He was married in 1873 and came to Canada twenty-eight years ago and settled in Jacks Lake, Burleigh, from whence he removed seven years ago to the Burleigh Road farm, once owned by Mr. Alex Brown. He was postmaster at Burleigh until his removal to Apsley, where for the past three years he kept a general store. He leaves a widow and eleven children to mourn his loss; two sons, Alfred and D'arcy, and nine daughters, Misses Ilene, Jane, Nellie, Florence, Annie and Constance, of Apsley; Mrs. Wm. Steele, of Clarendarde, and Misses Emma and Alice, of Lakefield; also two brothers and one sister, Mrs. Armstrong, and Messrs. Edward and Alfred of Peterborough.

He was laid at rest Dec. 28th, the Rev. Mr. Douglas, Presbyterian minister, conducting the service at the house, and at the church by Rev. Mr. Lord, chaplain of the Orange Lodge, of which he was secretary. A large number of the brethren and friends attended. It is said to have been the largest funeral ever known in Apsley.

Mr. Airriess will be missed in this place. He helped in every good effort put forth by Methodist, Presbyterian or English Church, and as the Rev. Mr. Douglas remarked, his life was an example to every man, woman, boy and girl in this community.

MRS. EDWARD DORRIS

Keene, Jan. 4.—At her home this morning, after a somewhat protracted illness from heart trouble, the death of Mrs. Edward Doris occurred, the deceased being 65 years of age. The late Mrs. Doris, whose maiden name was Mary Quinn, was born in Otonabee and had lived in that township all her life, winning the esteem and respect of the many with whom during the more than half a century's residence she had been associated. The deceased leaves to mourn her loss her husband, two sons and seven daughters. The sons are Richard and John, of Otonabee, and the daughters, Mary, of Peterborough; Mrs. McArthur, and Misses Belle, Kate, Rose and Theresa, of Rochester, and Miss Agnes, who lives at home.

The funeral will take place on Sunday morning from the family residence, to the Roman Catholic church, Keene, and interment at the Roman Catholic Cemetery, Peterborough.

WORKER FOR NATIONAL EXHIBITION

Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie Will Attend Both Eastern and Western Conventions

Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie, the local representative to the Eastern Dairymen's Convention, leaves at the beginning of next week for Brockville, where he has some business to attend to, after which he will go to Ottawa to attend the convention. It begins on Wednesday, January 9.

Mr. Gillespie is very enthusiastic over the proposed National Dairy Show, which he hopes will come to Peterborough. He has no doubt that the Eastern Convention will favour Peterborough as the established city for the exhibition. This is a question he will bring up there. He will also go to London to attend the Western Dairymen's Convention, to be held on January 16, 17 and 18, and if possible have that convention endorse Peterborough as the place for the show. It is probable that Mr. Gillespie will be accompanied by a committee appointed by the Finance Committee of the City Council.

OTHERDOM CLUB DANCE A SUCCESS

Most Enjoyable Affair Held in the Foresters' Hall.

One of the most delightful dances of the season was that held in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, last night under the auspices of the Otherdom Club. Every arrangement had been made for the comfort and entertainment of those attending, and the result was that the affair was voted an unqualified success. About sixty couples were present, and the floor was in excellent condition. Delightful music was provided by the orchestra of the Grand Opera House, whose playing added much to the enjoyment of the evening. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion and presented a very attractive appearance. A recherche repast was served by Mr. L. Potvin, the caterer for the occasion. The club, and especially Messrs. H. V. VanEvery and A. Lockington, the treasurer and secretary, are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts.

STILL ANOTHER RUNAWAY ON THE STREETS TO-DAY

Appears to be a Failing in Horse Sense as Runaways are Becoming Frequent

There appears to be an epidemic of runaways among the equines of the city. Almost every day the press records one or more runaways. Especially has this been so during the past week, when some fast breaks have been pulled off with varying results. A runaway this morning proved to be a very tame one. The horse attached to the sleigh of Mr. Alf. Saunders, the market gardener, was standing on Water street, south of the National Hotel, when it became frightened and started on a run up Water street. The sleigh was well laden with vegetables, etc., and perhaps hindered the horse from making good time. As it was, it only ran to Hunter street, and accomplished nothing from the excitement standpoint.

Citizens' Letters On The Municipal Questions

A "LABOURING MAN" WILL VOTE FOR MR. HICKS

Because He Thinks His Course is One Which Commends Itself to That Class of the City's Residents

MR. HICKS A MAN WHO DOES THINGS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Since the nomination of Mr. Hicks and Mr. McWilliams for Mayor, I have done my best to find out what Mr. McWilliams has actually done for the benefit of the town.

The only thing that he has taken hold of and pushed through was that scheme to heat the centre of the town by steam. This scheme gave Mr. McWilliams and some other supporters of it a nice little trip to several important sections of the country which the ratepayer has had to pay for, but the ratepayer gets no benefit whatever from the project.

Mr. Hicks and two or three others voted against this scheme and is entitled to the support of the labouring man on this ground alone.

Mr. Hicks is a man who has done something while Mr. McWilliams spends the time of the council in talking at great length about what should be done, never doing anything startlingly beneficial. Mr. McWilliams has not done anything for the labouring man as far as I know, while Mr. Hicks has introduced and carried through the Council the motion to employ day labour on city contracts.

Was not Mr. McWilliams in favour of buying the Auburn Dam? I think it would be far better to improve the water works dam that the town now owns rather than buy a new one, that is, if the town thinks it wise to go into municipal lighting.

I intend to vote for Mr. Hicks for Mayor.

Yours truly,
LABOURING MAN.

Peterborough, Jan. 2nd, 1907.

AN "UNDECIDED VOTER" ASKS SOME QUESTIONS

In Reference to Mr. McWilliams' Business Interests—How Much Taxes Does He Pay?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice in Mr. McWilliams' address that he refers quite largely to his business interests in this city. Would he kindly state what those interests are, how many hands he employs, (outside of his own)? Another thing I would like to know before entrusting him with the hard earned money that pays our taxes, is, just how much he has contributed to the city for taxes in the last five years?

I do not know much, either good or bad about his record that he talks about, but I would like to know what his stake in the city is, and what his business interests are?

Yours truly,
UNDECIDED VOTER.

Peterborough, Jan. 4th, 1907.

"NORTH WARD" VOTER STATES HIS POSITION

Did Not Intend to Vote in Mayoralty Contest but Has Now Decided to Do So —His Reason

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I did not mean to vote in this election for Mayor at all, but Mr. Kendry's high-handed conduct in stopping Mr. Hicks from going into his Mill makes me think there is "a nigger in the fence" somewhere. This is not Russia and Mr. Kendry is not yet the Czar of Peterborough.

I wonder what his employees think of such mean and petty spite? Mr. Kendry has been allowed to go through all the factories of the city in the past, and he must have some strong reason for insulting a fellow citizen as he did Mr. Hicks. Because of his letter mainly I intend to vote on Monday for Hicks, and "No coercion" of the working man.'

Yours truly,
NORTH WARD.

Peterborough, Jan. 4th, 1907.

ELECTORS WILL NOT FORGET MR. MOORE

For the Part He Took in Preventing the Sugar Beet By-law Passing

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I cannot believe the people of Peterborough are so ungrateful, as to forget that it was Mr. W. H. Moore who alone fought the Sugar Beet Bylaw for $100,000 and put it down, without help from anyone; and I hope the ratepayers will show their appreciation of his efforts to keep down taxes, and vote for him as Water Commissioner.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM IRWIN.
Ashburnham.

ANOTHER REPLY TO MR. KENDRY'S LETTER

Mr. W. J. Thompson Refers to Some of the Matters Contained in the Communication

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir, — I notice in your issue of yesterday a letter signed by Mr. Jas. Kendry, referring to the mayoralty contest. The letter to any fair minded man must appear childish in the extreme.

Mr. Kendry states that the dam of the Auburn Power Co., of which company he is president, has nothing to do with his opposition to the election of Mr. Hicks as mayor of Peterborough. It would therefore from his own letter appear, that the Smith street bridge question, together with the personal business deal to which he refers, appeal to him as sufficient reason why Mr. Hicks should not be elected.

I think Mr. Kendry will admit that while Mr. Hicks was chairman of the Board of Works, he was only one of that committee and that any action taken by him was approved of by the committee as a whole.

Even though Mr. Hicks were alone responsible he was perfectly justified in view of the engineer's report, in closing the bridge in question. While unfortunately the merchants of the north end of our city were considerably inconvenienced by the temporary closing of the bridge, yet those entrusted with the management of our civic affairs, are responsible, not to these merchants alone, but to the public generally, for the safety of our citizens. If the Board of Works considered that the bridge was in the slightest degree unsafe, for traffic, they were in duty bound to take the action they did, until the necessary repairs were made.

Now, as to the "personal business deal," surely Mr. Kendry does not expect the electors of Peterborough to vote against Mr. Hicks for the purpose of satisfying a grievance of a personal nature. We want, as Mayor of Peterborough, a business man, and one who has proved his ability by building up a successful business for himself.

Mr. Kendry would like to infer that he has in his hands the votes of the electors north of Dublin street, but I am satisfied that the good citizens in that part of our city will not be led astray by a bluff of that nature.

On the 7th of January the dose will have to be taken by him who would administer it.

Yours truly,
W. J. THOMPSON.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I suppose this is a free country and that every man has a right to exercise his rights. Now, Mr. Kendry, manager of the Auburn Woollen Mills, had a right Wednesday to refuse Mr. Hicks permission to canvas the employees of the mills. So far this is a private matter, but when Mr. Kendry, as I am informed, said he would allow Mr. Hicks' opponent, or "anybody but you" (Hicks) to canvas his employees it becomes a matter of public interest for both Mr. Hicks and McWilliams, as well as Mr. Kendry in certain relations, are at present, public property. The public have a right to ask whether Mr. Kendry's hostility to Mr. Hicks, which went, I am told, the unwise and untactful extent of ordering the latter out of his office, hasn't some foundation or excuse in which the public have an interest. Mr. Kendry was within his rights in refusing Mr. Hicks permission to go through the mills, but was he wise in showing exceptional hostility to Mr. Hicks and setting the people to inquiring the reason?

Yours truly,
ELECTOR.

The Cold Weather Finds Many Without Homes, who are Sent to the Gaol to Hibernate

The police court had its usual "little something" to do this morning. Two men appeared before the Magistrate, both on charges that were primarily caused by intemperance.

John O'Grady was charged with being a vagrant, to which he replied that he certainly had no home nor means of support. He was given three months on the bill.

Charles Beavis received a month in the same domicile. He appeared a week ago and was remanded until to-day. He said that he did not care whether he was sent back to gaol or not, as he had lost his job by his week's stay in durance vile. He was accordingly given a month with hard labour as an accompaniment.

Aftermath At Stratton's

—The week before New Year's is always a busy and interesting week at Stratton's Bookstore. One reason for this is that all gift goods have ticket-of-leave orders and nothing will be exempt from radical reductions. Some goods have orders to go at half former prices, rather than carry them over to the new year. Some lines in fancy goods, the Poets, Grecian Ware, Jewel Cases, Framed Pictures, Cards, Calendars, etc., come in the half-price list. A. H. Stratton & Co.

Municipal Ownership And Day Labour Problems Discussed

Mayoralty Candidates Express Their Opinions on Important Questions Before Trades' and Labour Council

VIEWS ACCEPTABLE TO COUNCIL

Water Commission Candidates Also Have Opportunity to Forward Their Platforms—Meeting an Enthusiastic One

The result of the Trades and Labour Council after-meeting last night is embodied in the following statement :—

"We find it difficult to make any choice between the speakers, as all their platforms are based on principles which we have advocated. It is very gratifying to us to have so many attend, especially the candidates, and only hope that they will carry out their promises if elected. We recommend them to the electors as capable men, especially Ald. Ball."

The open meeting held in the Foresters' Hall, last night, under the auspices of the local Trades and Labour Council, was well attended, and was prominent for the great interest taken by the 150, or more, electors, who were present.

The meeting was called for the purpose of obtaining the views of the various candidates, not only for the Mayoralty, but for the Water Commission, and City Council, on the questions which have direct effect upon the labouring classes of the city. The addresses of the different candidates in search for municipal honours, demonstrated clearly that no one person aspiring for any of the three bodies, had a monopoly on the municipal ownership problem. It was a feature of the evening to find that every speaker endorsed the municipal ownership proposition, and all took definite stands in this respect.

The addresses of the Mayoralty candidates were, of course, the most eagerly listened to. Ald. Hicks and McWilliams were both present, and were given hearty receptions on entering the hall, and before and after they had addressed the meeting. The questions they spoke on were those of municipal ownership and the day labour system.

The Trades and Labour Council in a private after meeting, concluded that on the strength of their arguments there was very little to choose between the different platforms of the two Mayoralty candidates.

Many of the audience asked the speakers a number of questions, which were answered generally to the satisfaction of the petitioners.

Owing to the illness of Mr. Charles Murty, the president of the Trades and Labour Council, the chair was occupied by Mr. Joseph Crowe, the chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Council. Among those present, who spoke, were Ald. Hicks, Ald. McWilliams, W. H. Moore, E. F. Mason, Vincent Eastwood, Ald. Johnson, Ald. Ball Allan ,McCarthy, and J. H. Smith.

Mr. Crowe, in opening the meeting, explained the absence of the president, and welcomed all those present.

R. F. McWilliams

Ald. McWilliams was the first speaker called on by the chairman. In beginning his address he referred to the reasons for which the meeting was called. He had had occasion to say once before that the workingmen of all kinds were usually the most fair voters in any city. The two great questions which were at issue, he said, were the day labour question and municipal ownership. In regard to the latter, he said that he had discussed the question before the Board of Trade a short time ago, and his opinions were unchanged since then. The whole question of the success or otherwise of municipal ownership, depended, he believed, upon whether the people of the city are able to put over the various utilities men who would give the same consideration to them as they would to their own private affairs.

His policy was to operate each business in a way in which it will be of the most benefit to the municipality. In connection with the offer to sell to the city the light and power plant, he stated that an agreement was entered into with the Peterborough Light and Power Company to last for ten years. Now Mr. Stuart proposes to sell out the business of the company, and he has given the municipality the first opportunity to take over the plant. He believed this plant should be taken over by the city at once, and not wait for years to come.

Most of the citizens of the city he believed could not realize what had been made out of the water works since it had been taken over by the city. He thought that in a short time the city would have owned the the works, which demonstrated that in the hands of capable men in the public service, municipal ownership was a success, and he maintained that this city can do exactly the same thing in anything else. He did not believe that any more franchises should be given over our city streets, and it was on this principle that he stood.

"We must have the power of this city to keep the price of it down in order to get manufacturers to the city, or else we can't compete with others," he added. If this can only be accomplished, he said, there was no reason that Peterborough should not become the Birmingham of Ontario.

In recent times the Council had tried to attend to the fixing of the streets by day labour. He could not see why the work in connection with the sewers, could not be done by the same system. The greater portion of sewer work during the past years was done by the contract system and on this account the streets had not been left in a decent condition. It was advocated that tenders be called, and that the City Engineer tender also. It was not fair, he thought, that the city should be called upon to pay contractors a profit when that profit might be coming to the city. If the corporation did its own work on a street the residents of that street would not have to pay any more than what the cost really was. Mr. McWilliams closed his address with an appeal to the electors for their assistance. He also stated that he did not intend to answer any vague insinuations that might be made on the streets against him — they must be straightforward and to the point.

A gentleman in the audience asked what were the earning dividends of the Light and Power Company. The speaker stated that that information had not yet been given, but would be as soon as it was the intention of the city to investigate the question fully.

He concluded by requesting support from the ratepayers at the election on Monday next, and hoped to have the honour of being the Mayor of Peterborough for 1907.

Robert Hicks

Ald. Hicks, the other candidate aspiring for Mayoralty honours, was the second speaker of the evening. He did not pretend to be an orator, he said, as it was only about the second occasion in which he had had the honour of making a public address. He believed that in the audience there was a ratepayer who wished to ask some question, foreign to those at issue, and challenged him before he went on with his address, to do so. No response was made however, and the speaker continued.

At the time the Canadian General Electric Works asked the City Council for a renewal of their fixed assessment, it was unanimously agreed in Council that it be granted, providing the company should further expend between a quarter and a half a million dollars to enlarge the factory. This was a question, he said, which had been endorsed by him, the decision of which had added many dollars to the pockets of the workingmen. The Board of Works, of which he had been the chairman for the past year, had expended more money than any other committee of the Council, and had any more been appropriated for street improvements it could easily have expended that also. The Board had found almost numberless improvements to make on the city streets, and he was satisfied that they had done their best with the amount of money at their command.

A stand which the Board had taken during the year was that of the laying of the sewer pipes continually on a street when once that street had been opened. Before this parts of streets here and there were opened, causing great inconvenience to drivers. This was a change which he himself had advocated, and he was assured that it had been approved of by the citizens. His idea in doing this was to assist, to some extent, the poor man who might not be able to afford sewer connections with his residence. When once the sewer passed his property it immediately raised the value of that property, and all the owner had thirty years in which to meet his portion of the cost.

Municipal Ownership

The next question which Mr. Hicks discussed was that of municipal ownership. In regard to this, he said that his opinions were along the same line as those of the speaker who had preceded him. He remarked here that he was glad to see that his opponent had at last departed from his ideas of four years ago, when he sat in the Council which gave away the street railway franchise. He explained also his attitude towards taking over the Peterborough Light and Power Company's plant, that it might be operated by the people. The question as yet was very indefinite, as the company did not wish to disclose all the facts regarding their business to a retiring mayor and Council.

Day Labour

The speaker next dwelt upon the day labour problem to some extent, and believed that it was merely a matter of practice. He had always been taught from his youth up up to work by things in a practical manner, and not to jump at conclusions. The day labour question had first been discussed under Ald. Adams' regime, as chairman of the Board of Works, as the previous speaker had said, but, he added, the city records would demonstrate that it was he who had moved the first motion to attempt day labour on Boswell avenue. Later, when he had succeeded Ald. Adams as chairman he had the engineer tender on such work, along with the others, and if the other tenders were lower the engineer's was accepted and the work done by day labour.

He had heard a rumour to the effect that he was interested in the supplying of pipes for sewer construction, but this he flatly denied and emphatically challenged any citizen to show that he had ever purchased a carload or more of pipes other than six-foot sewer pipe, which were only used for connections. He did not connect Ald. McWilliams' name with the statement in any way, he added, as he had agreed with his opponent to conduct a clean campaign.

In his younger days he had worked in lumber camps and in various other capacities as an employee. Now he employed men, but, he stated, he had not a single employee whose work he could not and would not do. In closing his address he believed, he said, that he had merited the support of the electors, and assured those who were present that he would do all in his power, if elected, to advance the interests of the prosperous city of Peterborough as a whole.

Before sitting down, a gentleman in the rear of the hall asked, "What about the coal combine?" To this he responded that he had nothing more to do with the price of coal in Peterborough than any other coal dealer here. He held up seven telegrams, which demonstrated that out of seven town and cities in Ontario, the price of coal was lower in only one than it is here, when the question of freights is considered. A number of other questions, not of a personal character, were asked, and answered by Ald. Hicks.

W. H. Moore

Mr. Moore first complimented both the previous speakers, and believed that either would be an honour to the city. Three years ago he was elected to the office of Water Commissioner by acclamation, and now he was seeking for a renewal. Both Mr. Matthews and Mr. Hilf, who had asked for a renewal of office had received it, and he believed that, in the interest of fair play, his term should have been renewed without a contest, providing there was nothing to be said against him for any action he had done during his administration.

He believed in public ownership, and believed in it at the time he was instrumental in assisting to carry the measure of obtaining the waterworks system for the city, which had become such a success. Mr. Mason, he said, had taken exception to the proposition of creating the Water Commissioners a corporate body. The speaker pointed out that this had nothing to do with the work itself, and was only for the purpose of signing papers when one of the Commissioners was absent.

In connection with placing taxes on property fronting water mains, to partly cover the expense of laying it, Mr. Mason, he said, had also taken exception. He believed that all properties fronting water mains were improved in value and that it was an injustice to other men to have to pay for the laying of these mains, which benefitted other property. He thought that Mr. Mason should have stayed with the Council, and that Mr. Eastwood should have stayed with the School Board, where they were efficient officers.

He also referred to his action in opposing the schemes of Mr. Garvin in connection with the Sugar Beet Company's proposals. In closing, he made a strong appeal for the support of the electors in the election on Monday.

E. F. Mason

Mr. Mason first referred to some of the things he had done while a servant of the city. He believed his record as chairman of the Finance Committee was as good, if not better, than that of any other chairman of that committee in the past. He did not find much fault with Mr. Moore's administration, but believed that he was an efficient man. Yet he considered that it was not for Mr. Moore or himself to say who should serve the people, but it was for the people themselves to do this.

The Water Commissioners, he said, had asked that they become a corporate body and that property fronting water mains should be taxed. He believed that the people should find out thoroughly these questions and should be allowed to express their opinions on them. By taxing

--The-- Crimson Blind

BY FRED M. WHITE

Author of "Tregarthen's Wife," "The Robe of Lucifer," Etc.

Copyright, 1905, by R. F. Fenno & Company.

this time to go to Hassocks to stay with an old friend for a couple of days. That Mrs. Steel knew practically nothing of her son's trouble counted for naught. Therefore it was with something akin to pleasure that David found Ruth Gates waiting in the drawing room for him when he came in from his walk on the following afternoon. Nothing had been heard of Van Sneck in the meantime, but thanks to Chris's telephone message late the previous night he had got in touch with Bell, who was coming south without delay.

There was a look of shy pleasure in Ruth's eyes and a deep carmine flush on her cheeks.

"You don't think that this is very bold of me?" she asked.

"I am pretty Bohemian in any case," David laughed, as he looked down fondly into the shy, sweet eyes. "And I'm too overjoyed to see you to think about anything else. I wish my mother was at home. No, I don't, because I have you all to myself."

"David! On an occasion like this you ought to be the pink of propriety. Do you know, I believe that I have made a great discovery?"

"Indeed, little girl! And what have you found out?"

"Well, you must tell me something before my discovery seems valuable. David, you are a close student of human nature. Is it possible for men of phenomenal cunning to make careless mistakes? Do the most clever criminals ever make childish blunders?"

"My dear child, if they didn't the police would have very little chance. For instance, I have discovered how those enemies of ours got hold of the notepaper that lured Van Sneck here. They sent a messenger to Carter's, in East Street, presumedly knowing that my dies were there, and ordered a quarter of a ream of paper and envelopes. These were to be sent to an address in East Grinstead in a hurry. Now, that was very clever and smart, but here comes the folly. Those people, in the stress of business, actually forgot to ascertain the cost and pay for the paper, so that it was down yesterday in my last quarter's bill. Oh, yes, I assure you, the most brilliant criminals do the most incredibly foolish things."

Ruth looked relieved. Her pretty features relaxed into a smile.

"Then I fancy Reginald Henson has done so," she said. "I fancy I have solved the mystery of the cigar-case—I mean, the mystery of the one I bought."

"And which was changed for the one purchased at Walen's, hence these tears. But Lockharts say that our case was really purchased by an American."

"Yes, I know. And I fancy that the manager honestly thought so. But I think I can explain that."

It was David's turn to look up eagerly.

"Do you mean it?" he exclaimed. "It will make a wonderful difference if you can. That has been one of the most bewildering knots of the whole puzzle. If we could only trace the numbers of those notes, I suppose changed at the same time as the cigar-case."

"Indeed they were not," Ruth cried. "I have ascertained that the case was changed by Henson, as you and I have already decided. Henson made the exchange not at the time we thought."

"Not when you left the package on the table for him to see?"

"No; at least I can't say. He had the other case then, probably, passed on to him by Van Sneck. Or perhaps he merely ascertained what I had purchased. That was sufficient for his purpose. Of course he must have found out all about our scheme. After I had laid my cigar-case on your doorstep a man quietly changed it for the other purchased at Walen's. But this is the alternate theory only. Any way, I am absolutely certain that you got exactly the same notes that we had placed in the original case."

"That might be," David said, thoughtfully. "But that does not explain the fact that Lockhart's sold your case to an American at the Metropole."

"I fancy I can even explain that, dear. My uncle came down suddenly to-day from London. He wanted certain papers in a great hurry. Now, those papers were locked up in a drawer at 219 given over specially to Mr. Henson. My uncle promptly broke open the drawer and took out the papers. Besides those documents the drawer contained a package in one of Lockhart's big linen-lined envelopes—a registered letter envelope, in fact. My uncle had little time to spare, as he was bound to be back in London to-night. He suggested that as the back of the drawer was broken and the envelope presumably contained valuables, I had better take care of it. Well, I must admit at once that I steamed the envelope open. I shouldn't have done so if Lockhart's name had not been on the flap. In a little case inside I found a diamond bracelet, which I have in my pocket, together with a receipted bill for seventy odd pounds made out to me."

"To you?" David cried. "Do you mean to say that——"

"Indeed I do. The receipt was made out to me, and with it was a little polite note to the effect that Messrs. Lockhart had made the exchange of the cigar-case for the diamond bracelet, and that they hoped Miss Gates would find the latter perfectly satisfactory."

David was too astonished to say anything for the moment. The skein was too tangled to be thought out all at once. Presently he began to see his way.

"Under ordinary circumstances the change seems impossible," he said. "Especially seeing that the juggling could not have been done without both the cases—but I had forgotten how easily the cases were changed. I have it! What is the date of that letter?"

Ruth slowly unfolded a document she had taken from her purse.

"The day following what you call your great adventure," she said. "Henson or somebody took the real case—my case—back to Lockhart's and changed it in my name. I had previously been admiring this self-same bracelet, and they had tried to sell it to me. My dear boy, don't you see this is all part of the plot to plunge you deeper and deeper into trouble, to force us all to speak to save you? There are at least fifteen assistants at Lockhart's. Of course the ultimate sale of the cigar-case to this American could be proved, seeing that the case had got back into stock again, and at the same time the incident of the change quite forgotten. And when you go and ask questions at Lockhart's—as you were pretty sure to do, as Henson knew—you are told of the sale only to the American. Depend upon it, that American was Henson or somebody in his pay. David, that man is too cunning, too complex. And some of these days it is going to prove his fall."

David nodded thoughtfully. And yet, without something very clever and intricate in the way of a scheme, Henson could not have placed him in his present fix.

"There is only one thing to be done," he said. "You and I must go down to Lockhart's and make a few inquiries. With that diamond bracelet and letter in your possession you should have no difficulty in refreshing their memories. Will you have some tea?"

"I am too excited," Ruth laughed. "I couldn't eat or drink anything just at present. David what a lovely house you have."

"I'm glad to hear that you are going to like it," David said, drily.

Lockhart's received their customers in the usual courtly style. They were sorry they had no recollection of the transaction to which madam referred. The sale of the bracelet was clear, because that was duly and properly recorded on the books, and as indeed was the sale of the gun-metal cigar-case to an American gentleman at the Metropole. If madam said that she had purchased the cigar-case, why—still the polite assistant was most courteously incredulous.

The production of the letter made a difference. There was a passing of confidences from one plate-glass counter to another, and presently another assistant came forward. He profoundly regretted that there had been a mistake, but he remembered the incident perfectly. It was the day before he had departed on his usual monthly visit to the firm's Paris branch. Madam had certainly purchased the cigar-case; but before the sale could be posted in the stock ledger madam had sent a gentleman to change the case for the diamond bracelet previously admired. The speaker had attended to both the sale and the exchange; in fact, his cab was waiting for him during the latter incident.

"I trust there is nothing wrong?" he asked, anxiously.

"Not in the least," Ruth hastened to reply. "The whole matter is a kind of comedy that I wanted to solve. It is a family joke, you understand. And who made the exchange?"

"Mr. Gates, madam. A tall gentleman, dressed in——"

"That is quite sufficient thank you," said Ruth. "I am sorry to trouble you over so silly a matter."

The assistant assured madam with an air of painful reproach that nothing was counted a trouble in that establishment. He bowed his visitors out and informed them that it was a lovely afternoon, a self-evident axiom that the most disputatious could not well deny.

"You see how your inquiries might have been utterly baffled but for this find of mine," Ruth said, as the two went along North Street. "We shall find presently that the Metropole American and Reginald Henson are one and the same person."

"And you fancy that he made the exchange at Lockhart's?"

"I feel pretty certain of it," Ruth replied. "And you will be sure later on to find that he had a hand in the purchase of the other cigar-case from Walen's. Go to Marley's and get him to make inquiries as to whether or not Walen's got their case down on approval."

David proceeded to do so without further delay. Inspector Marley was out, but David left a message for him. Would he communicate by telephone later on? Steel had just finished his dinner when Marley came him on.

"Are you there? Yes, I have seen Walen. Your suggestion was quite right. Customer had seen cigar-case exactly like it in Lockhart's, only too dear. Walen dealt with some manufacturers and got case down. Oh, no, never saw customer again. That sort of thing happens to shopkeepers every day. Yes. Walen thinks he would recognise his man again. Nothing more? Good-night, sir."

CHAPTER XLI.

It looked like being a long, dull evening for Steel if he were not going to the theatre or anything of that kind. He generally read till about eleven o'clock, after which he sat up for another couple of hours plotting out the day's task for to-morrow. To-night he could only wander restlessly about his conservatory, snipping off a dead leaf here and there and wondering where the whole thing was going to end.

With a certain sense of relief David heard the front door-bell trill about eleven o'clock. Somebody was coming to see him, and it didn't matter much who in Steel's present frame of mind. But he swept into the study with a feeling of genuine pleasure as Hatherly Bell was announced.

"My dear fellow, I'm delighted to see you," he cried. "Take the big armchair. Let me give you a cigar and a whisky and soda and make you comfortable. That's better."

"I'm tired out," Bell said. "In London all day, and since six with Cross. Can you put me up for the night?"

"My bachelor bedroom is always ready, Bell."

"Thanks. I don't fancy you need be under any apprehension that anybody has spirited Van Sneck away. In the first place Henson, who seems to have discovered what happened, is in a terrible state about it. He wanted very badly to remain at Littimer, but when he heard that Van Sneck had left the hospital he came down here; in fact, we traveled together. Of course he said nothing whatever about Van Sneck, whom he is supposed to know nothing about, but I could see that he was terribly disturbed. The worst of it is that Cross was going to get me to operate on Van Sneck; and Heritage, who seems wonderfully better, was going to assist."

"Is your unfortunate friend up to that kind of thing now?" David asked.

"I fancy so. Do you know that Heritage used to have a fairly good practice near Littimer Castle? Lord Littimer knows him well. I want Heritage to come into this. I want to get at the reason why Henson has been so confoundedly good to Heritage. For years he has practically provided him with a home at Palmer's. And when Heritage mentions Henson's name he always does so with a kind of forced gratitude."

"You think that Heritage is going to be useful to us?"

"I fancy so. Mind you, it is only my idea—what I call intuition, for want of a better word. And what have you been doing lately?"

David proceeded to explain, giving the events of the afternoon in full detail. Bell followed the account with the deepest interest. Then he proceeded to tell his own story. David appeared to be fascinated with the tale of the man with the thumb-nail.

"So Miss Chris hopes to hypnotise the man with the thumb," he said. "You have seen more of her than I have, Bell. Does she strike you as she strikes me—a girl of wonderfully acute mind allied to a pluck and audacity absolutely brilliant?"

"She is that and more," Bell said, warmly. "Now that she is free to act she has developed wonderfully. Look how cleverly she worked out that Rembrandt business, how utterly she puzzled Henson, and how she helped me to get into Littimer's good books again without Henson even guessing at the reason. And now she has forced the confidence of that rascal Merritt. She has saved him from a gaol into which she might have thrown him at any moment, she has convinced him that she is something exceedingly brilliant in the way of an adventuress, with a great coup ahead. Later on she will use Merritt, and a fine hard-cutting tool she will find him."

"Where is Henson at the present moment?" David asked.

"I left him in London this afternoon," Bell replied. "But I haven't the slightest doubt in the world that he has made his way to Brighton by this time. In all probability he has gone to Longdean."

Bell paused as the telephone bell rang out shrilly. The mere sound of it thrilled both of them with excitement. And what a useful thing the telephone had proved!

"Are you there?" came the quick, small whisper. "Is that you, Mr. Steel? I am Enid Henson."

There was a long pause, during which David was listening intently. Bell could see him growing rigid with the prospect of something keen, alert, and vigorous.

"Bell is here with me at this moment," he said. "Just wait a minute whilst I tell him. Don't go away, please. Under the circumstances it might be dangerous for me to ring you. . . . Just a moment. Here's a pretty mess."

"Well," Bell said, impatiently, "I'm only a mere man, after all."

"Henson is at Longdean; he turned up an hour ago, and at the present moment is having his supper in the library before going to bed. But that is not the worst part of it. Williams heard the dogs making a great noise by the gates, and went to see what was wrong. Some poor, demeaned fellow had climbed over the wall, and the dogs were holding him up. Fortunately, he did not seem to be conscious of his danger, and as he stood still the hounds did him no harm. Williams was going to put the intruder into the road again when Miss Henson came up. And whom do you suppose the poor, wandering tramp to be?"

Bell pitched his cigar into the grate full of flowers and jumped to his feet.

"Van Sneck, for a million," he cried. "My head to a coconanut on it."

"The same. They managed to get the poor fellow into the house before Williams brought Henson from the lodge, and he's in the stables now in a rather excited condition. Now, I quite agree with Miss Henson that Henson must be kept in ignorance of the fact, also that Van Sneck must be got away without delay. To inform the hospital authorities would be to spoil everything and play into Henson's hands But he must be got away to-night."

"Right you are. We'll go and fetch him. Et apres?"

"Et apres he will stay here. He shall stay here, and you shall say that it is

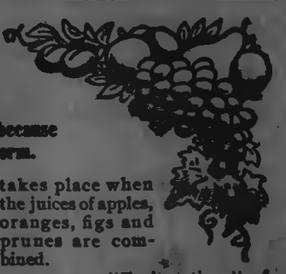
CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Fruit Cures Constipation



"Fruit-a-tives" cure Constipation because they are Fruit Juices in Tablet form.

Constipation means a disordered liver. When the liver is weak, bile is lacking. And it is the bile—which the liver excretes—that flows into the intestines and moves the bowels.

Fruit is the great liver tonic. It invigorates the liver and causes more bile to flow into the bowels.

Purgatives, powders and purging mineral waters, never reach the liver. They irritate the bowels and FORCE them to move. They generally do harm. They NEVER do any PERMANENT good.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices—in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the wonderful change which takes place when the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes are combined.

"Fruit-a-tives" have already proved a cure to many thousands of people in Canada.

"Fruit-a-tives" are free from calomel, cascara, senna and other bowel irritants. They are concentrated fruit juices with valuable tonics and internal antiseptics added.

"Fruit-a-tives" move the bowels regularly and easily every day — and thus cure Constipation.

The Dunlop Creed

WE believe that the trade mark, the two hands, is the most valuable asset in our business, and we shall aim to keep it always in good repute by fair and square dealing.

¶ We believe it is in the fullest sense injurious to our prospects to allow the Dunlop trade mark to be placed on any goods not made of a superior quality of rubber.

¶ We believe in quality. We know that the satisfaction quality gives is lasting, while the satisfaction a purchaser has in buying cheaply is short lived. When he does not find quality he forgets the price paid and begins to think he has been fooled.

dangerous to remove him. Cross shall be told and Marley shall be told, and the public shall be discreetly kept in ignorance for the present. I'll go over there at once, as there is no time to be lost. Miss Henson suggests that I should come, and she tells me that Williams will wait at the lodge-gates for me. But you are going to stay here!"

"Oh, indeed! And why am I going to stay here?"

"Because, my dear friend, I can easily manage the business single-handed, and because you must run no risk of meeting Henson yonder. You are not now supposed to know where the family are, nor are you supposed to take the faintest interest in them. Stay here and make yourself comfortable till I return. . . . Are you there? I will be at Longdean as soon as possible and bring Van Sneck here. No, I won't ring off; you had better do that. I shall be over in less than an hour."

David hung up the receiver and proceeded to don a short covert coat and a cap. In the breast-pocket of the coat he placed a revolver.

"Just as well to be on the safe side," he said. "Though I am not likely to be troubled with the man with the thumb again. Still, Henson may have other blackguards; he may even know where Van Sneck is at the present moment for all I know to the contrary."

"I feel rather guilty letting you go alone," Bell said.

"Not a bit of it," said David, cheerfully. "Smoke your cigar, and if you need any supper ring for it. You can safely leave matters in my hands. Van Sneck shall stay here till he is fit, and then you shall operate upon him. After that he ought to be as clay in the hands of the potter. So long."

And David went off gaily enough. He kept to the cliffs for the first part of the distance, and then struck off across the fields in the direction of Longdean. The place was perfectly quiet, the village was all in darkness as he approached the lodge-gates of the Grange. Beyond the drive and between the thick, sad firs that shielded the house he could see the crimson lights gleaming here and there. He could catch the rumble and scratch in the kitchen, and ever and again a dog whined. The big gate was closed as David peeped in searching for his guide.

"Williams," he whispered; "Williams, where are you?"

But no reply came. The silence was full of strange, rushing noises, the rush of blood in David's head. He called again and again, but no reply came. Then he heard the rush and fret of many feet, the cry of a pack of hounds a melancholy cry, with a sombre joy in it. He saw a light gleaming fitfully in the belt of firs.

"No help for it," David muttered. "I must chance my luck. I never saw a dog yet that I was afraid of. Well, here goes."

He scrambled over the wall and dropped on the moist, clammy earth on the other side. He fumbled forward a few steps, and then stopped suddenly, brought up all standing by the weird scene which was being solemnly enacted under his astonished eyes.

CHAPTER XLII.

Whilst events were moving outside time at Longdean Grange seemed to stand still. The dust and the desolation were ever there, the gloom brooded like an evil spirit. And yet it was but the calm before the storm that was coming to banish the hoary old spectres for good.

Still, Enid felt the monotony to be as maddening as ever. There were times when she rebelled passionately against the solitude of the place. There were moments to her when it seemed that her mind couldn't stand the strain much longer.

But she had hope, that blessed legacy to the sanguine and the young. And there were times when she would creep out and see Ruth Gates, who found the Rottingdean Road very convenient for cycling just now. And there was always the anticipation of a telephone message from Chris. Originally the telephone had been established so that the household could be run without the intrusion of tradesmen and other strangers. It had seemed a great anomaly at the time, but now Enid blessed it every moment of the day. And she was, perhaps, not quite so unhappy as she deemed herself to be. She had her lover back again now, with his character free from every imputation.

The sun straggled in through the dim, dusty panes; the monotonous voice of Mrs. Henson droned in the drawing-room. It was what Williams called one of the unhappy lady's "days." Sometimes she was quiet and reasonable, at other times the dark mood hung heavily upon her. She was pacing up and down the drawing-room, wringing her hands and whimpering to herself. Enid had slipped into the grounds for a little fresh air; the house oppressed her terribly to-day. The trim lawns and blazing flower-beds were a pleasant contrast to the misery and disorder of the house.

Enid passed on into the shadow of the plantation. A little farther on nearer the wall the dogs seemed to be excited about something. William's rusty voice could be heard expostulating with some intruder. By him stood a man who, though fairly well dressed, looked as if he had slept in his garments for days. There was a dazed, puzzled, absent expression on his face.

"You might have been killed," Williams croaked. "If you hadn't stood still the dogs would have pulled you to pieces. How did you get here?"

"I've lost it," the stranger muttered. "I've lost it somewhere, and I shall have no rest till I find it."

"Well, go and look in the road," Williams suggested, smoothly. "Nothing ever gets lost here. Just you hop over that wall and try your luck outside."

Enid came forward. Evidently the intruder was no stranger to her. Williams started to explain volubly. But Enid cut him short at once.

"A most extraordinary thing has happened," she said. "It is amazing that this man should come here of all places. Williams, this is the man Van Sneck."

"What, the chap as was wounded in the hospital, miss?"

"The same. The man is not in full possession of his senses. And if Reginald Henson finds him now it is likely to go hard with him. He must be taken into the house and looked after until I can communicate with somebody I can trust. Mr. Steel, I think. He must be got back to the hospital. It is the only place where he is safe."

Van Sneck seemed to be looking on with the vacant stare of the mindless. He suffered himself to be led to the house, where he was fed like a child. It was in vain that Enid plied him with all kinds of questions. He had lost something—he would have no peace till he had found it. This was the one burden of his cry. Enid crossed to the window in some perplexity. The next moment she had something else to occupy her mind. Reginald Henson was coming up the drive. Just for an instant Enid felt inclined to despair.

"Williams," she cried, "Mr. Henson is here. On no account must he see our unfortunate visitor. He cannot possibly know that Van Sneck is here; the whole thing is an accident. I am going down into the hall. I shall contrive to get Mr. Henson into the drawing-room. Without delay you must smuggle Mr. Van Sneck into your apartments over the stable. You will be perfectly safe if you go down the back staircase. As soon as the drawing-room door closes, go."

Williams nodded. He was essentially a man of action rather than words. With all the coolness she could summon up Enid descended to the hall. She gave a little gesture of surprise and disdain as he caught sight of Henson.

"So you came down to welcome me?" Enid said, coldly.

A sudden light of rage lit up Henson's blue eyes. He caught Enid almost roughly by the shoulders and pushed her into the drawing-room. There was something coming, she knew. It was a relief a minute or two later to hear Williams's whistle as he crossed the courtyard. Henson knew nothing of Van Sneck's presence, nor was he likely to do so now.

"You are forgetting yourself," Enid said. "How dare you touch me like that?"

"By heavens," Henson whispered, vehemently, "when I consider how I have been fooled by you I wonder that I do not strike the life out of you. Where is your sister?"

Enid assumed an air of puzzled surprise. She raised her eyebrows, coldly. But it needed no very brilliant intelligence to tell her that Henson had discovered something.

"I had only one sister," she said, "and she is——"

"Dead! Rot. No more dead than I am. A nice little scheme you had put up together with that scribbling ass David Steel. But Steel is going to get a lesson not to interfere in my affairs, and you are going to get one also. Where is your sister?"

Despite his bullying triumph there was something nervous and anxious about the tone of the question. It was not quite like Henson to let his adversary see that he had scored a point. But since the affair of the dogs Henson had not been quite his old self. It was easy to see that he had found out a great deal, but he had not found out where Chris was yet.

"I know nothing," said Enid. "I shall answer no questions."

"Very well. But I shall find out. Accident put me on the trail first. And I have been to see that man Walker. He never saw your sister after her death, nor did the undertaker. And I might have met my death at the fangs of that dog you put upon me. What a fool Walker was."

Enid looked up a little anxiously. Had Walker said anything about a second opinion? Had he betrayed to Henson the fact that he had been backed up by Hatherly Bell? Because they had taken a deal of trouble to conceal the fact that Bell had been in the house.

"Dr. Walker should have called in another opinion," she said, mockingly.

"The man was too conceited for that, and you know it," Henson growled; "and finely you played upon his vanity."

Enid was satisfied. Walker had evidently said nothing about Bell; and Henson, though he had just come from Littimer, knew nothing about Chris.

"You have made a statement," she said, "and in reply I say nothing. You have chosen to assume that my sister is still alive. Well, it is a free country, and you are at liberty to think as you please. If we had anything to gain by the course you suggest——"

"Anything to gain!" Henson burst out angrily. "Everything to gain. One whom I deemed to be dead is free to follow me to pry into my affairs, to rob me. That was part of Steel's precious scheme, I presume. If you and your sister and Miss Gates hadn't talked so loudly that day in the garden I might not——"

"Have listened," said Enid, coolly. "Ears like a hare and head like a cat. But you don't know everything, and you never will. You scoundrel, you creeping, crawling scoundrel! If I only dared to speak. If I cared less for the honor of this unhappy family——"

"If you could only get the ring," said Henson, with a malicious sneer. "But the ring is gone. The ruby ring lies at the bottom of the North Sea."

Some passionate, heedless words rose to Enid's lips, but she checked them. All she could do now was to watch and wait till darkness. Van Sneck must be got out of the way before anything else was done. She did not dare to use the telephone yet, though she had made up her mind to ask Steel to come over and take Van Sneck away. Later on she could send the message.

Van Sneck had eaten a fairly good meal, so Williams said, and had fallen into a heavy sleep. There was nothing for it but to wait and watch. Dinner came in due course, with Mrs. Henson, ragged and unkempt as usual, taking no notice of Henson, who watched her furtively during the meal. Enid escaped to her own room directly afterwards, and Henson followed his hostess to the drawing-room.

Once there his manner changed entirely. His lips grew firm, his eyes were like points of steel. Mrs. Henson was pacing the dusty floor, muttering and crooning to herself. Henson touched her arm, at the same time holding some glittering object before her eyes. It was a massive ruby ring with four black pearls on either side.

"Look here," he whispered. "Do you recognize it? Have you seen it before?"

A pitiful, wailing cry came from Mrs. Henson's lips. She was trembling from head to foot with a strange agitation. She gazed at the ring as a thirsty man in a desert might have looked on a draught of cold spring water. She stretched out her hand, but Henson drew back.

"I thought you had not forgotten it," he smiled. "It means much to you, honor, peace, happiness—your son restored to his proper place in the world. Last time I was here I wanted money, a mere bagatelle to you. Now I want £10,000."

"No, no," Mrs. Henson cried. "You will ruin me—£10,000! What do you do with all the money? You profess to give it all to charity. But I know better. Much you give away that more may come back from it. But that money you get from a credulous public. And I could expose you, ah, how I expose you, Reginald Henson."

"In stead of which you will let me have that £10,000."

"I cannot. You will ruin me. Have you not had enough? Give me the ring."

Henson smilingly held the gem aloft. Mrs. Henson raised her arm, with the dust rising in choking clouds around her. Then with an activity astonishing in one of her years she sprang upon Henson and tore the ring from his grasp. The thing was so totally unexpected from the usually gentle lady that Henson could only gasp in astonishment.

"I have it," Mrs. Henson cried. "I have it, and I am free!"

Henson sprang towards her. With a quick, fleet step she crossed to the window and fled out into the night. A raging madness seemed to have come over her again; she laughed and she cried as she sped on into the bushes, followed by Henson. In his fear and desperation the latter had quite forgotten the dogs. He was in the midst of them, they were clustered round himself and Mrs. Henson, before he was aware of the fact.

"Give me the ring," he said. "You can't have it yet. Some day I will restore it to you. Be sensible. If anybody should happen to see you." Mrs. Henson merely laughed. The dogs were gambolling around her like so many kittens. They did not seem to heed Henson in the joy of her presence. He came on again, he made a grab for her dress, but the rotten fabric parted like a cobweb in his hand. A warning grunt came from one of the dogs, but Henson gave no heed.

"Give it me," he hissed; "or I will tear it from you."

CHAPTER XLIII.

David Steel stood contemplating the weird scene with almost doubting eyes. In his wildest moments he had never imagined anything more dramatic than this. The candle in its silver sconce that Mrs. Henson had snatched up before her flight was perilously near her filmsy dress. Henson caught her once more in a fierce grip. David could stand it no longer. As Henson came by him his right arm flashed out, there was a dull thud, and Henson, without having the least idea what had happened, fell to the ground, with a very hazy idea of his surroundings for a moment or two.

Equally unconscious that she had a protector handy, Mrs. Henson turned and fled for the house. A minute later and she was followed by Henson, still puzzling his racking head to know what had happened. David would have followed, but the need for caution flashed upon him. If he stood there perfectly still Henson would never know who his antagonist was. David stood there waiting. As he glanced round he saw some little object glittering near to his feet. It was the ruby ring!

"Be you there, sir?" a rusty voice whispered close by.

"I am, Williams," David replied; "I have been waiting for some time."

Williams chuckled, making no kind of apology for his want of punctuality.

"I've been looking after our man, sir," he said. "That Dutch chap what Miss Enid said you'd come for. And I saw all that business in the shrubbery just now. My! if I didn't feel good when you laid out Henson on the grass. The sound of that smack was as good as ten years' wages for me. And he's gone off to his room with a basin of vinegar and a ream of brown paper. Why didn't you break his neck?"

David suggested that the law took a prejudiced view of that kind of thing, and that it would be a pity to hang anyone for such a creature as Reginald Henson.

"Our man is all right?" he asked.

"As a trivet," said Williams "Sleeping like a baby; he is in my own bed over the stable. I'll show you into the harness-room, where Miss Enid's waiting for you, sir, and then I'll go and see as Henson don't come prowling about. Not as he's likely to, considering the clump on the side of the head you gave him. I take it kind of Providence to let me see that!"

Williams hobbled away, chuckling to himself and followed by David. There was a feeble oil-lamp in the harness-room. Enid was waiting there anxiously.

"So you have put Henson out of the way for a time," she said. "He passed me just now using awful language, and wondering how it had all come about. Wasn't it a strange thing that Van Sneck should come here?"

"Not very," David said. "He is evidently looking for his master, Reginald Henson. I have not the slightest doubt that he has been here many times before. Williams says he is asleep. Pity to wake him just yet, don't you think?"

"Perhaps it is. But I am horribly afraid of our dear friend Reginald, all the same."

"Our dear Reginald will not trouble us just yet. He came down as far as London with Bell. Of course he had heard the news of Van Sneck's flight. Was he disturbed?"

"I have never seen him in such a passion before, Mr. Steel. And not only was he in a passion, but he was horribly afraid about something. And he has made a discovery."

"He hasn't found out that your sister——"

"Is at Littimer Castle? That is really the most consoling part of the business. He has been at Littimer for a day or two, and he has not the remotest idea that Christabel Lee is our Chris."

"A feather in your sister's cap. She has quite captivated Littimer, Bell says."

"And she played her part splendidly, Mr. Steel, it is very, very good to know that Hatherly has cleared himself in the eyes of Lord Littimer at last. Did Reginald suspect——"

"Nothing," Steel said. "He is utterly and hopelessly puzzled over the whole business. And Bell has managed to convince him that he is not suspected at all. That business over the Rembrandt was really a brilliant bit of comedy. But what has Henson found out?"

"That Chris is not dead. He has seen Walker and the undertaker. But he does not know yet that Dr. Bell was in the house that eventful night, which is a blessing. As a matter of fact, Reginald has not been quite the same man since Rollo nearly killed him that exciting evening. His nerves seem to be greatly shaken."

"That is because the rascal feels the net closing round him," Steel said. "It was a fine stroke on your sister's part to win over that fellow Merritt to

What We Claim for Ferrol

FERROL is an Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and if it were nothing more it would take front rank because of the quality and quantity of the oil used and the scientific method of preparation. But FERROL has special claims which take it out of the ordinary class of Emulsion altogether. For instance:

FERROL combines Iron and Phosphorus with the oil, and no other emulsion contains these ingredients, although it is well known that they should always be administered together, as each is the complement of the other.

FERROL is so scientifically prepared that the first processes of digestion are actually performed in the process of manufacture, and the emulsion is ready for instant absorption into the blood. This is of the utmost importance to persons with delicate stomachs.

FERROL

unlike other emulsions, is positively palatable, and not one in a thousand find any difficulty in taking it.

FERROL contains the three essentials of life, viz.: Fat, Iron, and Phosphorus—they have never been combined before.

FERROL holds the record for increasing the weight.

FERROL has received more endorsations from medical men than any other preparation on the market.

FERROL will cure any case of Consumption that is capable of cure.

FERROL is an absolute specific for Colds, Croup, Bronchitis and all kindred troubles.

FERROL is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration, Chronic Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

Finally, the formula is freely published, and in taking FERROL you "Know what you take."

The New Scale Williams Piano

This great instrument is an entirely new piano—the result of years of evolution in piano-building. It is declared by artists and music-lovers all over Canada to meet every artistic musical requirement.

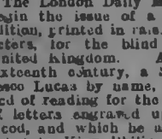
The Harmonic Tone-Prolonging Bridge is a distinctive New Scale Williams feature. A brilliant yet mellow and sympathetic tone of wonderful carrying power is procured through the use of this bridge, which is cast in the plate in one solid piece. Results that have been despaired of for years by piano-makers are attained at last through this exclusive New Scale Williams patent.

It Didn't Happen

The enviable position attained by the New Scale Williams in the esteem of particular musical people is not the result of chance. The best brains, highest scientific knowledge and experience and skill of an exceptionally high order have been employed for years in experimenting, testing and discarding until a piano could be produced that would be really great and compare to advantage with other great pianos either in Europe or America.



You will be interested in looking over the many manifest advantages of the New Scale Williams. Call at the nearest dealer's, or else write direct for booklet and descriptive literature.

ENGLAND

A remarkable case of arsenical poisoning was reported by Dr. Thresh, the medical officer of the county of Essex, at a recent meeting of the Chemsford Rural District Council. At the village of Margaretting, which has a population of about 550, several persons had been taken ill with arsenical poisoning. Inquiries showed that a man had bought a gallon of beer at a public house in the village. It was put into a stone jar. The man, his wife, three visitors, and three neighbours partook of the beer and were all speedily taken ill. The symptoms pointed to arsenical poisoning, and the beer was at once placed under suspicion. But it was found that the jar, with others, had been purchased at a farm sale, and although it had been scalded before the beer was put in it Dr. Thresh thought that it might be possible that the jar had contained some arsenical preparation for killing weeds, dressing wheat, or dipping sheep, and that a little of the liquid might have dried in the jar. His theory proved correct, for on breaking the jar he discovered a crust of arsenical salt a quarter of an inch thick on the bottom and a further similar crust extending two inches up the sides. It dissolved very slowly even when boiled, but there was enough arsenic in the jar to kill nearly all the people in Margaretting.

The London Daily Mail is about to begin the issue of a special weekly edition, printed in raised Braille characters, for the blind people in the United Kingdom. As early as the sixteenth century, a Spaniard Francesco Lucas by name, invented a method of reading for the blind by means of letters engraved upon books of wood, and which he afterwards dedicated to King Philip II of Spain. It was not, however, until 1829 that Braille in its present form was discovered by a certain Louis Braille, a blind pupil in the "Institution des Jeunes Aveugles" at Paris Since that time the use of Braille has spread to most parts of the civilized globe, and it is to-day the system used in the British Empire, on the Continent of Europe, in Mexico, Brazil, and Egypt. The United States of America have adopted a modification of Braille now known as New York Point. The Braille Alphabet consists of varying combinations of six embossed points, placed in an oblong. There are sixty-two possible combinations of these six points.

In consequence of the death of Sir Thomas Echlin, Bart., at Dublin, Mr. Henry Echlin, the tenant of the Rose and Crown, between Wooburn and High Wycombe, has succeeded to the title. The new baronet, served in the 2nd Life Guards. He left the regiment in 1786, and since then he has lived at Windsor, Clewer, Reading, and High Wycombe. At the last named place he kept the Red Lion. The baronet's ancestors, who, as soldiers, lawyers, courtiers and Churchmen played their parts in history, possessed princely estates in Scotland and Ireland, but they are all gone. The new baronet is not the only titled personage who is a publican in Buckinghamshire, for at High Wycombe, about five miles distant, Lord Lyveden's brother, the Hon. Sydney Vernon, is the licensee of the Falcon Hotel, which was a noted house in the coaching days.

Over fifty years ago in the Alma, a British attack on a Russian battery had practically failed, when Drum-Major Kerr, Colour-Sergeant McGregor, Sergeant-Major John Knox, V.C., afterwards promoted to captain in the Rifle Brigade, and Corporal Jas. Gordyne, bravely rallied the Scots Guards, who were falling back, with the result that a fresh assault was undertaken and the position captured. The first three named are dead, but Gardyne, who eventually became a colour-sergeant, is alive, and has just received a distinguished honour at the hands of the King. His Majesty has approved the grant to him of the meritorious war medal, together with an annuity £10. Gardyne, who was wounded at Inkerman, possesses the Crimean medal with numerous clasps, the Turkish medal, and the good conduct medal.

SCOTLAND

A robbery which, for the daring in-Aftused into its execution, surpasses anything reported in the city for many years, took place in Dundee recently. In broad daylight, while the family were following their customary indoor pursuits, the thief entered a west end residence, carried off a large quantity of jewellery and a sum of money, was discovered, escaped, was captured, and, after an exciting struggle, regained his freedom. Silent as was his entry and his subsequent movements, the thief was discovered red-handed. One of the ladies in the house had occasion to go upstairs, and on reaching the room was startled to find herself confronting a tall, well-dressed, dark complexioned man of gentlemanly appearance. In an instant the intruder thrust the lady aside, and, rushing downstairs, made for the street, closely pursued by the occupants of the house, whose shouts alarmed the people round about. Several persons in the neighbourhood grasped the situation at once, and joined in the chase. One of the pursuers, a baker, actually succeeded in effecting the capture of the fugitive, and was marching him back to the house, when the slippery thief, by an unexpected twist, regained his freedom and bolted. Within 24 hours the robbery was followed by a sequel even more sensational than the crime itself. Among those who witnessed the pursuit, capture and re-escape of the thief was Miss Johnstone, a young lady employed in the shop of Messrs. W. Cougar & Co., family bakers. She recognized in the fugitive a person who had made purchases within the past week at the shop. The man again visited the establishment and bought a quantity of bread. Miss Johnstone had no doubt whatever about his identity, and watched his movements subsequent to leaving the shop. He entered a close near by and passed into a house on the ground floor. The young lady communicated this intelligence to the police, who, as a consequence were able to secure him.

A mysterious case of poisoning recently occurred at Cumnock, Ayrshire. Mr. William Lennox, who is well advanced in years, received through the post a cake of shortbread. It apparently came from an old friend, and a card inside the package contained the words, "Happy greetings from an old friend." Mr. Lennox, Miss McKerrow (a niece) and Mrs. Baine, ate a small portion of the shortbread and became ill. Miss McKerrow, after suffering great agony for an hour, died. The box, which contained the shortbread was posted at Kilmarnock. Eventually the police arrested Thomas M. Brown of Ardnith House, New Cumnock, late manager of the Lanemark Coal Co. A remarkable feature in connection with the affair is that Brown is married to a niece of Mr. Lennox, and the relations between them were, outwardly, of the most friendly character. Brown and his wife were among the earliest callers at Mr. Lennox's house on the morning after the tragedy.

A fire broke out in the Girls' Orphanage Home at Whiteinch, Glasgow, a few nights ago. The dormitories contained 60 children who had to seek safety in their night attire. The first sign of the outbreak was seen in the top floor of the north wing in a dormitory where eight girls slept. These children saw smoke issuing from a ventilator in the ceiling, and their frightened shouts attracted the attention of the servants and of the matron, who, by good fortune, were engaged in the neighbouring dormitories, where other children were being put to bed. All the 60 girls were as quickly as possible taken from bed and told to run downstairs. They were naturally greatly alarmed, but reached the school room on the ground floor in safety. Their clothing was then brought down to them by the servants, and by the time it had been donned the flames were bursting through the roof of the building.

IRELAND

Cut off by the tide, an official and three assistants from Belfast Corporation Surveyors' Department had a thrilling experience recently. They were taking the levels of the foreshore of Belfast Lough on the County Down side, and for the purpose had to go into the water a considerable distance. After leaving their boat they were so engrossed with their task that they did not perceive the rising of the tide, and when they did so they found to their dismay that the boat had been cast adrift. In their heavy attire — semi-diver's dress — it was impossible to swim, and soon the men were waist deep. Their shouts, individual and united were heard by none, and still the tide rose and the waters dashed around them, a gale blowing up the Lough. At last they were sighted by Rev. J. W. Fawcett, close by was an old disused raft, but after desperate efforts to make it of service the attempt had to be abandoned. Then an old boat was procured, but when it was pushed into the water it rapidly filled and sank. Further assistance had by this time arrived, and another and more successful attempt was made to use the raft. Mr. Fawcett and a policeman scrambled on it and navigated their way to the imperilled men as quickly as was possible under the circumstances. They were not a moment too soon in reaching them, for the water had by this time actually reached to their chins. They were in some danger of being swept away but they guarded against this by joining hands which were almost benumbed with the cold. To get the men on board the raft without upsetting it was a matter that required careful attention. This part of the rescue was successfully accomplished by means of a rope. The unfortunate men were hauled in one after the other in a very exhausted condition.

Two Larne, Antrim, fishermen have just had a thrilling experience. They set out for the fishing ground during a storm which about midday developed into a gale. After a desperate struggle the two men succeeded in reaching The Maidens, an uninhabited island at the mouth of Larne Lough. Here they spent the night but managed by the aid of a huge bonfire to inform their friends in Larne, nine miles off, that they were so far safe. The next day the gale was so furious that no attempt could be made to rescue the unfortunate couple who were forced to spend the day without food or shelter, exposed to the biting blasts which swept the tiny island from the north. Night again set in and still no effort could be made to render aid, the seas running mountains high. Eventually a fishing boat was launched with great difficulty. Six stalwart fishermen took their places in the boat, and after a strenuous fight against the tempest, which seemed every moment as if it would dash their frail craft to pieces, they reached the rocks, and rescued their famished comrades.

An inspiring incident was recently witnessed near Saltins Junction, on Naas, Baltinglass and Tullow Railway, Ireland. While the passengers were awaiting their train, a dog crossed the line and stood over the rail while a light engine approached at a good speed. When the engine approached within 20 yards a young girl of 14 jumped down and literally dragged the animal off the line at the imminent risk of her life. The action of the gallant girl was heroic in the extreme.

A splendid act of heroism in mid-Atlantic has just been reported at Queenstown. The Liverpool steamer Alleghany was in mid-ocean, when the brother of Chief Steward Sydenham fell overboard. The Chief officer at once jumped overboard to the rescue, and had to swim through a tremendous sea for half a mile. The steamer's engines were reversed, a boat lowered and both brothers were rescued.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP AND DAY LABOUR

the properties fronting water mains, the outskirts of the city would have to pay for privileges owned by the central part of the city. He advocated the general tax principle, which, he said, would be getting at the people on a general basis. The plan of the commissioners, he considered, was a detriment to the poor man and a benefit to the rich.

Mr. Eastwood

Mr. Eastwood was the next speaker on the water question. In regard to it he believed that any one of the three candidates were able to do good work for the city. Three years ago, when Mr. Moore became a Water Commissioner, the speaker states, he had been asked twice by him to withdraw from the campaign and he had done so for friendly reasons, and he thought the first speaker had no reason to accuse him of not giving fair play. He concurred in the principle upon which the former commissioners had followed in taking over the water works. In regard to the installation and maintaining the water system he believed he had the detail knowledge which the other candidates had not and it was a question which he was very greatly interested in.

There is a large amount of material which cost a large amount of money, with which he was thoroughly conversant, and he considered his information would be valuable to the other two commissioners, should he be honoured by the people's support. He concurred in the idea of taxing the properties fronting water mains and thought that no properties should be exempt. He believed that every effort should be made to have a better supply of water than we have at present, and if elected he would endeavour to improve the quality.

In regard to the development of power, he believed that the city should be in a position to supply power to capitalists seeking to locate manufacturing establishments here. He was a distinct advocate of municipal ownership, which was continually being crowded upon us. He was the servant of no corporation or no individual, and intended, if elected, to serve the best interests of the people as a whole, and he concluded by asking the electors for their assistance and vote in the coming municipal election.

Ald. Johnston

Ald. Johnston did not look upon the position of alderman as an honour but as a responsibility. He believed that the future of the City of Peterborough depended upon the outcome of the questions which would come up for consideration in the City Council during the year 1907. He referred next to the city streets and stated that he would endeavour, if elected, to promote the building of permanent crossings at the time the sidewalks were being constructed. In regard to municipal lighting he considered it advisable to give the people light at the least possible rate and believed that municipal ownership was the best thing possible if it could be obtained at a reasonable cost.

He advocated the proposition of placing the election of the councillors on the same principle as that of the Board of Education—that of giving a section of the council a term of three years. This was a question, however, which would have to be considered.

He did not, he said, believe much in the sending of deputations as he generally came back with a lighter load in his pocket than when he set out. However, he thought a deputation to insure in the near future a free postal delivery for the city, which was already practically assured, would have much weight.

Ald. Ball

Ald. Ball was the second aldermanic candidate, and believed that the council of 11906 had made a record for itself and the things they had not done saved the people many hundreds of dollars. He referred to the purchase of a site for the fire hall much cheaper than the one advanced for the site. He also mentioned how they had saved $1500 in disposing of the old fire engine when a new one was purchased. The question of the advocacy of an overhead Hunter street bridge and of granting an extra $21,000 for a new collegiate, were also mentioned. He did now believe much in deputations but referred to the words of Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, who had stated that the deputation from Peterborough had got for this city the Normal School. There was no graft, he declared, brought to bear on the City Council while he was there. Municipal ownership, he said, was a question he had advocated 25 years ago, and was glad to see the other speakers coming around to his opinions. He asked the electors to give him their votes and he had served them in their interests during the past year.

All important questions, he believed should go before the people, and he did not personally favour the collegiate by-law, as he considered $50,000 was plenty of money to spend to give edupation, chiefly to the rich.

Mr. Adam Dawson considered that the Collegiate Institute was a benefit to the poor man more so than to the rich, and believed the Collegiate by-law should be supported on that account.

Allan McCarthy

Mr. McCarthy stated he had been a resident and a labourer of the City of Peterborough for over thirty years. He had worked his way up in the city and believed that he had done his share in rendering good to the people. He referred to his connections with the amalgamation of Ashburnham to Peterborough many years ago, when he had personally canvassed the ratepayers in his zeal to have the two connected. It was not granted at this time, and when the question was brought up again he again supported it and gave his assistance to conclude the union. The making of Peterborough into a city was, he believed, one of the greatest things that has been effected here for many years.

In connection with the diversion of the East City creek, upon which there was a by-law to be voted on, he advocated the passing of it as it would greatly benefit the East Ward and do away with the large number of bridges which have to be maintained.

J. H. Smith

Mr. Smith, another new candidate, was the next speaker and said that at the request of a large number of persons he had allowed himself to become an aspirant for council honours. He thought the people had a right to say whether a new dam should be built and not the Water Commissioners. He was not in favour of granting large sums of money for civic purposes, yet he was in favour of the erection of the Collegiate and would recommend the people to vote for this and the other by-laws. Mr. Smith's address concluded the municipal meeting, after which the Trades and Labour Council held a short meeting.

EXPORT OF POWER.

Canadian Government Decides to Impose Export Duty to Help Consumers in the Dominion.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—In the interest of Canadian consumers of electricity the Dominion Government have decided upon a most important policy. It is no less than obtaining authority from Parliament to impose an export duty upon electrical energy, and to forbid any company from exporting power without a license, to be granted in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the Governor-in-Council. The object of the proposed legislation is to insure to Canadian consumers all the power they require at reasonable prices.

It will be provided that a company which complies with the regulations which the Government will lay down may be relieved from the payment of the export duty. Niagara Falls is the most important point to which the new legislation will apply, but it will also safeguard the interests of Canadians at Rainy River, where power development for the avowed purpose of serving industrial interests on the other side of the line has been in progress for some time. The Dominion Government's policy, however, will be most effective at Niagara Falls, where United States capitalists have perfected their plans for meeting the demand for electrical energy at points south of the international boundary line, regardless of whether the wants of the Canadian consumer were adequately supplied or not. The Dominion Government will insist upon the Canadian market getting all that it needs; otherwise the export duty will be made effective. The amount of duty will be settled by the House of Commons.

The bill to be introduced next week by Hon. A. B. Aylesworth will therefore not fix the figure. Whatever the amount, whether $10 per horsepower or any other sum, the House will see that the duty is sufficient to prevent any sacrifice of Canadian interests.

TEXT OF PAPAL DOCUMENTS.

Threatened Action By French Government May Aggravate Situation.

Rome, Jan. 5.—The Osservatore Romano yesterday published this communication from the Vatican:

"It is stated that the French Government intends to publish the text of some of the documents which were seized at the Papal Nunciature in Paris, Dec. 11. The Holy See declares that it declines any responsibility for the publication, leaving it to the persons who may think themselves injured by the publication of the documents to use the means which they judge best to protect their rights. It must be borne in mind, however, that no inventory was made at the time of the seizure of the documents by the French Government."

It was stated at the Vatican that the publication by France of some of the documents seized at the Papal Nunciature would aggravate the fact that their seizure did not appear to be altogether justified. As no inventory was made at the time, the Vatican may even question the genuineness of documents as published.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Always Stops the Cough

It combines the potent healing virtues of the pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth, is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe.

A cough is caused by the presence of phlegm in the throat and lungs, and continued coughing is liable to distend the bronchial tubes, congest the lungs and produce inflammation or hemmorhage.

A neglected cough can have but one result. It leaves either the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

A single dose of

will stop the cough, soothe the throat and heal the lungs.

Read what Miss Nettie A. Seeley, Ashland, N.B., says: "I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, for I have found it a very valuable remedy for coughs. My mother has used it in our family for a long time and whenever any of them get a cough, mother will say: 'I will have to get some Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for I know it is good, and always stops the Cough when nothing else will.'"

Insist on getting Dr. Wood's as it is the genuine, put up in yellow wrapper. Price 25 cents at all dealers. 3 pine trees the trade mark.

THEY TUMBLED TO HER GAME

Grocer Coxwell, Toronto, Means of Capturing Woman Forger.

DASHING GRACE CAMERON

"The McGill Girl" Principal Alias of Handsome Woman Who Has Been Forging Cheques and Victimizing Many Toronto Men—Despair of the Detectives for Weeks Landed by a Fluke.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Only a girl, not yet twenty, but the smartest bogus cheque operator that ever came Torontoway, and one who has been a terror to a goodly number of prominent citizens during the past three months, was finally landed by a fluke late last night.

Handsome, dressed in the latest of fashion, and with a grandiose air that make a duchess jealous, it is no wonder that many citizens took the bait and got badly bit in consequence.

"The McGill Girl."

She is known by many aliases, the principal of which is "The McGill Girl," but she gave her correct name, during a lengthy interview with Detective-Sergt. Duncan as Grace Cameron.

Her capture was due to the smartness of a grocer and his clerk. When she was taken to police headquarters she talked and placed information in Sergt. Duncan's hands that will make many professional and business men very nervous.

Altogether thirteen charges were laid against her last night. On the first of these charges Ruth Wilson, who she claims is her sister-in-law, but who the police alleged is her sister, as there is a striking resemblance between the two, will appear with her. Miss Wilson was with her when the arrest was made.

Caught By $15 Cheque.

The cheque, which was responsible for the capture, was only for $15. At 8 o'clock Charles W. Coxwell, grocer of 17 Howard street, was busy in his store when he was called to the phone. In answer to his hello a female voice softly asked, "Is that Mr. Coxwell?"

"This is Mrs. Winnett speaking. Could you cash a cheque for me for $15 on my husband's account—Dr. Winnett, you know."

Mr. Coxwell said he would be very pleased and "Mrs. Winnett" replied that she would send round her maid immediately. The maid proved a very winsome creature, too winsome in fact for even obliging Mr. Coxwell. He tumbled to a game, and quickly made an excuse and was back to the phone, and soon in earnest conversation with Doctor Winnett.

Doctor Winnett Orders Capture.

"That's the woman who's been forging my name right along, capture her," said the doctor.

The charming maid was just disappearing amid a flutter of rustling skirts through the door.

"After her quick," cried Coxwell to his clerk and the adventure-seeking youth hustled. Back to the telephone went the grocer-detective, and was shortly pouring the whole story into the attentive ears of Detective Tipton, who soon thereafter arrived at the store.

"The Cop Had Her."

His face took a fall when he was told that the bird had flown, but the phone bell rang again and the youth joyously shouted that "the cop had her."

Time flew again until the detective burst through a multitude at the St. Andrew's street and Spadina avenue and claimed his prize. P. C. Jeffreys of No. 3 division stood alert until the arrival of the hurry-up wagon, when he returned to his beat with a sigh and a blush on his face.

Very few minutes sufficed to impress Miss Cameron that Sergt. Duncan knew quite a lot, and as a result she gave him her history, beginning with her departure from home and her subsequent reign in the City of Toronto. Miss Cameron told the detective chief that she came from Massachusetts, U.S.A., and that she lived there with Miss Lizzie Shaw up till a year ago.

Grace Cameron's History.

Her home was in the little town of Attleborough, Mass. Eighteen summers passed before she left her home in the country for the bustle of the metropolitan city of Buffalo. She kept faith with the world until she was thrown out of employment. She then came to Toronto and sought service with Dr. Doolittle, who she subsequently claimed as victim in one of her cheque adventures. From there she went to a place well known by the police in the capacity of maid, still playing square.

How She Blossomed.

She then bloomed forth at one of the leading hotels, resplendent in costumes fit for a princess, and continued to make the acquaintance of many legal and medical men. It was then that she began to use the material in her hands. She knew this man's grocer, and a telephone message, mentioning that she wanted a cheque cashed, was the finish until her victim tallied his bank account at the customary time and came to this particular amount, when he would whistle, and that was the end of it. Milady's operations took enormous bounds, but she fooled herself when she began forging the names of gentlemen whom she did not know, and this she admits was the cause of her capture.

Telephone message after telephone message have been received by the detective department. At last the detectives have found somebody does want to prosecute. Dr. Winnett has been victimized no less than six times by the same woman, and when five came to light, a warrant for her arrest was made out. Her sixth attempt upon Dr. Winnett's bank account proved disastrous.

It is suprising that all the cheques in the detectives' hands are for the small amounts and constitute the unknown friends of Miss Cameron. Ruth Wilson took her arrest as a great joke. She refused to say anything and was so boisterous as to crack jokes with the detectives.

Made a Clean Breast of It.

Miss Cameron made a clean breast of pretty nearly all. For three solid weeks Detective Kennedy has been on her trail, picking up cheque after cheque for various sums, but in each instance unable to find a victim willing to prosecute.

Miss Wilson, just as they were going to be searched by the matron, enquired how long she would get, and did not seem at all gratified by the answer. A purse, well filled with money, was found on her. She said that she was 23 and that it had proved her unlucky year. Miss Cameron says that she never squeezed more than for fifty dollars at the most.

On the 14th of last month she forged and cashed a cheque at A. H. Cooper's made out apparently by W. D. Norton, 152 Wellesley street, for $15. A cheque on Dr. Winnett for $20 was cashed by her on the 17th at Reeves' butcher store, 203 Wellesley street. Dr. Doolittle, 160 Sherbourne street, was soaked for $15, the cheque being cashed at J. and W. McFarren's, grocers, Queen and Sherbourne streets, on the 28th.

Miss Wilson on the way to the station gave her address as Hotel Lafayette, Buffalo.

Miss Cameron will be charged with forgery and attempting to obtain money by bogus cheques.

IT WAS ERNEST HASTINGS.

Young Canadian Actor Victim of the Omaha Train Wreck.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Ernest Hastings, who was killed in a railway wreck near Omaha on Thursday, was well-known in Toronto.

He was a graduate of Toronto University and of Osgoode Hall. He was born at Parkhill, Ont., where his father still lives.

In his early twenties he went on the stage. He was first with Ada Rehan in Shakespearian roles, and later went to California, where he became the most popular actor on the Pacific coast.

Three or four years ago he was in Toronto as the parson in Lover's Lane, and made a decided hit in this part, both here and in New York. Last year he was leading man with Roselle Knott, and in the spring played with her at the Grand Opera House here.

Ernest Shipman, theatrical manager, St. Louis, yesterday, said: "I had planned to have Ernest Hastings succeed Robert Edeson in Strongheart next season.

"He was a credit to Canada and to the Canadian stage. He was a man of high ideals, and of most loveable disposition. He was keenly interested in well-natured plans for the formation of an association of Canadian actors, managers and writers, with the aim of establishing a Canadian dramatic circuit that would be of national importance.

"If my financial hopes are realized I hope to take up this idea of Mr. Hastings and make it my life's work. The present affords a great opportunity for the presentation of a characteristic Canadian play, a play that will give a true index to the Canadian spirit."

Mr. Hastings had reached a high place in his profession, and his untimely taking off will be regretted by a wide circle of friends in Canada.

VANITY'S VISION.

Umbrella Handles Ornate—Peter Pan Styles Are Very Popular.

The new umbrella handles are very ornate. Particularly interesting are those made from the lava of Mount Vesuvius that are carved with roses, reed grasses and animals of various sorts. Plaid silk covers are fashionable, and plain shades to match the gowns are popular. Silver mountings, while still in vogue, have in a measure given place to carved woods, tortoise shell and other similar decorations.

Since the advent of the Peter Pan style there has been a quickening of all Scotch models for winter hats. They are especially becoming made up in fur.

Hand embroidered robes, almost magnificent in the lavish way embroidery is applied, are of broadcloth eolienne or of the softest messaline, with lace dyed to tone in exquisitely with the foundation and inset into the design. Eolienne, by the way, is a smart material this year, every grade of it from the cheapest to the most expensive varieties being used.

The lace veil is one of the extravagances of the season, and when of real lace a woman is obliged to think twice before she buys. White or cream lace is invariably becoming, and some women look particularly well behind a black lace veil. Brown lace veils are very popular, but are not universally becoming.

The suit illustrated is of homespun, a material much liked for general service. The skirt is plaited and trimmed with braid. The coat is the favorite hip length, with velvet collar and cuffs and pocket flaps.

Yule Cake.

Bake a spiced fruit cake in a quart bowl and another in a two or three quart pan. When cold, place the small loaf on to the larger one and ice with white boiled frosting and while moist arrange citron cut into leaves and tiny round candles on, as illustrated. When ready to bring to the table, place small scarlet and green candles in holders about the base of each loaf and then ignite.

Lessons to Learn.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine.

Learn to attend strictly to your own business—a very important point.

Learn to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sickroom.

Learn the art of saying kind and encouraging things, especially to the young.

Learn to avoid all ill natured remarks and everything calculated to create friction.

Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to stop grumbling. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself.

Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile. No one cares whether you have the earache, headache or rheumatism.

Learn to greet your friends with a smile. They carry too many frowns in their own hearts to be bothered with any of yours.

FRILLS AND FRIPPERIES.

Hint For Bridal Coiffure—Brown Costumes—Ribbon "Jumpers."

A pretty arrangement for the bridal coiffure is to have a nest of little curls right on top of the head encircled by a wreath of orange blossoms from which the veil is draped.

Two shades of brown in one suit is a fashionable combination. A charming costume of the three piece variety is of brown broadcloth. The full skirt is plaited over the hips and flares out at the feet, where it is trimmed with three rows of graduated velvet ribbon. The bodice is of wood brown chiffon cloth, trimmed with lace of the same shade and bretelles of the cloth. The hip length jacket of the skirt material has velvet revers, a touch of oriental embroidery and an edging of mink fur.

A ribbon jumper makes a dainty addition to a young girl's wardrobe.

SENSIBLE LONG COAT—5145.

Jumpers may be found ready made in novelty plaid and pompadour ribbons or in black velvet, which is most attractive over a sheer lingerie waist. They are a sort of lattice with half sleeves and have a charming effect on a slight figure. By the way, a jumper of cloth the same material as the bodice on a three piece suit can easily be made with little trouble or expense.

The long coat is the best and most sensible fashion for schoolgirls, and, besides, it has the merit of being the height of style this season. The smart coat illustrated is of heavy blue kersey, with a collar of velvet.

Cupid Cards.

Tiny works of art are some new place cards to be used at engagement dinners. The design shows coquetting Cupids encircled by a wedding ring. They are hand painted most cleverly and may serve as charming little souvenirs of the function.

"The average woman, of course, has no head for figures."

"Oh, I don't know! She has a head for other women's figures, at any rate. Whenever they pass they make her turn it."

The Horrid Man.

"Yes, my dear," said the sarcastic husband; "you may have made the cake all alone, as you say, but who helped you to lift it out of the oven?"

Baby Ribbon Box.

To keep baby ribbon handily, a little box is covered with a fine figured and striped ribbon. Inside are two rather large spools on which the ribbon is wound. The end of ribbon from each is kept in reach by passing up to a buttonholed loop at the edge of the inside box end. There are two loops, one at each end of the box, for each ribbon. Two similar loops on the inside cover hold a small bone threader for running the ribbons in underwear.

MODISH FANCIES.

Any Number of Tints Artistically Combined in Smart Costumes.

Combinations of colors in low tones are the ruling fad. The colors blend and melt together after the manner approved by Dame Fashion this year. Nothing hard or glaring is tolerated, but once this point is gained any number of shades or tints may be combined without other limit than that of good taste.

Some queer kind of loose, fluffy brown plumage is used in millinery. The whole top of a large hat is of this fluff, with a few dead roses scattered upon it. The effect is like nothing so much as a heap of feathers in the barnyard after a fowl has been plucked.

Afternoon gowns of gray are very smart, and the lightest shades are used, but for any other sort of street dress or wrap and for all ages it is the colder tints that are in vogue.

Black and white is always effective, and the black and white evening frocks are quite gorgeous. Lace half black and half white, elaborately trimmed with large jet ornaments, garlands of velvet or satin ribbon being worked in between, is a very smart adornment. While this gown sounds expensive, it is not an extravagant style of dress, for the wear that it will give is astonishing.

The picture shows an ideal bath robe made in a mannish style. The model is of elderdown, but a great many women prefer wash flannel, while there are a whole host of blankets that can be cut up and fashioned into ideal bathing or lounging robes.

ATTRACTIVE STYLES.

Rough Blue Tweed Makes Smart Walking Suit—Embroidered Collars.

A good walking suit is made of rough blue tweed. The skirt is cut in nine gores and put in side plaits in the smart new way, which is down the center in three rows as far as the end of the corset. At the foot there are three folds of varying widths of plain material, headed with two rows of narrow blue braid.

Collars of embroidered linen, either soft or stiff, are the proper caper with the shirt waist of linen, silk, albatross or flannel.

Dressmakers are paying unusual attention to the backs of gowns and are working out all sorts of delightful effects by means of applied trimmings, girdles, etc.

Wings and plumes are very important factors in the winter millinery, and a remarkable development is shown in the tendency to combine several kinds of feathers on one hat shape.

The dress made in shirt waist style is very useful, and this year there are a number of designs that have all the charm of novelty while retaining the essential characteristics. The cut shows a gown of this kind in shepherd's check trimmed with velvet ribbon and worn with a shield of white linen.

For Marceled Waves.

The marcel wave so universally worn has tended to a revival of the wearing of nightcaps, as they help materially in keeping the wave in. Handkerchief linen, open embroidery and blue satin ribbon are used in fashioning this attractive model.

HERE AND THERE.

New Motor Scarf—Dressy Frocks Have Long Skirts—Modes In Furs.

The girl who can knit can have the newest motor scarf for a small outlay of her treasured allowance. The scarf is knit of silk in a close stitch and is two yards long by six or eight inches wide.

It is useless to have a handsome gown made short unless designed for walking entirely for street wear. It looks as though the short skirt, no matter what the material, is not to be worn except for the most casual afternoon calls.

On house gowns the skirts are extremely full. They are long, sweeping the floor all round. To be sure, this is an awkward length, but American women are learning to manage them gracefully.

It is curious to note the return of the short Eton jacket, especially in such furs as sealskin and broadtail, and the little ermine coatees worn with white cloth skirts are a dream of loveliness.

The frock illustrated is a charming example of guimpe effect that is so greatly in vogue. The material is louisine of a soft yellow known as banana white. The trimming is brown velvet ribbon in graduated widths. Embroidered bands adorn the waist. The skirt is tucked in alternately longer and shorter groups over the hips.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Holly Superstition.

There are many traditions connected with holly—one, that it is unlucky to bring it into the house before Christmas eve. There are two kinds of holly, the prickly and nonprickly, and according as the holly which is brought in for the Christmas decoration is smooth or rough the wife or the husband will be master. A bunch of holly with berries must be broken from holly which has been used in church decoration and kept until the next Christmas to protect from lightning and insure a lucky year.

Reasonable Apprehension.

S. S. LESSON

Lesson I., January 6.—God the Creator.—Genesis 1, 1-25.

Golden Text.—"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth."—Genesis 1, 1.

We shall do well to interpret this lesson in the terms of the title that has been given to it by the Lesson Committee—"God the Creator"—for we are concerned far less with the creation than with the Creator. Both life and destiny are affected immeasurably by the truth about God. This is the paramount truth for us, as it was for those to whom the Book of Genesis was given originally. Little comparatively hinges upon the truth concerning creation. This exquisite story of the creation conducts us at once into the presence of God, the Creator, about whom everything revolves. The preeminence of this narrative lies in what it reveals concerning God. We have here far more than one of the ancient hymns of creation. It would not be easy to conceive of a more impressive introduction to what has been called appropriately the "Book of God" than these verses that are set out for our study.

CRITICAL NOTES.

1. The general statement of the creation of the ordered universe. The various stages are described in the subsequent verses. Compare other summaries which are forthwith followed by the particulars. Isa. 7, 1. The heavens and the earth. The Hebrews used these two words where the Greeks had one, cosmos, and the Romans one, universe. Chap. 2, 4; Deut. 3, 24; Rev. 21, 1. The Hebrews often amplified the expression. Chap. 2, 1; Ex. 20, 11; Ps. 136, 6; Jer. 10, 12.

2. And the earth. Better, "Now the earth". The Hebrew order of the words indicates the subject of a paragraph. The waste and void mass is called "the earth", because it is conceived of in its larger aspect, before the separation of the heavenly waters from it (verses 6 and 7), and because after that separation it remains in the world and is the primary object of description. It is called "the deep" and "the waters" because it existed in a fluid state. The Spirit of God moved, literally brooded. The Spirit of God is the divine energy in cosmical processes, being everywhere present. Job. 26, 13; 33, 4; 34, 14; Ps. 139, 7-8; Isa. 40, 12-13. Compare chap. 2, 7.

5. And there was evening and there was morning. It has been often remarked that there was first darkness during undefined times and then light. Verses 2 and 3. Some interpreters have thought that evening is a poetic reference to the time of rest and abstinence from work, and morning to the time of awakening, activity. It should be noted in this connection that the seasons of divine repose and creative activity are held up as an example to man in the ordering of his time. Chap. 2, 3; Ex. 20, 8-11. But as the Hebrews sometimes spoke of a day as an evening-morning, the expression here may be merely conventional, One day. The days in this chapter are indefinite, "one day", "a second day", "a third day", until the sixth day is reached. This method of enumerating is an indication that the days did not follow each other without an interval of time between them; for when the successive days of a week are enumerated the definite articles is used with each. In the first twelve lines of the tradition of creation, as it was current in Assyria, which is similar to the Hebrew record except that the natural objects are spoken of as gods, and which shows the conception entertained by the race to which the Hebrews belonged, a long, indefinite period of time elapsed between the successive creative acts. It is further to be remembered that "when" is commonly expressed in Hebrew by the phrase "on the day of." In view of these facts the sacred writer probably means that there was a time, a moment, when God willed light and after an interval of unmeasured duration, a second moment when God willed the separation of the chaotic mass into our world and the heavens.

6. Firmament. The Hebrew name was derived from the appearance of the sky; an expanse beaten out as it were. Likewise the English name "heaven" is said to be derived from its appearance; it looks as though it were heaved up, heaven.

7. The waters which were above the firmament. The fluid mass beyond the open expanse.

11. The decree that made vegetation appear is included in the day when the fiat went forth for the separation of water from land, because the two acts logically belong together. God did not in eternity think of the earth as barren, but always purposed its garb of beauty and worth. Whether the decree that called for the grass and the trees waited for its fulfillment until our sun had reached its present dimensions, or vegetation appeared sooner, is not positively declared. The effect of the sun on vegetation was well known to the Semites.

14. Signs. True signs. The stars long served to indicate direction to the mariner, the sun guides the woodman in the forest and gives the sailor his latitude, and the appearance of the moon has often afforded a basis for forecasting the weather.

16. The stars also. It was understood that the stars were in existence before the world was made. Job. 38: 6, 7.

21. Sea monsters. The Hebrew word denotes any great animals of the sea.

The works of the six days fall into two groups, and the work of each day in the group stands in relation to that of the corresponding day in the other group, thus:—

1st day.—Light.
2nd day.—Separation of the waters, and the sky.
3rd day.—Dry land and vegetation.
4th day.—Luminaries in the sky.
5th day.—Fish in the waters and birds in the sky.
6th day.—Land animals and vegetation granted them for food.

STRATHCONA'S TITLE TRANSFER

To Descend to Sixteen-Year-Old Grandson, Donald Howard.

SON OF HIS ONLY DAUGHTER

Boy, Who Gets the Peerage, Probable Heir to Greater Part of Lord Strathcona's Estate, Estimated at $40,000,000,000—Descent Arranged With Imperial Authorities When He Sent Out "Strathconas."

Montreal, Jan. 5.—The future Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal is now Master Donald Howard, who is 16 years of age, is attending school near London.

A great many people have asked if his lordship's title would die with him, and the query has not till now received a satisfactory response.

Your correspondent is informed, on undoubted authority, that when Lord Strathcona sent the famous regiment of horse to South Africa it was then arranged by the Imperial authorities that Donald Howard, eldest son of Dr. Howard of London, whose wife is Lord Strathcona's only daughter, should receive the peerage at his grandfather's death.

Young Howard will no doubt fall heir to the greater part of Strathcona's estate, which is estimated at $40,000,000.

It is stated that his lordship will only be in Montreal a few days.

His brother-in-law and confidential agent here, Joseph Hardisty, died a week ago, and Strathcona comes here quite probably to place his Canadian interests in other hands.

Surprise to Secretary.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 5.—Among the passengers on the steamer Empress of Britain, arrived yesterday morning, was Lord Strathcona, Canada's High Commissioner in London.

William Garson, his confidential agent, stated that his lordship's health was very good, and that he had stood the voyage well. Asked as to the reported resignation, Mr. Garson said that he knew nothing of it.

In reply to the wireless message from Halifax, Lord Strathcona, while still 100 miles from port, sent the following: "My present visit to Canada is rendered necessary by my personal affairs. (Signed) Strathcona."

"Personal Affairs."

St. John, N.B., Jan. 5.—The Empress of Britain arrived in the harbor at 8 o'clock last night. Lord Strathcona will leave for the west on a special train at 7 o'clock this morning. In answer to a Marconigram last night, the High Commissioner said: "We may well be proud of position of Dominion this New Year, and every true Canadian will do his best to advance its prosperity. Personal affairs require my visit to Canada."

Premier Off to New York.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Premier Whitney and Mrs. Whitney leave to-day for New York. The Premier has been suffering from a bad cold and wishes to recuperate before the exertions of the coming session. He will return next Friday evening.

Conservative Nominees.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 5.—Hon. R. G. Taitlow, A. H. G. Macgogan, J. F. Garden, Dr. McGuire and W. J. Bowser were nominated at the Conservative convention Thursday night.

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY JANUARY 5 1907

On Monday the most interesting municipal election in Peterborough in a number of years will be held. The big fight will be over the Mayoralty, the candidates for that position being two young men, both of whom have served three years in the Council. Five by-laws will be voted on, and twelve aldermen are to be elected from a field of seventeen men, and one Water Commissioner.

Last night the Trades and Labour Council held a meeting which was addressed by a number of candidates for City Council, both for alderman, and mayor. The men who are candidates for the Board of Water Commissioners also spoke outlining their policy. The Council did not endorse any of the candidates for either of the offices.

A strong agitation in favour of the erection of a bridge across the Otonabee at the foot of of the Street Railway is being developing among the residents of the section of the Otonabee who would be served by it. They point out that to use the present bridge they have to go considerably out of their way. An article in connection with it appears to-day.

Mr. Hicks and Mr. McWilliams Exposed To The Public Gaze

The Course and Qualifications of the Two Mayoralty Candidates Contrasted — "Business Citizen" Gives a Few Straight Pointers to Electors

AN OPEN LETTER TO ELECTORS

Ladies and gentlemen,—The mayoralty contest seems to be dragging itself along in a jog-trot sort of way, but with an undercurrent of excitement and interest, which is not shared by the electors at large, because it is to be regretted that many are not intelligently seized of the points at issue, nor of the important considerations involved in the claims of the respective mayoralty candidates. Therefore I ask a little of the Examiner's space to contrast the claims of the two candidates arising from the policy they advocate and their personal relations to the city and the interests of the city.

Personally both candidates, Mr. Robert Hicks and Mr. R. F. McWilliams are pretty well known to the citizens generally. The better Mr. Hicks is known the better he is thought of and the more strongly emphasised become his claims to the public confidence.

I wish to set down in the first place what I know of the character, capacity and promise of the two candidates, and in the second place to draw conclusions from their past record in relation to the city council, and for their affiliations in this contest.

Mr. Hicks is a young man of good ability, steady character, single-mindedness and quiet energy.

He is a successful business man and by the success he has made of his business affairs, has developed the possession of qualities of administration, quiet persistence and level-headed energy, which have not only fitted him for being, but have, as a matter of fact, made him, a splendid representative, careful, cautious, painstaking, and withal, enterprising.

His record in the council is a good one; not one of wind, but one of achievement. He talks little but always to the point, he sets much and that, too, always to the point.

He is independent in his opinions, has the courage of his convictions and is not afraid to take a stand, though it may be for the moment unpopular, for what he considers to be the right thing in the interests of the city he represents.

He is content to be Robert Hicks, a representative; he is not the mouthpiece nor tool of any special interest or faction. He is quick to see into the merits of a proposition, to see its bearing upon the interests of the city and as prompt at arraying himself on the side of the ratepayers, as against any combination seeking self-advance at the expense of the public welfare.

As I have remarked Mr. Hicks has made a good success of his business and has thus demonstrated his capacity and as his past career as alderman has shown—his willingness to give Peterborough good, level-headed, honest and efficient administration.

His business industry has created for him substantial material interests. He has a substantial stake in Peterborough, and if from no higher motive, it is his personal interest to see that Peterborough is wisely, economically and safely governed. An honest representative, whose independency, honesty and loyalty to the city forbid him to contemplate ulterior compensations, is bound to lose financially by ineffective and extravagant civic administration.

Mr. Hicks has shown himself to be a safe, steady-going thinking and

Smith Street Bridge Repairs Delay Accusation Is Answered

Mr. Hicks' Position in the Matter—Letter From City Engineer on the Alleged Delays

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In view of the fact that reports are being circulated by Mr. Kendry or his friends alleging that undue delays were caused in the repairs to the Smith street bridge, I enclose herewith correspondence between Mr. Hay, the city engineer, and myself on this question. It is self-explanatory:—

Peterborough, Jan., 5.

T. A. S. Hay, Esq., Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—I understand that Mr. Kendry is taking round a petition in the north ward, claiming that I as chairman of the Board of Works was the cause of unnecessary delay in repairing the Smith street bridge, after the timbers and material were on the ground.

Will you be good enough to give me any data, which you may have with regard to the time when the material was ready for the repairs, and also the date when those repairs were commenced; and oblige.

Yours truly,
ROBERT HICKS.

Peterborough, Jan. 5th.

R. H. Hicks, Esq., Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter of to-day, asking for data as to time occupied in making repairs to Smith street bridge after material had been delivered, I beg to report as follows:—

The timber was delivered between June 20th and 28th. The man I had engaged to do the work notified me that he could not undertake it. After considerable inquiry, I engaged another man on June 29th, who commenced work with six men on July 2nd, and completed it and opened the bridge for traffic on July 24th.

Yours truly,
T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

This should effectually settle the matter in the minds of all fair-minded persons.

Yours truly,
ROBERT HICKS.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES AT ALL SAINTS'

Concert Held in Sunday School Room Where the Scholars Received Presents for Good Attendance

RECTOR URGES PARENTS TO CO-OPERATE

The Annual Presentation of Prizes to the pupils of the Sunday School of All Saints' Church was held last night in the school room and proved to be a very successful event. The presentations were incidental to a programme that had been prepared.

The parents and friends of the scholars turned out in large numbers and in consequence the school room was well filled. The entertainment part of the evening was very good, the various numbers giving general pleasure. Rev. Wm. Major occupied the chair and in his remarks welcomed the older people to the entertainment, he thanked the officers and teachers of the Sunday School for their staunch efforts during the past year. They had frequently met with difficulties but had acted nobly in the most trying times when substitute teachers were wanted and had always generously devoted themselves to the work.

A great difficulty teachers meet with is the lack of co-operation on the part of the parents. They may send their children to Sunday School but they do not trouble themselves as to whether the children are doing their duty there, they do not see that they have properly studied their Sunday lessons, in fact many parents neglect them altogether. The children are given Leaflets but do not make use of them as they should and the parents neglect to interest themselves in this matter. Mr. Major asked those parents to lend their earnest co-operation to the work of the teachers that much better results might be accomplished. He also urged the young men and young ladies to attend in greater numbers at the Bible Classes.

After his address Rev. Mr. Major presented the following programme:

Gramophone Selection ....Mr. B. Garside
Instrumental Solo ....Miss Mabel Hooper
Recitation.....Miss Lillie Lightheart
Recitation.....Freddy Lebar
Vocal Solo.....Miss Thelma Murdoff
Recitation.....Miss Helen Metherall
Recitation.....Miss Geraldine Hooper
Recitation.....Miss Laura Butcher
Dialogue by Miss Lillie Lightheart, Albert Lightheart and Mr. Will Coleman
Recitation.....Miss Ruby Cranfield
Recitation.....Carl Kincal
Vocal Solo.....Miss Gladys Williams
Gramophone Selections....Mr. B. Garside
Recitation.....Miss May Wheeler
Shadograph by Four Boys..Masters Douglas Layfield, Alfred Gilbert, Manwell Metherall and Grant Latimer.
Recitation.....Miss Emma McGill
Recitation.....Miss Evelyn Foster

A Mandolin Duett was given by Messrs. Bert Holland and Austin Cranfield with piano accompaniment and received a hearty encore.

The presentation of prizes followed and of course was the most interesting feature for the scholars. Rev. Mr. Major made the presentations.

RAPID TOOL FACTORY IS NOW DOING BUSINESS

Plant is an Important One and Within a Year Will Employ Over 100 Men

THE NEW EAST CITY FACTORY DESCRIBED

The Rapid Tool Company's factory, of East City, the only one of its character in the Dominion of Canada, is now manufacturing the auger bit which has such a great demand in this country. Within a week or ten days the company will have all the machinery in motion and will be in a position to supply the demands of many orders, which have already from many quarters which have already found their way to the company's office in Peterborough. The Rapid Tool Factory is equipped with the most modern machinery in every department and the addition to the city of the only plant manufacturing the auger bit in Canada is certainly a condition of which the citizens should be proud. The company, which is composed of nearly all local capitalists, have spent thousands of dollars in the equipment of the factory, much of which has been expended in Peterborough.

The building as a whole is substantially erected, every particular having been attended to by experienced men. The lighting in all departments is of the best and ventilation is perfect. The factory is heated by a central steam heating plant, which disperses the warmth by means of radiators in the various rooms.

The auger bits are now being manufactured at the local factory and they appear very natural too. The bits are made of steel, of a special character, most of it coming from England and Pittsburg, Pa. The former is known as Jessop and the latter as crucible steel. The company is compelled to obtain it from different places, on account of the enormous quantity used. Both the steels mentioned are of the very highest grade, as the best material is necessary to manufacture the bits.

Employees Highly Paid

The company have now about twenty men at work but expect to have more than twice as many as soon as enough steel arrives to run the plant in full blast. Inside of a year the officials expect to have at least one hundred men employed. Skilled mechanics are most required and the wages paid are much above the average.

An Examiner reporter was shown through the building yesterday afternoon and was surprised to see the number of departments essential to the carrying on of the company's work.

The offices, which face Hunter street east, are beautiful, and among the finest in the city. They are equipped with the best of furniture. The front office is occupied by the General Manager and Salesman, Mr. Fowler. Another is occupied by Mr. P. J. Creedon, the superintendent, who has been for the past 18 years associated with the Auger Bit Company of Wilmington, Ohio. Mr. Creedon comes well recommended to Peterborough and is a competent and expert man to superintend the work of the Rapid Tool Company.

Packing Room

Department No. 1 of the factory, is immediately to the rear of the offices. It constitutes the Packing and Shipping Room, is well lighted and elaborately fitted up for this purpose.

Polishing Department

Department No. 2 is just south of the Packing and Shipping Room and is one of the most modern polishing departments of any similar factories in the United States. It is, too, an important part of the plant, where the bits go through the various polishing processes after leaving the moulds in a rough state.

Sharp Filing Room

The third department of the factory is known as the sharp filing room. This is where the bits receive their sharp filings so that they may be able to perform their effective work. The company has placed Mr. Gordon West, an expert, over this work. He was formerly connected with the Augur Bit Company at Wilmington, Ohio.

Fitting Up Department

At the northern end of the lower story of the building is the Fitting Up Department. This is where the bits are fitted up and it is in charge of an expert fitter, Mr. Fraser, also of Wilmington. All skilled mechanics are necessary there.

Die and Tool Department

The fifth department is known as the Die and Tool Room, and is just south of the fitting up department. This is where the manufacture of the dies and all the tools for the completion of the bits takes place, besides other tools which the company intends to make. Only good mechanics who are all highly paid, work in the Die and Tool Department. Mr. Bert Spring, a practical die maker of many years' experience, is in charge of it.

Forge Room

The next on the list is the large Forge Room Department where the big hammers are noisily forging bits all the time. The machinery there is of the most modern type and of a character which Peterborough people do not realize.

The Blacksmith Department is next to the Forge Room, where the smithy is kept busy tempering the steel. After leaving the Blacksmith Department one is then ushered into the heating plant which, as mentioned above, supplies steam heat to all parts of the building.

The members of the Rapid Tool Company are energetic and well-known men. Among them are W. G. Ferguson, president; Wm. Rudkins, Vice-President; G. Hay, Secretary-Treasurer; E. B. Fowler, General Manager; P. J. Creedon, Superintendent; W. S. Davidson and James Davidson.

NEW BRIDGE PROPOSED TO SPAN THE OTONABEE SOUTH OF THE LOCKS

Otonabee and South Monaghan Farmers Advocate a Shorter Route to the City with Their Produce — Bridge, If Built, Would be a Great Convenience

A MILE WOULD BE CUT OFF

The Farmers are Willing to Subscribe a Certain Amount if Called Upon to Give Their Support—Proposition Will be Placed Before the Government

The greatest question now occupying the minds of the farmers who reside in the western half of the prosperous township of Otonabee, is that of the proposal of the erection of a new bridge across the Otonabee River. It is freely asserted that the present Lock's bridge was built in a place not conducive to the best interests of the people of Otonabee. Not only do the farmers now recognize this but also citizens of Peterborough, who find occasion to travel southward into the township.

The residents of the eastern section of Otonabee very seldom have occasion to use the Locks bridge as the shorter route for them to take to the city is through East City and across the Hunter street bridge. The present situation of the bridge is therefore of little use to them and if removed to where the farmers of western Otonabee believe it would be of the greatest value, it would make no difference to the eastern section.

At End of Radial Railway Line

The farmers want the bridge to span the river at the termination of the Street Railway line and so lessen the distance to the city by almost a mile. This distance is a considerable amount to a farmer who has heavy loads of grain and other produce to market. It has been pointed out to an Examiner representative that if a bridge were built where above suggested it would be an accommodation to about 500 farmers of Otonabee and to all the residents of South Monaghan.

The extra mile which has now to be travelled may seem insignificant to many. But there are many farmers who come to the city on an average of once a day during the whole year which, approximately speaking, makes a difference of 365 miles in a twelvemonth.

The agitation for this shorter route to the city is spreading throughout the township, and it is believed the township council will, in the near future be called upon to present the proposition through the County Council to the Government, or by any other legitimate course. There is no doubt that the inhabitants of Otonabee and South Monaghan will lend their assistance in the erection of the bridge if called upon for subscriptions. They are at present very enthusiastic over the proposal and judging from the prosperity of the two townships they would make a liberal constitution towards the carrying out of the scheme.

Look for Annexation

The city is now rapidly extending south ward to the river and in a few years' time it is regarded by many that the south will become an important manufacturing centre. Immediately across from the proposed new bridge location, Otonabee is rapidly growing. Within the past few years that section has seen the addition of a number of new residences and at present has somewhat the appearance of a village. The residents there are very optimistic and believe that should a bridge be constructed across the Otonabee at that point the settlement would soon become large enough to be annexed to the city. They think that the city will soon be bound to break its limits if the present rate of building continues a few years longer.

An Over-Head Bridge

It is believed that a bridge could be built there in which no swing would be necessary as high banks sloping towards the stream afford opportunities for an overhead bridge for the steamers.

This agitation of Otonabee and South Monaghan is, however, merely in its infancy, but there is no doubt that the proposition will soon take a deeper hold in the minds of the residents of these two townships and there is every probability that the question will be brought before the council in a very short time.

Election Returns By Limelight

The Examiner has made arrangements with Mr. Fife, of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, to give a limelight bulletin service on the elections on Monday night. This will be the best means of learning the results of the voting that day. Excellent as the bulletin service of The Examiner has been in the past, it is expected that the arrangements which have been made to give the public the first news of the elections on Monday will surpass those of any previous year.

A screen will be dropped in front of the building opposite The Examiner office, and by limelight the latest returns will be shown, together with pictures of the candidates, successful and otherwise.

An invitation is extended to the public to gather on Monday night at The Examiner office, where the best election news will be given.

ALD. DUNCAN'S RECORD IN THE CITY COUNCIL

The Qualifications on Which He Based His Claims for Support

To-day is a day for business men in municipal circles. There are many large propositions before the City Council and the people want business men to handle them. Therefore the best men of the seventeen nominated should be chosen.

Among those should be included the aldermen who have had experience in the council, and who have proven themselves capable in their own business and the city's business. Al. the aldermen of last year's council worked hard all year and gave their very best service to the people. Ald. George H. Duncan, while one of the youngest members of the Council, is looked upon as one of the most promising. He is a young man, but has made a success in life. He is a contractor and decorator with 18 years experience, and he never took a contract which he did not make some money on. As a result of his careful and business-like manner in tendering, he has been able to invest a considerable sum of money in real estate in the city. He owns several houses and is greatly concerned in the progress and development of the city.

Since he was elected to the Council last January he has served on several committees, and has done good work. He is anxious to remain in the council, and believes that he will be of much greater value to the city than he could expect to have been last year. He is fairly entitled to another term, and there is no doubt at all but what he will get it.

THREE-YEAR OLD SWISS CHILD WAS SENTENCED FOR THEFT

A Swiss child aged three years has been sentenced at the criminal assizes at Weinfelden, in the canton of Thurgovie, to 3 1-2 months imprisonment for theft. The little fellow was passing a toy store, and seeing some toys dangling in the street, helped himself to two or three articles of little value. The child was carried into court and said that he took the toys home to play with his little sister. To the great astonishment of the court the presiding judge sentenced the infant. The little fellow was carried out of the court room crying, and handed over to a prison official. The Swiss press is indignant at the unprecedented action of the judge and condemns the verdict as illegal.

Vital Statistics Show Increase In Birth Rate

The Number of Marriages and Deaths Were Also Larger Than in the Preceding Year—Deaths Numbered 248

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES GIVEN

The vital statistics for the year that has just closed have been compiled and show that there were twenty-one more births last year than the year preceding. The deaths also show an increase there being 24 more in 1906 than in 1905 and the same is true of the marriages, there being thirteen less knots tied in 1906 than last year.

The last six months ending December 31st, seemed to be the favourites for weddings, as during that period there were 105 celebrated to 88 in the first six months.

The figures are as follows:—

Former Peterboro' Woman Met A Strange Death

Originally of This City, Annie McDonald, Formed One of Toronto's Floating Population, With No Permanent Home

SHE HAD BEEN ON A DRINKING BOUT

Choking and gurgling, Annie McDonald, or McDermott, the police are not quite sure which, died last night in a shack in the rear of 236 1-2 King street east. Evidences of a drinking bout were rife, beer bottles and whiskey flasks being found in the room.

At 8 o'clock last night J. Duffy, who occupies the ground floor, said the woman, who was lying half dressed on the bed, choked. He handed her water, but she could not drink. At 11 o'clock he went to F. Rosar's undertaking establishment, Queen street east, and told Mr. Rosar that the woman was dead.

No action was taken until this morning, when the police took charge. Information about the woman is scarce. She is said to have a husband in Winnipeg, who was a fireman on a railroad. A son survives her, but he cannot be found. The woman, who is about 35 years of age, had been ill since New Year's Day.

Sergt. Allison of No. 4 Police Station, Wilton avenue, notified Coroner Johnson and an inquest will be held.

The upper flat of the house is occupied by H. Jenkins and his wife. The woman originally came from Peterborough. She had no permanent home, forming one of the floating population of Toronto.—Toronto Star.

THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

St. John's Sunday School Scholars Had an Enjoyable Time

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment of St. John's Sunday school was held last evening in the school house.

A large number of the scholars and their parents were present, and an enjoyable evening was spent. Rev. Canon Davidson occupied the chair, and in a few opening remarks said that he was glad to see so many of the parents of the scholars present. Great progress had been made in the work of the Sunday School during the past year. He said that the Sunday School was to train boys and girls in the ways of the church. Canon Davidson hoped that the parents would send all their children to Sunday School. The following programme was then given:

Recitation—Allan Armstrong.
Solo and Chorus—Master Devey and Boys' Choir.
Recitation—Ella Hogan.
Comic Song—Mr. Devey.
Recitation—Mr. Williams.
Chorus—Boys' Choir.
Piano Selection—Mr. R. J. Devey.

After the different numbers on the programme had been rendered, the distribution of prizes was proceeded with. Those scholars who had been faithful in their attendance during the year and in the preparation of their lessons, received special prizes, whilst all the scholars were given a gift off the Christmas tree. Over 200 gifts were distributed last evening.

After the distribution of prizes the entertainment was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Peterborough Defeated Varsity Without Trouble Last Night

Speedy Toronto Collegians Never Had a Look In With the Locals Who Showed Greatly Improved Form

GOAL KEEPER WASSON MET WITH AN ACCIDENT DURING GAME

The Peterborough senior O. H. A. team had little difficulty in defeating the speedy Varsity seven last night in a game that considering the sticky and soft condition of the ice was remarkably fast. Peterborough won by a score of 9 goals to 4 and led at the half time stage by 4-3. The result was never in doubt as the locals lead all the way through showing greatly improved form over that displayed in the game with Queens last week. About eight hundred fans saw the contest and were highly satisfied with the exhibition and with the showing made by the Peterborough team.

Game Was Fast

The speed displayed by the players was somewhat astonishing when the conditions under which the game was played are considered. They started off at a lightning pace and although the game slowed down in spots fast hockey was the rule throughout. The crowd thoroughly enjoyed the contest which, although marked by close checking was not by any means rough. The sticky ice made the rubber hard to manipulate but in spite of that fact there was some very pretty stick-handling and the hockey all through was of a speedy variety.

The showing made by the locals was such as to cause supreme delight in the minds of their supporters. They showed a marked improvement from the game of last week and were playing the style of game that won them so many victories last year. They played together more, their team work showing a vast improvement. The forward line got away better, their combination is improving and they shot with more accuracy than at any other time this season. Another week's practices will put them in good shape for the O. H. A. games.

Berlin Not So Much

The result of the contest makes it evident that the locals compare favourably with Berlin. The Dutchmen had all kinds of trouble in putting the Collegians away last week winning out by 8-5 after a hard struggle. Peterborough had not much trouble in disposing of the Students with the same line-up that gave Berlin such a scare. Varsity never had a chance to win. They had all kinds of speed on the forward line and in addition had a clever combination but the local defence was in splendid shape and played star hockey throughout. They checked cleverly and the speedy Collegians seemed utterly unable to penetrate the back division. Both Glover and Crowley used their body to advantage and their checking and relieving could not have been improved upon.

Great Improvement

As has been said the forward line was greatly improved and their work was most satisfactorily. They played together and in this the secret of their success in penetrating the Varsity defence lay. In speed perhaps they had but little on the visitors, but beat them as far as effective combination and shooting went. They also checked back splendidly in last night's game, a feature of their play that was somewhat lacking in the other games that they have played this season. This in no small degree helped to keep the Collegians from becoming too dangerous. Whitcroft played his usual aggressive game and his skating and stick-handling were as customary features. Morgan was as prominent as ever by reason of his effective shooting and stick-handling. Graham played a fine game at right wing. He was always in his place and his work was of decided advantage to his team. Moore played left wing for the first half of the contest and showed up in good shape. He worked hard and handled himself nicely.

Miller A Find

The find of the night, however, was Walter Miller, the captain of the Charlotte Street City League team, who was tried out in the second half and certainly made good. Although playing on the boards instead of centre ice his usual position, he put up a fine game. He came down the side in splendid fashion and passed and shot cleverly. It was his first appearance in O.H.A. hockey and he should develop into a most valuable man.

Varsity had almost the same team that came so near beating Peterborough in the last game of the season last year. They have a fast and heavy team who play great hockey, especially on the forward line. The advance guard got away fast and together and play good combination. Herb Clarke at rover was the pick of the bunch displaying fine speed and stick-handling. Toms and Davidson, the two wing men were not far behind him. Hal Clarke played a good game at point.

Wasson Was Injured

The only regrettable feature of the game was the accident which happened to Ernie Wasson, the veteran goal keeper, who was between the flags during the first half. Early in the half he went out to meet a Varsity forward who was about to shoot and as a result of the collision that ensued he had his collar bone broken. He pluckily played till half time, although he could hardly carry his stick. He was playing a star game at the time and his accident will be greatly regretted. It will keep him out of the game probably for the balance of the season.

Fred. A. Clarke gave general satisfaction as referee and discharged his

CITY LEAGUE TEAMS ARE OF MUCH ASSISTANCE

Always Ready to Lend Their Men to the Seniors When Needed

That the City League is fulfilling its purpose of developing senior material has already been amply demonstrated by the relation between the League and the senior team this season. The two have worked together, with the result that the City League has been of great assistance to the O.H.A. seven. Already this season four City League players have figured on the senior line-up. Lang and Miller of Charlotte Street; Rose of the High Lifes and Parnell of the Strathconas. The City League teams have always been ready at any time to lend their men to the seniors when needed and their assistance is much appreciated by the latter's management.

HOCKEY

The 14th Regiment of Kingston had an easy time with the Argonauts last night, beating the Caesmen by 17 goals to 1. Either the Tommy Atkins bunch is very strong or else Argonauts have no license to play senior — probably a little of both.

POOL AND BILLIARDS

The pool players of the city are reminded of the handicap pool tournament, which is to be held in the Majestic Billiard Parlours, Water street, commencing January 14th. The entries close on Saturday, January 12th, and already a large number of players have sent in their names. Entries may be left at the parlours. Three handsome prizes are offered for competition.

HEART TROUBLE CURED

In the rush, hurry and worry of modern times, we overwork the heart. Is it any wonder then that there comes a breakdown of this wonderful little engine, when such a continued strain is placed upon it day after day. There are many forms of heart trouble and the slightest derangement of this important organ is extremely dangerous. To strengthen the weak heart it is necessary to use a remedy that will act upon the heart tissue, restore and revitalize it and at the same time tone up and invigorate the nervous system, we have such a combination in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Ella Dingman, Morganston, Ont., writes of her experience with them: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was troubled for a long time with my heart; I had weak and dizzy spells, could not rest at night, and I would have to sit up in bed the greater part of some nights, and it was absolutely impossible for me to lie on my left side. At last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they did me so much good I got another box and they effected a complete cure. I have not been troubled with my heart since."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Mr. Langfeldt said that he was very glad to have at the head of the school such an effecient and trustworthy superintendent as Mr. Spence. He felt very grateful to Mr. Spence for his unselfish interest in the work. He remarked that the results of the year's work were in excess of the previous year. The attendance was large, the efficiency much improved, and the children had proven to be ambitious in doing their very best. He urged the parents to interest themselves in the Sunday School, and to see that their children attend regularly. Mr. Langfeldt commended very highly the following three young ladies who had attended every Sunday and obtained the highest possible marks: Misses Ruby Quartermaine, Elsie Dawson and Violet Whittaker. They received each a special prize presented by the Rector. Misses Ethel Pakenham and Eunice Curtis were also remembered for faithful attendance by special prizes.

The evening was most delightfully spent, and everybody enjoyed the proceedings, which were brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Meaning in Oriental Rugs.

Not only the design but the colors of the rugs woven in the orient are full of significance. They represent national or individual traditions and stand for virtues, vices and social importance.

Red was regarded by the Egyptians as symbolic of fidelity.

Rose tints signify the highest wisdom, and black and indigo, sorrow, with the Persians. Preference for duller tones of color among the Persians gives to all their embroideries and other products of the loom certain richness and dignity.

Tyrian purple is almost universally regarded as royal.

Green has been chosen by the Turk as his gala color, but he would not approve of its use in rugs, where it would be trodden by the feet.

Honeycomb Pudding.

Three-quarters of an ounce of gelatin, three ounces of sugar, one pint of milk, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, three eggs and a little cold water.

Dissolve the gelatin in a little water over a slow fire, then add the sugar and milk.

Now add the beaten yolks of eggs and vanilla extract, stir till thick, but be careful not to let it boil.

Whip the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and stir gently into the mixture.

Pour once into a mold.

"THE QUINTE" IN RUINS.

Fine Belleville Hostelry Destroyed By Fire—Loss Over $60,000.

Belleville, Jan. 5.—The Quinte, said to be the best hotel between Montreal and Toronto, was completely destroyed by fire, which broke out about 10 o'clock last night. So fierce was the blaze that it threatened for a time to extend to Bridge street Methodist Church, but the slate roof was a means of saving the latter structure.

In the early hours of this morning the town firemen succeeded in getting the flames under control, but only the walls of the substantial brick structure, which cost $100,000 to build, are left standing, the interior having been completely destroyed. J. V. Jenkins, the proprietor, and owner, has $60,000 insurance upon it. His loss will be considerable, as he lately refused an offer of $30,000. The hotel had between 80 and 100 rooms, and was finely appointed.

There were few guests stopping at the hotel, as there are few commercial travelers on the road at this season of the year. The Quinte was almost deserted at the time the fire started, the guests and most of the staff being at a hockey match.

However, there were several occupants, who had narrow escapes, as the flames spread very rapidly from the ground floor.

The origin of the fire is not known, though it is supposed that a defect in the electric wiring may have been the cause.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, assistant manager, said he believed everybody had been got out in safety, and that the books had also been saved.

Regret is expressed on all sides, for the Quinte was the gathering place of all of Belleville's best people, and was admirably kept.

Two Brothers Drown.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 5.—Two brothers—Isaac and Thomas Burgoyne, aged 30 and 24, respectively, of West Cove, St. Margaret's Bay, were drowned at Coleman's Cove, a short distance from their home. They set out early in the morning to attend to their lobster traps.

Seven men have been drowned here within three months by the capsizing of their boats.

Trenton, N.J., Jan. 5.—Seven years' imprisonment and a fine of $2,000 and costs was the sentence imposed yesterday on David Brandt, convicted of attempting to burn his store on July 2, 1905. The costs, it is estimated, will amount to $3,000. Brandt collapsed in court and had to be carried to jail by a constable. John Brandt, a brother, convicted on a similar charge, will be sentenced to-day.

THE NATIONAL RAILWAY.

More Tenders Are Called For Transcontinental Construction.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The Canada Gazette to-day contains a notice that tenders will be received by the National Transcontinental Railway Commission up to Feb. 14 for the construction of five more sections of the new national highway.

These will include 50 miles from Moncton westward; about 60 miles from Grand Falls, N.B., westward; 150 miles from Quebec eastward; about 50 miles from La Tuque westward, and 150 miles eastward from the Abitibi River.

Certified cheques must accompany all tenders, the lowest being $75,000 for the shortest section mentioned, and the highest $225,000 for the longer sections.

These sections, together with those that are already let, will constitute about half the total distance.

CHIEFS OF POLICE OF CANADA.

Urge Severe Punishment For Habitual Drunkards On Minister of Justice.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—A deputation from the Association of Chiefs of Police of Canada, headed by Col. Sherwood, waited upon the Minister of Justice yesterday to bring to his notice resolutions passed at the recent meeting in Toronto.

The deputation emphasized the need of inserting in the criminal code a definition of the term "habitual drunkard" and the necessity of legislating for his punishment; in other words if a man was convicted a certain number of times the judge could have no option but to inflict a severe punishment, specifically stated in the code, and which punishment would be the more severe if convictions increased.

It was also stated by the deputation that a central bureau for identification purposes would be useful.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth promised to give the matters his attention.

Six Deaths At Scranton.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 5.—Eleven new cases of typhoid fever were reported for the 24 hours ending at noon yesterday, a total of 981 and 47 in Dunmore. Six deaths occurred since Thursday night, making the total 79.

WITH HEAD CRUSHED.

Dead Man Propped Against Fence After Fight Over a Woman, Who Saw But Won't Tell.

Rosthern, Sask., Jan. 5.—Leaning upon the fence with one arm over it, in front of the residence of J. J. Friesen, Michael Kaminisky, a young Galician, 21 years of age, was found yesterday afternoon at 5.30, with his head crushed in several places. His face had also been slashed horribly with a knife. The body was still warm when found.

The murder was the result of a fight over a girl. She was an eye-witness, but refuses to divulge the name of the murderer. A sweating process will be used to worm out of her the story.

Many witnesses are being held by the police.

It is surmised the fight started near the elevators, and after the murderous attack the man was placed in a sleigh and put in the position where he was found later. The sleigh and footmarks are seen to that point, but no signs of a struggle. People passed the spot a few minutes previous and nothing was to be seen.

Who Is Hugh McDougal?

Mexico City, Jan. 5.—Hugh McDougal, a widely-known railroad man, committed suicide by shooting himself Thursday night. McDougal was especially well-known in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Enquiries among railway and engineering officials failed to find any clue to McDougal's identity in Toronto.

Ship Wrecked; Sailor Drowns.

Chatham, Mass., Jan. 5.—The two-masted schooner Alice T. Boardman of Calais, Maine, bound from Calais for Hyannis, with a cargo of lumber, went ashore on Handkerchief Shoals early yesterday and is a total wreck. One member of the crew, Thomas Hendry of St. John, N.B., was drowned.

Made $708,050 From Cheese.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—A statement was given out yesterday by D. J. MacKinnon, local representative for James Alexander, Limited, Montreal, showing the various figures in connection with the cheese trade on the Kingston and Napanee boards during the season just closed. The estimated total make was 70,000 cheese, meaning a total estimated revenue of $708,050. The highest price paid was 13 1-8c, and the lowest 10 1-2c.

Still Unidentified.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—A general search of the lodgings of persons under police observation was made here during the night in hope of discovering the accomplices of the assassin of Prefect of Police von der Launitz. Many arrests were made, but no important terrorists were captured. The assassion is still unidentified. The press unites in demanding protection against the regime of assassination, which is now resorted to by reactionists as well as terrorists.

Indiscretion Alleged.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The charges brought against Capt. Pratt of the Atlantic fishery protection schooner Curlew, appear to have been substantiated by the evidence taken at the investigation. There seems to have been a lack of discipline on board ship, and Capt. Pratt's conduct, to put it very mildly, is held to have been most indiscreet. The Government within a short time will take action.

FACIAL GYMNASTICS

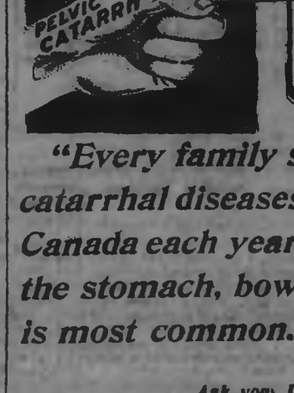
SOME REMEDIES FOR BLOTTING OUT UNSIGHTLY WRINKLES.

Do You Laugh Properly? Do You Chew Properly? Do You Hold Your Head Properly? These Are Points to Be Considered In the Beauty Cure.

"Wrinkles," said a well known beauty doctor, "are more often than not caused by the fact that the face is not sufficiently exercised. There are different groups of face muscles which are supposed to get a certain amount of exercise, just the same as the muscles of the body, and, if they do not, then beauty is apt to disappear and wrinkles become prominent.

"Do you laugh properly? Do you chew correctly? Do you hold your head in a right manner? Do you massage when the face becomes flabby? These are a few of the questions I would ask women who complain about wrinkles. All these things have an important bearing on the appearance of the face. But any ill effects brought about by improper conduct in such directions may be counteracted by the following exercises:

"Perhaps the forehead expresses habitual worry and anxiety. There are horizontal lines across it which are extremely ugly, while the skin is slightly drawn and colorless. Hold the head high, the neck and shoulders quite free. Raise the eyebrows till there are deep wrinkles across the forehead. Now draw the eyebrows together in a frown, making both horizontal and perpendicular lines. Repeat this exercise twenty-five times. Do not distort the face. Let the muscles of the forehead, the crown of the head and temples do the work. You will find that you have not counted many times before the muscles become tired, and you then realize that you are exercising them. The blood circulates freely through them. They are getting rested from their long inactivity. At the end of the exercise gently stroke the forehead, smoothing out all the lines.



WRINKLE THE EYES TO REMOVE WRINKLES FROM THE EYELIDS.

"Then, again, for lines over the eyebrows and 'crow's feet' the following will be found an excellent remedy: Sit erect, as before, and hold the head high. Close the eyes firmly, using all the strength of the muscles extending from eyebrows up over the forehead, across the temples and around the eyes. Open the eyes without unduly wrinkling the skin of the forehead. Do not distort other portions of the face in this exercise. Repeat twenty-five times.

"For sagging and flabby cheeks expand and contract the lips, using all the exercise possible in the muscles of the cheeks, chin and around the mouth. In doing this exercise the lips will be open, and you will show both rows of teeth. You may not look pretty, but the results are what interest you. This exercise develops all the muscles of the lower part of the face and of the jaws and neck, as you see by observing their action in the mirror.

"Depression round the mouth and hollows each side of the nostrils are easily remedied by the following exercise: Open the lips slightly, as in a smile. Now contract them, using all the muscles around them, the chin, the upper cheek muscles, the upper lip muscles, making all hard and firm."

Braiding Much Used on Velvet—Hat Should Match Gown.

Cloth and velvet are the most fashionable materials for street wear, and in both of these fabrics there is to be found a perfection of weaves and finish that has never before been seen, while the braiding and embroidery used as trimming are even more exquisite in workmanship and elaborate in detail than ever.

The color suggestion in the suit this season is matched in the hat, and both gloves and shoes harmonise when the costume is brown, which, by the way, is a smart combination this winter.

"RATEPAYER" GIVES HIS OPINION ON CONTEST

Qualifications of Mr. Hicks and Mr. McWilliams for the Mayoralty are Compared—Former's Good Record

MAN OF DEEDS AND NOT WORDS

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—On Monday the electors will be asked to express their opinions as to which of the two candidates for the Mayoralty is best fitted for the position from a Peterborough standpoint.

Whether Peterborough wants a practical, energetic, capable business man, or whether they desire to have a gentleman who thinks he is capable of filling any position, from pound-keeper to Prime Minister.

What under the sun has Mr. McWilliams ever done in any way to help Peterborough?

Has he ever, in any manner, shape or form, been of any use to Peterborough?

Has he ever done anything more than talk?

Has he not, on the other hand, been an expense to the city in more ways than one?

On the other hand, has not Mr. Hicks been one of our most useful citizens?

When the Shovel Company was being established in our midst, did not Mr. Hicks, though not a rich man, nor with much money available outside the business which he has built up by his own exertion — did not Mr. Hicks help along the company by becoming one of its shareholders?

When the Cordage Company was being established in Peterborough, was not Mr. Hicks one of its most energetic assistants, with some of his cash in its shares?

Is Mr. Hicks not now one of the members of a Peterborough syndicate who have made an offer to the bank to facilitate the reorganization of the William Hamilton Company—so that the business of this great firm can be continued and continue to furnish profitable employment to hundreds of our citizens, and keep the concern running without any change of control or interruption of operation?

If a man is willing, and shows a practical earnestness in promoting the industries of the city, is he not more worthy of the confidence of the electors than an eloquent dreamer, who contents himself with working off beautiful thoughts on theoretical subjects?

Has any one of the McWilliams ever invested a dollar in any manufacturing concern in Peterborough? or done more in the past thirty years than draw public money for their maintenance and education?

On the contrary, we have in Mr. Hicks a young man who started out in life, and who, by industry and business ability, has won the game off his own bat. He has been a successful business man because he was first a working man. He has worked at every job any man in his employ works at. He knows what it is to work, to be a working man at daily wages, and he can sympathize with the needs and rights of workingmen. Mr. Hicks is a workingmen. Mr. Hicks is a workingman's candidate. He has a substantial stake on the city, and every ratepayer owes it to himself to place the affairs of the city in the hands of a plain, honest, capable, energetic, live, wide-awake business man.

No ratepayer should have any hesitation in deciding between the two candidates.

It is not the "walking delegate" who makes the flowery speeches about the dignity of labour, who keeps the wheels of industry running. It is the honest workingman who bends himself to his work from seven to six who does the trick.

It is not the eloquent dreamer, who deals in words, that can best represent the people of a working city like Peterborough.

It is the live, energetic, working, business man who has, by hard fighting, built up a business for himself, that has the ability and will to help build up the interests of a working hive like Peterborough.

Let every thinking elector study the question and deposit his vote for a man with the known ability and the known will to serve the city of Peterborough to the best advantage.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER.

After an illness of about six months, the death occurred last night of Elizabeth O'Donnell, wife of Frank Greig, of Toronto, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Donnell, 672 Stewart street. Deceased was only 25 years of age, and was born in Peterborough, living here until a year after her marriage, which took place three years ago, when, with her husband, she removed to Toronto and had lived there until recently. She was suffering with tuberculosis, from which disease she died. She leaves a husband, her father and mother and three brothers and three sisters, the brothers being William, James and Joseph, of Peterborough, and the sisters, Mrs. E. Phelan, Peterborough; Mrs. E. John Fagan, Toronto, and Miss Ella, of this city.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the family residence to St. Peter's Cathedral and the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

MARY ANN ALEXANDER

A very sad death occurred this morning in the person of Mary Anne Alexander, wife of Mr. George Schneider, one of Peterborough's most respected citizens. Deceased was 69 years of age. She was taken ill on the 26th ult., the day after Christmas, and her death was not entirely unexpected. The cause of her demise was anaemia. She was the daughter of the late James Alexander. She leaves a sister, Miss Rhoda Alexander, and a brother, A. Alexander, both of whom reside in this city. Besides the bereaved husband, there are also a daughter and two sons who will mourn her untimely death. They are Mrs. Chas. Risher and Messrs. Frank and George all of Peterborough.

LEO FRANCIS CARROLL

A very sad death is that which was recorded from Emily this morning, in the person of Leo Francis Carroll, the three-year-old son of Mr. Timothy Carroll. The deceased had not been very long ill, and despite medical efforts, the little boy succumbed to a complication of diseases. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, to St. Martin's Cemetery, Ennismore.

HE POSSESSES GOOD QUALITIES

Ald. McIntyre, a Man Who Has Made a Success of His Own Business—A Good Representative

It is generally conceded that when a man makes a success of his own business, the best interests of the community would be served by his election as alderman of that city in which he has so much at stake. That Ald. McIntyre, a popular builder and contractor, has had an eminently successful business career in Peterborough goes without saying. The Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., sections of the Central Milling Company's Mills, Peterborough Cereal Company's building, Shovel Factory and Cordage Works, to say nothing of many handsome residential structures, stand to-day monuments

Collegiate Institute By-Law Reasons For Supporting It

Some of the Cogent Arguments in Favour of Passing the By-law to Give the City the Educational Facilities it So Badly Needs

To-day the last appeal is being made to the ratepayers to support the Collegiate Institute bylaw, which which will be submitted to them on Monday. Interviews from citizens, whose views should have weight, are published to-day.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown, County School Inspector, in speaking of the bylaw to the Examiner, said:

The freeholders of the city should on Monday vote in favour of the Collegiate Institute bylaw. The value of every parcel of land in the city, and its neighbourhood, will be increased by having a commodious and well equipped institute building. The staff of the institute will be able, in various ways, to do better work for the students under their charge. Composed, as that staff is, of persons of literary and scientific attainments, courses of lectures, essays, readings, etc., can be given, particularly during the winter months, and thus the benefits of the institute distributed to the citizens generally, instead of being confined to the students, as hitherto. The desirability, or otherwise of a place of residence depends to a very great extent on its intellectual and moral atmosphere. An institute, properly constructed, and run on the lines mentioned, would have a decided tendency upward, intellectually and morally. By all means, let us vote for the bylaw.

(To the Editor of The Examiner.)

Dear Sir—The Board of Education is asking the ratepayers for a further sum of $21,000 with which to erect a Collegiate Institute building, for which there is admitted to be a pressing necessity.

A bylaw authorizing the expenditure of this sum is to be submitted on Monday next, and the Board respectfully asks for it careful consideration, being fully confident that then all will be convinced of its merits, give it their support, and assist it with their influence.

As has been pointed out on several occasions, Peterborough has never had a Collegiate Institute building—the one now used having been rented for many years from the Public Schools. This is now required by these schools for their own purposes, and, even were it not so required, it is altogether inadequate to meet the demands of the rapidly increasing attendance. In the present building there are but six rooms for seven classes. There is no general assembly room which can be utilized for lectures, addresses, literary meetings and the like, and there is no satisfactory equipment for teaching Physical Science and giving much instruction in Technical education.

With the building of the new Normal School it will be made possible for a student to receive in Peterborough a complete course of instruction in Kindergarten, Public School, High School and Normal School classes. This advantage will undoubtedly attract many outsiders to our city, and provision must necessarily be made for the increased attendance thus occasioned.

It is argued that relief might be had by the establishing of a Fifth Form in the Public Schools. Such a course would be inadvisable and expensive, and at best only transfers the provision for accommodation from one school to another. It is the intention of the Board, however, to make the First Form of the Collegiate free and thus the question of extra cost will disappear.

To enter the Public School Fifth Form it is necessary to pass the Entrance examination, and the courses in the Public School are largely obligatory, while in the High School the principal is allowed considerable latitude. Under the regulations of the Education Department, no pupil is required, unless it is the wish of his parents, to study any language except English, and other subjects may be omitted with the consent of the High School principal. Indeed, it is possible for a parent to select for his child such a course as may best prepare him for the future he may have in view; so that when it is kept in view that the teaching in the Collegiate Institute is largely in the hands of specialists, the advantage of a course in the High School First Form as compared with one in a Public School Fifth Form, is at once evident.

The Board believes that the citizens take considerable pride in their schools, and that they will mark their appreciation of them by granting the means whereby the work done can be made much more efficient—more especially as the additional cost will bear but lightly upon the ratepayers in view of the fact that, through the improved accommodation and equipment, the Provincial Government will contribute a much larger grant than at present.

Plans for the proposed structure have been prepared with due regard to economy in all its appointments, care being taken to provide only what is absolutely necessary and reasonable.

The estimates have been furnished by experienced representatives of all the trades involved, and the total amount asked for can, therefore, be accepted as thoroughly reliable, and must be considered as very moderate when compared with the cost of similar buildings recently erected throughout the Province.

Peterborough ranks high industrially and the ratepayers will be doing only justice to her fair fame by letting it be known that she can provide for the education of the children of all present and intending citizens facilities elsewhere unexcelled.

A vote for the bylaw is a vote to assist in the educational progress of the city.

WHAT THE RAPID TOOL COMPANY ARE ASKING

Have Done Their Share Which Should be Appreciated by the People of the City

The bylaw to assist the Rapid Tool Company, which has recently begun business in Peterborough, will be voted upon on Monday next. The company is asking for a free site, valued at $1200, and a fixed assessment for the value of the property. They have now about 20 men employed, of whom about 15 are local men. They expect that in a week or ten days they will have ten more in their employ.

The company has in good faith and according to agreement installed their machinery and it now up to the people to show that they appreciate the industry.

A BRIDGENOPTH MAN BROUGHT TO JUSTICE

Had a Jolly Drunk on New Year's Da and Friends Rescued Him

This morning ended a week of unbroken business at the Police Court. With the exception of New Year's Day, the "something doing" sign has been daily hung out at the court. It looks like a bad beginning for the year. To-day Seymour Forsythe, of Bridgenorth, was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $7.50, for a New Year's drunk on Tuesday of this week. He resisted arrest, and with the interference of others, eluded the hands of the law for the time being. But it only added dollars to his fine, and this morning he had to produce the "green." It takes a good man to beat the law and its agents.

MR. KENDRY'S BROTHER AT MR. HICKS' ROOMS

One Member of the Family Who Showed Friendly Feelings for Mr. Hicks

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — With reference to Mr. Kendry's statement that Mr. Hicks would have few friends on election day north of Dublin street, it is significant that Mr. Kendry's brother an employee of the Auburn Woollen Mills, was in attendance at Mr. Hicks' Committee Rooms last night.

The cordial manner in which he shook hands with Mr. Hicks' workers, went to show that his brother James does not represent the views of all the voters north of Dublin street.

During the past few days hogs have not been coming into the markets in very large numbers, but the raising of the price will now have the effect

ALD. HICKS' POSITION ON THE BRIDGE QUESTION

Candidate for Mayoralty States His Position—Contends That he is not Responsible for Delay

WANTS TO HAVE PERMANENT BRIDGE

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—I am informed to-day that Mr. James Kendry is industriously circulating the misleading statement that I am solely responsible for any delay that may have occurred in the re-opening of the Smith street bridge, after it was closed as a condemned and unsafe structure.

I want to state most emphatically to the people of Peterborough and those particularly interested in this bridge, that in no way can I be held responsible for any delay—any more than Mr. McWilliams, Mayor Best or any other member of the council.

When the bridge was condemned by the engineer it was the committee's business to close it or the town would have been mulcted in heavy damages.

I was in favour of the construction of a new permanent bridge but the cost of a new bridge was so great that it was decided to repair the old one as speedily as possible. The material for this purpose was got upon the ground as promptly as possible and the work finished as rapidly as labour conditions permitted. Everybody knows that idle men could not be picked up in Peterborough at a moment's notice. Surely Mr. Kendry did not expect me and the other members of the committee to do the work ourselves.

As a matter of fact the work was done as rapidly as circumstances permitted. Some people were subjected to inconvenience and trouble, which nobody regretted more than myself. They may have been annoyed at the time, but I am sure they took a reasonable view of the matter, and we should have heard nothing more of it if Mr. Kendry, for motives best known to himself, had not stirred up the trouble. Mr. Kendry is merely using this subject to excuse himself for his unreasonable hostility to myself.

If a gentleman of Mr. Kendry's supposed capacity is to permit a little business matter, which, whatever its merits, might be settled in the Division Court in five minutes, to sway his attitude upon the greater question—far more important public question—of the proper administration of the City Peterborough, then he seems to be fitted for smaller game than swinging mayoralty contests.

I took Mr. Kendry to be a bigger man than he seems to be. I didn't think that he was opposed to having his employees think for themselves, and that he found it necessary to confine them within four walls to prevent their listening to reasonable argument—by excluding a fellow-citizen from an access to employees which Mr. Kendry has enjoyed for for so many years, at the hands of other employers of labour. If any employer had excluded Mr. Kendry from his employees while he was prosecuting his political campaigns there would have been a howl of indignation and protest.

I hope there is nobody in Peterborough thinks I am so small and that my idea of the progress of Peterborough is such, as to lead me to keep the Smith street bridge closed an hour longer than necessary.

Mr. Kendry may get some persons, as I heard he has tried to do— he may get some who are not familiar with the facts—to sign some sort of statement, that the bridge was too long closed, but everybody knows, who knows the facts, that members of the city council as a body considered and dealt with the situation in the best manner possible.

The fact is that even my opponent for the mayoralty knows that the attack of Mr. Kendry is unfair.

Yours truly,
ROBERT HICKS.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LADIES' AID SOCIETY

Ladies of St. Paul's Church Held Their Annual Meeting Showing Society in a Flourishing Condition

The annual meeting of the Ladeis Aid Society of St. Paul's church, was held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. There was a very encouraging attendance of the ladies of the church, who are interested in charitable work. The meeting was purely a business one, reports being made by the various officers, which showed that the society was in a flourishing condition.

In one of the reports it was mentioned that it was most desirable that a greater number of the ladies of the church take an interest in the work, as an aid society is one that has always a greater scope for its work than can well be attended to. The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year:

Pres.—Mrs. Robt. Hall.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Geo. Munroe.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. W. Davidson.
Sec.—Mrs. Alex. Gibson.
Treas.—Miss Tucker.

DOLLY VARDEN

A fairly large audience greeted the return of Dolly Varden at the Grand last night. This sparkling comic opera success, it will be remembered, was presented as the opening production at the Grand opera house last fall, when it was so favourably greeted.

Miss Lillian Spencer as Dolly Varden was the same charming actress, as was seen here before, and she received excellent support from the rest of the company. The catchy musical numbers were rendered with a swing that pleased the audience and called forth their merited applause.

Cadet Cecil Arnott, of the Royal Military College, Kingston, left this morning for that city, after spending the holidays with his parents.

The Water Works Problem; Mr. V. Eastwood's Position

As a Candidate for Member of the Board of Water Commissioners, He Enunciates His Policy on Matters Connected With the Water Works System

To the electors of Peterborough:
Ladies and Gentlemen,—

At the request of a large number of ratepayers, and [illegible] a strong desire on my part to further study and assist in the development of our excellent system of waterworks, I am a candidate for the position of Water Commissioner.

I am strongly in favour of obtaining a plentiful supply of power that may be disposed of by the city at reasonable rates to manufacturers, thus attracting additional industries to our city and offering exceptional advantages as a commercial centre.

Cheap Power

Power to-day is the most valued asset of any municipality, and cheap power can and should speedily be our happy possession. As indicated in my remarks on nomination, I am intensely interested in the public ownership problem, and I am prepared to devote my time to a successful forward movement in this, my home city. I have been a close student of contract and day labour construction work, and in view of my intimate association with the various works that have been promoted and completed during several years past in this city, I believe that I am better posted than either of my opponents with respect to installation, equipment and maintenance of public utilities, coming under the head of power development.

Filtration Scheme

I am decidedly an advocate of a system of filtration. Why? Because we find that in many densely populated parts of Great Britain typhoid fever is almost unknown. The reason is that their water supply is pure, and this happy condition of affairs is brought about under far greater difficulties than exist in Peterborough. I am in favour of taking a plebiscite on this question, and thus learning the views of the ratepayers on this very important matter.

Legislation Asked For

With respect to the proposed legislation to tax all property fronted by mains, I am of the opinion that this principle is correct. I believe also that this application can be modified to entirely satisfy all classes of property owners. This is a city of industrial home owners and I am decidedly in favour of adopting all forms of taxation in the interest of that class. If favoured with your support and election, I will endeavour to advance the very best interests of the people. I have no leaning to corporations or individuals, and will refuse, for the sake of election, to become obligated in any way to support the sale or purchase of any properties or water power privileges, as I believe the city owns ample in its own right for development, unless the property is offered at proper value.

Believing that my measure of success as a business man in this city will commend itself to you, I respectfully solicit such hearty support as will ensure my election on Monday next as a Water Commissioner for Peterborough.

Yours respectfully,
VINCENT EASTWOOD

Peterborough, Jan. 3, 1907.

acting representative, and I firmly believe that if he is chosen Mayor he will make not only a creditable, but an honest, effective and faithful guardian, and safe promoter of the interests of Peterborough.

Men are largely known by the company they keep. Mr. Hicks' platform and personality have attracted to his support none with axes to grind; no one with a franchise to unload; no one with a "graft" to work. He seeks to represent the city of Peterborough, for the good of the city of Peterborough, and that's the truth in a nutshell, and the ratepayers will, I am sure, make no mistake in electing him Mayor.

BY WAY OF CONTRAST.

I wish to give a few words of attention to the other mayoralty candidate, Mr. McWilliams, and in so doing I desire to avoid personalities, except as they may be made to legitimately refer to his public relations, past, present, and those he seeks to establish.

I will not deny him a considerable degree of verbal ability — very promptly on tap — but in this age of action, it is acts, more than words, that count — for unfortunately, wind and wisdom are not synonymous.

It is not imputed as a fault that Mr. McWilliams was born with a good opinion of himself, or that that good opinion shows no sign of weakening, as time goes on. Everybody knows that he is ambitious — in itself, and properly bridled, a laudable quality, especially if ambition feeds on itself, and is not nourished at the expense of public interests.

How, some will ask, is Mr. McWilliams' anxiety to be Mayor, to be justified? In the first place, his right to be a candidate, is incontestable, and then, again, he is ambitious — loves to bask in the limelight — harmless weakness, but an index of character. His anxiety can't arise from the extent of his material interests in the good government of the city.

For it is to be said, without reproach, that a brief practice at law, followed by a disastrous dash at life assurance, with a relapse into law, and a course of politics, in which loyalty to party, and party friends, and loyalty to principle, were ground under the wheels of an ambition, which would regard the "Grand Seal of Canada" — if it came his way as worthily bestowed — have not developed a business ability, with many scalps to its belt.

Mr. McWilliam's representative career has not developed a very cautious or careful solicitude for the city's interest.

His mad embrace—without consideration — of the wildcat proposition ever adopted by a stampeer representative—the Hot Air Scheme — shows how unsafe the interests of the city would be in the hands of a visionary so easily influenced by whatever arguments were employed, and in the face of the peril of the people's interests.

Is a man like that to be trusted to give careful, well-considered, deliberative administration of the interests of Peterborough?

As remarked, a man is known by the company he keeps and seeks.

Mr. James Kendry is Mr. McWilliams' "right bower," which he has a perfect right to be, if he can stand the association.

Mr. Kendry and the McWilliams family have been at daggers drawn for years, and one would as soon expect to see George Ross and J. P. Whitney occupying the same political bed, as a Kendry and a McWilliams pulling in harness.

Is there anything suspicious in this sudden alliance?

Mr. Kendry must have a candidate to oppose Mr. Hicks. Why?—Echo answers, why?

We all know that Mr. Kendry had an Auburn power for sale to the city—and there is no record that the offer is withdrawn—and that Mr. Hicks was not willing to accept the valuation—about $90,000 more than, it is said, was offered to a private corporation, and by it refused.

We all know that Mr. Kendry hawked about a requisition, and raised heaven and earth to bang out as a candidate against Mr. Hicks, a gentleman known to be friendly to the scheme of selling the Auburn dam to the city.

He couldn't get this candidate, and the next move we see his his enthusing Mr. McWilliams and adopting him as his candidate—a very downy proceeding.

Mr. Kendry says in print, over his own name, that the statement that he is opposing "Hicks" because the latter opposed the sale of the dam, "is a lie"—necessarily a dam lie.

He says he opposes Mr. Hicks because the latter closed the Smith street bridge. But the records show that whatever action was taken in regard to the bridge was endorsed by the whole Council, and therefore Mr. McWilliams is as much to blame as Mr. Hicks, and should be as strongly opposed.

This does not seem to be the real reason why Mr. Kendry is opposed to Mr. Hicks and is supporting Mr. McWilliams, and shows such good will to the former as to kick him out of his office.

Mr. Kendry must let the public fall back upon Mr. Hicks' opposition to Mr. Kendry's power sale proposition as the real ground of Mr. Kendry's opposition.

"But why is Mr. Kendry brought so prominently into the matter?

Why, bless your innocent soul! Can't you see?—If you can't, you are quite too innocent to be trusted with a ballot.

Yours truly,
NO. 2 WARD BUSINESS MAN.

SPITE THE MOTIVE OF ATTACK

Principal Gardiner Testifies Respecting Truse Charges.

DENIAL OF TWELVE CHARGES

Categorical Answers Given by Principal of the Ontario Institute of the Blind at Brantford—Had Rebuked His Accuser for Incapability and Sleeping During Hours of Instruction—Too Lazy to Work.

Brantford, Jan. 5.—Principal Gardiner was on the witness stand in his own defence at yesterday afternoon's session of the Ontario Institute for the Blind enquiry. Each charge laid by the complainant, Truss, was taken up separately, and Mr. Gardiner went thoroughly into the first twelve on the list.

The charge as to his unfitness for position was repudiated by showing his prominence in matters of education prior to his appointment, and also by the pains taken to acquire special knowledge requisite for the blind.

To the charge that things went to smash within a month of Gardiner's appointment in matters of discipline, the principal cited cases where improvement have taken place, and gave a general review of the disciplining rules. No change had taken place in regard to locking the entrance of the institute in the present principal's time, and there had been no improper association between male and female pupils in the grounds.

To the charge that three pupils remained from Saturday to Sunday in a house of illfame, it was untrue, and the house in question, with a father and mother, and three sons, was not of the sort alleged by Truss.

In regard to pupils' attendance at church Mr. Gardiner submitted figures to show that it was on the increase. He had never suspended the rules against smoking, but was continually requesting adult pupils who smoked not to do so in the presence of smaller pupils. There were only six who used tobacco at present in the institute, and with these the habit was one of long standing.

No pupil had suffered from a bad disorder in his time, and the evidence of Dr. Marquis, who once examined a suspect, was given as corroboration.

Truss charged that Mr. Gardiner purchased more willow than was required. What was left unused had been due to incompetence of the former in having it peeled, and not due to his mismanagement.

Principal Gardiner stated he never used improper language in the institution or elsewhere, and gave explanations of an alleviating character in the specific instances alleged by Truss.

The charge that improper conduct had taken place between inmates and laundry girls was absolutely false, and the evidence of maids was cited. The pupils in question had been sternly rebuked for their visit to the laundry.

Mr. Gardiner admitted that industrial work had deteriorated, but this was due to a combination of circumstances which could in no way be ascribed to him. Truss was thoroughly incapable, slept during instruction hours and was too lazy to do his work. The charges had been founded from spite, because of the principal's rebuke to him about his indolence.

Poisoned By Canned Salmon.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Canned salmon is blamed for nearly causing the death of five persons at 137 Manning avenue. W. J. Hughes, his wife, child, sister and mother ate salmon for supper and about midnight all complained of illness. Dr. Wood was summoned. He thinks they are all out of danger, although Mr. and Mrs. Hughes are still confined to their beds.

Railwaymen's Provident Fund.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The Minister of Railways will introduce his bill to create a provident fund for employes of the Government railways immediately after the House meets on the 9th inst. Printed copies will then, it is expected, be distributed in order to afford an opportunity for suggestions calculated to improve the bill.

Carnegie's Latest Gift.

Washington, Jan. 5.—It was announced here that Andrew Carnegie has given $750,000 for the construction of a building to be used by the Bureau of American Republics. Provisions for the site already had been made by the United States, and the South American Republics.

ADDRESS

of W. H. MOORE, Water Commissioner, to the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

My term of office as Water Commissioner will expire on the first of January, 1907, and as I have time to devote to the duties, and a strong inclination to serve the city in the same capacity for a second term, I solicit your support at the election to be held on January the 7th next.

Mr. Hill and Mr. Matthews, the one in 1905 and the other in 1906, asked for renewal of your confidence as commissioners at the end of their first term, and it was given to them without a contest.

Services Rendered

I have had the honour to serve in the City Council, the City Trust, and Little Lake Cemetery Board, for many years, and have yet to learn that I ever failed to give full attention to duties; and I believe I might in all fairness, have expected the recognition on the Water Commission that was accorded Mr. Matthews and Mr. Hill. It will be for my opponents to show I did not deserve it.

A Business Asset

The early years of every great undertaking are always difficult and trying ones, and the management of our system of water supply has been no exception to this condition. It has required the continued attention of the Commissioners and their best exertions to bring the works to their present state of efficiency. Their conduct has always been based, as no doubt you have observed, on the same strict business considerations they carried into their own affairs, and therefore the general expression of confidence extended to them, and the success that has attended their efforts. But one of the greatest amendments to the works was beyond their powers. I refer to the present dam, on which everything depends, which is of timber held in position by stone, gravel and earth. It was built by the old company fourteen years ago. It has lived almost its life, leaks badly, and is one the city cannot rely on with that sense of security its vital importance demands.

New Dam, Revenue Produced

Over two years ago the Commissioners obtained a report from Mr. Keefer, an eminent engineer, upon a new concrete dam, which he estimated would produce 1400 h.p., or about 800 h.p. over what would be needed for pumping for many years to come, that could be applied to public lighting or be sold, and worth at least $12,000 per year, a sum sufficient to redeem the debt to be incurred, without adding to general taxation, and with still a substantial surplus for city purposes. The subject must continue to engage the most earnest attention of all concerned in the welfare of our city.

A year ago the Commissioners employed Mr. Allan Hazen of New York, an expert engineer on water filtration, to devise and report on a water filtration scheme, which he did. He estimated the cost at $80,000, with an annual charge of $7000. If undertaken, the city would have to supply the money and pay for the yearly outlay. Personally, I approve of any reasonable expenditure for this purpose, although the water now is of fairly good quality, but not always free from sediment.

Prepared Regulations

Upon entering upon my duties three years ago it fell to my lot to frame a set of regulations and by-laws in relation to the use of water, and for the information of citizens generally, which occupied my attention for upwards of two months, in their preparation, the draft of which with a full index of subjects, having been placed before the Commissioners and amendments agreed on, and a complete tariff of rates appended, was printed in book form, and is free to all who apply for it.

Legislative Work

Last year I undertook the legislative work of obtaining more effective laws against the pollution of streams of water, used by cities and towns, and I secured from Parliament provisions covering our river and the lakes to the north, which if enforced by the Board of Health, as no doubt they will be, will subject offenders to extremely severe penalties, and water users may rest assured of a much improved water, without recourse to expensive filtration.

Preparing Legislation

I have lately been preparing at the request of the Board further legislation for the next sitting of the House in Toronto, giving the Board larger powers in the public interests, particularly in relation to the laying down of mains adjoining property that pays no water rates, so that such property shall contribute in respect of the mains that front it, a sum that bears a just rate to the value conferred by the main. This certainly will, if obtained, tend to materially lower charges to all water users, and lead to a more rapid extension of the system. If again honoured by you, I will present this matter in the Private Bills Committee at the next session, and am very hopeful of success.

It is a matter for congratulation, indeed, that the purchase of the works, which many supported with the gravest fears, and others opposed with predictions of failure, has, because of good management, proved an eminent success, has reduced the cost to consumers over thirty per cent., given ten miles increase in mains, and a relative increase in fire protection, in five years.

If re-elected, I shall continue to take my share of the work, and do my duty, in every respect.

I am very faithfully yours,
W. H. MOORE

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Jan. 5.—There was another big, broad and strong stock market to-day. Opening prices were higher all around and the improvement continued right up to the appearance of the bank statement. This exhibit was very unfavourable and it was followed by a quick break in prices, but the short interest seemed large and when it tried to cover the market rallied again and closed strong with Reading and a few others near the best of the day and the whole list showing nice advances over last night's losing prices.

Copper was a strong feature and Smelting was boosted in a way that was very confusing to the short interests. Steel sold at 50 and Penna was taken in hand after a long sleep. It looks as though the market would rally further the first of next week but there are two sides to this market and sales on the strong spots will show as good results as purchases on the breaks.

GEO. J. TOVEY FOR ALDERMAN

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been once again nominated as your representative on the Aldermanic Board for the year 1907, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections. In the future as in the past if elected, I shall always advocate as economical a civic government as consistent with public needs, and devote my services in the interests of the whole community; I shall support all measures leading to municipal ownership of public utilities, providing the operation of the same will assure to the citizens maximum results at a minimum expenditure of public monies, and at the same time furnish sufficient surplus revenue to pay off the capital invested. I am strongly in favour of this city acquiring its own electric power, in which event Peterborough will be in a position to guarantee new industries all the power they need at the lowest possible price.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year, I remain,

Your obedient servant,
GEO. J. TOVEY

W. H. Bradburn

TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having consented to become a candidate for membership of the City Council for a second term, I respectfully solicit your support, I pledge myself, if elected, to give my best consideration to every measure that may be brought before the council in the interests of the city. With best wishes to all for a prosperous year for yourselves and Peterborough, I remain,

Your obedient servant,
GEO. E. ELLIOTT

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been nominated for Alderman for 1907 in this city, I beg leave to solicit your vote and influence. If elected I will strive to do all in my power to promote the best interests of the city.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
A. McCARTHY

TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been duly nominated a second time as alderman for the progressive City of Peterborough, I once again solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections, January 7th. In the future, as in the past, if elected, I shall always advocate the policy of municipal ownership of all public utilities, strongly believing such principles to be in the best interests of the general public. During the past year I have consistently supported and advanced such measures as would assure to the ratepayers economic civic government, and municipal control of public services. If once more honoured with your confidence, such measures will receive from me unqualified support, and I shall make it my business, to see that permanent improvements are equally distributed throughout the whole city, and that the expenditure of public monies is commensurate with value received.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, and relying upon your support at the coming elections, I am,

Yours faithfully,
GEO. BALL

TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been a member of the Aldermanic Board for two years I believe I am qualified by experience to serve your best interests during another term. As alderman last year I have been honoured with the chairmanship of important special committees, taking up work in the interests of the whole community, and I am convinced that the experience so acquired will stand my fellow citizens and myself in good stead should I once again be vested with the responsibilities resting upon a representative of the public on the aldermanic board. I strongly advocate a policy of sanitary measures which shall assure to the city the highest possible standard of health at a minimum expenditure of public monies.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I remain,

Yours faithfully,
A. A. McINTYRE

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having served you as Alderman for the year 1906, to the best of my ability, and at the request of a large number of the electors, I hereby offer myself as a candidate for re-election and if elected will continue to serve the city as my best judgment dictates, having due regard to economy in all its branches.

Thanking you in anticipation for your vote and influence.

I remain your obedient servant,
GEO. H. DUNCAN.

CARD TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—After having served as your representative in the city council for the past year, I again appeal to your support. I have endeavoured in the year just ended to serve the public interests without any other considerations than the promotion of the welfare of the ratepayers. As I have done in the past, I will do again, if honoured with your confidence. Every good measure promising to build up and advance Peterborough will have my hearty support.

THOS. J. WILSON.

WATER COMMISSIONERS

MR. E. F. MASON'S ADDRESS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

I respectfully offer my services to the ratepayers of the city, and am a candidate for election by you to the position of Water Commissioner, now vacant.

I do this at the urgent request of many ratepayers, who are good enough to say that my services as alderman, and experience in the City Council during the last three years, qualify me to render intelligent, and helpful service in the interest of the city.

I believe it to be a fact, and it is endorsed by others, that in no way may a citizen gain the information and be in a position to appreciate the needs of the municipality as by service on your Council Board.

Should you see fit to elect me you will please remember in so doing that I am thoroughly in touch with municipal matters, having held the important position of Chairman of the Finance Committee for the last two years. It is admittedly the most important committee of the Council, and one requiring considerable time at the hands of its members, and particularly so of its Chairman.

I believe I can truly say that I understand the financial position and needs of the city thoroughly. In so far as your city Water Department is concerned, I promise, if elected, to faithfully perform the duties of the position and to bear in mind the needs of the city, as implied in the carrying on of the Department and its expansions in future years.

I may call attention to the legislation which Mr. Moore, the retiring member of the Commission, is drafting, and which it is proposed to ask for at the next session of the Legislature.

(a) To constitute the Water Commissioners of the said City a body corporate.

(b) To authorize the said Water Commissioners to levy and collect a water rate upon properties fronting on streets along which water mains are laid and to provide that all water rates shall be a lien on properties served with water or mains; with right of distress and sale as in the case of unpaid taxes.

I do not favour such drastic legislation, and am thoroughly convinced that the people should be asked first to endorse the proposition, and, if elected, I will endeavour to have this matter submitted to vote of the ratepayers before making application for such a sweeping change in the policy, system and conduct of the Water Commissioners.

I may not be able to personally wait on all ratepayers before polling day, but solicit their votes and influence. I trust that my candidature will receive a hearty and successful support, and I shall be proud to be elected.

Yours respectfully,
E. F. MASON

WATER COMMISSIONERS.

CARD TO THE ELECTORS:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I hereby beg to announce that I am a candidate for member of the Board of Water Commissioners. I submit that my business experience subjoined with my desire to serve the interests of Peterborough in the most effective and beneficial manner constitute a reasonable claim upon your confidence and support. I may say that I have made a study of the details of the management of this public utility; and if honoured with election by the ratepayers, it shall be my constant aim and endeavour to continue and improve upon, as far as possible, the valuable water service which this city possesses.

Respectfully soliciting your vote and influence, I remain,

Yours truly,
V. EASTWOOD.

Card to the Electors!

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been nominated as one of many to represent you at your Council Board, for this present year, I take this opportunity of soliciting your votes.

I am a firm believer, that to have a good representative council, that the office should seek the man, instead of the man seeking the office.

When an Alderman gives the time and attention that is required of him if he represents the electors, it is quite sufficient, without spending his time, (which was always very valuable to him) in canvassing votes.

As I am opening up a business to become one of your merchants, my time for the future will be spent in your city, therefore, at the services of the ratepayers.

I shall devote my energies to serve the ratepayers faithfully, (as I have no axe to grind.)

Having made a success of my own business, I think I am capable of assisting to manage that of our progressive young city.

It shall be my duty to procure municipal ownership in all cases where our public thoroughfares are utilized. I have visited a large number of towns and cities during the last two years, and I have yet to find one instance when it has been a failure.

It shall be my duty to assist in the careful expenditure of money, consistent with the advancement of our city.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours very truly,
R. H. LEARY

To the Electors of the City of Peterboro

CANDIDATES FOR MUNICIPAL HONOURS WHO WILL APPEAL TO THE ELECTORS ON MONDAY NEXT

Some Facts, Briefly Stated, Concerning the Men Who Are Asking For Election to the City Council and to the Board of Water Commissioners---Some Warm Contests Anticipated.

Not in a number of years has such interest been taken in a municipal election in Peterborough as is being evidenced this year. This fact is due largely to the circumstance that it is several years since there was a contest for the Mayoralty, and the personal element enters more largely into this contest by reason of that fact. It is considered probable that on Monday the largest vote in the history of the city in a municipal election will be polled.

Both Mayoralty candidates are working hard, while there is also a keen fight on for the seats on the Council Board.

In the personal element in the contest, interest in the bylaws to be voted on, is lost, to a certain extent, but the fact that a large vote will be polled will give them a better chance of being carried.

Of the seventeen candidates for aldermen a number are new men who are seeking municipal honours for the first time, and by reason of this fact the election is a decidedly interesting one.

MAYORALTY CANDIDATES

Ald. Robert Hicks

Robert Hicks, who was the first to announce himself as a candidate for the Mayoralty, has been a member of the council for three consecutive years, and during that time has shown a good grasp of municipal affairs. In his second year in the council he was elected chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and last year was chosen by his colleagues to preside over the most important department of the city's operations, the Board of Works.

ROBERT HICKS

Ald. Hicks is a native of Peterborough, and is largely interested, from a business standpoint, in its commercial progress. He is head of the firm of R. Hicks & Co.

Ald. R. F. McWilliams

In point of length of service, Ald. McWilliams and Ald. Hicks are equal both have been in the council three years, the only difference being that Ald. McWilliams has not served consecutively. In his second year in the council he was chairman of the Legal Committee, and during the past year, when two committees, the Legal and the Manufacturers, were combined, he was again given the chairmanship of the committee. Like his opponent, Ald. McWilliams is a native of Peterborough. He follows the profession of the law.

R. F. McWILLIAMS

WATER COMMISSIONERS

Three candidates will go to the electors on Monday for the vacant position on the Board of Water Commissioners, the member whose term is expiring, and two new men, Mr. Vincent Eastwood and Ex-Ald. E. F. Mason.

MR. W. H. MOORE is asking the

electors for another term as a member of the Board of Water Commissioners. He has seen a great deal of service in connection with public affairs, and for twenty-five years has served the public in some capacity or other. He has been a member of the council, is chairman of the City Trust Commissioners, and for the past three years has been one of the three Water Commissioners. He feels that his experience thus gained should give him another term as Water Commissioner.

MR. VINCENT EASTWOOD is the second candidate for the vacant position. Mr. Eastwood, like his opponents, has been a servant of the public, having been a member of the Board of Education for a number of years. In his position as managing director of the Peterborough Hardware Company, he has been brought in o touch with much of the work carried on by the city, and thinks that this knowledge would enable him to satisfactorily fill the position of Water Commissioner.

MR. E. F. MASON is another candidate for the position of Water Commissioner. He is by no means a stranger to public life, having seen considerable service in the city council. During the year that is just closed Mr. Mason was chairman of the Finance Committee of the council. He thinks that the knowledge of public matters gleaned in this position and the interest that he has always displayed in the water works should serve him to good purpose should he be elected to the vacant office on the Board.

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES

There are seventeen candidates for places on the council as aldermen, and of these twelve are to be elected. Voters may therefore mark their ballots for that number. If a ballot is marked for more than that number, it will be counted as spoiled.

Only seven of last year's council are offering themselves for re-election, the other ten being new men, although some of them have served in the council in the past. Mr. R. H. Leary having been out only one year. Last year he was out of the city at the time of the election.

ALD. GEORGE BALL.—After having served one year in the council Ald. George Ball will again ask the electors for their votes. During the year that he has spent in the council he has taken decided stands on the majority of the questions coming before that body for consideration. In some of them he has been in the minority, but has taken his defeat philosophically. He is confident that his record during the past year is such that he is entitled to re-election.

MR. W. H. BRADBURN.—One of the new candidates for the council, is well known to the majority of Peterborough people, his long residence here having served to bring him into touch with many of the large interests in the city. He is interested in this city and its progress, himself, and with his business judgment, of which evidence has been furnished, he will, no doubt, if elected, be in a position to render the city good service.

GEORGE H. DUNCAN, who is again in the field, has already served one year in the council, and is therefore, familiar with the duties and requirements of one who is elected to serve the citizens in that capacity. During the year just past he has given considerable time to the city's affairs, with a view, doubtless, of acquainting himself with the affairs of the city.

GEO. H. DUNCAN

GEORGE E. ELLIOTT, has served one year in the city council, and in that time has given evidence of his grasp of municipal affairs, his long association with public affairs in his native township of Smith having given him an insight into municipal matters. Ald. Elliott is confident of re-election, his opinion being that his one year's record in the council is such as to warrant him in the belief that the electors will give him a renewal of their confidence.

WILLIAM J. JOHNSTON, with a record of three years in the council, is a candidate for another term in that body. In 1905 Ald. Johnston was chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and inaugurated the movement which resulted in the erection of the new fire hall, for which he worked hard and long. Prior to his connection with the city council he was a member of the council of the Village of Ashburnham, and is, therefore, familiar with municipal affairs.

WM. J. JOHNSTON

ROBERT H. LEARY, after having been out of the council for one year, through choice, is again a candidate for a position on that body. By reason of his long residence in the city, and his business associations with the majority of the electors Mr. Leary is quite well known and those who know him have only kind things to say of him. During the year that he spent as a member of the council Mr. Leary proved himself an apt student of municipal affairs and with the knowledge thus gained he hopes to be able to serve the electors to their satisfaction.

ALLAN McCARTHY has been a candidate for municipal honours before, not in the city, but before the village and town were united. He would like to represent the eastern section of the city in the Council, and states that he is receiving splendid encouragement in his canvass.

A. A. McINTYRE, after having been a member of the Council for three years, is again asking the electors for their votes, and feels that by reason of the work which he has done for the city since he has been a member of the governing body, he is entitled to a renewal of confidence. During the past year Ald. McIntyre spent considerable time on the Milk Bylaw, which was finally passed by the Council, and which he believes to be in the interests of the citizens.

W. G. MORROW is, this year, for the first time, going into municipal life. He has been secretary of the Board of Education for a number of years, and has lived in Peterborough practically all his life. His recognized business ability, evidence of which has been furnished in his successful prosecution of the business as with which he is prominently identified, will, no doubt, be remembered by the electors on Monday when they cast their ballots. Mr. Morrow is Managing Director of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company.

W. G. MORROW

MR. HARRY PHELAN has consented to be a candidate this year and is therefore asking the support of the ratepayers. Mr. Phelan is not a stranger to the aldermanic board, having been a member of the Town Council some years ago, when the ward system was in force. Mr. Phelan was one of the aldermen elected from No. 2 Ward. He is of the opinion that the services rendered by him at that time should be remembered by the people of the city.

MR. JOHN SAWERS, who is once more asking for the support of the ratepayers, is a candidate who has seen much service in the public interest. He has been a member of the Town Council for a good many years, and he feels that, in view of the great amount of experience he has had, he should once more be returned to the position of alderman.

MAJOR ARTHUR STEVENSON is a new candidate for the Council

this year. He has never been a member of the Board of Aldermen, but has always taken a deep interest in the affairs of the city. Mr. Stevenson is the secretary of the City Trust Commissioners, and is of the opinion that the knowledge of public affairs gained in this way should entitle him to a position on the Council.

ALD. GEORGE J. TOVEY is again a candidate for the Council. He has already served two terms on the Board of Aldermen, heading the polls the first year that he was elected to the Council. Ald. Tovey thinks that the experience gained in this time and the record made by him should entitle him to another term in the Council.

GEO. J. TOVEY

ALD. THOS. J. WILSON is another of last year's Council who is seeking re-election. Mr. Wilson has had almost a year's experience on the Board, filling the vacancy caused by the death of the late Thomas Kelly. Ald. Wilson considers that the work done by him while on the Council should entitle him to another term as alderman.

MR. HARRY MORGAN is one of the new candidates for the Aldermanic Board, but although he has never served on the Council, he has been the servant of the public in various capacities. He was for some years a member of the Ashburnham Council, and also a member of the village School Board. Two years ago he was a member of the Board of Education of Peterborough. Mr. Morgan is associated with the Peterborough Canoe Company, and feels that his experience in that line will fit him for part of the work which he would encounter as an alderman.

MR. J. H. SMITH is another Ashburnham man who is seeking election. He has served on the Village Council for four or five years, and for one year occupied the position of reeve of the village. He feels that the experience thus gained will enable him to be a valuable member of the Council, and on this ground he is asking the ratepayers of the city for their votes.

WILLIAM HARTLEY is another of the new men who aspires to a seat with the mighty. He is a resident of the north end of the city, from which section, doubtless, he expects to draw considerable of his support. Mr. Hartley is an employee of the Auburn Woollen Company.

MR. EASTWOOD IS STILL A CANDIDATE FOR WATER COMMISSIONER

Notwithstanding reports in regard to his connection with a prominent financial institution, Mr. V. Eastwood IS STILL A CANDIDATE FOR WATER COMMISSIONER, and solicits the support of the public who have known him so long and so favourably

MR. YELLAND REFERS TO THAT LETTER

The Ex-Mayor Said That the Communication Had Stirred Him Up to Action

In the early evening last night there was a lively and encouraging rally at Mr. Hicks' committee rooms. Previous to Mr. Hicks leaving to attend the public meeting under the auspices of the Trades and Labour Council, there were a few brief, crisp speeches. Among others, Ex-Mayor Yelland made a few remarks.

Mr. Yelland said that he had not intended to take any certain part in this election contest, but had been stirred up to action by Mr. Kendry's dirty, insulting letter against Mr. Hicks. He added that Mr. Kendry was the only man in Peterborough who had called him (Mr. Yelland) a liar. That seemed to be his favourite way of fighting. It had stirred up to action one friend of Mr. Hicks. He, Mr. Yelland, had watched Mr. Hicks' course in the Council, and he had done splendidly. He did not know a mistake he had made in regard to the public interests, and his whole course had received his sympathy.

He knew that Mr. Hicks would render splendid service as mayor, for he had all of the many qualifications necessary — sound judgment, industry and business ability. Among his other qualifications was an undoubted property qualification, for he (Mr. Yelland) had sold Mr. Hicks $5,000 worth of property, and the latter could, therefore, legally qualify for mayor. He didn't know, upon what Mr. Hicks' opponent proposed to qualify.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE OPINIONS OF RESIDENTS

Mr. Kendry Submits Letters From North End Residents on the Matter

To the Editor of the Examiner, —

" . . I do not believe there is one ratepayer north of Dublin street, not excluding Mr. Kendry himself, who really believes there was not the strongest desire to deal with the bridge as promptly as possible in the interests of the city at large."

I desire to submit the following replies to the above extract from Mr. Hicks' letter:

JAS. KENDRY.

I have read the above and say that positively the matter was not treated at all promptly and properly by Mr. Hicks. The timber was on the ground even long before they touched it.

J. T. BRAUND.

The above statement of Mr. Hicks' is not correct.

C. A. CURRAN.

I think the bridge could have been put in shape much sooner than it was.

WM. DETCHER.

I think that if Mr. Hicks had meant to repair the bridge he could have done so long before. He at last yielded to public opinion.

A. ALLISON.

I believe that the handling of the Smith street bridge did the whole of that ward great damage.

JOHN MANN.

H. P. LINDSAY.

My husband is too ill to write, but as I know how anxious he is to have the Smith street bridge kept open I venture to write for him. It's being closed for so long was a great damage to the North Ward.

ANOTHER LETTER ON THE SMITH STREET BRIDGE

The "Coal Combine" Matter Again Referred to by Mr. Jas. Kendry in Communication

Sir,—With regard to the alleged reply to my letter in your issue of last night by Mr. Hicks, I wish to say that I have yet to meet the person who thinks that he tried to answer the charges in my letter, let alone answer them. 1.—If he tried to have the bridge repaired and opened how comes it that months after it was closed we have Chas. Curtis, Jas. Edgcumbe, J. Braund, C. S. Curran, Thos. Lush, speaking through the Examiner in the utmost irritation at the carelessness, neglect and stupidity of the Board of Works, of which Ald. Hicks was chairman.

3.—The Examiner did all in its power to relieve the north ward of the infamous burden placed upon it by which trade was paralyzed, the circulation of population stopped and the ward transferred into a sort of graveyard, and from the issue of July 24th, of that journal, I make the following quotation, "After having been closed for several months for repairs, the Smith street bridge was re-opened to the vehicular traffic to-day and it will be no longer necessary for those living in Auburn to drive to the Hunter street or London street bridge to cross the river." This quotation gives a fair idea of the 2 or 3 weeks which Mr. Hicks has the audacity to declare as the time during which this bridge was closed.

4.—Now as to the "coal yarn" referred to so contemptuously by this gentleman. I say that Mr. Hicks has large coal contracts with some of the large corporations in this city. How in heaven's name is he to deal fairly by the city and the corporations in case of a difference. It will be then R. Hicks & Co. for mine, a little piece of advertising which will do him no good. This "coal yarn" Mr. Hicks did not answer. I say such a man is a public menace to the interests of the city.

His reference to the other residents of the north ward is answered in another letter.

JAS. KENDRY.

CITY'S SCHOOLS WILL RE-OPEN ON MONDAY

After an Unusually Long Holiday Youth of the City Will Resume Studies

After an unusually long Christmas vacation the schools of the city will re-open on Monday morning at nine o'clock. It is a number of years since the holidays at this season have extended beyond the two weeks limit but the day on which the holidays came made it desirable to give longer holidays than usual. When the schools open on Monday there will be two new teachers on the staff. Mr. Jeffries will be succeeded on the Collegiate Institute staff by Mr. Stubbs, formerly of Smith's Falls, while Miss Conlon's place will also be filled, both of these teachers having gone to Toronto.

It may be of interest, too, to know that on Monday, Mrs. Lewis' school for beginners will open at the Y.W.C.A. at 9.30.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST VOTES ON RECORD POLLED

Many Factors Contributed to Making the Total a Very Large One

MUCH INTERSEST CENTRED IN RESULT

Seldom has there been more interest displayed in a municipal election in Peterborough, or more excitement on polling day, than has been manifested to-day. All indications point to the fact that the vote recorded will be very large, probably the largest on record in an election of this kind. The spirited contest for the Mayoralty, the three-cornered duel for the vacant position on the Board of Water Commissioners, the importance of the five bylaws submitted to the electors, and the large field of aldermen, all these things added to the interest and contributed in rolling up a very large vote.

The chief interest seemed to centre in the Mayoralty contest. It formed the only topic of conversation on the street to-day. Both candidates have been working like Trojans all day, and the defeated man will have the consolation of knowing that he did his best. Ald. Hicks and McWilliams have both been driving votes themselves, and rigs have been running in all directions. Ald. Hicks' campaign was directed from his committee rooms on George street, while Ald. McWilliams made his office his headquarters.

Nearly all the aldermanic candidates were actively on the warpath for votes, and it is safe to say that anyone who was able to walk or even be driven to the polls, was given an opportunity to mark his or her ballot.

In East City the polling places, up to noon, were very busy, particularly in the North Ward. At 12.30 o'clock 109 votes had cast their ballots, while at the South Ward polling place 68 votes had been polled. This was considered a large number compared to other years, probably on account of the Mayoralty election.

The funeral of the late Joseph Cahill took place yesterday afternoon to the Roman Catholic cemetery from the family residence, 35 Gilmour street.

The cortege was a long one, testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held by a wide circle of friends. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Jas. Lynch, T. H. Fortye, Jas. Fitzgerald, Wm. Grady, John McFadden and Fred LaPlante. The services at the Cathedral were conducted by Rev. Father McColl, and at the grave by Rev. Father O'Leary.

Mr. Eastwood, Manager Of The Royal Bank Of Canada

President and Manager of the Peterborough Hardware Company Selected as Manager of Local Branch—A Young, Progressive Business Man who will Bring Success to Financial Institution

To-day the announcement is made that the manager of the Peterborough branch of the Royal Bank of Canada has been selected, and that Mr. Vincent Eastwood is the man chosen. This announcement will come with some degree of surprise in the city, where Mr. Eastwood is one of the best known and most progressive citizens, and it may be assumed that the affairs of the bank of which he will be the local head will be well attended to.

Mr. Eastwood will take charge of the banking business here about the last of February, and in the meantime will dispose of his interests in the Peterborough Hardware Company, in which concern he had a leading position, holding the office of president and general manager. The Peterborough Hardware Company, with which Mr. Eastwood has been associated since its inception in 1892, has grown into one of the finest businesses of its kind in the country. It is the largest hardware concern between Toronto and Montreal, and, in addition to its retail business, does a big jobbing trade. In 1900 Mr. Eastwood was made manager, and in 1903 he was elected to the presidency, which office he has since held, with what success can be imagined when it is learned that during the last two years the business of the company has increased by twenty-five per cent. The present officers and directors of the company are: President and Manager, V. Eastwood; Secretary, C. M. Hewett; Directors, M. Comstock and H. Morgan.

The Royal Bank of Canada is one of the Dominion's strongest institutions, having a capital and reserve of $8,000,000; deposits, $30,000,000, and total assets of $42,000,000. Mr. J. W. Fulton, who opened the branch, will remain in charge until the business is assumed by Mr. Eastwood. The bank is to be congratulated upon securing a man of Mr. Eastwood's recognized business ability and local and district popularity, to handle its Peterborough business, and that he will be successful is a foregone conclusion.

EXPRESSMEN MUST NOT DISREGARD THE BY-LAW

Mr Alex. Reid Fined This Morning for Soliciting Baggage at the C. P. R. Station on January 4th

Mr. Alex. Reid appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on the charge of having broken the expressman's bylaw at the C. P. R. station in soliciting baggage. Mr. Reid stated that all his colleagues acted similar as he did, that is, in going beyond a prescribed limit and asking for baggage. On the occasion in question, January 4, Mr. Reid's son had been in charge of the express. Mr. Reid said that he did often go beyond the regulation mark, and, as they say in rugby, had made a rouge. Mr. Dumble considered that the bylaw should be enforced, and, although this was Mr. Reid's first offence, still he would make an example for the rest of the expressmen. In future they will have to display their badges and otherwise obey the rules of the bylaw, as a policeman will likely be despatched now and then to investigate. Mr. Reid was fined $1.

Disasters Told Over The Sunday

A BAD DISASTER NEAR CHRISTIANA

Vessel Took Fire When Passengers Were Asleep—Some Suffocated —One Went Mad

Examiner Special

Christiania, Jan. 7.—News was received here yesterday of a terrible disaster which overtook the mail steamer Lindholmen, which plies between this port and Borgen, off Farsand.

The steamer was discovered to be on fire. A strong gale was blowing at the time, and the flames soon spread to the saloons and cabins. Thirty passengers most of them seasick, hurried from their quarters to get on deck. Four of them were suffocated in their efforts to get out. Others jumped overboard, and one was drowned. Another passenger went mad. One lifeboat was burned, and another was crushed against the side of the ship. Finally, while the remainder of the half-dressed and panic-stricken passengers were huddled on the forecastle, in a blinding snowstorm, the rest of the ship being in flames, the captain drove the vessel ashore and managed to save the rest of the passengers and the crew.

There was much hardship, however, before all the ship's company were gotten safely to land.

The dangerous nature of the coast made the operations of beaching the Lindholmen most risky.

WAS MURDERED BEFORE THE EYES OF HIS SWEETHEART

Galacians Quarrelled Over Girl and 21 Year Old Boy Was Killed in Brutal Fashion

Examiner Special.

Rosthern, Sask., Jan. 7.— Leaning upon a fence, one arm over it, in front of the residence of J. J. Friesen, Michael Kaminsky, Galician, twenty-one years old, was found yesterday afternoon with his head crushed in several places. He had been cruelly murdered. His face was cut and slashed horribly, and huge blood-clots had formed over his eyes and become frozen, but his body was still warm.

The sight presented was most ghastly. The murder was the result of a fight over a girl. She was an eye-witness of the tragedy, but refuses to divulge the name of the murderer. The sweating process is being used to worm out her story. Both she and the murdered man came from near Aberdeen, Sask.

BLACK HAND BUSY IN ROCHESTER

An Italian Killed One Member of the Dreaded Society and Wounded Another

Examiner Special.

Rochester, N.Y., Jan. 7. — Frank Randazza, an Italian saloon-keeper of this city, who shot and killed a Black Hand agent last October, shot and wounded another man last evening.

Two men entered his saloon, he says, and demanded money. He told them he had no money to give them. One of them drew a revolver, but before he could shoot, Randazza drew his own revolver and shot the man in the arm. The other man got away.

The wounded man gave his name as Guiseppe Gregge, and said he lived in this city. He is in custody, and Randazza is under detention at police headquarters.

Last August two men entered Randazza's saloon and demanded $1,000. They threatened to kill him if he did not pay over the money, and he shot at one of them. The bullet struck the man in the heart, killing him instantly. Randazza was held at police headquarters a few days and then discharged. Nothing was ever learned about the identity of the dead man. Randazza claims he has been under Black Hand persecution for some time. He told the police he was formerly court interpreter at Cleveland, and was driven out of that city by the Black Hand.

DO RIGHT AND FEAR NOT

Many persons contend that the criticism of the course and conduct of aldermanic representatives by the newspapers deters good men from entering into civic life. There does not seem to be much ground for such an opinion. A good man will not fear criticism as much as a poor man, for a good man will strive to do what is right in the administration of civic affairs, and if he tries he will, in nine cases out of ten, succeed. If he succeeds he will not receive adverse criticism, and if, being a good man, he does not succeed, it will be because he does not try, and he should expect, and will deserve, criticism. The poor man will, as a rule, fail, and he cannot object to criticism. It is the function of newspapers to keep a watchful eye on the people's representatives. It is to the newspapers that the people look to be informed of the policy and course of their representatives. If the newspapers cry "peace" when there is no peace, and permit public business to be bungled without informing the people, they are recreant to their duty. As a rule, newspapers do not pick flaws captiously; they would much prefer being in a position to praise the people's representatives, than having to condemn them. They have as much interest as the public in seeing the affairs of the people properly managed. If the people's representatives do right they have little to fear in the way of criticism. A newspaper is perpetually under the lime-light. It shows its hand in its columns day after day; if it is worthy of criticism, it gets it and does not complain. If every alderman's daily acts, as a representative, were laid bare to the public gaze every day, as the acts of the newspaper, they might expect that they would be subjected to daily criticism, such as newspapers only occasionally give them. Do right and fear not, is a good motto for aldermen. The people expect that their representatives will do the public business as honestly and well and with as sound judgment as they would do their own business. If they do not, on this principle there will be infinitely less cause for criticism, and, naturally, infinitely less criticism. Do right, and fear not.

THE BASIS OF THE WEST'S PROSPERITY

Manitoba Free Press.

Now, that the new year has arrived, and the country is able to sit down quietly in review of the events of the past year, one of the first thoughts which will probably occur is that it has been a period of marvellous prosperity. The growth of wealth and the swift march of events have had a tendency to take away the old standards of judgment. What are the conditions? There are not railways enough. There are not enough skilled workmen or day labourers. The price of agricultural lands has risen rapidly. The prices of the products of the forest, and the mine have advanced materially, and, despite the increased output, the operators have not been able to meet the demand. From every viewpoint, new and surprising sets of facts are seen, all pointing to the one conclusion that Canada has never been so prosperous.

It may not occur to the average individual who accepts existing conditions without question to go into the details of the many ways in which his methods of life surpass those of his father. He will find that there are better methods of cultivating the land than men ever knew before, and better methods of renewing its fertility. He will find better markets and more of them. He has swifter and cheaper ways of reaching markets. In both metals and textiles the methods of manufacture have shown continual improvement. The organization of trade continues to become more exact in its workings. He has better houses, better food, better clothing, better sanitary knowledge and practice. The application of science to the practical betterment of life has been most noteworthy. These are but a few of the changed conditions for which he he find just cause for thankfulness.

It is in the increase in wealth that the Canadian West is unusually fortunate. Farm values have advanced at a rate which would have been impossible a decade ago, and with the heavy immigration of the last last year a tremendous acreage has been put under crop. On this, and on this alone, rests the certainty of great future prosperity. The price of lumber may advance, raising with it the value of the forest reserves of the country. The price of coal, of iron, of oil, of copper, silver, or any of the other metals may advance. But this is not so much prosperity, as the mere marking up of prices. Are these properties intrinsically and permanently worth more?

Return to the farm land. A few years ago the farm lands of the West were worth little or nothing. Now they have advanced to high figures, and these will go higher. The reason for his lies in the fact that they can be made to produce annually a crop which much more than pays interest on the investment of capital and labour; and this without in any way detracting from their value. In fact, the productiveness may be increased with scientific farming and fertilization. But a coal mine cannot be made to reproduce the coal taken from it. An ore bank is exhausted when the ore is gone. Oil wells run dry. When lumber is cut, it takes a lifetime to replace it. All these sources of wealth, while increasing in value, are diminishing in quantity. Material wealth is not what has been consumed, but what is available for future use. The coal that has been burned, the lumber that has been sawed, the ore that has been smelted no longer exist for future production. It is in the farm lands of Canada that the concrete wealth of the country lies. It constitutes an asset that will never decrease in value as time passes.

PROTECT THE PUBLIC

The Toronto Star suggests that Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, visit Toronto, to see how the railways propose chopping up, and riding over, Balmy Beach, and other beautiful lake shore resorts. If the matter is brought to his attention, he will doubtless do it. It is Hon. Mr. Emmerson's way to make himself personally acquainted with the work upon which he has to pronounce and with which his department has to deal. Besides, the railways need watching; they are a great necessity, but they should not in providing for serving their own and the public's interests in one direction, be allowed to play fast and loose with other public interests. When a railway proposes to cut through and destroy a public resort, like the lake shore from Scarboro Heights to the city, or to cut through and destroy a place like Jackson Park, the Government and the Railway Commission should have something to say. The object of a railway is to get the best route; and and sentiments or private considerations, do inot cut any to much figure. The government should take a hand in the arrangement of such cases, and if necessary, use the public funds, or other means to provide an alternative route, and save beauty spots, which cannot, without the creation of a new earth, be duplicated, or restored.

FOR PURE FOOD

The United States pure food law has gone into force, and the scoundrels interested in the adulteration of food are preparing ways and means of evading it, some even regarding it as a huge legislative joke. Even the National Wholesale Grocers' Association issued a circular pointing out easy ways to evade the law with impunity. Secretary Wilson's reply is very simple: "If any of these gentlemen think they can defy the law with impunity, let them try it, and we will undertake to assure them eventually a summons to appear before a United States court." Of course, a manufacturer or a dealer can still falsify his labels, pass off cottonseed oil for olive oil, use aniline dyes or other unwholesome colouring matter and harmful preservatives. But if he does, he might as well be prepared for criminal prosecution. The experience of the United States in its effort to secure pure food for the people will be watched with interest by Canadians, who are putting a pure food law upon the statute books. The people must be protected—they must be assured that they are buying what they pay for, and, above all, that even foods that are made of what they are represented to be, shall be pure and of good quality. The health of the consumers is far more important than the profits of the producer.

EDITORIAL NOTES

We knew the Port Hope people in their enthusiasm about the canal would talk themselves giddy — they have gone so far as to elect a mayor named Giddy.

The people of New York elected Hughes as Governor, because they were afraid of Hearst. Now, they are getting afraid of Hughes, who insists that the corporations must obey the laws, and not combine to raise prices or force rivals out of business.

Is it not a mistake to rank the veterans who had to do with the technical and clerical work of establishing the Dominion, as the fathers of confederation? They may, at this day, be regarded as grandfathers of confederation, and the succeeding statesmen who have applied the principles involved, and worked out the problem in a practical way, as the real fathers. The original promoters laid the foundations deep and strong; their successors have builded upon them wisely and well.

With the death of Sir William Howland, the roll of the fathers of confederation is reduced to two — Hon. Senator Mc Donald, P. E. I., and Sir Charles Tupper. Sir Charles is still robust, hale and hearty at the age of 86 years. He is a wonderful old man—his most wonderful faculty being his wonderful voice and gift of verbose eloquence. In time, Sir Charles will fail in bodily powers, but we can hardly contemplate his voice giving out. We may well expect that he will fade away till there is left vox ex preteria nihil.

The amount of money invested in Cobalt mining properties last year was two hundred and fifty millions of dollars, almost enough to pay the national debt of Canada. It is, perhaps, safe to say that this amount, at bank interest, would bring as large returns as will result from the operation of such capital. Yet it is the spirit of enterprise and venture that keeps this good world moving, and if we all kept our little hoard earning only three per cent. interest, that interest would not long be forthcoming without the use of capital in commercial and industrial enterprises.

A correspondent of the Toronto Star, advocates a manse for teachers—that each rural school section provide a residence for a teacher, in the same way that church congregations provide a manse, or a parsonage, for pastors — a good house comfortably furnished, with a garden. The correspondent contends that a rural teacher with a salary of $400 a year, and a free house, would be as well off as a city teacher at a salary of $1000 a year. This might be popular with teachers, but there is a doubtful element. The majority of our teachers are unmarried, and might not take kindly to the idea of keeping a bachelor's, or maid's, hall. Perhaps the best way is to provide a living salary, and let the teachers live as they like—keep house or board around.

SKIN DISEASES

Salt Rheum, Pimples, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Shingles, Scald Head, Itching Sores.

All diseases of the skin are more or less directly caused by a bad state of the blood, which produces acrid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a clear, bright skin when the blood is in a disordered condition, and the stomach, liver and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

All the above skin diseases, in fact, any disease arising from a bad condition of the blood, are curable by

ADVISES A PROMPT PAYMENT OF BILLS

Canon Davidson Points Out How Whole Community Will be Benefitted

Last night, following the custom adopted by him several years ago, Rev. Canon Davidson advised the members of his congregation to look their financial obligations in the face and arrange to meet them promptly. He pointed out that each class of citizens was dependent on the other, and that if each paid his bills promptly the community would be benefitted.

Disease Born of Carelessness

BECAUSE POISONOUS IMPURITIES ARE LEFT IN THE BLOOD WHICH CAN BE REMOVED BY THE USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Disease results in most cases from the presence of poisonous waste matter in the body, and may, therefore, be said to arise from ignorance or carelessness.

Bilious spells, sick headache, attacks of indigestion, kidney pains and backache—such are the indications of failure on the part of the liver to remove the poisonous waste matter as rapidly as it accumulates.

By the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the situation is promptly relieved, because, liver, kidney and bowels are set in vigorous action and the filtering and excretory system thoroughly cleansed and strengthened.

Neglect to afford assistance at such a time is to invite the attack of such ailments as Bright's disease, dropsy, rheumatism or appendicitis.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailment was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing this treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting."

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A FORMER RESIDENT CELEBRATES HIS 80TH YEAR

Sir Sanford Fleming is 80 Years of Age To-day—Came to Peterborough on Arrival from Old Country

IS ONE OF MOST NOTED OF CANADIANS

Many of the older residents of Peterborough will remember Sir Sandford Fleming, who to-day is celebrating his eightieth birthday, and will therefore be interested in a reference to this gentleman, in the Toronto Globe of Saturday. The article referred to is hardly correct in one particular, that with respect to the date of his arrival in Toronto. When he came to Canada first he settled in Peterborough, coming here in 1845, and, after a few years' residence here he removed to Toronto. He was married in Peterborough in 1854 to a sister of Sheriff Hall.

The Globe, which published a full page portrait of him, has the following to say of a gentleman who has done a great deal towards making Canada the country it is to-day:

Many Canadians will join on Monday in wishing continued health and strength to Sir Sandford Fleming, one of Canada's grand old men, who will then celebrate his eightieth birthday. It is given to few men to so fully and so unselfishly serve his day and generation, and to reach a ripe old age still in the enjoyment of an empire's respect and a nation's unalloyed gratitude. Though he never was elected to a public assembly of any description, Sir Sandford Fleming is one of the great statesmen of the empire. One of the pioneers, and probably the greatest engineer Canada has possessed, he constructed the Intercolonial Railway. Later on he was engineer in charge of the survey of the Pacific Railway while 2000 miles of its line were under construction. Then he was instrumental in securing the adoption of standard instead of sun time throughout the world, and as a crowning achievement, his 23 years of agitation resulted in the completion, in 1902, of the Pacific cable and the thin, red electric line around the world. Now, as if that were not enough, this public-spirited citizen is devoting the closing years of his life to continuing the agitation for a State-owned telegraph system around the world in the hands of the various British Governments of the empire, and for the establishment of an Imperial intelligence bureau for the circulation of news of the empire by cable.

Before he left his native county of Fifeshire, Scotland, where he was born on January 7, 1827, Sandford Fleming studied surveying and engineering. He came to Canada in 1845, settling in Toronto, and, after a few years of "dark days" with little to do, he joined the surveying staff of the Northern Railway, which was then being built north from Toronto, and in 1857 he was appointed chief engineer of that road. As early as 1863 he was chosen by the people of the Red River Settlement, now part of Manitoba, to go to England to urge upon the Imperial authorities the necessity of a railway between the western and the eastern portions of Canada. On his return he was appointed by the Governments of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, in conjunction with the Imperial Government, to conduct a survey for the first link of a railway from the Atlantic to the Pacific within British territory. This became the Intercolonial Railway, and he was engineer during its construction.

Meanwhile, he had been appointed in 1871 engineer-in-chief to carry on the Pacific Railway surveys. In 1872 he conducted the expedition whose results are embodied in Principal Grant's book, "From Ocean to Ocean," which proceeded for the most part along the general route of the projected railway. During the time of this work, he carried on, at his own expense, the first survey of a railway across the island of Newfoundland. He continued his work in connection with the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway until 1880, when, owing to political exigencies, he retired, having witnessed its progress until two thousand miles of railway were under construction.

Since that time Mr. Fleming has devoted himself to various branches of science and literature. Early papers contributed to the Canadian Institute in this city on the question of time reckoning, have been followed up until, mainly through his efforts, a time standard has been fixed for the whole world, reckoned from Greenwich. Having realized, as engineer of the Pacific Railway, the advantages of a Pacific cable, as early as 1879 Mr. Fleming submitted a plan to the Canadian Government for such a project. That was the beginning of an agitation in which he led with a noble persistence for 23 years, until at last his efforts were crowned with success. His continued activity in behalf of movements for a closer unity of the empire, his writings and speeches in various branches of science and literature, and his work as Chancellor of Queen's University since 1880, have given him a life of constant usefulness in his old age. In 1897 he was honoured with Knighthood for his many eminent services. He has also been honoured by membership in societies and organizations of the highest scientific standing in many parts of the world.

Quiet and modest with regard to his achievements, a man of wide travel, of the most catholic tastes in literature and science, a genial, pleasant man of the world, he fares through life with a bright prospect constantly before him. His companionship is valued by the best people on the two continents, with whom he has come in contact, an interchange of ideas with him is sought by the most brilliant intellects, and when his family gather in his Ottawa home to congratulate him on reaching the venerable age of fourscore they may well feel that their congratulations are shared by a grateful nation of Canadians, and by thousands of lovers of the empire the world over to whom his name is familiar.

THE MINDEN VALLEY CANAL LATEST SCHEME

A Plan to Connect Northern Haliburton With the Trent Canal Meet with Favour in Minden

WHAT THE PROPOSED PLAN INVOLVES

The Minden Valley Canal is the latest proposition in navigation circles and, according to the Minden Echo, was the topic of discussion on Friday evening last by a few friends in Mortimer's Hotel, Minden. Colonel Sam Hughes, M.P., was driven by Mr. Jas. Thompson from Kinmount that afternoon, the Colonel having wired the day before to gather a few gentlemen together to discuss the proposition. Recently in the House of Commons at Ottawa in reply to a speech by Colonel Hughes in favour of these waterways, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, while admitting he had formerly been wrong in his views re the Trent Canal, but now favoured that project; said that he would also favour branch canals and waterways to the main canal, but was informed that Haliburton County was unfitted for general agricultural operations and should be set apart for a "Forest Reserve." The Colonel in reply had shown the Prime Minister that he had been wrongly informed. On Friday evening last the member for Victoria and Haliburton recited the history of the propositon. Twenty years ago it was impressed upon him by Messrs. James Mortimer, McIntosh, Delamere, Baker, Gainer, Wright Wright Bros. and many others. Early in the nineties, Col. Hughes had Government Engineers report on the proposition. In 1892 o 1893 the Colonel of submitted his plan to the Government, and Engineer's reports confirmed its feasibility and utility. The late Mr. Robert Mortimer had conducted the Engineers all through waters on the tour of inspection.

The plans involve the following:—

1. A dam and locks at Coboconk.
2. Blasting the portage below Norland.
3. A dam and lock at Norland.
4. Further blasting the Natural Dam above Norland.
5. A dam and lock at Elliot's Falls.
6. Blasting the ledge of rock at Moore's Falls.
7. Dredging a few yards at entrance of Gull Lake.

This would be all that would be necessary to reach Minden. To proceed onward would require:—

8.—A trestle cable tramway for boats from Gull River below Stinson's mill, to the top of the bank at the south end of Mountain Lake, run by water power.
9. A dam between Horseshoe and Mountain Lake.
10. Blasting the ledge between Mountain and Twelve Mile Lakes.
11. A dam and locks between Beech and Maple Lakes.

With these completed there would be continuous navigation from Cranberry Lake, through Pine, Grass, Maple, Beech, The Big Boskung, Little Boskung, Twelve Mile, Mountain, Minden River, Gull Lake, Morris Lake, The Norland River, Mud Turtle Lakes and Coboconk River to Balsam Lake, there connecting with the main canal and the railways, a total distance of from fifty to sixty miles.

The Austrian state railways contemplate the establishment of regular automobile stage coach lines from certain stations to places a few miles distant. This is specially desired for summer excursion traffic in the mountains, where the resorts are —many of them — inaccessible by rail. In the Tyrol, no less than 30 places have asked for such lines, and many of them are willing to guarantee the cost of working them.

Election Returns At This Office

In its efforts to give the public the election returns in the best possible shape to-night, the Examiner is meeting with every courtesy. Mr. Larmonth, the manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, very kindly loaned the Examiner the lime light machine which was used last summer at Jackson Park, and which was the means of giving so much pleasure to the citizens there, while Mr. Fife has consented to operate it to-night. In addition to the returns of the election it is the desire of the Examiner to show a number of views, to fill the waits between the reception of the returns, and in this desire Mr. R. M. Roy very kindly came to its assistance by giving the use of a number of views from his excellent stock.

Arrangements are being made to give the best possible bulletin service to-night, and the Examiner feels confident that the public will appreciate it.

As soon as the first returns are in, they will be bulletined, and as each sub-division is heard from the result will be given. If you want to know the result of the elections—and of course you do—the best place to have your desires gratified, is at the Examiner office.

Make the vicinity of this office your headquarters for to-night. You are welcome to all the information this office can give you.

AN OTONABEE BOY MAKES RECORD TRIP

With Dog and Sled Travels to Harwood in a Little Over Two Hours' Time

An Otonabee youth accomplished a feat last week the perusal of which sends the mind back to the days when the redman inhabited the shores of Rice Lake and roamed through the forests of the southern township.

Jimmy McMartin who lives just across the river from the southern terminus of the street railway, and who has scarcely reached the middle of his teens, made a record trip down the Otonabee River on Wednesday, which has all others faded away. He left his home in the afternoon and with his dog and hand sleigh reached Harwood in two hours and twenty minutes. The distance is about 25 miles which means that the dog travelled a little more than 10 miles an hour. His canine is a collie and is yet a young animal. It has, however, the staying powers which class it among the best of its brothers. Just now it would take a lot of money to purchase the collie from Jimmy.

He returned home on Saturday morning from Harwood by the same means.

MEMBERS OF THE T.A.S. RECEIVED COMMUNION

At the Eight O'clock Mass Yesterday when Largest Number in its History Turned Out

At the 8 o'clock mass at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, the members of the T. A. S. received Holy Communion in a body. They first met in the convocation hall in the convent, and marched to the church, where they occupied the inside seats in the central tiers of pews. The mass was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. There was a larger number of the members of the society present than on any previous occasion, over three hundred and twenty-five kneeling at the altar rails. His Lordship also preached the sermon, remarking upon the splendid showing the T. A. S. had made. It was one of the best medals for good in the whole community, encouraging, as it does, the members to remain steadfast against intemperance, and setting for others a good example.

His Lordship was pleased to note the gradual growth of the society, stating that it should not be otherwise. He urged the members to be true to their promise to abstain from intoxicating drink and they would never regret it, in fact, it would prove a blessing for them and their families.

At the conclusion of the mass, the members marched to the hall, where prayers were said and helpful words spoken by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR THE T.A.S.

St. Peter's T. A. S. Have Made Increased Strides During the Past Year in Finances and Membership

The installation of the new officers of St. Peter's T.A.S. took place yesterday afternoon at the first regular meeting of the New Year. The attendance was very large and is a favourable criterion of the growth of the society. Mr. Daniel Cashing the president-elect, referred to the healthy condition of the society and the splendid progress that has been made during the past three years and especially in 1906. Mr. A. Lehane, who was re-elected to the office of financial secretary, was complimented upon the good work that has been done under his administration. The finances from dues, etc., have been exactly doubled which is sufficient example of Mr. Lehane's untiring efforts and the success with which they have been attended. Mr. L. Bolin was also re-elected to the office of recording secretary, owing no doubt to his good services in the society's behalf.

The various reports of these officers were read for the past year and show that great strides have been made during 1906. There are about five hundred and thirty members now on the roll, in fact there are really over six hundred, but some could not be taken into consideration for different reasons. The assets of the society are also in a promising condition in fact there were many pleasant surprises for the members when the reports were read. There were sixteen new members enrolled at yesterday's meeting showing that this branch of the work is not being neglected. Considering everything the past year has been the banner year for the T.A.S. and Rev. Dr. O'Brien and the officers and members should feel elated that their pertinacious labours have been so prolific of success.

BIG DISCOVERY OF GOLD NEAR THE BAY CITY

Belleville Excited Over Rich Vein of the Precious Metal Found in Hastings County—Said to be Valuable

FINDERS ARE SHOWING THE SAMPLES

Belleville, Ont., Jan. 5.—Not since the discovery in 1866 of the famous Richardson mine in the township of Madoc which led to the mad rush to a new Eldorado has there been so much excitement over any find in the Hastings mining region as there now is in Madoc village over the discovery of a phenomenally rich vein of gold bearing rock about nine miles north of Madoc village. The find was made by E. B. Davis, an old and experienced miner who has been connected with the mining industry for many years. A sample about ten pounds in weight of vein matter was brought to the city yesterday by John T. Cookman of Madoc village and was closely inspected by Ernest Fralick, M.E., and others and were pronounced the richest sample of gold bearing rock that has been seen here since Richardson's time. The sample consists of milky quartz, dolomite and black country rock. It is literally studded with gold which shows in specks of varysize in dolmite as well as in quartz. Such ore would yield several thousand dollars to the ton. Particulars as to the mine's exact location, width of vein and depth of shaft could not be ascertained but these details will no doubt be forthcoming in due time.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY SERMONS ON SUNDAY

Rev. Dr. Briggs Will be the Speaker at George Street Methodist Church

Next Sunday anniversary sermons in connection with the George street Methodist church, will be preached by Rev. Dr. Briggs, head of the Methodist Book Room, Toronto.

Rev. Dr. Briggs is one of the most popular preachers in the church, and no doubt there will be large congregations on hand to hear him next Sunday.

MUNICIPAL SERMON IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Ministerial Association So Decided This Morning—Interesting Paper on "Signs of the Times"

SOME SUNDAY SCHOOL QUESTIONS

Rev. Dr. Torrances' paper on "The Signs of the Times" was the feature of the monthy meeting of the Ministerial Association held this morning, in the Y.M.C.A. The members of the Association were so pleased with the paper and the thoughts it presented that, in the interests of the citizens generally, it was decided to offer it to the city papers with a view of having it published in full.

Those present at the meeting this morning were Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. J. G. Lewis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. G. Potter, Rev. Dr. Crothers, Rev. L. McKinnon and Rev. A. H. Brace.

Mr. Rich. Lees was present at the meeting in the interests of Sunday school work, and in an address referred to the Teachers' Training Class, about to be organized in the city and open to all. A feature of the programme as proposed by this class is a census of the city in the interests of the Sunday School. The hearty support of the Association was promised Mr. Lees in his work in this connection.

The arrangements for the Week of Prayer were completed. Rev. Dr. Torrance and others will speak to-night in St. Andrew's, and in the George street Methodist church on Wednesday night Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. J. G. Lewis will be the speakers. At the meeting in Mark street church on Friday night addresses will be given by Rev. Dr. Crothers and Rev. Canon Davidson, while in the Park street Baptist church the same night the speakers will be Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. J. G. Potter.

The annual municipal service was appointed for St. Andrew's this year, and Rev. J. G. Potter was asked to preach the sermon to the newly elected council, who will be invited to attend.

Following the business the members listened with deep interest to the paper given by Rev. Dr. Torrance, on "The Signs of the Times." He touched tersely on the agitating conditions arising from social distinctions, strained relations of capital and labour, and the formation of new religious bodies. A better state of things is being brought about, very much through the more hearty co-operation among the Christian churches, and the more direct interest in these affairs. He predicted a better state of things, as the result of the strong movement among the churches in many lands towards corporate union.

In the interesting discussion that followed, the paper was highly commended. Many of the members expressed their opinion that the action of the French Government was not intended as a thrust at or derogatory to religion.

Many matters of public and religious interest were considered and dealt with in this meeting, which was of a most interesting character.

MISS M. BARNARD.

Secretary's Report.

To the teachers and officers of the Murray street Baptist Sunday School.

The year 1906 has now drawn to a close, and as the officers and teachers of the Sunday school, review the year's work, we feel that though there have been discouragements in our work, yet we have reason to be grateful to our Heavenly Father for the many mercies and blessings we have received from His bountiful hand.

Our Sunday school sustained a deep loss when our former superintendent, Colonel E. B. Edwards, moved from the city. He successfully filled this office for some years, and had the interests of the Sunday school deeply at heart, and was always desirous and eager for the conversion of the scholars; yet we rejoice to hear of his work for the Master in Edmonton. Our loss is Edmonton's gain. After a vacancy of a few weeks Mr. A. Raddon was appointed as our superintendent, and Mr. C. B. Routley as assistant.

The average attendance for the year was 187.

The average attendance of teachers and officers was 28.

Two of our teachers have attended every Sunday during the year, and also the following scholars: Laura Welsh, Edna Rae, Nellie Stenton, Vina Hardwicke, Bert Cross, Earl Cross, Charlie Hardwicke, Willie Hardwicke.

The following scholars missed but one Sunday, Margery Stenton, Margaret Sackville, Minnie Cross, George Cross.

A record has been kept of the star classes, Miss A. Garbutt, star class, 30 Sundays; Miss Scott's class, 29 Sundays; and Miss Cochrane's and Miss Perrin's classes, star, 21.

We are pleased to report that during the year 21 of our scholars united with the church, several of these being members of our senior classes.

We regret losing our pastor, who was always so deeply interested in our Sunday school, and in every scholar, but we rejoice that he has been called to the needy fields of Bolivia to labour for the Master there, and our prayer will be "May God bless Mr. and Mrs. Scott in their labours, and may their reward be great."

Entering upon the year 1907 we are hoping and trusting that each teacher and official will be more faithful, more desirous to impart and instruct, true Biblical knowledge, and more eager to win scholars to Christ.

May we sow bountifully, that we may reap bountifully, and a rich harvest be gathered.

Respectfully submitted,
M. J. GARBUTT,
Secretary.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Supt.—A. J. Raddon.
Assistant Supt.—C. B. Routley.
Sec.—Miss M. Garbutt.
Treas.—Miss M. Barnard.
Librarians — J. Hardwicke, Miss M. Walsh.
Pianists—Miss Miller, Miss Quinn.

COLD KILLS THE GERM

Lieut. Perry Says There Are No Bald Heads in the Artic Region

The people who come back from Klondike testify to the fact that no native bald heards are there. The evidence is that the cold climate kills the germs that eat the hair off at the root. Lieut. Perry, who went to the Arctic Regions, gives the same evidence. Newbro's Herpicide has the same effect as the cold climate. It kills the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, and the hair grows again. Herpicide is the first hair remedy built upon the principle of destroying the germ that eats the hair off. Its phenomenal sale demonstrates the correctness of the scalp germ theory. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich.

MAN REFUSED A LOAN OF $5,000

Explodes a Bomb In Largest Philadelphia Bank.

CASHIER AND SELF KILLED

Office Badly Wrecked and Ten Others Injured—Awful Deed of a Crazed Applicant for $5,000—President of Bank's Colored Messenger Blinded For Life — Identification Seems to Be About Complete.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—Demanding a loan of $5,000 and failing to get it, a man who has not yet been identified dropped a bomb in the Fourth Street National Bank Saturday, blowing himself to pieces, instantly killing Cashier W. Z. McLear and injuring ten others, one or two of which may die. The only clew to the identity of the bomb-thrower was a bunch of keys found in a portion of his clothing, attached to which was a plate inscribed "R. Steele, Garner, Iowa." It is believed he was a crank.

Explosion Terrific.

The Fourth National Bank is the largest financial institution in the city and occupies the greater portion of the first floor of the Bullitt Building, in Fourth street between Chestnut and Walnut streets, in the heart of the financial district. The explosion was terrific and it caused tremendous excitement in the crowded building and the street.

The explosion occurred a few minutes before 12 o'clock, at a time when the bank is usually well filled with persons in a hurry to transact business before the bank closes. No one saw the man enter the bank except E. F. Shanbacher, the vice-president, who was passing out of the building on his way to luncheon. He noticed the man was poorly dressed, looked like a Russian and carried a small parcel. The man walked straight back to the rear of the bank and asked a clerk to direct him to the office of the president, Richard H. Rushton.

Was Poorly Dressed.

President Rushton said after the explosion: "I was very busy when the man entered my office, and I asked him to be seated for a moment. He was poorly dressed. I asked him his business, and he gave me his name as G. E. Williams, and said he wanted a loan of $5,000. He did not look like a man who we could make a loan of that amount, and I asked him for collateral. He said something about an insurance policy, and that it would mature in from one to five years. I was then convinced the man was a crank.

"I told him he would have to see the cashier, and directed him out into the banking department. At the same moment I called my colored messenger, William Crump, to see that the man was quickly taken out of the building. As I turned to continue my work at the desk there was a terrific explosion and I thought the building was coming down. The man had not time to reach the cashier, the explosion came so soon."

Cashier McLear was sitting at his desk at the time, and his body was badly mangled. The bomb-thrower's body was torn to pieces.

Vaults Were Open.

At the time the explosion occurred all the vaults were open, books were piled on desks and papers of all sorts of value were lying on desks preparatory for being put away for the day. The explosion devastated the interior of the banking room. Glass and wooden partitions were wrecked and levelled to the ground as though a cyclone had swept through the place. Desks were ruined and iron bars were twisted, in fact there was hardly an object left intact in the room. Of all the persons in the room, at least ten, all of them clerks were hurt, two of them probably fatally. Three of the injured were sent to the hospital.

The explosion threw every one in the banking room to the floor and for a moment they were dazed. Many of them, not knowing what had happened and fearing that the building, which is an eight storey structure, was falling, made a rush for the door, Mr. Rushton among them.

President's Escape.

After President Rushton had recovered himself he told what had happened and a search for the bomb-thrower was made. At the moment it was supposed he had not been killed, but in taking out the body of Cashier McLear and looking for other dead portions of a body were found that plainly indicated that the man had been blown to pieces.

The escape of President Rushton was almost marvellous, for the damage is great in his office. The ceiling over his desk is bespattered, and under a pile of wreckage in one corner of the office was found the head and shoulders of the bomb-thrower as well as his overcoat. Mr. Rushton does not know how he escaped.

Key Ring May Be Clew.

It probably will take days before the bank officials are able to tell how much of the valuable documents in the bank's custody were destroyed, as the whole place was strewn with torn bits of paper.

The Detective Bureau is at work in an effort to identify the man who was the cause of the tragedy. The only thing found that probably belonged to him was a bunch of 25 keys, on the ring of which was the name "R. Steele, Garner, Iowa." President Rushton described him as a tall, dark man, apparently a foreigner.

W. Z. McLear, the dead cashier, was about 45 years old. He was regarded in financial circles as one of the ablest bank officials in the state.

William Crump, the messenger, was terribly injured. Both his eyes were blown out, his scalp torn off and his face so mangled that he was unrecognizable. He was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital.

Identified.

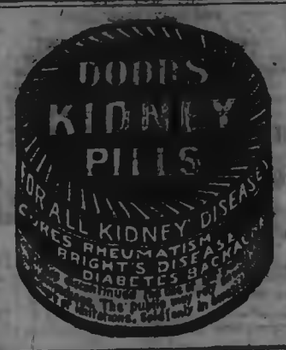
With the finding of the personal effects of the man who threw the bomb, there is little doubt left in the minds of the police that he was Rollo Steele of Garner, Iowa. The bomb-thrower, is found to have slept Friday night at the Grant House, a hostelry on the outskirts of the tenderloin, frequented mostly by respectable working people. He registered as J. R. Steele of New York. Early on Friday night he engaged a 50-cent room. He carried a grip, which he refused to allow the colored porter to carry to the room.

When detectives searched the room yesterday they found several yards of slow fuse, a number of detonating caps, a revolver, a box of cartridges, a number of tools and some clothing.

Steele was well-built and something of an athlete. He was not a foreigner, and was the son of an old soldier. His father, now dead, was an active Socialist, but he had never acted strangely.

Steele Patent Medicine Peddler.

Garner, Iowa, Jan. 7.—Robert Steele, formerly a resident of Garner, left here six years ago for the East, and is supposed to have been living in Philadelphia or Boston. When here he was engaged in peddling patent medicines. He was about 35 years old.



TWO WOMEN FORGERS IN TOILS

Lighthearted, But After Arraignment Broke Down and Cried.

REMANDED UNTIL FRIDAY

Three Charges Preferred Against Grace Cameron and Ruth Wilson Is Charged With Aiding Her—Pretty Prisoners Were Photographed and Measured—Finger Prints Were Also Taken.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—The arrest of Grace Cameron and Ruth Wilson Friday on charges of forgery is the beginning of a story the unwinding of which promises to be full up with sensation. The relation of the life led by these two young women in Toronto and other cities in Canada and the United States, if it comes to be made under oath, will be decorated with names writ high on the social register. The arrest of the pair is declared to have aroused the liveliest apprehensions in the breasts of well-known people.

The police say they could lay a score of charges against the two women. They have information which outlines adventures, the scenes of which are laid in the best hotels of Toronto, Ottawa Hamilton, Buffalo, New York and Boston. In many cases of the alleged passing of forged cheques the victims are said to be unwilling to come forward, by reason of the particular method pursued by the women.

Name Is Harris.

The police believe that the women are sisters, that their real name is Harris, and that they came from the neighborhood of Newmarket. The one calling herself Cameron has most charges against her, but the supposed sister is alleged to have been a willing ally, and is directly charged. The "Cameron" girl was known under that name in several of the hotels where she stayed, while in others she borrowed the names of people well known.

Photographed and Measured.

The pair were magnets for a crowd of eager spectators at police headquarters Saturday morning, the crowds following even to the top floor, where the door closed on the good-looking prisoners, the police matron and three plain clothes men. The crowd waited for an hour outside, while behind the frosted glass Ruth Wilson and Grace Cameron submitted to the detailed measuring required by the Bertillon system. They laughed and joked with the officers, pretended to be pleased when the gallery artist photographed them, and were vastly interested in the taking of the finger-prints. They were afterwards taken downstairs separately, and driven to the lock-up. They are keeping up, as a rule, an air of lightheartedness, but once after their appearance in the dock they broke down and cried.

Arraigned In Court.

The two women appeared before the Police Magistrate Saturday morning.

Grace Cameron, who gave her age as 19, is a tall, well-built young woman, or shrewd and attractive appearance.

Her tasty attire was completed by a long, neat-fitting fawn coat and a brown-plush hat from which a pendant white veil partly obscured her features.

She was charged with making false documents, i.e., cheques, and defrauding therewith on Dec. 14, W. H. Knowlton out of $15; on Dec. 17, Dr. F. Winnett out of $15; on Dec. 27, Dr. P. E. Doolittle out of $15, and on Jan. 4, aided by Ruth Wilson, attempting to defraud C. W. Coxwell out of $14.

Ruth Wilson, a pretty semi-blonde of 22, wore a New York walking habit, and a black fur stole.

Besides being jointly arraigned with her fair companion on the Coxwell charge, she was accused of defrauding John Pettigrew out of $15 by the cheque method on January 4.

Both prisoners, unrepresented by counsel, were remanded until the 11th.

Boy Forger Arrested.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 7.—A 16-year-old boy, giving his name as Wright, and his home at Uxbridge, was arrested here last night for passing bogus cheques. He is said to have operated in a number of Canadian banks and hotels, including Toronto and Montreal institutions.

A Wolf In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—The intense cold and the heavy fall of snow is having the effect of driving wild animals into towns in search of food. A wolf was actually seen on Main street, Winnipeg, on Saturday near the Bank of Hamilton. It was chased by a mob of newsboys, but escaped and ran across the river into the woods. Saturday a lynx was wounded and captured within a few hundred yards of the C.P.R. depot.

Raisuli's Fortress Falls.

Tangier, Jan. 7.—Zinat, Raisuli's stronghold, was practically destroyed by fire, and fell into the hands of the troops of the Sultan yesterday after an almost bloodless fight. Raisuli and his 700 followers succeeded in eluding capture and reached the mountains despite the elaborate plans of War Minister Gabbas to prevent their escape.

NO WOMAN CAN BE STRONG AND HEALTHY UNLESS THE KIDNEYS ARE WELL

When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble know not the misery and suffering which those afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills

are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by healing the delicate membranes of the kidneys and thus make their action regular and natural.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by young and old.

Let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others, that is, cure you. Mrs. John Young, Harwood, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for some time and my back was so lame I could scarcely get around. After using two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I am completly cured. I find there is nothing like them for the cure of all kidney troubles."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

QUESTIONABLE TACTICS USED IN BASKETBALL

Fouling When the Referee is Not Looking and Other Unfair Methods of Play

Detroit, Jan. 1.—Each year more tricks are used in basketball. As the game developes the tricksters become more numerous. As it stands now basketball is just a maze of clever little inside stunts that the referee and the crowd seldom notice.

"Tricks and ruses are becoming numerous in the game of basketball," says a Chicago coach to the Daily News, "and every director who is advising his men against the use of them is hurting the chances of his team. When players can get away safely with the tricks, unseen by officials, you may count upon a successful aggregation. In the far west and eastern basketball circles guards have the habit of chasing their forwards around the floor with one hand inserted under the opponent's belt in the rear and should the basket tosser show even slight signs of the gnawing ambition to get after the sphere he is reminded of his station by a tug at the belt. When the referee looks around the forward grip has been disconnected. A former Evanston Y.M.C.A. player was possessed of a novel manner of disconcerting his opponent by using a triphammer elbow movement on that unfortunate's stomach when running about in the progress of the game. This feature of the playing style tires the one who is assigned to cover him and his career was a notably successful one.

"Imagine a stocky little runt pitted against a giant of the stockyards district. What chance has the short one against his opponent on the jump? An experienced coach will teach the stocky lad to step on his opponent's toes just an instant before they are scheduled to go up into the air on the jump. As a reality the tall one won't go up, and the gallery will give the youngster cheer after cheer for he has bested the big fellow by sheer prowess, according to the crowd's notion. In similar cases a clever chuck under the chin or a disconcerting slap in the abdomen proves as effective, when two men of unequal abilities jump for the ball. A team mate of a player handicapped by lack of hight may aid often by grabbing the man against whom his partner is jumping by the wrist on the "lee" side—that is, away from the referee. Give him an accidental shove in the back or use the Indian style of boosting your own man into the air.

"The ball may be dislodged easily from the hands of an opponent by a quick downward or upward hack at the sphere. When a forward or guard is becoming dangerous in the vicinity of the goal a leap into the air above him proves disconcerting. An unseen slap, when impossible to block your man, often accomplishes the same result—that of drawing away his eye and disconcerting him. Many of our men have formed the habit of calling upon an opponent to toss the ball behind him when he is blocked and this proves effective about once out of four times. A yell at a man free under the basket will distract his attention from tossing the goal and rattle him, the result being that he will miss the throw if he is not naturally of a sluggish temperament. Inadvertently two men of the same side will tap at the ball in a game, both grabbing it in the air perhaps, in which case an opponent may cause the calling of a foul upon that side by simply laying his hand on the sphere. This is provided for in the rules under the section on "two men of one team on the ball."

"Another one that works well under your own basket is throwing out your arms sideways, as if offering to take the ball from your teammate who is clear. Your arms, as a rule, will block off the opponents who are seeking to reach him and the effort may net him a basket. This must be done in all innocence, remember, for if a prearranged plot is suspicioned the consequences may be serious. It is well, when several of your opponents attempt to block your throw from in front to stretch the left arm stiffly out, as if poising for the toss and sweep them aside.

"When your opponent is after the ball on a dead run and you are behind him don't hesitate—unless the referee is looking—to grab his waist, or when you are in your opponent's place, stop suddenly and be knocked over. This compels the official to call a foul, and this season, with the 15-foot line, a point is almost a certainty. Supposing the guard of the opposing team is desperately attempting to reach his forward, who has taken the ball on a long pass from down the floor. It's the most simple achievement in the world for you to run in front of the guard, compelling him to stop and allowing the forward an almost free toss for the goal. Do not act as if it was intentional when you try it, for it's a clear, simple foul to block a man.

PACKENHAM WAS A LACROSSE PLAYER

And Helped Port Perry Team to Trim Uxbridge in the Long Ago

(Uxbridge Journal.)

Dr. Wm. Pakenham, the newly-appointed dean of the faculty of education of Toronto University, formerly lived at Peterborough, and was an active participant in the sports of the town. He was one of the Peterborough boys brought in by the Scugogers to help them beat at lacrosse in the memorable game of lacrosse at Port Perry the year of the County League. Uxbridge trimmed Port 4 to 1, but it wasn't "Big" Pakenham's fault. He played a useful game at point or cover, but was a shade too slow for the speedy Uxbridge home. Some of our readers may remember the triumphal procession home from Port Perry, the wait at Epsom for the band that was slow in coming, and the tour about town when the boys arrived. I remember best the snatch of song with which they regaled us as they rode through the streets:—

We have been to Port to-day;
Ta-ra ra-ra boom de-ay!
And we trimmed them, so they say;
Ta-ra ra-ra boom de-ay!
Beulah! Beulah! Gorador!
Uxbridge, Uxbridge, one to four;
Ta-ra ra-ra boom de-ay!
Ta-ra ra-ra boom de-ay!

WRESTLING BOUT WAS WON BY BEST

Brother of Two Well Known Local Athletes Won Wrestling Bout In Winnipeg

The Best family is athletically inclined. Ray has recently achieved considerable notoriety as a foot runner, and Ernie's lacrosse and basketball propensities are well known. Now it appears that their younger brother is something of a wrestler. The Winnipeg Free Press of recent date, referring to the New Years day sports in connection with the Y. M. C. A., says:—

"An event which created great enthusiasm was a wrestling bout between Best and White. The first heat was a draw, Best securing the second in 31-2 minutes, and also the third in 23 seconds.

HOCKEY

The Peterborough hockey club seems to be travelling in hard luck these days as far as players are concerned. First Ernie Wasson had his collar bone broken in Friday night's game and now Chris Graham is laid up with an injured knee, which may keep him out of the game with Kingston on Friday night, although it is hoped that he may be able to figure on the line-up on that occasion.

• • • •

The Toronto senior O.H.A. team do not seem to be cutting much ice in the struggle this year. Kingston and Guelph cleaned up the Argos and St. Georges on Friday night and Midland trimmed the Marlboros on Saturday night by 9 goals to three in easy fashion.

• • • •

Berlin plays in Stratford to-morrow night and the result practically decides who will win that section of the O.H.A. senior series. The indications point to the Dutch Companes as the soft ice will interfere with the fast and light Stratford team.

• • • •

The Lakefield team will make their first appearance of the season here in an exhibition game on Thursday night when they clash with the Orphans. The Cementville team promises to make things decidedly interesting for the other City League outfits this season, as most of their last year's team are still in the game and going faster than ever.

• • • •

The games in the City League this week are between the Lakefields and Orphans and the Auburns and High Lifes.

• • • •

The Auburns of the City League had a rattling practice on Saturday night when nearly a score of men were out in uniform.

• • • •

The local O.H.A. season will open on Friday night next, when the 14th Regiment team of Kingston, will meet the locals in what should prove one of the best games of the season. The soldier boys have a star team, composed of men who have already made a name for themselves in the hockey world and who promise to make things decidedly interesting. The locals will be in good shape, however, and the contest will be worth going miles to see.

• • • •

There will be no practice of the Peterborough team to-night, owing to the condition of the ice. It is hoped that cold weather will come in time to allow the boys to get into shape for the big game on Friday night.

CURLING

The ice at the curling rink is not of the best on account of the long spell of mild weather. The point games on this account have not yet been begun. On Saturday night only one game was played resulting in a win for R. M. Waddell against Talbot by 17 points to 14.

PREPARATIONS FOR BIG SPECTACLE UNDER WAY

Mr. Booth, of Boston, Has Arrived in the City to Take Charge of Rehearsals

Preparations for the big musical spectacle which will be held under the auspices of the Band of the 57th Regiment are already under way, and the affair promises to be the musical event of the season. Mr. Booth, of Boston, who will have charge of the rehearsal, has arrived in the city and will commence his work to-day. The presentation will take place at the last of the month and a very large caste is being secured.

MR. A. MOORE BOOKED FOR THIS WEEK'S ENGAGEMENTS

Social Events at Which He Will Act as Master of Ceremonies in Harwood, Hastings and Peterborough

This week promises to be a busy one for Mr. A. Moore, so far as social events are concerned. Tomorrow night he is to attend the annual ball at Harwood, given by Mr. D. Corkery, of the Lakeview House. This is one of the most popular events of the winter season in that vicinity, and has usually been a great success. Besides, people from the neighbouring points, there is generally a number present from Peterborough, and if the weather conditions are at all favourable to-morrow there should be a contingent from here.

On Wednesday night Mr. Moore will also officiate in his capacity of master of ceremonies at an "at home" in Hastings, given by the members of the Catholic Order of Foresters of that place. This is also a very popular social event and is attracting more than usual interest in Hastings.

On Friday night of this week the Monaghan Club will give a ball in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street. Some time ago this club held a similar event which proved a great success. At Hastings, and on Friday night, the Wilson Orchestra will provide the necessary music.

THE INSTITUTE MEETINGS WERE SUCCESSFUL

Interesting Gatherings at Selwyn, Lakehurst and Buckhorn

The Supplementary Meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, on Friday and Saturday, were well attended and most successful. The topics taken up were apparently most interesting to the farmers, judging by the discussion which followed each paper.

On Friday afternoon a meeting was held in the town hall at Lakehurst, where Messrs. Annis of Scarboro, and Zufeldt of Chestervilbe, gave instructive addresses.

On Friday night the delegates were at the Orange Hall, Buckhorn.

On Saturday afternoon there was a very successful meeting in the Selwyn town hall.

To-morrow the series will be continued with afternoon and evening meetings at Ennismore.

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Jan. 8.—Irregularity was prominent in the stock market to-day after a morning exhibition of strength on which realizing occurred, followed by bearish operation in view of the rapid recovery against the shortage, which was of course, eliminated to some extent, but was partly substituted by outside purchasing. This later power was great, however, nor is it likely to be extensive until a broader market is established.

The Steel stocks were the feature, with the preferred up a couple of points and the common making a new high record. Penna., N.Y.C., Atchison, Colo. Fuel and B.R.T. were put higher on what seemed to be good buying. In the afternoon selling of Union Pac., St. Paul, and Copper checked the advancing tendency. The close was irregular and a trifle heavy.

ALLIANCE FORMED!

Messrs. McDermid & Jury, Our Leading Druggists

MAKES ARRANGEMENTS WITH LARGE BOSTON HOUSE

Their Object is to Produce a Valuable Remedy, in a Form That Can be Easily Taken, but Heretofore Impractical—From Now On This New Preparation of An Old Medicine Will Become an Indispensable Auxiliary to the Medical Profession

Enterprise is one of the virtues of druggists McDermid & Jury. Often have they demonstrated their ability to not only keep pace with, but to keep ahead of, the times. Many times have the people of our city had occasion to be proud of the way these prominent druggists have shown themselves to be among the foremost in the country in adopting the latest scientific and chemical discoveries.

Even in this age of progress, the advance in pharmaceutical development has been at times almost of a sensational nature. The druggist or chemist who has not had push and enterprise has soon become a back number, and can be found today running a small store, the appearance of which, devoid of any signs of modernism, is familiar to all.

It has always been McDermid & Jury's ambition to connect themselves with some discovery that would not only be a source of profit to themselves, but the means of accomplishing good to others. With this end in view, it is not strange that McDermid & Jury, in their profession, should have been led to think seriously concerning the use of cod liver oil. They, like hundreds of other druggists, have sold vast quantities of this valuable, but nauseating remedy.

Into their ears has been poured many a tale of woe, by sufferers who would beg them to advise some way they might take the medicine prescribed for them, and many attempts have they made in the past to enable a patient to take this remedy, knowing well that could they succeed in doing so, they would be instrumental in restoring health—and in many cases even in saving life.

They were obliged to give up attaining the desired end, of disguising the taste of this obnoxious, greasy medicine, as many others have had to before them. They found it was not a very difficult matter to fool the palate, but they could not fool the patient's stomach. Even when the oil has been made tasteless by being administered in capsules of other forms, the stomach would rebel and promptly eject it.

Right at this stage of the game, McDermid & Jury learned of an important discovery made by two eminent French chemists, whose secret has been bought by a large Boston house. With characteristic enterprise, McDermid & Jury connected themselves with them, and succeeded in making arrangements with them to directly handle this new discovery.

We now have at last, right here in town, a preparation that contains all the curative principles which have given the cod's liver its great reputation as a remedy for wasting diseases. Now, these sought-for principles are in a concentrated form, free from the nauseating, greasy matter that characterizes cod liver oil as we have known it. This extract is put up in a most palatable and delicious form, so that it can be taken by any one, with the most delicate and sensitive stomach. It is positively free from any objectionable odour, taste, or any of the other disagreeable features that have always attended cod liver oil.

McDermid & Jury will gladly tell any one who will call on them, all about the discovery. They are so pleased in regard to the matter that they want every one to know about it. Above all, they wish it to be positively understood that this new preparation is not a patent medicine. They will tell you everything in it and explain to you how scholars have devoted their lives and capitalists their money, in procuring this product to which has been given the name of Vinol—the cod liver preparation without oil.

We think right here it would be a good plan for any one who is so unfortunate as to feel it necessary for their health to take cod liver oil, to hear what McDermid & Jury have to say on the subject. What they will tell you will cost nothing. What you will learn you can safely assert will prove of the greatest value to you.

A PENNSYLVANIA MAN'S EFFORTS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I enclose you an item that I would thank you to publish, showing the stringent views that exist in parts of the United States against profane and vulgar language, but the difficulty is in many cases the laws are made but are not carried out, if they were strictly enforced at the proper time the flow of profanity and other bad language that exists at the present time would not occur. Every city in America in defense of decency and clean speech are now up against a problem, how to get rid of it and wipe it out. People can scarcely imagine how so much vile and bad language could have spread amongst the people throughout the country in the way it is used at the present time. I see by the paragraph enclosed that a fine of one hundred dollars is imposed upon any one speaking profanely and taking the Almighty's name in vain. I think if the law that exists here was enforced for the same offense there would be need to secure all the available buildings to make prisons to accommodate the offenders, and the same state of things exists throughout the whole American continent. We know that it is a habit with many people, and a bad one, and should be very easily discarded by the better class of people when they know the evil it is doing, and how it is spreading amongst the small boys. Some people seem to use an oath every time they breathe and do not realize they are swearing, as it seems to become second nature to them. I was talking with a gentleman who formerly belonged to England, where profanity is practically unknown, he stated that in that country any man heard taking the Almighty's name in vain in the way it is done here would be considered a cad, and would not be recognized by respectable people, or it would only be amongst the very lowest classes that you would hear such. There is no argument in favour of profane and vulgar language, and every one with a sense of respectability should take this into consideration.

Yours truly,
G. WRIGHT.

The following is the item from Hazelton, Pa., Sentenal:—

The use of profane words seem to grow, particularly so among the youths of the different towns. It is a vile habit that grows upon them, but the surprising thing is they use it more when in company with youths of their own age, evidently having it in mind that they cannot be manly without resorting to profanity. There is a strict law against profanity—one that is not generally known, which is as follows:—

"If any person shall wilfully, premeditatedly, and despitefully blaspheme or speak loosely and profanely of Almighty God, Christ Jesus, the Holy Spirit, or the Scriptures of Truth—such person on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and undergo an imprisonment not exceeding three months, or either at the discretion of the court.—Act of March 31, 1860.

That would indicate that all vile oaths we must hear daily are as illegal as they are ugly.

Pills and Piles.

A prolific cause of Piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature, which is always followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of Piles, Mr. Leonhardt's Hem-Rold can be relied upon to cure—to stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Suppurating Piles.

WILL ORGANIZE NEW CHURCH IN PICTON

Rev. A. H. Brace Will Go to That Town for the Purpose in the Near Future

The first Sunday in the year was a busy day at the Park Street Baptist Church, the morning session lasting till 1 o'clock. At the close of the sermon, reports on the candidates for baptism were received. This was followed by the reading of the church covenant, all the membership standing. Then came the Communion, a very large representation of the membership being present. At its close, delegates were appointed to accompany the pastor to Picton for the ordination of a pastor.

In the afternoon the classes were well filled, and at the close of the session the Mission Band met and elected officers for the year.

The evening service was one of power and much blessing.

The week of prayer will be daily observed, and an address will be given each evening, introducing the subject.

MUCH INTEREST BEING DISPLAYED IN LECTURE

Rev. Father McColl Will Speak on the "Religious Crisis in France"

Much interest is being displayed in the lecture to be given by Rev. Father McColl to-morrow night on "The Religious Crisis in France," and no doubt the Grand Opera House will contain a large audience. The chair will be occupied by Rev. Dr. Torrance, D.D., of St. Paul's Church. The lecture will be preceded by a musical programme, in which the following artists will appear: Miss Davies, Mr. Will Denham, Mr. Firth and Messrs. Mendel and Clarke. Mr. Firth will sing "Mona." Mr. R. J. Devey, of St. John's Church, will play the accompaniment.

NOT A SUBSTITUTE; BUT A HELP TO THE CHURCH

This is the Function of the Y. M. C. A.—An Interesting Meeting of Men Was Held Yesterday Afternoon

CANON DAVIDSON GAVE THE ADDRESS

Yesterday's Men's Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. was one of the largest of the season. It was one of special interest because the subject was "A Message for 1907," given by Rev. Canon Davidson, his deliverance coming with particular fitness because he is president of the Ministerial Association of the city.

Before the address the boys' choir of St. John's Church, under the leadership of Prof. Devey, sang two selections, which were greatly appreciated, the boys' voices blending well together.

Rev. Canon Davidson then gave his address, which was a most practical one. He said that there was a growing tendency to-day to regard the services of the church as a matter of entertainment. Ministers were messengers from God. His message, in a word, was "Use what advantages and privileges you have to make the most of life.

The speaker then urged young men to use the Y. M. C. A. for all it was worth. The different branches of the church in Peterborough endorsed the Y. M. C. A. most strongly. Then it should not be misused. It was no substitute for the church, but a help to it—a branch of it.

Men should use the church. The church is not a close corporation, but a great school of character.

It taught the greatest art of all the arts, of living. One should yield his powers to its influences.

Family relationships were then emphasized.

The speaker, before closing, dealt with a man's relationship to the city in which he lived. We do not connect religion and citizenship enough.

Every man should exercise his franchise and do his utmost for the city in which he lived. Municipal officers should have more encouragement than they often received.

In closing, the speaker referred to the great love of God and the salvation of Jesus Christ for all men.

POLITE ATTENTION — PROMPT DELIVERY

AN ASSOCIATION OF DAIRYMEN WAS FORMED

Mr. G. A. Gillespie Took Part in Organization Meeting of Ontario, Victoria and Haliburton Association

MANY ADDRESSES WERE DELIVERED

On Saturday an important meeting was held in Lindsay, when in the Council Chamber the butter and cheese makers of Ontario, Victoria and Haliburton counties met and, after a number of interesting addresses on dairy topics formed an association, which will be known as the Ontario, Victoria and Haliburton Dairy Association.

Mr. Wm. Newman, of Lorneville, was chairman of the meeting and Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of Peterborough, acted as secretary.

In opening the meeting Mr. Newman explained that the meeting was called for the purpose of considering the cost of manufacturing and other important matters in connection with the dairy business.

The meeting was opened to discussion on the care of cream and manufacturing of butter.

At 12 o'clock the meeting adjourned for noon.

The afternoon meeting opened at 1.30 with a good attendance of both cheese and butter makers. The first speaker introduced was Mr. Stonehouse, proprietor and maker of the Port Perry Creamery, and at present instructor of butter making in the Kingston Dairy School. In opening his address, the speaker said he had prepared no particular speech and would listen to discussion, but as he had some experience in dairy business as a manufacturer and promoter of creameries he would throw out a few remarks on the matter. At the annual Convention of the Eastern Dairyman Associations the manufacturing of butter was hardly touched on, but cheese has all the sway, and at these small meetings he liked to have all the discussion possible.

"The two methods now in vogue of operating creameries are the cream gathering creameries, and the whole milk system, where the milk is separated at the factory," said Mr. Stonehouse. "The former method is the one I wish to speak on while I am free to confess that better butter can be made by the latter system, but the cream gathered plan where the milk is separated at home on the farm has so many advantages that this system has come to stay and we must make the best of it and educate the Patrons to the use of the hand separator and care of cream at home. Another point I had in my mind is to give a prize to the farmer who could keep his cream in best condition for a week, then he would be sure to know how to keep it for say two or three days, this could be tried in connection with your fall exhibition. On my own monthly statements sent out to the patrons, I give hints on the care of cream. Faults in manufacture is weak body and poor flavour. The use of a cooler for cooling cream quickly after arriving at the creamery is a great benefit. Faults in boxes too light and lids should be flush with box.

Cost of Manufacturing

I am in favour of lessening the cost of manufacturing, but for the last few years I find it is increasing rapidly. Cream or milk hauling has advanced 35 per cent., supplies from 25 to 40 per cent., inexperienced held 50 per cent. Experienced only 10 per cent., cost of building 50 per cent.

To the proprietor this is discouraging as the expense of manufacturing has increased so much and the price for manufacturing has in many cases decreased."

Mr. W. Flavelle was next called on but gave up the time to Mr. Cowan (editor of the Canadian Dairyman) Mr. Cowan in opening his address said that he was pleased to meet the assembly of cheese and butter makers and would give all his help to the better organization of the cheese and butter makers. Being editor of a paper he had opportunities to get the best thoughts on dairy matters out of all the numerous dairy papers that come into the office. He was proud of the advance along the line of dairying but said that they must still push on or they would be behind. At the annual conventions a number of fine addresses were given and a lot of good work is done, but at a meeting like this where they get a good discussion on matters pertaining to the manufacture of the dairy products much good may be done. No doubt they have read the letters published lately from the different makers which are all complaining of the difficulty. They have to contend with and almost in every case talking of going out of the business. The question of sanitary inspection is also pressing the proprietor to put on improvements and to his mind they should have some protection as to the starting of opposition factories near by. Also to have an organization so that when they go to the Dairy associations for any important question they would carry some weight. He would also like to see the Eastern and Western Dairy Associations come closer together and have a joint committee as a provincial body to discuss the greater problems that are confronting us. If the proposed Dairy Show meets with success, as he felt that it will, it will be the means of centralizing these meetings and when all these meetings wherever it may be held all the other associations could hold their annual Convention. He was not in favour of a union but he was in favour of organization. The States have what they call the National Butter Makers Association. They get out their own report and it is brim full of information. The thought may come to some that there is a possibility of over organization but he did not think that so. We have the Ontario Horticultural Association. The Ontario Co-Operative Apple Growers Association and many others and they are all flourishing. New Zealand, London, Eng., and the U. S. all have a National Dairy Show and the feeling is that Canada should follow along the same line. At the Guelph Winter Fair thousands of dollars have been spent in building and prizes. Thousands of people gather there annually. The dairy interests are of as much importance as the beef interest and this should develop into a greater education than even the Show at Guelph.

The following resolution was passed at this meeting:—"That in view of the increased expense in manufacturing the price of manufacturing should be advanced on both cheese and butter.

(2) That this meeting recommend to the E. O. D. Association, which represents the beef industry, that they press for legislation giving the owners of factories the right to ask for the appointment of arbitrators to determine the damage done to their business when a factory is built in their close proximity.

(3) That this meeting is in sympathy with the movement to have cheese and butter makers placed on some legal standing.

(4) That we to-day form ourselves into an association known as the Ontario, Victoria and Haliburton Association and adopt the by-laws as read.

The officers were elected as follows:—

President—Wm. Newman, Lorneville.

Vice-President—Jas. Stonehouse, Port Perry.

Secretary-treasurer — M. J. Lewis, Lindsay.

Mr. Newman was appointed a delegate to attend the E. O. D. at Ottawa.

SAVES HIM BUT HOT WORDS COOL LOVE

A Mild Bath Cost This Young Man a Wife

Examiner Special.

Port Jervis, Jan 8. — "Sweetest," said John Betz, when he proposed marriage to Katherine Koenig two days before Christmas, "I adore you. You are the personification of all I esteem loveliest."

"What nice words you use!" said Katherine blushing, yet yielding. "I take you, John."

John sent Katherine a pair of fine skates for Christmas, and they went skating yesterday on a pond near their home, in the Beaverskill section, Sullivan County. When John broke through a thin place of ice, he cried, as the frigid water enveloped him:

"Damn it!"

Katherine was shocked, but brave and loving. She threw and end of her stout woollen muffler to John and yanked on the other end. Each time John's head appeared and his numb fingers grasped at the thicker ice, he chattered:

"D-d-damn it!"

At last the heroic girl's efforts were rewarded: John stretched on firm ice, and, partly recovering, said:

"Dearest, you have saved me. My life's devotion—"

"That will do, John," said Miss Katherine, disenchanted. "I will not have you. I do not like the way you talk. Every bubble that came up said 'damn.'"

G.T.R. SIDING BEING CONSTRUCTED IN OTONABEE

In Preparation for the Hauling of Blue Clay for Lakefield Cement Company

OVER 200 ACRES OF LAND PURCHASED

The Lakefield Cement Company, are rapidly pushing forward the construction of the sidings into their new properties, recently acquired in Otonabee. The company, through Mr. A. A. Hagerman, of Owen Sound, their manager, has been in the section near Drummond's station for some time, have purchased three properties there. Two of these were the entire Drummond and Jas. Franks farm, while the other was a swamp, consisting of 29 1-2 acres, which belonged to Jas. Cooney.

The company now owns 229 1-2 acres of land in Otonabee, and of this about 65 acres are of the very best for the purposes of obtaining the blue clay so necessary for the manufacture of cement. This amount will probably be sufficient to carry on the work for half a century to come.

For the past number of years the Cement Company obtained their clay from Ely Lake, in Smith township, but it has almost run out in that section, so that it became necessary to look for it from other quarters.

As the Grand Trunk runs through Drummond the siding which has to be constructed will be short. About 700 feet of permanent track is all that is necessary, while there will be also about 1400 feet which will have to be moved as the clay beside it becomes exhausted. The work was begun about the middle of the last month but on account of the prevailing unseasonable weather, the work is now practically at a standstill.

Mr. Hagerman, who is managing the work, states that it will be completed in time to begin operations, as soon as the frost disappears. At present the big dipper to dig the clay is being taken to Drummond station and will soon be installed.

EXPECTS TO GET RICH SELLING GRASSHOPPERS

Ludgate Laid in 75,000 Last Fall and Will Dispose of Them for Bait

Examiner Special.

Lee, Me., Jan. 8.—What he believes to be a new road to riches has been discovered by James Ludgate, a farmer living north of here. If it does not pan out Mr. Ludgate will be extremely disappointed, particularly as the experiment has already cost him $14.

Last spring a city boarder, who had come here trout fishing, declared that if he could only get some grasshoppers he would be willing to pay liberally for them, as he believed they would prove great bait along the trout streams. He pointed out the fact that trout could always obtain plenty of worms and flies when the season opened, but that they had to wait until August for grasshoppers. He would be willing to pay two cents each for some, and he knew scores of other fishermen who would give as much, he said.

This set Mr. Ludgate to thinking, and when grasshopper time came he hired all the boys in the neighbourhood to catch the insects at the rate of one cent for fifty. He sent his own children out in the fields, and when the crop had been gathered he possessed about 75,000 hoppers of all kinds, ages and sizes. As fast as the insects were taken they were placed in sacorn crib, which had been made air-tight by pasting paper over the cracks. The crib was then filled with hay and banked with leaves to keep it warm within.

Thus far during the winter the grasshoppers have stood the cold, and Mr. Ludgate sees no reason why he should lose more than 10 per cent. by spring. Having little else to do he is now making boxes in which to ship the insects when the fishermen want them. If he can get two cents each for the hoppers he will make about $1,200 for his pains.

ENTERPRISE OF THE ROY STUDIO EVIDENT

Within Ten Minutes of Announcement of Result of Voting Picture of 1907 Council Was on View

An evidense of the enterprise of the proprietor of the Roy Studio was furnished last night, when within ten minutes of the announcement of the result of the vote for aldermen, a group picture of the 1907 council was placed in the show window. This stroke of enterprise is but another indication of the already well established progressiveness for which this studio and its proprietor are noted.

THIS CITY FINDS ITSELF OVERSTOCKED WITH CASH

Money in Crystal Falls Treasury is Becoming a Drug

Examiner Special.

Crystal Falls, Mich., January 8.—Crystal Falls is growing so fast in the upper peninsula, for the latter have a hard time making both ends meet, and they often borrow money to tide the municipality over until the annual collections have been made.

Crystal Falls city is so loaded with money that the surplus funds are becoming a veritable nuisance, and the council has decided to invest $10,000 of the money, putting it into circulation instead of allowing it to lie idle in the hands of the treasurer.

The annual report of the treasurer showed a balance on hand of about $13,000 over and above all outstanding orders. As the time for the collection of taxes is at hand the funds in hand will be increased very shortly by another $10,000.

The sewer work is all paid for and the suspension of operations has eliminated the demand for money from that source until next spring. The treasurer has been instructed to place the money at interest wherever the best rate can be secured.

WOULD PICK WIFE BY LIVE STOCK STANDARDS

Iowa Man's Peculiar Idea About the Best Method of Selecting a Helpmate

Examiner Special.

Mount Pleasant, Ia., January 8.—"Trial marriages may be all right for some people but if I was to get spliced it would be to a woman who had taken a course in domestic science, and I want her chosen by a committee of stockmen, for I do not believe in love matches, but that a man should select a wife just as he would a Hereford, a Durham or a Duroc".

Sylvester Jones of this place told this at the session of the Southern Iowa short course in agriculture. In a long speech he named three stockmen to judge any girl from the domestic science class who would become a candidate. These judges are: John C. Abreham, and William A. Harshbarger. Jones has chosen the Rev. Frank Britton to tie the knot. He also wants a marriage contract.

Jones is an eccentric character, 35 years old. He says that his parents and relatives have been trying to persuade him to marry, but he has not felt like it until now.

"Such a method would ultimately do away with all divorces," he clared. "for judges would decide on the fitness of the couple for each other. Trial marriages are no good. They may be of some use if the old method of marriage is kept up, but with disinterested judges, such as I propose, all this would be overcome."

Jones expressed himself as highly in favour of a medical examination and declared that there should be a State and national law providing for it.

"Is there any particular young lady in the domestic science class whom you would prefer?" he was asked. With a sheepish grin, he said, "He could not say as to that."

Severe Form of Asthma
"I first used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with my little girl, who suffered from a severe form of asthma. The least exposure of cold would lay her up, and she would nearly suffocate for want of breath. I must say that I found it to be a most satisfactory treatment and it has entirely cured her."—Mrs A. A. VanBuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B.

TWO MEN ARE KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Six Injured in Wreck of Transcontinental Express.

WRECK DUE TO BROKEN RAIL

Mail Car and Five Coaches Following Thrown Off the Track and Several of Them Ditched — Report From Fort William Says Whole Train May Be In River Which Is Very Close to the Track.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—The Transcontinental express, which left here on Saturday evening for the east, was wrecked yesterday afternoon at 3.30, one-half mile west of Kaministiquia, a station on the C. P. R. 25 miles west of Fort William. Two men were killed and six injured. The wreck was due to a broken rail, which threw the mail car and five of the coaches following off the track. Several of them rolled into the ditch. The dining car and sleepers kept the rails.

The Killed.

H. Smith, dining car waiter, Montreal.

M. Campbell, dining car waiter, Montreal.

The Injured.

Lewis Konar, employe, Montreal, cut about the head.

A. M. Ferguson, Winnipeg, mail clerk, head and shoulders cut.

G. B. Keyes, Owen Sound, shoulder hurt.

W. Marstland, Northampton, Eng., left arm and hand cut.

H. Thompson, Sheffield, England, head cut.

R. Barber, London, England, shoulder and head cut and bruised.

The injured were removed to Fort William Hospital.

Train May Be In Ditch.

A Fort William despatch says:—Train No. 2 of the C. P. R. was derailed one mile west of Kaministiquia station yesterday morning, the wreck being caused by a broken wheel on one of the express cars. Reports received here state that the whole train is in the ditch, and may be in the river, as the track is very close to the water there. It is also reported that two of the first-class coaches are a total wreck, and that four persons are dead and about thirty seriously injured. A wrecking train has gone out with a hospital outfit, but is not yet back. All the available doctors were taken to the scene of the disaster, and another train was leaving last night with further medical help from Port Arthur.

Killed by a Falling Brick.

Belleville, Jan. 7.—Shortly before noon Saturday, two men, Lewis Bolyea and George Perry, were poking round under the main porch of the ruins of the Hotel Quinte, which was burned Friday night. The men were warned that they were in a dangerous position, but paid no attention. Some bricks fell from the ruins and Perry was struck on top of the head and knocked senseless. He was taken to the hospital, where he died later in the evening. His skull had been fractured. He was about 55 years of age.

Encircled by Molten Iron.

Buffalo, Jan. 7.—With the flesh burning off his back, exposing the spine, and scarcely a shred left on his arm, Thomas Friend, head roller at the Lackawanna Steel plant, lies dying at the Moses Taylor Hospital. Friend was standing in position at one of the mills where the molten metal was being transformed into rails when a large piece of it shot out of the machine and wound around him like coils of a huge serpent. When a crane lifted the mass of metal from the floor, Friend slid from the centre still alive, but horribly burned.

BLACKMORE'S SUICIDE.

Young Englishman Jumps In Front of Train and is Badly Mangled.

North Bay, Jan. 7.—Harold Blackmore, 22 years old, out from England two years, committed suicide at Sturgeon Falls Saturday night by jumping in front of the Winnipeg express. The body was badly mangled, the head and one leg being severed from the body.

Blackmore's parents died in England about one year ago, leaving him $60,000, which he quickly got rid of, and lately he has been penniless, selling everything of value.

He will be buried in Sturgeon Falls at the expense of English relatives, who were apprised by cable.

Tired of Life.

St. John's, Que., Jan. 7.—An unknown man was found dead in the Union Hotel Saturday noon. He arrived at the hotel Thursday morning and engaged a room, saying that he wished to go to bed. There is no register in the hotel. On his grip are marked the initials "W.J. GH." On arriving at the hotel he said he had come from Winnipeg and had not slept at all on the way east. In his dairy was written that he is "tired of life."

THE BARONESS' FUNERAL.

Cortege Simple, Though State and People Paid Highest Tribute.

London, Jan. 7.—In the presence of a congregation representative of all classes, the body of Baroness Burdett-Coutts was interred in Westminster Abbey Saturday. The Abbey was crowded.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra and the Prince and Princess of Wales sent representatives, as did the workers in the slums of London, whose societies have been beneficiaries of the late baroness' charity. The American charge d'affaires, Mr. Carter, represented the American embassy, and the lord mayor and corporation attended in state.

The streets along the route of the procession and about the Abbey were lined with spectators, who included many of the poorest inhabitants of the east end. There were numerous signs of mourning in the streets, the flags over public buildings were half-masted, and the window shades along the route were drawn.

The funeral cortege itself was simple, the coffin being undraped, except for a little bunch of sweet-scented herbs, which were greatly favored by the baroness.

There were no plumes on the hearse, which was an open one, and it was only followed by half a dozen carriages containing relatives and close personal friends.

BITTER ON HILL AND RAILWAYS.

Shippers Decide to Go to Roosevelt For Special Legislation.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Gigantic shipping interests, through representatives in session in Chicago, took radical action Saturday, aiming to relieve the traffic congestion and car shortage which prevails throughout the western country.

After hearing a bitter and specific arraignment of James J. Hill and his railroads, the national reciprocal demurrage convention appointed a committee to go to Washington and appeal to President Roosevelt to send a special message to Congress at once, asking demurrage legislation.

The committee, of which Victor F. Beckman, secretary of the Pacific Coast Lumber Dealers' Association, is chairman, met at the Auditorium Annex, and decided to start for the national capital at once.

Mr. Beckman, in his speech, denounced the Hill railroads for failure to provide adequate facilities for handling their traffic, and said the association which he represents intends to bring suit to have the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific thrown into the hands of receivers. His association will also start 1,000 suits against these two railroads for damages aggregating $15,000,000.

LAKE ERIE TO BE DAMMED.

International Waterways Commission to Take It Up Soon.

Buffalo, Jan. 7.—Having disposed of the Chicago drainage canal question, and the international boundary line on Lake Erie, the international waterways commission will next take up the old question of damming the lower end of Lake Erie, so as to raise the level of the lake.

Lake marine interests have been urging the matter for a long time, and it is understood that the commission at its last session decided to take up the problem next month.

While no definite plan has been submitted to the commission, the general scheme in view is to build a great dam, or regulating work at the lower end of Lake Erie, or somewhere in the Niagara River.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

New Changes Are Rung on All White Frocks—Schoolgirl's Ulster.

Instead of the all white frock many of the lace and chiffon dresses are made with little boleros of bright colored silk or satin, from which long vest ends hang to the knee of the skirt. When desired the gown may be finished complete without this little bolero.

Black evening gowns will be invariably trimmed with jet and sequins, the somber effect being relieved by a narrow lace or tulle tucker around the decollete, while the sash is carried out in black panne with heavy jet tassels.

Braiding is to take the place of embroideries on street costumes. On many of the handsome silk and cloth jackets there is a combination of braid work and embroidery that is most attractive.

For wear with tailor made clothes the plaid silk skirt is very popular finished with self trimmings. For elaborate street gowns the plaid silk skirts are trimmed with plain silk, lace braid work and embroidery.

All dark waists should have a touch of white at the collar and cuffs. Short sleeves render the white cuff unnecessary, but white at the throat is obligatory.

Very smart is the hat pictured. It suggests Scotland both in the plaited tam that decorate the upturned brim and the scarf of plaid silk encircling the crown. Quills and choux of velvet build up the back.

Furs For Schoolgirls—Yellow Evening Gowns Latest Fancy.

The ideal furs for schoolgirls are ermine, beaver, black or gray astrakhan, squirrel and otter. Long haired furs are never suitable and also have an untidy appearance when the hair is worn hanging down the back. The fur should be introduced in the form of trimming on a coat rather than as a separate accessory, and when worn with muff and cap to match it has a particularly neat appearance.

DAINTY FRENCH STOCKS

Yellow evening gowns are very smart this winter, but one must be careful how she wears this color, as a shade too light or dark has been known to ruin an otherwise charming toilet. There is an enormous range of tones from which to select, grading from pale primrose to deep orange.

Most of the expensive hats depend almost solely upon their attractive shape and handsome material for their chic effect.

New Version of An Old Adage

Do You Eat For Mere Stimulation Or For Real Nutrition?

In matters of money, there is an old adage that says, "It's not so much what you earn as what you save," and just so, in the question of food and health, it might be said as truly, "It's not so much what you eat as what real nourishment you get out of what you eat."

This is the secret of health, strength and vitality. No difference how much nutrition your food contains, if your system does not assimilate that nutrition—take it up and distribute it throughout your body—you gain nothing beyond a temporary stimulation by having eaten it.

Malta-Vita, best whole white wheat, mixed with pure barley malt extract, thoroughly steamed and cooked and every flake baked to a crisp, is rich in nutrition and is assimilated readily even by the weakest stomach. Every one of its health-giving, strength-building elements is taken up by the system to nourish and sustain life.

And Malta-Vita is so good to eat! A perfect breakfast is impossible without it, and it's just as good three times a day. Try a bowlful with cream. You never tasted anything so good.

Malta-Vita is always ready to eat. No cooking, no inconvenience. All grocers. Now 10 cents.

yokes, collars and cuffs are mighty useful and serviceable affairs to own. A waist of this kind may be worn separately or will do duty for a bretelle frock of the "jumper" variety.

One of the prettiest little pattern frocks shown to dressmakers lately has a little fichu with shoulder bretelles attached, which is made to cross over and fasten under a buckle at the back, with ends sticking down below the waist line. This is made with two straight pieces, which are laid in plaits surplice fashion, the bretelles being cut all in one piece and a narrower extension being put on the surplice ends in front, so they girdle the waist like a belt. Buckles may be added to cover these points and to match the buckle in the back.

Very French are the model stocks sent over from Paris. In the shops these neck pieces are very expensive, as the work is all done by hand, but to the woman handy with her needle they are easily made. The illustration will aid in their manufacture.

IN FASHION LAND.

HOW TO DRESS WELL ON A SMALL ALLOWANCE.

Don't Spend Money on a Lot of Cheap Trimmings—Put It In Good Material and In the Details of the Costume. Select Smart and Becoming Colors.

One well dressed girl boasts in the following manner of her achievements in selecting a wardrobe:

Instead of spending money on a lot of gingerbread trimmings she puts it all in on the quality of the material, reserving just enough for the lining, etc.

"When the time of the year approaches for a new dress I look in the windows of the best shops in town and get my ideas of what will be the prevailing fashion of the approaching season. I always select the style that is simple in outline and general appearance. Five yards of double width material are sufficient to make a dress of this description for a woman of average figure.

PRUNE CLOTH SUIT.

"After selecting the style of dress that I wish to make I note the materials that are being shown by the first class houses, for it is my experience that best results can be obtained by shopping in the best stores. Some seasons, especially in the spring, the prettiest lightweight dress goods can be obtained for 50 cents a yard. Of course at that rate the rest is easy, for three yards of silk at 75 cents a yard will line the jacket. In winter it is more difficult to get really desirable dress goods for less than $1 a yard, but I never pay more than that.

"The secret of my good appearance is that I am very particular about the details in the making up of the costume. I get a pattern from a reliable magazine, and then with exact care I cut and fit my dress. I rely entirely on the perfect cut and fit of my gown to give it style. I spend little or nothing on trimmings.

"I give great care to the accessories of my costume. My gloves, shoes and hat are selected to harmonize with my dress. The cost of them is given as much consideration as the gown itself.

"You can depend upon it that many or my dresses are turned or portions of them used in the making up of others.

"Every woman should know what is particularly becoming to her, both in style and color of dress, and should never rush, as so many do, after a new find, for that in itself is fatal to dressing well on little money."

SILK BLOUSE.

The suit illustrated is a simple but smart model carried out in prune cloth. The skirt is plaited in groups and the hip length jacket is trimmed with black braid and fancy buttons. The blouse pictured is of silvery gray soft silk. A gray braid threaded with silver outlines the surpliced fronts and trims the sleeves. The chemisette and undersleeves are of gray lace and the bracelets and girdle of velvet a shade darker than the silk.

A CURIOUS WILL.

It Was Made By An Insane Lawyer Who Died Penniless.

Several years ago Charles Lounsberry, a Chicago lawyer, who at one time ranked high in his profession, died an insane patient in the Cook county asylum at Dunning. Although this man died absolutely destitute and penniless, he left a "will." This will was duly sent to the probate court; but, there being nothing to probate, the document was merely placed on file. This peculiar will read in part as follows:

"I, Charles Lounsberry, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make and publish this, my last will and testament, in order as justly may be to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding men.

"That part of my interest which is known in law and recognized in the sheep bound volumes as my property being inconsiderable and of none account, I make no disposition of in this, my will. My right to live, being but a life estate, is not at my disposal; but, these things excepted, all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath.

"Item: I give to good fathers and mothers in trust for their children all good little words of praise and encouragement and all quaint pet names and endearments, and I charge said parents to use them justly but generously as the needs of their children shall require.

"Item: I leave to children inclusively, but only for the term of their childhood, all and every the flowers of the fields and the blossoms of the woods, with the right to play among them freely according to the customs of children, warning them at the same time against thistles and thorns. And I devise to children the banks of the brooks and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof and the odors of the willows that dip therein and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees.

"Item: To lovers I devise their imaginary world with whatever they may need, as the stars of the sky, the red roses by the wall, the bloom of the hawthorn, the sweet strains of music and aught else they may desire to figure to each other the lastingness and beauty of their love.

"Item: And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers I leave memory, and I bequeath to them the volumes of the poems of Burns and Shakespeare and of other poems, if there be others, to the end that they may live the old days over again freely and fully without title or diminution.

"Item: To our loved ones with snowy crows I bequeath the happiness of old age, the love and gratitude of their children, until they fall asleep."

The Modern Percheron.

The modern Percheron stands sixteen hands high and over, weighs from 1,700 to 2,200 pounds and is white, gray or black in color. He has an intelligent head of a type peculiar to the breed, rather small ears and eyes, short, strongly muscled neck; a plump, rotund body; strong back, heavy quarters and somewhat drooping croup. He usually is low down and blocky, on short, clean legs, devoid of feather, and has well shaped, sound hoofs.—A. S. Alexander in American Cultivator.

FASHION FRILLS.

A Motor Luxury—The Craze For Yellow Has Invaded Leather Goods.

A novelty this season is the cloth collar. It is in colors to match some thread in the coat.

The Parisienne has a long handled jeweled comb, which she carries in her hand to lift up puffs and rearrange curls that have become disarranged on the motor journey.

A pinafore blouse trimmed with dark green velvet is a pretty one for a green and blue plaid suit which has a simple skirt made with slot seams. A green velvet girdle and ecru chemisette finish the suit.

The craze for yellow which is so prominent in the dressmaking world has invaded the leather goods department. Jewel cases, bags and boxes for handkerchiefs and gloves and other useful things are seen in dull, soft yellow suede that looks almost like chamois. These articles are unadorned except by the necessary clasps.

SUIT OF HUNTER'S GREEN.

A stunning coat from Paris is of baby lamb. It fits closely to the figure and has a short basque. The deep turned back cuffs are embroidered in what the French embroiderers call clair de lune silvery threads, and there are a little vest of black velvet and a collar of ermine.

The suit seen in the cut is of hunter's green cloth. The skirt is finely plaited and trimmed at the bottom with velvet ribbon, which runs up into a panel at one side. The short waisted coat is plaited from a strapped yoke. The buttons are of green velvet, set in dull silver rims.

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Modified Norfolk Jacket Revived. New Coiffures Full and Round.

The Norfolk jacket in a modified form is prominent among the rough and ready suits of the fall.

Tremendously waved are the newest coiffures, the hair fluffed out around the face and the line of crimp at the sides arranged so that the little French twist at the back, starting just above the nape of the neck, does not break the effect. The waving is a broad rather than a narrow line, giving a very natural look, and the French twist is decidedly piquant.

GIRL'S WINTER FROCK.

A strenuous vogue for plaid and Persian taffetas is threatened. These silks come double width and in a large range of combinations. Both crisp and soft finishes are shown, and the choice lies entirely with the individual. With silver gray or gray and black for the predominating tones, jacquard or Persian stripe effects loom up in brilliant colors, with plaids introduced in the same way.

The frock sketched is designed for girls between the ages of eight and fifteen. The skirt and blouse are laid in stitched plaits, and the guimpe and deep cuffs are of tucked silk. Heavy lace is inset in the shoulder collar.

Handsome Ostrich Feathers Trim Modish Hats—Bronze Slippers.

There is no smarter trimming on a hat than a handsome ostrich feather. It is equally at home on a picture hat and a small toque. Some women grumble because their ostrich feathers so soon get out of curl, but if shaken a few minutes before a fire they curl again as well as on the day they were bought. The season's ostrich feathers are not much curled.

Bronze slippers and silk stockings are quite the latest bit of smartness for indoor wear, either with afternoon or evening gowns, and because the slippers are to be worn so much of the time they are being made with lower heels. The toes are covered with intricate lines and swirls in bronze beads, and a little beaded satin bow trims them.

LINGERIE SUGGESTION—5498-4863.

The fashionable gown renders carefully fitted underwear a necessity, and well dressed women are as particular about the cut and style of their undergarments as they are about their gowns. Illustrated are garments, each admirable in their way. The petticoat is of taffeta made with a flare flounce trimmed with ruching. The corset cover is especially designed for the use of flouncing or hand embroidered strips of batiste.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

No Hips the Slogan This Winter. Mink In High Favor.

There is not a curve in the swagger tip length jacket of the winter. It falls in severely straight lines.

Mink is extremely fashionable this winter and is made up in handsome sets of long double boa and large, flat muff. As it is still the fashion to wear the fur close about the throat, with one end thrown back over the left shoulder, only long collars are possible.

DIRECTOIRE COSTUME.

Whatever the shape or material of the girdle, it must fit with the proverbial perfection of a glove. To secure this result good corsets are necessary. The empire girdle ends well above the waist line. This is modified for full figures, being brought down to the waist line at the sides and thence to a point in front, like an 1830 bodice.

The short coat is back in fashion, but this does not mean that your three-quarter jacket will not be in style. These long coats are in good taste and will serve for all morning and wet day wear and for very cold weather.

A new stuff somewhat like poplin, but as much lighter than poplin as chiffon is than silk, is called camise.

If you find a bit of old blue Chinese embroidery on linen or any material, in fact, use it to replace the old velvet on your last year's coat.

GLIMPSES OF FASHION.

How to Arrange Ostrich Feathers—A Chic Evening Hat.

An attractive evening hat seen in a smart shop is a rather small sailor shape with a crown of ermine and brim of cream Irish lace.

The idea of arranging ostrich feathers in such a manner that they look as if they are going to leave the hat is one of the new millinery fads.

In plain cloths neutral or dark tones are the best selection, while in mixtures it is well to choose those which, though up to date in style, are rather standard than extreme.

MOLESKIN TURBAN.

The new monograms are finely wrought, and many of them are made up of characters that are very Japanese in form.

Velvet forgetmenots in delicate tints and waved silk ribbon foliage form a lovely decoration on a narrow white silk braid with a wavy edge.

Spangled jet ornaments in graceful festoon designs now come with alternate right and left figures, which greatly simplifies the work of the dressmaker.

The hat illustrated is a jaunty turban of moleskin decorated with a bird that never flew, but would add a touch of exquisite green and dull blue tones to the sky if it could take to itself wings.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Sleeve Novelties—Reign of the Short Coat—Fur Plushes.

Fashion offers us many novelties in sleeves this season. On the dressy wraps they show to the best advantage. The sling sleeve is the latest and with the mandolin effects express the newest ideas in sleeve making. These sleeves are formed principally by plaited and draped effects, assuming form at the shoulders, then extending down the arm with the fit and hang of an ordinary sleeve.

The reign of the short coat may really be said to have just begun. It has been received with such favor on all sides that there is every reason to believe that it will be popular all season. In some cases the coats fit closely at the waist, the basques extending about two inches below, but a number of models are cut with short waisted effect at the back, the basque barely reaching to the hips.

ELEGANT SET OF SABLES.

The new fur boleros are very varied, and the models showing mixed effects have found much favor this year. Although chinchilla is an expensive fur, it is seen in great quantities. It is hard to resist the temptation to recommend the fur plushes, which this season are more realistic than ever and so wide that forty or fifty of the little animals from which chinchilla is stripped could be smuggled in a yard. It makes up extremely well, and with other trimmings three-quarters of a yard makes a bolero. The plush is $10 a yard and well worth the investment if the coat is made by an experienced tailor. Black and white plaid skirts and chinchilla boleros are the acme of smartness.

The magnificent furs seen in the cut are of sable, but the same design could be successfully carried out in any of the less expensive pelts. The stole is wide, long and flat, and the muff, soft and big, is finished with paws of the animal.

Highland Funeral.

The funeral of the late Sir Allan Mackenzie was held Sept. 8 at Glenmuick, Aberdeenshire. Eight pipers marched in front of the hearse, playing "The Land of the Leal" and "Flowers of the Forest."

WHAT TO WEAR.

To Keep Up With Fashion's Procession You Must Be Much Betrimmed.

If you are to be in the fashion this winter you must be trimmed—much trimmed as to gowns, hats and even fur coats, no matter if your tastes are Quakerish and your income on the wrong side of nothing.

There is no getting away from the fact that the plaited skirt is the fashionable one for this season, no matter what the material.

Great wide wall-of-troy trimmings have returned to favor and are made of velvet, cloth or gathered silk or satin ribbon. A stunning black and white checked gown just over from Paris has a double skirt with each plaited flounce trimmed with a wall-of-troy design done in black velvet.

One has to get used to the eccentric shapes of the hats this season. When they are first tried on, one is seized with a feeling that they will wear a mantilla of lace over their heads rather than one of these freaky things. They are an acquired taste. Try on seven, and the last one does the trick.

NET EVENING BODICE.

Comparatively few of the velvet suits are trimmed with anything but lace or braid or buttons. Nothing else seems to set them off in a way at once effective and perfectly in keeping with the character of the material. Many of them have no trimming at all, the rich beauty of the velvet being sufficiently attractive.

The evening bodice pictured is of spotted net. The low round neck has a full of lace headed with insertion. The baby bloused fullness is shirred just above the waist line on cords and trimmed with a lace ruffle. The sleeves have a jabot effect down the center of the short puff.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Empire Wreaths For Bridesmaids' Coiffures—Smart Evening Frocks.

Bridesmaids are wearing empire wreaths in their hair instead of hats, particularly for evening weddings. These are worn with veils somewhat shorter than the bride's.

The skirts of sheer stuff are almost invariably very full and either shirred round the waistband or plaited in small plaits. Trains are the rule not only on evening gowns, but on all ceremonious toilets, and the skirt is very long on the sides and front.

COAT OF RED CLOTH—5506.

There are women who go upon the principle of when in doubt wear black, and it is by no means a bad rule. A black tailor made is not necessarily a mourning costume, and when a woman looks better in black for a street costume, as she generally does, she is wise in selecting it, particularly if she has to wear the suit more than one season.

The modish evening toilets are short waisted, with draped surpliced effects and drapery upon the arms rather than sleeves. A word as to the fashioning of evening gowns. The chief thing to note is that once again the waist line is moved, and, though we cling to a certain extent to the graceful empire period, our waists are slightly lower and the skirts immensely full and long.

Deep rich or bordeaux red is a favorite color for young girls' coats, and the model illustrated is of this shade. It is of three-quarter length, loose and comfortable and can be worn with perfect ease over an elaborate frock.

FREAKS OF FASHION.

New Things In Furs—Ottoman Silk Worn Once More—Dainty Bon.

Muffs this season are not only very large, but they are covered with the heads and tails of the animal from which they are made. Many smart muffs are decorated with two heads and a bunch of tails. This means that the stoles worn with them must be large.

Among the cheaper furs silver pointed fox and white fox are very handsome and an addition to a plain tailor made frock.

Many of the new fur sets are lined with chiffon, which is generally white. A tiny plaited edging peeping from beyond a brown or black neck piece or muff is very alluring.

A black tulle boa trimmed with valenciennes lace and dotted with tiny bows of black velvet ribbon is a dream of fluffy loveliness. A touch of this kind gives an exquisite Parisian finish to a toilet and a dainty air to the simplest of dresses.

SEVRES BLUE SUIT.

The tailored costume illustrated is of sevres blue cloth. The skirt is plaited and the plaits rounded at the bottom, where they are caught with velvet buttons to a band of blue velvet placed directly at the bottom of the skirt. The jacket has a postillion back and bolero fronts over an embroidered waistcoat of white cloth.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SARTORIAL WRINKLES.

Miniature Lockets In Fashion—Black Net Dress For Wedding Trousseau.

Cameos and old fashioned miniature lockets are to be worn again, and the woman who possesses any of these heirlooms is congratulating herself. All sorts of quaint, cumbersome brooches, almost barbaric in their size and style, will be the thing, and very large lockets are worn on a much bejeweled chain, which will be passed twice around the neck, the locket being attached as a pendant.

Most women try to include in their wardrobes at least one black gown, and it is now very usual for a bride to have a black net evening dress in her trousseau. It is effective, it never goes out of style, and it is a comfort appreciated only by the woman who has one.

HOUSE GOWN—5502.

New evening silks are very sheer and fine, and the stiff, heavy sort have little showing. These gossamer veilings are printed with colored flowers, the design in many of them being outlined with gold thread, making them delicately lovely.

The most noticeable point about many of the season's large hats is the floral trimmings. A rose is often five or six times larger than the natural size, and in the bunches of grapes which adorn the newest hats each grape is about double the circumference of the ordinary fruit. But milliners force femininity to accept blossoms that would be classed as freaks in any flower show.

The afternoon frock illustrated suggests the shirt waist style, but is a bit less severe. It is of golden brown henrietta cloth, trimmed with braid and buttons to match the cloth.

VOTED FOR CHEAP POWER

Towns and Cities In Niagara Power District Carry Bylaw.

AGGREGATE MAJORITY, 9,553

Many Places Vote For Local Option—The Measure Carried In a Large Number of Municipalities Despite the Three-Fifths Majority Required—Some Close Voting Both Ways.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—The mandate of the people of Ontario within the Niagara power district has gone forth. They want cheap electric energy. There was no doubt or hesitancy about the vote recorded yesterday in the chief industrial centres of Ontario. They declare that the middleman must not be allowed to stand between the people and the great cataract and take toll of what is the most valuable natural asset of the province. The vote of yesterday will no doubt be followed by immediate action on the part of the Hydro-Electric Commission toward making contracts for the purchase and transmission of power to the places that desire it. The "white coal" campaign has abundantly justified itself in the eyes of the electors. Ontario means to free herself from bondage to the mine-owners of Pennsylvania. Paris	47
Total	9,553

The figures in Brantford are incomplete, and partly estimated. Goderich also carried the bylaw by a substantial majority. In Berlin some voting took place, but owing to a municipal mix-up it was not completed. There is, however, a big majority for the bylaw.

The total vote for the bylaw, so far as reported, was 12,606, and the total vote recorded against was 3,055, giving a majority of 9,553 in the municipalities whose majorities are given above.

What Mr. Beck Says.

Hon. Adam Beck was "feeling fine" last night over the result, which was naturally one to delight him. He was especially pleased over the victory of the bylaw in Ottawa by a majority of 5,530.

"This is a good thing," he said, "for the impression had been abroad that the work of the Power Commission served only one district convenient to Niagara. Ottawa shows that appreciation of the work of the Commission is equally strong there.

"Our estimates," he continued, "were based on only half of the municipalities declaring for the bylaw. With this general demand we will be able to supply power at the minimum cost instead of the maximum figured upon.

"The Commission must now submit a contract to the municipalities, including terms, quantities and everything else. Before accepting the contract the councils would submit it to the people for a vote.

"Those who have no distributing plant will have to go to the people to get money for that, while those who (like Guelph) have their own plant already, will be able to go ahead at once."

VOTE ON LOCAL OPTION.

Gain of Nearly 50 Per Cent. For the "Dry" Municipalities.

The returns from places voting on local option indicate a gain for "dry" municipalities of practically 50 per cent. The three-fifths vote requirement in the new License Act prevented a great many more places going dry. For instance, in Collingwood, where the temperance people polled a majority of 238 the bylaw fell short of the required 60 per cent. by only 14 votes. Many other places had close calls. Adelaide, with a big majority, was 14 shy of the percentage. Embro was only 18 short, Kingsville 15 and Tottenham 19.

Teeswater, however, carried the bylaw by one vote over the three-fifths, with three disputed ballots.

The greatest overthrow recorded against the opposers of the measure was at Toronto Junction, where an effort was made to repeal the present bylaw. The temperance people, in defence of their last year's measure, only required to poll a bare majority, but a count of the ballots showed a tremendous sentiment against the liquor men's interest.

Fort William Elections.

Fort William, Jan. 8.—James Murphy elected mayor by over 400 of a majority over L. L. Pelletier. Bylaws were carried to guarantee $40,000 bonds for public hospital, $82,000 for electric street railway, $15,000 for completing payment of city hall; also lease for seven years of electric railway to Mount McKay and Kakabeka Railway Co.

Against Federal District.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The plebiscite of the proposal to form a federal district got an adverse vote, but the affirmative vote was surprisingly large, as it was strenuously opposed.

TO PREVENT BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION

Do not neglect a cold or cough no matter how slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages sooner or later will lead to fatal results.

If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other pectoral remedies.

It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, loosens the phlegm and mucous, and aids nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulations.

Miss Belle Campbell, Long River, P.E.I., writes : "For some time I was troubled with bronchitis. A friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. So I procured three bottles but it only took two to cure me."

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents at all dealers.

EXPERIMENTAL STATIONS.

Annual Meeting of Those In Charge —What Reports Show.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Fourteen stations reported yesterday at the annual meeting in the Parliament buildings of the board of control of the fruit experimental stations of the province. The stations are scattered over Ontario from Essex to Maitland on the St. Lawrence, east, and the work is in a flourishing condition. A new vegetable station has been established at Leamington.

The board decides the work for the year, what varieties of fruit are to be tested, and other matters.

In Essex County the peaches have been frost-killed twice in five years, and an attempt will be made to develop hardy stocks there. In Massachusetts peaches have been budded on plum roots on heavy soil, and this plan will be adopted to see whether it will develop a stock proof against frost.

Those present were: President G. C. Creelman, Guelph; Secretary L. Wolverton, Grimsby; E. Lick, Oshawa; W. T. Macoun, Ottawa; H. L. Hutt, Guelph; A. M. Smith, St. Catharines; A. W. Hodgetts, Toronto.

NO POSTPONEMENT.

Mr. Emmerson and Grand Trunk's Proposed Entrance Into Toronto.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—(Globe Special.)—The Minister of Railways will not grant any postponement of the hearing of the Grand Trunk application for approval of the route map of their proposed new entrance into Toronto. The case will therefore be heard on the 16th inst.

Mr. Emmerson spent Sunday in Toronto, and went carefully over the ground which the Grand Trunk proposes to cover. He recognizes that injury will be done to the property of summer cottagers, but states that if no other route is available the good of the many must prevail as against the interests of the few. If the lake front route is to be sanctioned, there must be the most ample safeguards for the protection of life.

Without any desire to prejudice the case, in Mr. Emmerson's opinion, the question is an engineering one, involving compensation.

Body Found.

Wiarton, Jan. 8.—Word was received here yesterday morning that some Italians found a body off the ill-fated steamer Jones on the east side of Christian islands. The face is so disfigured that it cannot be described.

Few hogs were offered to-day, only a few lots brought in by farmers, and these met a ready market at an advance of 25c per cwt. over last week's prices. Selects are quoted by H. P. Kennedy at $6.65, and lights at $6.40; sows, $4.50 to $5.50; stags, $3 to $4 per cwt.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Cable advices on our Canadian cattle from Liverpool and London were firmer, at 11½c, and ranchers at 10½c, but Glasgow cables were weaker, and one cent lower than a week ago, at 11c to 12c. Exports last week from St. John were 1706 cattle, 220 sheep, and from Portland 1427 cattle, 1200 sheep. Receipts were 1000 cattle, 50 milch cows, 300 sheep and lambs, 1200 hogs, 100 calves.

The market for hogs continues very strong, owing to the small supplies coming forward, and prices scored a further advance. The demand was keen from packers, and sales of selected lots were made at $6.00 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars, but even at this figure buyers found it impossible to fill their requirements, and the prospects are calves will go still higher. Cableadvices on Canadian bacon were strong, and noted an advance of 3s to 4s, compared with a week ago, but packers say they will have to go 5s to 6s higher to be on a par with the present cost of hogs.

The butchers were out strong, and, as good cattle were rather scarce, prime beeves sold at 4½c to 5¼c per lb.; pretty good, 3½c to 4¼c, and the common stock 2½c to 3¼c. Milch cows sold at from $30 to $55 each. Grass, hay and straw fed calves sold at 2¼c to 3¼c, and young veals at 4c per lb. Sheep sold at 4c to 4½c, and lambs at 5½c to 6c per lb.

PROMINENT FIGURE GOES OVER

In Canadian Life Passes Away In Death of Capt. McMaster.

WAS EIGHTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

Brother of the Late Senator McMaster and Engaged in the Wholesale Dry Goods Business For Some Years—Attached to Brabant's Horse and Equipped Naval Brigade During Trent Affair.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Capt. William Fenton McMaster died at 10.30 last night in his 85th year. He was one of Toronto's most honored pioneers, and the history of the city was almost entirely linked in association with his career.

A kindly and cheery figure about the Parliament Buildings, he pursued with assiduous industry until ten days ago his duties in the supervision of reports in the Department of Agriculture, and, though somewhat stooped, continued very active and walked to and fro with amazing vigor. On Dec. 28 he began to feel the weight of years, and having sank slowly since, passed quietly away last night at "Restholm."

Capt. McMaster was born on Sept. 1, 1822, near Omagh, Tyrone, Ireland, and landed in Toronto May 17, 1839. The place was then a country town, with two or three wooden wharves. He lay sick of ship fever for several weeks after his arrival in the room in Leader lane lighted by the fifth upstairs window from King street on the east side. Employed at first in Cathcart & Co.'s, where his uncle, subsequently Senator McMaster, afterwards became a partner, he went to Beamsville and was in business there with his father. At Beamsville also he married Jane, daughter of Dr. Summer. She survives him with their children, Robert S. F., secretary of the Toronto General Burying Grounds Trust; Charles A., in business in New York; Helen, married to A. L. Hertberg, assistant chief engineer of the C.P.R.; and Miss Flora, who remained with her father. Seven grandchildren also survive him.

Capt. McMaster was in business also in Keen. Upon the death of his father he came to Toronto, when his uncle, his brothers and he established the firm of William McMaster & Nephews, the wholesale dry goods house. In 1865 Senator McMaster withdrew and the firm became A. R. McMaster & Brother, and so continued till 1885, when the captain gave up business and in the following year entered the civil service as assistant secretary to the bureau of industries, which expanded with the Department of Agriculture, where for ten years past he has filled the position he held at his death.

In addition to these duties he was one of the first directors of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce, and Toronto & Nipissing Railways. He was one of the founders of the Freehold Loan & Savings Co. When the Toronto Industrial Exhibition was founded he was elected first vice-president at the first meeting and held the office until 1893. He became an honorary director and held this position until the last.

Shortly after his arrival in Toronto he became attached to Brabant's Horse, and not only in military but in naval matters he proved himself capable and devoted. He was one of the very few men who passed with honors, both the military and naval examinations. In 1862 he founded the Toronto Naval Brigade for the defence of the lakes. He equipped the corps and maintained the men at his own cost, and in 1866, at the time of the Fenian Raid, the brigade was utilized in manning a gunboat, converted from a twin-screw tug. He supplied the equipment in this instance also, and the boat was despatched to patrol Lake Erie, where it remained till the arrival of troops and vessels of war. He retired from this service with the rank of major, and the brigade was broken up about 1868. Capt. McMaster was also an honorary officer in the Q. O. R.

Col. Cameron's Sudden Death.

Brantford, Jan. 8.—One of Brantford's prominent citizens, in the person of Col. Ed. Cameron, expired as he was entering his home about 5 o'clock last evening. He was in excellent health all day, but towards evenings began to feel weak and walked home from his office. Death was due to heart failure.

Col. Cameron was Superintendent of the Six Nations Indians and was appointed to that position in 1891.

He was formerly a lawyer, and was commanding officer of the 38th regiment.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

James Wright of Lindsay, Collared In Buffalo, Admits Extensive Operations In Ontario.

Buffalo, Jan. 8.—Charged with forgery for the passing of worthless cheques on numerous hotels in both Canada and the United States, all of which the police say he admitted in a signed statement, James J. Wright, 16 years old, was arrested here Sunday night.

When he was searched at police headquarters a number of cheques on the National Bank of Rochester and the Traders' Bank of Toronto were found, all filled out and signed with the name of A. D. MacLeod and John Wakely. In a statement, which the police say he signed after his arrest, he said that his home was in Lindsay, Ont., and that Miss L. A. Wakely of that place was his guardian.

His career of crime, according to the statement, started on Nov. 28, 1906, when he stole $123 from the Dominion Bank of Uxbridge, Ont., while he was employed there collecting drafts. He then went to Toronto. He went from Toronto to several other towns, and then to Cornwall, Ont. At Cornwall he cashed a cheque for $15 on the Dominion Bank. From Cornwall he went to Montreal, and later returned to Cornwall, and, from there, went to Brockville, Ont.

The youth never paid his hotel bills and defrauded many hotels out of payment. While in Cornwall he is said to have passed a worthless cheque on the Dominion Bank of Uxbridge to the hotel for his bill. He then traveled to Kingston, Ont., where he failed to pay his bill, and from there he went to Preston. He ran a bill at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, which he failed to pay, and went to Ogdensburg, where he cashed a worthless cheque at the Hotel Norman on the Traders' Bank of Toronto, payable to himself, and signed by A. D. McLeod.

He will be held at police headquarters until the police, hotels and banks from other cities have been heard from.

STRATHCONA DIDN'T SAY.

Closeted With Premier and Hon. L. P. Brodeur For Half An Hour.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—(Globe Special.)—Lord Strathcona arrived from Montreal at 12.30 yesterday and immediately proceeded to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's office in the eastern block, where he found the Premier and Hon. L. P. Brodeur. The High Commissioner carried a package of documents, which had been transferred to Mr. Brodeur's care when the latter emerged from the interview a little later. Sir Wilfrid and Lord Strathcona left the Premier's office together shortly after 1 o'clock to go to luncheon at the Rideau Club. Immediately the two gentlemen were surrounded by reporters.

"Can was announce your resignation?" Lord Strathcona was asked.

"Why do you want to know that?"

"The public want to know."

"The public are altogether too kind. It's very kind of you, too," his Lordship remarked.

"Don't praise the newspapers too much," interrupted Sir Wilfrid as he came to the aid of his guest and stopped any further questions.

"Did you say there ain't nothing to it?" queried Lord Strathcona of the reporters as he retired through the doorway with the Premier, and the newspaper men fancied they saw the faintest suggestion of a wink from the High Commissioner.

In the police court yesterday Mrs. Jackson pleaded guilty to keeping a house of ill-fame, and of keeping liquor for sale without a license. Warmest Municipal Election In History Of Peterborough

R. F. McWilliams Elected Mayor Yesterday by Majority of 221 Over Robt. Hicks — Largest Vote Ever Polled in the City

W. G. MORROW HEADS POLL

In the Aldermanic Race—W. H. Moore Elected Water Commissioner by Majority of Over 200—Some Results of Election

Yesterday, for the first time in six years, there was a mayoralty contest in Peterborough, and, as a consequence, more than the usual interest was displayed in it. The vote polled yesterday for mayoralty and aldermanic candidates, was the largest in the history of Peterborough. It was a busy day, as the candidates for municipal honours know, and, in spite of the somewhat disheartening weather conditions prevailing, there was a determined effort to poll as large a vote as possible.

The greatest interest, of course, centred in the contest for the mayoralty between Ald. McWilliams and Ald. Hicks, both young men, natives of Peterborough, and both having served three years in the city council. It was generally looked upon as a contest which would be close, the friends of each, however, claiming that their particular candidate would pull out ahead.

The result of the polling showed that Ald. McWilliams was in the lead by 221 votes, a majority having been obtained by him in every polling sub-division in the city, except one, No. 5, which gave Hicks a majority of 27.

Another warm fight was for the position of Water Commissioner, in succession to Mr. W. H. Moore, whose term expired with the past year. He was a candidate for re-election, but was opposed by two other aspirants for the office, over whom, however, he was triumphant, his election being secured by a good margin over the other candidates, both of whom made a good run for the office, but the electors evidently wished Mr. Moore to continue in the position to which he had given his services for several years, and was, therefore, familiar with the details.

The aldermanic contest developed some surprises, one of them being the fact that Mr. W. G. Morrow, who was this year a candidate, for the first time, for a public position, was elected at the head of the polls, with a larger vote than had ever before been polled for a candidate for alderman in Peterborough. Mr. Morrow's splendid run was a surprise, even to his friends, and, perhaps, to none a greater surprise than to himself. He polled a magnificent total of 1217 votes.

Another of the surprises of the campaign was that East City has to go without a representative on the council board this year—the first time since the union, that this ward, comprising the former village of Ashburnham, will not be represented by at least one alderman.

All of the members of last year's council offering themselves for re-election, were again honoured with the confidence of the electors to the extent of being placed in the council for another year, Messrs. Elliott, Tovey and Johnston, each polling over 1100 votes. Five new men, all of whom made good runs, were elected to the council, and should bring to that body business ability which will tend to the careful administration of the city's affairs during the coming year. Ald. Leary has been out of the council but one year, so that he is hardly a new man, his term in the council having served to familiarize him with the details of the work. The other new men, Messrs. Morrow, Phelan, Bradburn and Stevenson, are well-known and substantial citizens.

Mayor Elect's Views

The Mayor-elect was seen at his office this morning by an Examiner reporter. Asked for statement Mr. McWilliams said that he wanted to take advantage of the opportunity to publicly thank the people of the city for the handsome vote they had given him. To get such a vote in a place where he had lived all his life was a particularly high compliment, especially in view of the fact that this vote was almost entirely voluntary. He appreciated that fact that the vote came from the great body of the quiet going people who have no interest except the interest of the city.

Mr. McWilliams stated that the most important reason for his victory was the confidence which the working men of the city had in his honesty and fair dealing. The only canvass attempted was to go through some of the factories where the reception given would have been most flattering even if the result of the election had been different.

He was pleased to say that he went into office free from any obligation to the greater element.

"I have nothing but credit to give

The Results of the Voting on the Other By-laws--Only 5 Majority for the Sewer By-law

The returns of the voting on the five by-laws yesterday were slow, in coming in, and it was not until after noon to-day that the result was known. By the revised figures handed out by the City Clerk this afternoon it is learned that all the by-laws are given a majority of the votes of the ratepayers, who alone were eligible to vote on them, but the Rapid Tool Company bylaw, was not supported by a sufficiently large number to make it operative, a condition of a bonus bylaw being that it shall have a majority of the votes polled—which it had—and that the total vote polled shall be two-thirds

BIG CROWDS GATHERED TO WATCH ELECTION RETURNS BULLETINED

FIRST BUTTERFLY STORY OF THE YEAR

The first butterfly story is to hand, and, in spite of the fact that it developed on election day, there is no reason to doubt its truth. Yesterday as Mr. John Thorndyke, of Murray street, was coming out of his house, he noticed a large butterfly flying near the door-step. He carefully took it into the house, and with the warmth it was rejuvenated, and was soon flying around the house merrily.

THE RESULT IN BURLEIGH

Apsley, January 8. — Mr. C. R. D. Booth was yesterday elected as reeve over Burleigh and Anstruther over his opponent, Mr. R. W. Lane, by a majority of 17.

The councillors elected to cooperate with him in the management of the affairs of the township are Z. Tucker, George Matthews, Robert McCauley and Almond Harris.

Examiner's Limelight Service Was Much Appreciated by Those Anxious to Learn the Results—Street was Crowded for a Block in Vicinity of Office

SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE SPOKE

That there was the greatest interest in the result was shown by the manner in which the crowd collected in the vicinity of the Examiner office, which was evidently the headquarters of those seeking to know the fate of the various candidates. Shortly after the polling booths had closed the crowd commenced to gather, and when the first returns came in there was already a large gathering in front of the office. The Examiner's new way of presenting the returns gave great satisfaction. A large canvas was dropped in front of the building opposite the office, and on this the figures were displayed by means of a lime-light machine operated by Mr. Fife, of the Light and Power Company. This enabled everyone to quickly and easily size up the situation. A good bulletin service had been arranged and the returns came in quickly. The crowd that gathered was a very large one, and practically blocked up the street. In the interval between the receiving of figures, photographs of well-known local men, and other pictures, were thrown upon the canvas, and kept the crowd in good humor.

The first returns received by the Examiner came from polling sub-division No. 3, which showed that Mr. McWilliams had a majority there of 22. Other figures quickly followed, and it soon became apparent to the immense crowd in front of the screen that Mr. McWilliams' election was assured.

Then the chief interest turned towards the fight between the three candidates for the Water Commissionership, over which there appeared to be the greatest excitement, after the mayoralty contest had been decided. Even when the result of this fight was seen, the crowd did not disperse, but waited patiently in the rain, watching the exciting contest for the biggest vote among the aldermanic candidates. In fact until nine o'clock a large number remained to find out the latest returns.

The Examiner had installed a special telephone for the benefit of those seeking information concerning the elections, and this was made good use of by those who preferred to hear the results at home. In fact for three hours the telephone hardly ever stopped ringing and the staff was kept busy answering inquiries as to the result of the election.

When it was seen that his election was assured, the friends of Mr. McWilliams hoisted him to their shoulders and carried him in triumph up George street, stopping in the midst of the crowd in front of the Examiner's bulletin screen. Mr. McWilliams addressed the crowd from a cutter. He thanked those who had voted for him that day for the honour that they had conferred upon him, and stated that he would do everything in his power to further the interests of Peterborough. He was glad that he could say that his campaign had been conducted without any organization, and without paid canvassers. Speaking of his opponent, Mr. McWilliams said that during the campaign he had never said anything against Mr. Hicks, and expressed the wish that he would before long be seen in the council again.

Mr. Hicks also addressed his friends at the committee rooms. He did not seem cast down over the result, and thanked his supporters for the work they had done in his behalf, and for their support during the campaign.

New County Council Was Made By Yesterday's Vote

Fifteen of the Sixteen Men Who Will Constitute the New Council Announced—Result of the Election in Chandos Not Yet Known—Only One of Last Year's Council Will be on the New Council

By the elections in the county yesterday the County Council for this year was constituted. The Council for 1907 will contain only one member of the 1906 Council, Mr. Robert Shaw being the only one of last year's Council to be elected to a reeveship. Mr. Dennis Moloney, in Douro, and Mr. S. Stinson, in Smith, were candidates, but were defeated. Fifteen of the sixteen men who will compose the Council for this year are known, the sixteenth, the reeve of Chandos, is as yet unknown, no reports having been received from that township as to the result of the voting there. With this exception, the County Council will be as follows:

J. Fife, Reeve of Otonabee.
W. J. Porter, Deputy Reeve of Otonabee.
John Brown, Reeve of North Monaghan.
Robert Scott, Reeve of Smith.
C. J. Darling, Reeve of Dummer
Patrick McNulty, Reeve of Asphodel.
Samuel Killen, Reeve of Enniskillen.
Dr. J. A. Burgess, Reeve of Lakefield.
A. Breault, Reeve of Norwood.
Jas. Thompson, Reeve of Havelock.
Frank Moher, Reeve of Douro.
Robert Johnston, Reeve of Belmont and Methuen.
Robert Shaw, Reeve of Harvey.
C. R. D. Booth, Reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther.
Chas. Coben, Reeve of Galway and Cavendish.

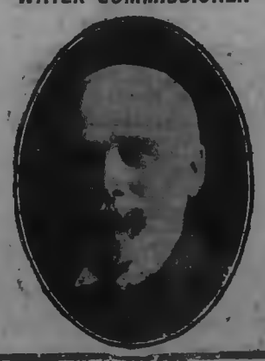
WATER COMMISSIONER



W. H. MOORE,
Who Was Yesterday Re-elected Water Commissioner.

MR. HICKS TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I desire to thank the electors for the hearty and voluntary support accorded me in the mayoralty election which was so keenly contested yesterday. I put forth my best efforts, and have no regrets for things I did not do, and accept the verdict as the will of the people.

I congratulate the electorate on the Aldermen they have selected for 1907, regretting that Ward Five is not represented.

The Mayor and Aldermen for 1907 have my very best wishes, and will have the benefit of any efforts I may be able to put forth for the up-building and progress of our city.

R. HICKS.

January 8th, 1907.

G. H. HOWSON IS NOW INSPECTOR

Appointed to Position Made Vacant by Resignation of R. W. Errett—Is Assistant Inspector of Weights and Measures

Mr. G. H. Howson to this city, was this morning installed as assistant inspector of weights and measures for the Belleville district. The Government has therefore quickly filled the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. R. W. Errett, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., having insisted on the office being filled as speedily as possible.

THE EXAMINER'S BULLETINS WERE VERY POPULAR

The interest taken by the citizens in the elections yesterday was, perhaps not better illustrated than by the fact that in spite of the rain which fell incessantly during the evening a crowd, at one time numbering fully 1,000 persons gathered in front of the Examiner office, and watched the returns as they were bulletined on the canvass. No municipal election in the history of Peterborough attracted such a crowd under similar conditions.

This was the Examiner's first attempt at giving election results in this way, and the manifestations of approval of his efforts are sufficient evidence that it was appreciated. Next time they will be better still.

Mr. Charles McGill Was Committed For Trial On False Returns Charge

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Charles McGill, ex-General Manager of the Ontario Bank, was committed for trial by Magistrate Denison in the police court this morning on the charge of making false returns to the Government in connection with the funds of the Bank. It is likely that on Thursday the preliminary hearing of the theft charges will be concluded, and to-day it was intimated that another committment will be registered. The Grand Jury now in session at the Assize Court will hear the first charge this week if possible. Mr. McGill was allowed out on the same bail.

He Wanted To Know The Population Of London; London, England, You Know

Now that the holiday rush in local business establishments has somewhat subsided anecdotes of amusing incidents, which did not seem so ludicrous at the time of their occurrence, are cropping up with surprising frequency.

On the afternoon of the day before Christmas, while the agent of one of the city express companies was making a nerve destroying endeavour to accomplish about four hours work in about the same space of time a Montreal millionaire would consume in binding a bouquet to a hand-decorated blonde, his telephone bell sent forth a peal that would have made a report from a fire alarm gong sound like a note of a mother's lullaby in comparison.

In the express office at the time, were seven women who wanted to know whether their parcels had arrived yet, and way they hadn't, a man who had to have three money orders issued before the arrival of the next car; and several boys who clamoured to know why it cost so much to send packages by express.

The agent was also present.

Three times the telephone bell resounded and it had just started on the fourth season when the agent at the risk of his life, turned his back to the customers and grabbed the receiver.

"Hello!"

"Hello! Is this the office of the ——— Express Company?"

"It is."

"I would like to speak with the agent."

"Commence — he's listening," said the agent, while the seven women, the man and the boys at the desk, became almost insulting.

"Well; Mr. Agent," came the response over the wire, "I—er—I should like to know you know the exact population of London—London, England."

Somewhere in Peterborough the man who wanted to know the size of London, England, is perhaps still at the 'phone again, the wait and holding a message in his hands, for the express agent replied:

"Just hold the line until I look it up."

HAS VALUED APRON MADE BY MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS

Embroidered Work is in the Famous Stitch Which Can't be Learned Ag

Minneapolis, January 8th. — In the possession of Mrs. E. H. Ev of this city, is a black satin, embroidered apron, which there is every reason to believe was made by Mary Queen of Scots, who in spite of her royalty, was an expert needlewoman with a fondness for fancy sewing.
The embroidery of this apron, which is one of the only two said to be in existence, was made in the famous "lost stitch," which is unknown to modern embroiderers.
Under microscopic examination it is not at all like Turkish or Chinese chain stitch, which resembles it very closely, but is done in a series of little tight French knots, which are fastened so firmly that it is impossible to unravel the infinitesimal disk of silk.
There are literally myriads of them in flower designs, in colours exquisitely blended, incased on a running silken cord, couched on a marvellous design, strangely artistic yet conventional, forming a border and corner pieces and four stripes for the top of pleats for fullness. The wonderful evenness of the many stitches indicates that the work was done by a woman with unlimited time at her disposal.

THE ELECTIONS

One of the most energetically conducted municipal contests in the history of the city, resulted in the return of Mayor McWilliams, and the aldermen whose names appear in our news columns. These are to be assumed to represent the will of the people in regard to the desired representation. At least the people have elected them, they constitute our representatives for the year to come, and, it is to be hoped, that the ability represented by the aldermanic board of 1907, will be, as doubtless it will be the case, associated with the will to serve the best interests of the city faithfully. While four of the capable representatives of last year, are not upon this year's council board, yet there is new blood in the council, which if rightly circulated, should be able to furnish civic service of a satisfactory character.

The city council for 1907 has much important matter to engage its attention, and if the welfare of the interests of the city, and citizens, is made the first consideration, we may expect good service at the hands of the council of 1907. While the results of the voting in regard to all of the by laws submitted yesterday, is in favour of all, except that to aid the Rapid Tool Company, it is especially satisfactory to note that the ratepayers have recognized the importance of a new Collegiate Institute and have endorsed the by-law to provide the supplementary funds required, and that the delay of the past will be redeemed by prompt action. It is probable that work on the armouries will soon be in progress, and there is no good reason why two fine buildings on contiguous sites should not be in progress at the same time.

WELL QUALIFIED

Mr. Frederick Dane, of Toronto, has been appointed a member of the Temiscamingue and Northern Ontario Railway Commission for the position rendered vacant by the resignation of the engineer, Mr. Cecil B. Smith. Of course, Mr. Dane was appointed because his qualifications were superior. Mr. Dane is held to be qualified because "his broker's connection with the wholesale grocers and tea importers has rendered him well known as representing some very large houses in India, Ceylon and England." Another very important qualification is that "he is first vice-president of Ward 4 Conservative Association, and in the Orange Order is County Master." With all these qualifications it seems impious to doubt that Mr. Dane is well qualified for the important duties of railway commissioner. It may be a little difficult to the uninitiated to see the connection between tea-box affiliations, Ward 4 Conservative Association and County Orange Master, and the duties of railway commissioner, but they no doubt have some mysterious occult influence in making Mr. Dane able to draw his salary of $1,000 a year. It must not be omitted to mention in Mr. Dane's favour that he is also "treasurer of the Triennial Council of the world." In face of all these qualifications on Mr. Dane's part, his fellow commissioners, Mr. J. Englehart, chairman, and Mr. Dennis Murphy, seem to be misfits.

TEACHER'S HOME

At a time when the low salaries of teachers is urged as a reason for the ineffectiveness of our school system, the proposal is made to give a small salary to members of the Board of Education. This is in Toronto, where, of course, brains are much more valuable than elsewhere. But if trustees are to be paid, there might be some compensation in reducing the number. There seems to be little doubt that in this democratic country we are altogether over-governed. Our legislative bodies are becoming burdensome. As a matter of fact it requires more representation in Canada than to govern six millions in Canada than to govern forty-five millions in Great Britain and Ireland. When we see with what success a commission of three manages our waterworks, it seems to be reasonable to suggest that three or four good men, under favourable conditions, might well manage the business of a municipality But we have things as they are, and a board of twelve aldermen, if they do their duty, can certainly give an effective government.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In the early stages of the New Year, it should be remembered that the difficulty of the trick is not to climb upon the water wagon, but to stay there.

There is also a split in the Vancouver, B. C., section of the Conservative party—a revolt against the machine. The warring elements are hurling defiance at each other, and with every outbreak of family dissatisfaction, the Liberal chances of winning the city are improving. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper is in sympathy with the movements of the project against the Conservative machine.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie, says the Montreal Herald, gave away eleven millions in charity last year, and Mr. Rockefeller seven. And one is again forcibly reminded of those popular banditti of the Middle Ages who took from those who could afford it to give to those who could not. It may be that the American people would never have supported these charities if Messrs. Rockefeller and Carnegie had not done the collecting; but it may be again that the American people would never have needed them.

President Roosevelt is being severely criticised by some American papers because he has appointed Cortelyou the collector of the campaign fund, to be Secretary of the Treasury. The New York World says: "The Cortelyou appointment is one of the horriest blunders Roosevelt has ever made. It will be a source of pernicious embarrassment to himself and the country to the end of his administration." It certainly does not seem timely to appoint the man who milked the great corporations for campaign funds, when the corporations are presenting a solid front to maintain their grip upon the country.

REWARD OR FAILURE

Brantford Expositor.

The Mail and Empire reports Mr. Whitney as making the following reference to the appointment of Major Beck as postmaster at the Parliament Buildings:

As to Mr. Beck, besides being a man of considerable capacity and a general favourite, on one occasion, at least, Mr. Whitney said, his seat in the Legislature had been stolen from him with deliberate intent. He had suffered financially, and the Government was glad to place a position in the public service at the disposal of so capable and so good a man. Mr. Beck was a candidate in several elections in West Huron.

So it seems that, having been a defeated Conservative candidate is directly specified as justifying the appointment of Mr. Beck to a position in the Provincial civil service. What excuse, then, has Mr. Whitney to offer for the removal of Mr. Ashley, division clerk at Belleville, on the ground that (some 20 years ago) he was a candidate for the Legislative Assembly? The Government ought to maintain at least an appearance of consistency.

NO CHRISTMAS ELECTIONS

Toronto Star.

Two suggestions are made as to the municipal elections, one that the time be changed and another that there shall be a longer interval between nomination and polling. Both are in the right direction. There could hardly be a worse time in the whole year for this important business than the Christmas season. The campaigning is done when the minds of the people are filled with anxiety as to preparations for Christmas. It is difficult at such a time to induce people to attend meetings or to pay serious attention to the affairs of the municipality, which usually requires a good deal of study of the dry details of business. Nominations about the middle of January and elections about the end of the month would be an improvement on the present arrangement.

CHANGING SENTIMENT

Oliver Goldsmith's "Deserted Village"

Goldsmith, in his "Deserted Village," spoke of a certain chapel where those who "went to scoff, remained to pray." So in life one often laughs at what he does not understand, and later, when he does understand, his laugh turns to praise. There were some who doubted the merits of Newbro's "Herpicide," the scalp germicide and hair dressing; but since they have tried it they are now among its best friends and strongest endorsers. Herpicide kills the germ that eats the hair off at the root, and the hair then grows again. As a hair dressing it is incomparable. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Michigan.

The attack upon Walsh was brutal, two of the heaviest men of the Calumet team jumping onto the boy, and it is said that he was choked and slugged while prone on the ice. It is astonishing that a Soo audience allowed the visitors to get away with this miserable piece of business, as the opinion is general that some of the Calumet players should have been given a dose of their own medicine. Little Walsh was unconscious for a time and suffered intense pain. Lalonde, the Soo's new player from Cornwall, who arrived by the evening train, went on in the place of the injured player, and he made good all through the piece.—Soo Express.

The Speedy 14th Regiment team of Kingston fresh from their victory over the Argonauts will be here on Friday night to meet Peterborough, in the first local O.H.A. game of the season. All indications point to one of the fastest games ever seen in this city. The Kingston team have a strong defence and a fighting forward line of which Geo. Richardson, who played left wing for Queens here two weeks ago is a good sample. They are in good shape and should make the locals exert themselves to the utmost to get away with a victory. Great interest is already being displayed in the contest and a record crowd is assured for the opening O.H.A. game.

There was no momentous event at the police court this morning that might have served to relieve the quietness that prevailed after the excitement of last night. A young boy who with others has been annoying people during the day time instead of being at work was given a yarning that if he appears again he will be given a liberal serving of the lash. The chief thought that a little taste before hand would cause the boy to think twice before he misconducted himself again. He was allowed to go, however, with a little lecture and warning.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In this progressive age of our city we hear a good deal about Sunday observance. But from existing conditions on Sunday afternoon, one would naturally think it a celebration of the retirement of our City Fathers or a Diamond Jubilee. It would indicate such, to see the merriment on the Little Lake and Dixon race of our youths skating and playing hockey. We think something should be done to stop it before it is too late. It sets a very bad example for those who are inclined to observe the Sabbath.

Thanking you for valued space, I remain,

Disease Born of Carelessness

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Disease results in most cases from the presence of poisonous waste matter in the body, and may, therefore, be said to arise from ignorance or carelessness.

Bilious spells, sick headache, attacks of indigestion, kidney pains and backache—such are the indications of failure on the part of the liver to remove the poisonous waste matter as rapidly as it accumulates.

By the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the situation is promptly relieved, because, liver, kidney and bowels are set in vigorous action and the filtering and excretory system thoroughly cleansed and strengthened.

Neglect to afford assistance at such a time is to invite the attack of such ailments as Bright's disease, dropsy, rheumatism or appendicitis.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailment was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing this treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting."

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

TICKLED TO SLEEP HE SLUMBERED FOUR DAYS

Even Doctor Couldn't Wake Teamster Until He Tried Tickling

Examiner Special.

Machias, Me., Jan. 8.—An odd story which is said to be true, comes from the Chase logging camp, some miles northeast of here, where a teamster by the name of Blankburn is alleged to have been tickled to sleep and remained in an unconscious condition four days.

Blankburn, according to the report, is an extremely nervous man and adverse to being tickled. The pointing of a finger at his ribs will set him gurgling with laughter, and a delicate prod will send him into hysterics. This failing became known to the woodsmen, and one night they decided to give their comrade a good tickling.

Five or six men got him in a corner and the tickling began. At first Blankburn laughed and yelled as he tried to break away, but suddenly he flopped over in what appeared to be a sound sleep. The men left him lying on a lounge, and when at 9 o'clock, the camp bedtime, he had not awakened, they covered him up for the night.

The next morning, when Blankburn could not be aroused, the lumbermen became frightened and sent several miles for a doctor. He had no success, though he tried all the means at his command. Hypodermics were administered, the man was pinched, slapped and cuffed, and finally strong ammonia was placed under his nostrils.

The fumes had no effect other than to make the sleeper cough, and in desperation the doctor tried tickling. Rearing Blankburn's feet, he took a hen-feather and applied it gently. The man half-opened an eye and rolled over. This satisfied the physician that he could be awakened by the same means that put him to sleep and he left the loggers to complete the job.

Little by little the tickling took effect and at the end of three more days Blankburn was able to sit up and eat a hearty meal. He appears to be none the worse for his extended sleep.

LADIES EXPECTED TO ATTEND THIS LECTURE

Rev. Father McColl Will Speak on the Religious Crisis in France

The impression seems to be going around that ladies are not expected to be present at the lecture to be given by Rev. Father McColl tonight on the Religious Crisis in France. The idea is an erroneous one as a cordial invitation is extended to ladies as well as gentlemen to be present.

There promises to be a large attendance and the lecture should prove decidedly interesting. It will be preceeded by a musical programme of more than usual merit in which well known local artists will appear.

"Now that I am elected I want it understood that I represent no political party or no faction, and that I am anxious to co-operate with everyone in anything that will advance the interest of the city."

Mr. Hicks Satisfied

Mr. Hicks, the defeated candidate, was also seen this morning and did not seem downcast at his defeat, which he seemed to accept in a philosophic manner. To the Examiner he said that he was satisfied with the result and wished to thank those who had voted for him for the support that they had given him.

Speaking of his opponant, Mr. Hicks said that there was no ill-feeling between Mr. McWilliams and himself. There were as good friends now as they were at the commencement of the campaign. If there was anything unfair in the campaign it was cut side the influence of the candidates.

Mr. Hicks said that he wanted particularly to thank the people of the North Ward for the splendid vote they had given him by giving Mr. McWilliams the smallest majority in any of the five wards.

Mr. Moore Pleased

Mr. W. H. Moore the successful candidate for the vacant position on the Board of Water Commissioners, expressed himself as being satisfied with the result. He wished to thank the people of the city for the vote that they had given him and expressed the hope that he would be able to co-operate with his fellow Commissioners in doing as good work as he had endeavoured to do in the past.

INTERESTING ADDRESS GIVEN BY DR. LARGE

Condition on The Island of Bella Bella was Described

A most interesting address was that given by Dr. Large of Bella Bella, at the meeting of the Epworth League of the George street Methodist church last night.

Dr. Large has been a missionary to the Island of Bella Bella for years and his description of the conditions existing there was greatly appreciated. Bella Bella is an island situated on the Pacific Coast about 300 miles from Vancouver, and its geography and other features are comparatively unknown here, hence Dr. Large's remarks were of an illuminating nature.

The opening exercises were conducted by Mr. Garnet Galley, president of the League, and Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the chair.

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Jan. 8.—The stock market was quiet to-day but with a fairly good tone early. Irregularity was conductive to an extension of the short interest and selling of this nature finally broke the market in the afternoon. About the only feature to the early strength was the manipulation of Colo. Fuel and B.R.T. and when this support was withdrawn these issues reacted with the general list.

The selling grew in volume in the afternoon and net losses of 1 to 3 points were recorded in the active issues, with Union Pac. and Reading weakness. The announcement of the court decision in favour of B.R.T. in the ten cent. fare case steadied prices for a time but at the close they were selling off again.

The market has had quite a reaction and should improve now by specialties. We are bullish on Amal. Copper, Steel and think B.R.T. will have a good move upward now and should be bought at once.

DIAMOND L.O.L. FIRST MEETING OF THE YEAR

Arrangements Made For Trip to District Meeting in Smith To-night

Diamond L.O.L. No. 80, held their first session for the year last night when the new officers took their places. A large attendance of Brethren was on hand. A contingent of eight from No. 871, Downers' Corners, was present and also a respectable representation from the Nassau Lodge.

A deal of routine business was attended to. A number of Brethren spoke of the long life faithfully devoted to the Orange Association, whose life portrait was recently presented to the lodge.

Arrangements were made to attend district meeting to be held in Smith to-night, starting from Lodge Room at 1 o'[illegible] of the total available vote. While there was a majority of 71 in favour of the bylaw, the 1095 votes polled on this particular bylaw did not equal the required two-thirds of the total available vote. It is probable, however, that carrying out an arrangement made between the company and the Council, the out-going Council will recommend to the new Council that the bylaw be ratified, and that the Legislature be asked to confirm it, in view of the fact that the ratepayers have twice voted in favour of its ratification.

A Collegiate Institute

The Collegiate Institute bylaw, was endorsed by the ratepayers, a majority of 195 being obtained for it, the vote being 645 in favour of it, and 490 against it. As a result of the ratepayers' endorsation of this bylaw, the work of constructing the new building will in all probability be proceeded with at the earliest possible moment, the money for this purpose now being available. There will be a feeling of relief, not to say jubilation, on the part of the members of the Board of Education who have been working for the passage of this bylaw, at the result of the voting yesterday.

The figures of the different bylaws, showing the vote in each of the 11 polling sub-divisions, are as follows:

TORONTO EVENING NEWS BOYS WERE BANQUETTED

Enjoyable Affair in Hooper's Palm Parlours Last Evening

The local news boys of the Toronto Evening News, were treated to a banquet last night at the expense of that journal. The affair took place at Hooper's palm parlours, and was greatly enjoyed by the youngsters, of whom there were some fifteen present. It was expected that the agent of the News would have been present, but he was prevented from being in attendance. In his absence, Mr. W. Rundle, the local agent, saw that the boys had a good time. Master Harold Hatcher sang several enjoyable songs, and Messrs. Ferry, Black and Miller also contributed to the programme.

The Dummer Council of 1907 will be composed of the following:

Reeve—C. J. Darling.
Councillors—Wm. Miles, Edward Martin, Nathan Payne, and Jno. L. Kidd.

Examiner Special

Norwood, Jan. 8.—Local option carried in Asphodel yesterday, the figures being 215 for and 111 against. In all except one polling sub-division the bylaw was given a majority, Caughnawaga alone going against the local option proposal.

The detailed figures are:—

Norwood	85	26
Hastings	33	27
Caughnawaga	31	42
Westwood	66	16
	215	111

Although a vote was taken on the bylaw in one division in Norwood, it does not affect the village, the local option applying only to the township.

ROBERT SHAW IS AGAIN IN COUNTY COUNCIL

He is Elected Reeve of Harvey by Majority of 31—The Members of the Council for 1907

Lakeburst, January 8. — In the township elections yesterday, Mr. Robert Shaw, who for twenty years almost, has represented the township of Harvey on the county council, was again elected to that honour, by the action of the electors in placing him in the position of reeve over James Ingram, by a majority of 31.

The members of the council are Peter Graham, Nogey's Creek; John McKenty, Thos. Elliott and Herb Arndiff.

GALWAY AND CAVENDISH ELECT OLD COUNCILLORS

No Contest in These Townships Yesterday—Choice Unanimous

The election day in Galway and Cavendish passed quietly by yesterday. The nominations of a week ago resulted in the required number of men for the council so that all were elected by acclamation. The council for 1907 is the same as that for the past year and will consist of the following:—

Reeve—Charles Coben.
Councillors—David Curtin, Jno. Clark, Wm. Hunter, Jno. Jackson.

CLOSE RUN FOR THE LAKEFIELD REEVESHIP

More Nominations Needed for the Council—Lack of aspirants for That Body

Lakefield, Jan. 8.—In Lakefield yesterday the municipal fight aroused only a fair interest in the village compared to that of a year ago. This was partly due to the fact that local option was the feature of last year's contest. The fight for the reeveship was the centre of attraction, and to say that the contest was keen is putting it mildly. Dr. J. A. Burgess won the election by two votes over his opponent, F. J. Moore.

A peculiar state of affairs exists here in regard to the Council. Only two men of the four who were nominated remained in the field, so that another nomination, and probably election will have to be held.

The defeated School Board candidates were G. A. Bartlie and R. Clifford.

For Reeve
Dr. J. A. Burgess, 124.
F. J. Moore, 122.

For School Board
Dr. J. R. Fraser.
Chas. S. Tanner.
Jas. W. Ridgath.

For Council
J. W. Corniah.
Robert Duff.

Morrison for the highest position in the township by a majority of one, the vote being: Fisher, 134; Morrison, 133. The vote for councillors stood:

J. A. White, 157.
J. C. Campbell, 152.
W. Waterman, 152.
John Greer, 146.

Chas. Weeks, 48.

Very High Honour Was Paid To Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot

Gathering of Representative Citizens Presented Him With An Address and a Cabinet of Silver Last Night

MANY EULOGISTIC SPEECHES WERE DELIVERED AT BANQUET

"The best of friends must part," is an old and true saying but it makes no reference to the pathetic strain that underlies the festivities, however, simple or elaborate, that generally accompany the severance of the strong bonds of good-fellowship and friendship. At an informal farewell function held in the spacious rooms over the Ontario branch of the Bank of Montreal building last night, when Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot, late manager of the Bank of Montreal was tendered a farewell by his business friends and associates, this sentiment was freely expressed. Mr. Wilmot, as has been stated previously, has been transferred to the Perth branch of the Bank of Montreal for which town he leaves in a short time.

There was a large number of the friends of Mr. Eardley-Wilmot present at the gathering last night and it was unanimously expressed that Peterborough is losing the services of a very valuable business man, and a gentleman who was esteemed by all those who were acquainted with him. General regret was also expressed at his removal as it necessitates the loss to the city of Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, who during her residence here has been a decided asset to the social, moral, and religious element of Peterborough. There are many of the destitute and needy of this city who who will miss her kindnesses and charity which she bestowed with opportune unobstrusiveness.

Hon. J. R. Stratton

The chairman of the evening was the Hon. J. R. Stratton, who in calling the meeting to order referred to the honour that had been bestowed upon him in having been requested to preside in the chair. He sincerely regretted Mr. Eardley-Wilmot's departure from the city, in fact he considered it a decided impairment to the ranks of the prominent business men of this city. As manager of the Bank of Montreal Mr. Eardley-Wilmot has shown that he possessed those qualities that made staunch friends for him among the patrons of that institution. (Applause.) The speaker felt that he voiced the public sentiment when he said that society in this city was losing two of its most valuable members. Hon. Mr. Stratton also referred to the prominent parts Mr. Eardley-Wilmot and especially his wife had taken in church work. They have been members of St. John's, and on many occasions assisted in the general work, and particularly in charitable work. The speaker thought that it was a matter of regret that the elections had interfered with the evening as many would have been present who were otherwise forced to be absent. He wished Mr. and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot every success in their new home and hoped that the best wishes of their many Peterborough friends would be fully realized. The chairman then called upon Mr. L. M. Hayes to read an address to Mr. Eardley-Wilmot, after which he presented the guest of the evening with a beautiful silver service enclosed in an elegant oak cabinet.

Presentation

Kenred Eardley-Wilmot, Esq., Manager Bank of Montreal, Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—Some of your numerous friends have assembled this evening to wish you a regretful farewell on your departure from Peterborough. When only a few short years ago you came amongst us a comparative stranger, little did we anticipate how quickly you would secure to yourself, and gain as you have gained, the esteem and respect of the whole community, but what is still better, and more precious, you won and will forever retain, the deep, warm-hearted affection of a multitude of friends. Nor are your admirers confined to those of your intimate acquaintance, many of our humbler citizens have learned to appreciate your worth and to feel grateful for your many acts of unostentatious kindness. Your courtesy to the clientele of your bank and the deep interest you take in their business affairs are widely known.

As Secretary of the Agricultural Society you rendered most valuable services both to Town and County;

As Church Warden of St. John's Church you voluntarily sacrificed time;

As a valued member of the Peterborough Board of Trade you gave great assistance and counsel to that useful institution;

As a citizen of Peterborough you have ever taken a keen interest in all things tending to promote the welfare of the community;

In your many good works you have enjoyed the active support and assistance of your most estimable wife and to Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot we desire to express our profound sorrow at her departure. Her charming manner, great charity and activity in all good deeds, will long be remembered by many warm friends. Sir, we wish you and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot God-speed and may you both enjoy together many years of happiness.

As a mark of the real esteem and deep affection of your friends and acquaintances we ask your acceptance of this cabinet of silver for yourself, and to Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot we beg to offer this case of dessert knives and forks.

Signed on behalf of the Committee,
LOUIS M. HAYES, Secretary.
D. HUGHES-CHARLES, Treasurer.

Mr. Hughes Charles

The Guest.

Mr. Eardley-Wilmot in responding, said that he deeply appreciated the kind words that had been said of him and the handsome remembrance. He was not capable of expressing in mere words his appreciation. He wished that he could flatter himself that all the kind things said were really deserved by him. He also expressed his gratitude that his wife had been included in the gracious remarks. He hoped to see many of his Peterborough friends in in Perth. His fellow bankers had been most considerate on all occasions and indeed the citizens in general had been so. He closed his remarks with the statement "The dignity of truth is lost in much protesting."

Mr. W. McIlroy rendered, in a splendid manner, "Loch Lomond," which was greatly appreciated.

Col. Rogers, Mr. Jas. Kendry, Mr. T. F. Matthews and Mr. R. R. Hall expressed similar sentiments. They had always found Mr. Eardley-Wilmot a true gentleman and an honest and upright banker. They personally regretted the departure of Mr. Eardley-Wilmot and his wife but hoped that old Peterborough friendships would be renewed on future occasions.

Mr. W. H. Denham then contributed a vocal number that demanded an encore which he graciously responded to, singing the Anvil Song. Mr. Crane accompanied him in his usual finished style.

The next toast proposed was that of the health of Mr. Montizambert, Mr. Eardley-Wilmot's successor. In doing so there was reiterated practically the feelings of regret that had been already expressed.

Mr. Montizambert

Mr. Montizambert thanked the gentlemen for their kindness. He had heard of Mr. Eardley-Wilmot's wide popularity and was gratified to know that his predecessor had been so successful in his dealings with Peterborough people as to make so many friends. He hoped to continue as Mr. Eardley-Wilmot had begun. This city he said is well known and most favourably spoken of. It was growing and he would try to advance its interests to the best of his ability. He was sure the people must regret the departure of Mr. Eardley-Wilmot, but that he would endeavour to fill his position.

Canon Davidson referred to the work done by Mr. Eardley-Wilmot and especially by his wife in the church. He was very sorry to see them leave Peterborough as they had always been very exemplary in religious work.

Mr. H. LeBrun rendered La Marseillaise with his old time enthusiasm and Mr. Walter Davidson contributed a comic selection.

Mr. E. M. Elliott

Mr. Elliott as a representative of the County of Peterborough voiced the sentiments of that part. He represented the agricultural section and spoke for the farmers many of whom had dealings with Mr. Eardley-Wilmot during the Exhibition. Everyone spoke most favourably of him and appreciated his work. They found him honest in all transactions and his interest assisted in making the Exhibition a success.

Mr. P. Campbell also spoke in honour of the guest of the evening and proposed the health of Mr. V. Eastwood, the new manager of the Royal Bank.

Mr. Poussette responded in the absence of Mr. Eastwood.

Mr. John Crane also had good words to say about Mr. Eardley-Wilmot and his wife, whose departure would be greatly missed.

Mr. Clark and Mr. Cochrane, Inspectors of the Bank of Montreal paid similar tributes to Mr. Eardley-Wilmot, so also did Mr. W. H. Bradburn, Mr. Denham and Mr. E. G. Patterson.

Mr. Morris, auditor of Bank of Montreal, who was born in Perth, said he felt sure that Mr. Eardley-Wilmot would make as many friends there as in Peterborough. He guaranteed him and his wife a splendid time and was confident they would be pleased with that town.

Mr. Walter Davidson and Mr. G. K. Martin then relieved the speeches with songs and Mr. W. T. C. Heathcote told a few stories. Mr. Wm. Irwin, Mr. G. W. Hatton, Mr. T. H. G. Denne and Mr. H. C. Winch expressed their regrets as the other speakers had done and hoped that the departing Mr. Eardley-Wilmot and his wife would always retain in their hearts kind regards for their Peterborough friends.

The gathering dispersed after the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

WHAT IS WORN.

Nothing Like the Plain Tailored Gown For Service—Dull Jet.

No kind of costume holds its own like the plain tailored type. One can always build up on a plain tailored suit. The details of gloves, shoes, hats and neck dressing count for considerably more with it than with a more elaborate costume.

A unique buckle, suitable for a dressy afternoon gown, has a large oval of graceful gold filigree surrounding and half concealing an oval stone like a huge opal.

Dull jet ornaments for mourning wear are handsomer than ever and are seen either in appliques or worked in elaborate and very flowing designs on fine net. Sequins, pointed and round, small beads and studdings are frequently noticed in the same material.

An odd little detail of dress this season is to be noticed in sleeves, which are often of an entirely different material from the rest of the gown.

Combining two materials in one dress is one of the economical fancies of the moment. For instance, a lace dress will have a tunic of silk or satin. This does not sound attractive, but in reality it is charming. In this disposition of material two gowns that have seen considerable service can join forces and come out looking fresh and new.

On the short elbow sleeves it is often necessary to have a narrow ribbon caught from the armhole to the end of the sleeve, so as to make the puff look full without making it thick or clumsy.

The empire dinner dress sketched is smartly carried out in white mousseline de soie and pompadour rose silk. The long fichu is of brocaded rose satin.

"It must be their washwoman."

WHAT IS WORN.

Belts Should Be Carefully Chosen. Many Styles In Furs.

If a waist the color of the skirt is worn, there should be a fitted silk belt if the bodice is at all elaborate, but if on the shirt waist order the stitched narrow belt is the more appropriate.

Wide belting the color of the skirt is becoming to a slight figure and has just recently come into decided favor. Needless to state, belting is only appropriate with the simplest style of shirt waist and skirt costume, but when becoming to the figure it is particularly trim and neat.

Long boas, flat stoles and wide fur capes are all to be worn this year, but the shape of the collar depends largely upon the kind of fur used.

Bullfrog skin hats are a fad of the moment. It may not sound so, but a little turban of bullfrog skin in a greenish brown shade with upstanding loops of dark green velvet ribbon for its trimming makes a smart hat.

Very pretty are the evening hats of lace with a crown of fur. Quite as attractive is a large hat of white point d'esprit shirred all over the frame and trimmed with a long aigret held in place with a single rose or a buckle.

Little girls' dresses are charming this year made up in bright plaids. The dress pictured is carried out in a plaid in which there is a great deal of bright red trimmed with wide black velvet ribbon and narrow soutache braid. The chemisette is of white broadcloth.

FORECASTS OF FASHION.

New Wrinkles In Gloves and Shoes. Mannish Wash Waists.

Some of the new elbow length kid gloves are embroidered in medallions of white silk battenberg braid, forming a vine running toward the elbow. Another style of embroidery is made with black and white silk thread interwoven, forming a bracelet effect around the wrist of the glove. Above the wrist the silk is arranged in a pretty design.

The long dog and pigskin gloves for morning, business and outdoor usage are a novelty and are most serviceable for wear with short sleeve jackets. These gloves fasten with neat brass clasps that give to the skins a stunning effect which buttons could not lend.

A new wrinkle in dress shoes is seen in a leading shop. The vamp, which is of patent leather, extends in the shape of a tongue well up over the instep, and the lacing starts from the top of the tongue, across which are narrow straps fastened with buckles.

SMART SERGE SUIT.

Wash waists to be worn with tailor made gowns are leaning toward masculine severities, for a number have the stiff, tucked fronts of men's shirts.

The suit illustrated is carried out in cadet blue serge. The skirt is a gored circular trimmed with bias straps of the material between bands of fancy black soutache braid. The short pony jacket has the same trimming treatment. The neck is finished with bands of stitched panne velvet edged with plaitings of taffeta. A smart bow of black velvet ties in front.

HERE AND THERE.

A Smart Idea For a Walking Suit. Theater Hats.

One of the new walking suits is of blue broadcloth and has a plaited skirt and a jaunty postillion coat with a deep belt of black satin. The front and back of the coat are braided in arabesques in black, and there are rows of tiny silver buttons on either side of the front of the coat, which has a vest of biscuit colored cloth.

In order to overcome the objections to headgear in the theater, modistes have created what is known as the lilliputian theater hat. These little hats are formed of a bandeau or simply a twist of ribbon or velvet and have by way of trimming an aigret, a single tip or a small cluster of roses.

One of the most attractive of the season's blouses is illustrated. It is equally pretty carried out in silk or any lightweight material. The fronts are plaited from a yoke and emplacement of the fabric edged with a bias band of striped silk. A tiny vest fastened with three silk covered buttons is a fetching addition and gives a distinctive touch, together with the collar of lace and silk.

ON NEW YORK'S EAST SIDE.

How New Year's Day Is Celebrated In the Italian Colony.

The little boys and girls of Mulberry street, on New York's queer east side, keep their pockets, purses and savings banks ready for New Year's. This is their great day. Whether or not the American Santa Claus put anything in their stockings on Christmas, their own uncles and aunts cannot get off without strenna de capo d'anno (New Year's gift). The strenna is confined to the children and to cash. It is to be distributed by the relatives and friends of the household on New Year's day, when calls and congratulations are in order.

"Buon capo d'anno!" ("A good head of the year!")

"Lo stesso a voi per cento anni!" ("The same to you for a hundred years!")

When the greetings are over the guests will be treated to vermicelli served with a special sort of sauce and salad and "merluzzo" prepared with oil and lemon juice. The thought of the New Year's viands makes the black eyed children smack their red lips, and their time is taken up with discussing it as well as with making forecasts as to how much of a strenna Uncle So-and-so and Cousin So-and-so will put in his or her little hand before leaving.

The old folks in Italy, too, are thinking gratefully of the great land beyond the seas over the wine and vermicelli which they have bought with American money. If strenna is here only given to children an exception is made for the old people at home, to whom a New Year's gift is sent three or four weeks in advance so as to reach its destination in time for the great religious and civil holiday. The Mulberry street bankers do a rushing business in capo d'anno remittances.—New York Herald.

THE NEW YEAR IN JAPAN.

The Day When the Mikado Has to Get Up at 5 o'Clock.

Quaint and curious New Year customs exist in Japan, where the 1st of January commences with a religious festival celebrated at 5 in the morning. At this time the mikado, dressed in Japanese costume, proceeds from the palace, followed by his deputies arrayed in ancient style and the foreign diplomats in regalia dress. He enters a small building or temple, prostrates himself to the east, west, north and south, and all present pray for the prosperity of the nation.

Later at a ceremonial breakfast the emperor and empress receive their family and court for three hours, the rooms being thronged. At the expiration of that time the real year begins, and a formal luncheon is served from which each guest is expected to take a cup and saucer as a souvenir.

Among the people the earth and heaven are propitiated by offerings of rice and vegetables, and strips of red paper are pasted on the doors as a sign of good luck. This color is used exclusively save in cases where a death has occurred within a year, when blue paper is used instead of red. The day ends with people still saluting each other and attending the plays at the theaters, where gorgeous robes and monotonous voices are the distinguishing features.—New York World.

New Year's on the Ganges.

To know whether one will outlive the year is almost universally regarded as a very desirable piece of knowledge, and to acquire it the men and women of different nations resort to various stratagems to compel fate to stand and deliver. The dweller by the Ganges lights a tiny rush candle and fixes it upright on a bit of board, which he launches on the waters of the sacred stream. If it remains alight until he can count 777, the perfect number, he regards his prospects as good for the year. If it goes out the omen is unfavorable. He gives himself the benefit of expedition, too, for instead of counting in prosaic fashion—one, two, three, four—in the old slow style, he counts by leaps and bounds—five, ten, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five, thirty—and thus takes advantage of the flickering candle and fluctuating wave and increases his length of days by the glibness of his tongue.—Pittsburg Press.

A Prospective Snub.

Ethel—Hardly know him! Why, I shan't know him at all!—Detroit Free Press.

GROWING OLD WHILE YET YOUNG

What a number of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case.

There are thousands of females all over our land, broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with disease peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young.

From early morn till late at night they have been on the go year after year, attending to the household duties. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, weakness, dizziness, sleeplessness and many other troubles follow. What a woman wants is something to build up the system and for this purpose you cannot equal

Little Johnny's Resolutions

"NEXT Tuesday 'ill be New Year's day,"
Said little Johnny Lake.
"Some reserlootions, mom declares,
I really ought to make.
Mom's promised to stop gossipin',
An' so has Sister Sue.
I guess I'll resolute a bit.
Le's see—what shall I do?

"I'll resolute, I guess, to quit
A-splittin' kindlin' wood;
Then pop 'ill have to do that work,
Like fathers always should.
An' then, while I'm a-doin' it,
I'll resolute to quit
The Sunday school, fer goin' there
With me don't make no hit.

"I GUESS I'LL RESOLUTE A BIT."

"I'd like to resolute some way
To git myself a goat;
I want a buttin' billy ram
With whiskers on his throat.
An' then I'll resolute, I guess,
To beat up Tammy Hunt;
He's took an' stole my girl frum me,
The doggone little runt!

"I reckon that's enough fer me
To resolute jist now;
At any rate, I'll make that do—
It's plenty, anyhow.
Le's see—I start on New Year's day.
Well, that ain't very fur.
Won't mom be tickled when she finds
How well I've minded her?"

A ROYAL POKER GAME.

How King Kalakaua Wound Up His New Year's Festivities.

C. R. Mackenzie, describing in the St. Louis Republic a New Year's day in old Hawaii, says:

"After dinner we adjourned to the royal library, where we found card tables duly equipped. 'We generally wind up an evening of this kind with a game of poker,' said Kalakaua. 'Are you all content?' Every one was content, and it was my luck to be seated at the king's table.

"Next morning when at breakfast at the hotel one of the king's equerries came to my table and placed a chamois bag containing forty ten-dollar pieces in front of me, saying the king had sent them with his compliments. One of the ladies of our party who had witnessed this somewhat unusual proceeding asked me why the king should send me such a present.

"'Madam,' I replied, 'the shillings and sixpences which in the days of my youth I cast upon missionary waters to buy popguns and blankets for the Sandwich Islanders have this morning been returned to me a hundred fold.'"

Fortune Telling on New Year's Eve.

Fortune telling obtains in rural Germany on New Year's eve. The young people, who gather to peer together into the future, melt a little lead in a long handled ladle. The person who grasps the handle then pours the molten metal into a pail of water, standing well back so as not to be scalded by the splashing water and steam, for the striking of the lead upon the water produces almost the effect of an explosion. If the lead congeals into any shape that can be construed as like a star it is a good augury. If a film gathers on the surface it means money. Any old woman who is an expert seer can see in the metal and water sure signs of coming marriage, long journeys, sickness or death. The ability to read these riddles is supposed to descend by inheritance from mother to daughter.

Watching the old year out has been a common custom in many lands. In most countries it assumes with the serious minded the phase of devotion. In many countries where Roman Catholicism is the prevalent form of faith the year is begun with midnight masses. Among the Greek Catholics the same usage prevails. It declined in the Church of England, but was revived by several of the dissenting bodies, the watch night of the Methodists being merely a modification of the once general practice. Among the convivially inclined, however, watch night is taken anything but seriously, and the new year is welcomed with such signs of rejoicing as to one who did not understand the customs would seem to indicate that all men were heartily tired of existence and glad to see their years go by as speedily as possible.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

New Changes Are Rung on All White Frocks—Schoolgirl's Ulster.

Instead of the all white frock many of the lace and chiffon dresses are made with little boleros of bright colored silk or satin, from which long vest ends hang to the knee of the skirt. When desired the gown may be finished complete without this little bolero.

Black evening gowns will be invariably trimmed with jet and sequins, the somber effect being relieved by a narrow lace or tulle tucker around the decollete, while the sash is carried out in black panne with heavy jet tassels.

Braiding is to take the place of embroideries on street costumes. On many of the handsome silk and cloth jackets there is a combination of braid work and embroidery that is most attractive.

For wear with tailor made clothes the plaid silk skirt is very popular finished with self trimmings. For elaborate street gowns the plaid silk skirts are trimmed with plain silk, lace braid work and embroidery.

All dark waists should have a touch of white at the collar and cuffs. Short sleeves render the white cuff unnecessary, but white at the throat is obligatory.

Very smart is the hat pictured. It suggests Scotland both in the plaited fans that decorate the upturned brim and the scarf of plaid silk encircling the crown. Quills and choux of velvet build up the back.

C. E. Gault a Candidate.

The First January New Year's Day.

Caesar selected the feast of Janus, the two faced god of war, as the year's great mile stone, because the statue of this god seemed to look back into the past and forward into the future; hence on New Year's day we are still paying tribute to a heathen god. Prior to the reform of the calendar the Romans observed the 21st day of December, the winter solstice, as the beginning of the year. This date and the summer solstice, the 21st of June, as well as the vernal and autumnal equinoctial changes in March and September, have come in for first place in the year at various times in the history of the world.

A SCHOOLGIRL'S HAT.

which to fasten it. Marabou and ostrich boas are legion, very wide and fluffy for carriage use, but narrow and ropy for street wear.

Furriers have designed many fanciful scarf draperies and little shoulder wraps in fur, fur and cloth, fur and lace and fur and chiffon to take the place of the scarfs and little coats and draped shoulder wraps of silk, etc., which have had such a vogue.

The manufacturers have reckoned upon an extensive market for two piece frocks of sheer wool or silk to be worn with separate coats. As a result an unusual supply of voiles, eolienne and other similar fabrics are to be found in the shops.

A new idea in furs is the introduction of straps of silk and velvet outlining the seams of little fur coatees.

The narrow belt has seen its day on gowns, the high plaited girdle having taken its place.

The suspender dress that combines a washable blouse is a practical and pretty idea for a girl's costume.

The hat illustrated is a smart model for a young girl. It is a claret red beaver trimmed with shaded red and black ribbon in a soft wide width.

First Aid to Santa Claus.

A clever idea for a Christmas night party is to have the gifts come in on a sled piled high and strapped on and the sled drawn by two lads dubbed Santa Claus' assistants. The place cards at the supper which follows the distribution of the gifts should be tiny sleds made from cardboard and dipped in mucilage, then in diamond dust, the rope to be of silver cord and each sled drawn by a miniature Santa Claus about three inches high.

to see how far wrong it is, soon becomes a confidence-losing pastime. The watch is, doubtless, capable of running quite accurately, but you have neglected it; and the needed repairs will depend upon how long you have allowed it to go wrong. Hon. Senator Cox Resigns From Presidency Of Canadian Bank

Of Commerce—A Prominent Financier and Former Peterborough Citizen Who Announces Retirement From Executive Offices In Number of Financial Concerns—Will Still Be At Head of Toronto Savings and Loan Co.

No announcement in recent years in financial circles has created the interest which that made by Hon. Senator Cox yesterday did. It was made at the annual meeting of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in Toronto, and was to the effect that he was retiring from the presidency of that institution, as well as from the presidency of a number of other companies in which he holds a similar office. The Toronto Star, referring to it, says:

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Bank of Commerce this morning, Senator George A. Cox announced his retirement not only from the presidency of that great financial institution, but also, within the next few months, he said, "from a number of positions which I feel can now be better filled by younger and more energetic men." The decision involves his resignation of all offices except that of director in companies of which he is now an official, save in the case of the Canada Life and the Central Canada Loan, at the helm of which he will continue to stand. He will, of course, remain upon the directorates of the companies with which he is identified, but not as an office-holder or member of the executive. He will be succeeded as president of the Bank of Commerce by Mr. Byron E. Walker, now, the general manager, and Mr. Alex. Laird, now assistant general manager, will take the place vacated by Mr. Walker.

Senator Cox's Statement

In announcing his decision as regards the Bank of Commerce, and in recommending as his successor Mr. Walker, Senator Cox recalled the fact that his decision was not made suddenly. Indeed, for the past five years, he said he had been promising his family and friends that he would abate the strenuosity of his business life. This step he is now taking after half a century of active business, for twenty-one years of which he has been a director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, occupying the vice-president's chair for two years and the president's for seventeen years. At the time of his becoming a director, in 1881, the total assets were but slightly more than the increase in assets reported for the year just closed.

HON. SENATOR COX
Who has resigned from Presidency of Bank of Commerce.

Talk With Senator Cox

A Star representative called on Senator Cox this morning to inquire about his resignation of the presidency of the Bank of Commerce, and

JOINT INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS OF TWO COURTS

Members of Ancient Order of Foresters' Courts Had a Very Enjoyable Evening—The New Officers

GREAT PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the members of Court Stanley, A. O. F., and Companion Circle Queen Alexandra last night, when the officers of both Courts were jointly installed.

When the business of Court Stanley was concluded the members of the companion circle were then admitted, and the ceremony of installation took place.

The following officers of Court Stanley were installed by P. D. C. R., W. J. Johnston:

C. R.—Bro. T. Hendry.
P. C. R.—Bro. H. Hanwell.
S. C. R.—Bro. James McDonald.
Treasurer—Bro. S. Adlam.
Secretary—Bro. R. J. McWilliams.
Senior Woodward—Bro. J. H. Anderson.
Junior Woodward — Bro. A. J. White.
Senior Beadle—Bro. D. Oliver.
Junior Beadle—Bro. A. W. Head.
Trustees — Bros. W. Edwards, H. McWha, H. Tighe.
Auditors — Bros. A. Gilbart, D. Oliver, W. J. Johnston.
Medical Officers—Bros. W. D. Scott and C. H. Amys.
Sub-Secretary—Bro. W. H. Tighe.
Chaplain—Bro. D. Hamilton.
Delegates to District Court—Bros. R. J. McWilliams, H. Tighe.
Alternates—Bros. W. Edwards, H. McWha.
Correspondent to "The Forester"—Bro. H. McWha.

P. C. C. Mrs. Lloyd then installed the following officers of Queen Alexandra Circle:

Chief Companion — Mrs. Wm. Stevens.
Sub-Companion—Mrs. T. R. White.
Secretary—Mrs. R. Goodenough.
Treasurer—Mrs. J. Scott.
Chaplain—Mrs. S. Adlam.
R. Guide—Mrs. MaLean.
L. Guide—Miss Davis.
Inside Guard—Miss W. Moss.
Outside Guard—Mrs. Halpin.
Trustees—Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Adlam, Mrs. Dodds.
Auditors—Miss M. Moss, Mrs. Adlam, Mrs. Weir.
Pianist—Miss M. Moss.
Physician—Dr. J. Morgan.

After the installation speeches were made by C. R., T. Hendry; P. C. R., H. Hanwell, and S. C. R., Jas. McDonald.

P. D. C. R., W. J. Jonston gave a very interesting address indicating the progress made by Court Stanley the past year. The report of the auditors, he said, showed a credit balance on the books of over $600, and that 25 or 30 members had been initiated into the local court during the past few months without the aid of any paid organizer. This record, he believed, was not excelled by any fraternal society in the Dominion.

P. C. C., Mrs. Lloyd also made a very able reply on behalf of the Companion Circle. They had initiated 15 or 20 members during the past term and the funds showed a respectable balance on the right side.

The balance of the evening was then given up to music and light refreshments were served by the committees in charge. Songs were contributed by Bro. Edwards and others.

There was a large attendance of both courts and there were several visiting members, principally from the Mother Country, where the A. O. F. was first instituted.

The prospects for the coming year under Chief Ranger Hendrys administration are of the brightest.

Great praise is due to the committee in charge last night, composed of Bros. Tremaine, Seth Adlam and H. McWha.

WHO WILL BE THE COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN?

Gossip of the Newly Elected Council—Ald. Morrow for the Manufacturers' Committee

ALD. BRADBURN, FINANCE MINISTER?

Now that the elections are over and the personnel of the council determined the next thing to be considered is the composition of the various committees. A council to be able to do effective work must have strong hard-working committees and this question will probably occupy the thoughts of the aldermen this week.

The inaugural meeting of the council will be held on Monday night next and the different committees will be arranged then. In the meantime there is a great deal of speculation as to who will be the chairmen of the committees.

It is said that Ald. Morrow, who headed the polls, is slated for the chairmanship of the Manufacturers' Committee. It is believed that Ald. Morrow is admirably fitted for such a position and should be able to do very effective work there.

In connection with the Finance Committee the name of Ald. W. H. Bradburn is mentioned. His business training would enable him to look after the city's finances in a careful and able manner.

The chairmanship of the Fire, Water and Light Committee will undoubtedly go to Ald. Johnston, if he cares to accept it. Ald. Johnston has had much experience in connection with this committee and would make a splendid chairman.

The chairmanship that will be the hardest to settle is that of the Board of Works, the most important perhaps, of all the committees. The difficulty is not because there is no one to fulfill the position, but because there are so many good men to select from.

It is said that there is an agitation on foot for the establishment of several new committees this year whose work was done last year by the other committees. It is proposed that the Property Committee be once more organized which would take some of the work away from the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Big Drop In The Temperature

At last, the hoped-for change in the weather has arrived. Last night the temperature dropped from freezing point, 32 degrees above zero, to below zero. The drop was accompanied by a high wind, which has caused considerable drifting in exposed places. The outlook is for continued cold for several days, at least, though no very low records are looked for. It is not really as cold to-day as most people imagine it is. It's the wind that gives that impression.

During the past ten days, the temperature each day had ranged from 25 to 40 degrees above zero—an unseasonably mild spell—while at the same time the region west of Lake Superior has been in the grip of the frost king, extremely cold with heavy snow falls. There has been more snow in Manitoba up to date than in any winter in ten years, the precipitation of rain here taking the form of snow farther west. Our mild weather has moved east, and the cold wave from the west has taken its place.

MINISTERS PLEASED WITH THE INSPECTOR

A Resolution Passed by Ministerial Association Commending Work of License Inspector Stewart

Mr. J. D. Stewart, License Inspector, has received the following letter from the secretary of the Peterborough Ministerial Association. It is self-explanatory:

I have pleasure in forwarding to you the accompanying resolution, passed at the Ministerial Association meeting held yesterday. All the members bore testimony to the efficiency of your work, and the resulting improved conditions in the conducting of the licensed hotels in our city.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Grothers, seconded by Rev. J. G. Potter, it was resolved, 'That this association express its entire satisfaction with Inspector Stewart in his work of carrying out the license law. We have heard from the inspector, with great pleasure, that the law is well observed. While, as an association, we do not in any way countenance the sale of intoxicants as a beverage, we desire to commend the action of those who faithfully keep the law."

A BEAR DISCOVERED IN OTONABEE

Left its Winter Quarters to Roam About the Forest

It is not usual the hermit animal known as the bear finds its way as far south as the open township of Otonabee and especially at this time of the year when one would expect Mr. Bruin would be in the midst of his winter slumber. Nevertheless a bear was seen on the farm of Mr. Wm. Anderson, M.P., the other day. A number of men are engaged there by the Curtis Bros., and it was one of these who saw the animal which first caused alarm among the horses.

When he found he was discovered, the bear disappeared in the woods and has not been seen since. Mr. Anderson's farm is about eight miles from the city.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY ELECTED NEW OFFICERS

Rev. John McNeil, of Toronto, will be Engaged to Give a Lecture by Murray Street Society in Near Future

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Murray street Baptist church yesterday afternoon heard the reports presented for the past year's work. The annual meeting was held yesterday and was attended by a large number of members of the Society. The officers elected to guide the destinies of the Society during the present year were:—

President—Mrs. James Montgomery.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. K T Ellis.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. T J Wilson.
Sec.-Treasurer—Miss Cushenan.
Executive Committee—Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Mrs. Rouzel and Mrs. (Dr.) Scott.

During the year the Society raised nearly $100, the greater part of which was used to pay on the new piano purchased for the use of the church.

It was decided to engage Rev. John McNeil, of Toronto, who was heard so much pleasure on the occasion of the recent Baptist Convention, for a lecture during February.

BOARD OF EDUCATION TO HOLD INAUGURAL MEETING

First Meeting of the New Board will be Held To-morrow Night in Secretary's Office

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Thursday night, Jan. 10th, in the office of the Secretary. It will be necessary to elect a new chairman this year, in view of the fact that Mr. Ferguson, who occupied that position last year is no longer a member of the Board,

You have No Reason for Not Using

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that the drug cures do this, but that is no reason why you should not take Zutoo.

Zutoo is a harmless vegetable remedy. One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach, when they had sick headache. And there is nothing better.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time.

If you are using a drug remedy, why not discard it?

Zutoo will cure just as quickly and will save you the penalty, that all must sometime pay, who take the drugs which these cures contain.

If you will give Zutoo one trial, you will never take any other headache remedy again.

SENATOR COX

While the financial, commercial and industrial world, will be interested in the retirement of Hon. Geo. A. Cox, from the presidency of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, this step will have a peculiar interest to the people of Peterborough. While his influence and activities are, and have been, practically cosmopolitan in their range, it was in Peterborough where his course of unprecedented success began. Peterborough was his home, and he never forgot, nor forgets, Peterborough. Many of the advantages, and much of her present position are due to the energy and good will of Mr. Cox. When Peterborough was, in a large sense, isolated from the world, when all her connections with the outside world, consisted, practically, of a moribund railway, giving a service inadequate and slow, it was the financial genius, foresight and energy, of George A. Cox that put life into the dead tracks, and established the beginnings of the excellent transportation and communication facilities we now possess. And he has been a good friend to Peterborough ever since. He made Peterborough the centre for important financial institutions, and the reputation we enjoy for pre-eminence industrially, and otherwise, is largely due to the persistence with which Mr. Cox, in all his great operations, has associated Peterborough as his home and headquarters, that has made the name of Peterborough so well known, and so well esteemed. This reputation has served us in good stead; it has turned the eyes of capital and industrial enterprise towards us, with many important and happy results. Not only in this regard has Hon. Mr. Cox been a friend to Peterborough, but it has been very largely due to his intervention, influence and efforts, that we owe many of our most important industrial concerns. When, on many occasions, negotiations have been at the critical stage, when the resources of the city to grasp the proferred plum, have seemed to be upon the point of exhaustion, Hon. Mr. Cox has stepped in, and by a bold, and, to Peterborough, loyal stroke of action, has decided the matter in her favour. If it were in our power to explicitly appraise the extent of the influence exercised in favour of Peterborough by Hon. Senator Cox, we should have a much more vivid idea of the extent to which we have been benefitted, materially and otherwise, by Hon. Senator Cox. Speaking of his relations to Peterborough — both in the past, and as to the present, one may well adapt the lines, "Take him for all in all, he is a man we shall not look upon his like again." His wide operations in the great world of finance are history in the making, and are receiving and will receive, due recognition. We are chiefly concerned with him in his relations to Peterborough, which have been so pleasant and profitable in the past, and promise to be so in the future. Here he made his first forward step in life, his first home, his first domestic associations were formed in Peterborough, and on these accounts Hon. Mr. Cox has a very warm place in his heart for Peterborough. For a hard-headed man of business, Senator Cox has a great deal of sentiment in his composition. He has kept his beautiful home in Peterborough, and when, in the lapse of time he shall lay aside entirely, as he has partially, after fifty one years of strenuous service, the burdens of active responsibility, there is no reason to doubt that he will return to end his days in Peterborough, in the enjoyment, it is hoped, of that ease and comfort which his faithful discharge of great trusts will have so richly deserved.

AN INDIAN HAD HIS HEAD BATTERED

Was Plaintiff in Case at Court This Morning—One Witness Did Not Appear Till Too Late

Cold weather and a case of more than ordinary importance were the chief reasons for a crowded court room this morning. P. Clunan was charged with having assaulted Richard Cornelius on Monday, in the Royal Hotel. Cornelius is an Indian and hails from the vicinity of Indian River. Yesterday morning, according to the story he gave in evidence, with Daniel Leary and Thos. Cleary, he came to Peterborough on the local train at 8 o'clock. They went to the Royal Hotel and had three drinks apiece and separated, Cornelius having business to do in the city. In his testimony, Cornelius said that when he returned later to that hotel, by appointment, Cleary was there. The latter wanted a drink, but Kelly, the proprietor, would not give him one. Cleary was afterwards ejected from the house. Leary came in and spoke of having dinner. Kelly refused Cornelius a drink, but had a cigar instead. P. Clunan quietly told the Indian to get out, but the latter said, "Give me a little time." He was told to leave several times, but did not go. Cornelius had been there about two hours and a half. Clunan advanced to put the Indian out, and, according to Cornelius' story, drew a policeman's baton. Cornelius backed to the door and warded off a few blows. Kelly assisted Clunan, and in the melee the Indian received two blows over the head that cut him badly and drew blood profusely. He then went to Dr. Greer's and had his wounds dressed. Mr. G. W. Hatton, who appeared for defendant, questioned Cornelius, who caused some amusement by witty answers. Daniel Leary was called and, in his evidence, corroborated Cornelius' testimony to some extent. He did not see the scuffle, as when it began he "skidooed," going to the dining-room for dinner.

Thos. Cleary did not appear, and accordingly the case was adjourned until Monday next.

After the court room had been cleared, about fifteen minutes later Cleary came in rather excited and said that he did not know he had the paper on his person until a few minutes previous, when he was asked why he had absented himself. He was very drunk yesterday and thus did not realize the meaning of the paper. He hurried to the court as soon as possible and was very sorry that he had not been present. Chief Rossel endeavoured to arrange for the completion of the case this afternoon.

COLLECTION FOR THE KITAAMAT HOME

Interesting Meeting of the George Street Methodist W. F. M. S. Yesterday

A very interesting meeting was held by the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the George Street Methodist Church yesterday afternoon in the church parlours when an enjoyable programme was rendered. There was a large attendance of members who took a deep interest in the meeting. The president, Mrs. Jas. Kenddry, was in the chair.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises, after which Miss Muriel Crothers contributed a very enjoyable solo. A very interesting paper was read by Mrs. (Rev. Dr.) Crothers, on the work of the Kitaamat home a subject that is of great interest to the members of the society.

Miss Mabel Chasty contributed a solo in good voice. An interesting and unique feature was the reading of a series of papers describing the manner in which Christmas is celebrated in various countries of the world. Those taking part were Mrs. W. Devins, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. (Rev.) Campbell, Mrs. R. R. Armstrong, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. J. B. Pentland, Mrs. J. D. Craig, Mrs. G E. Elliott and Mrs. D. Cameron.

A thank offering collection was taken up for the benefit of the new Kitaamat Home and the contributions of the gathering amounted to $30.

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served and an enjoyable social time spent.

HE IS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

William Quinlivan, of Percy Township, Temporarily Confined in Peterborough Jail to Await His Trial in Cobourg

William Quinlivan, a resident of the township of Percy, Northumberland County, was brought to the County jail here to-day, to await his trial which will take place in Cobourg. He was arrested on a charge of assaulting a girl under fourteen years of age, and, by the magistrate was committed for trial. His presence in Peterborough is explained by the fact that the new jail at Cobourg is not yet ready for occupancy, and, pending his trial he is being confined here, the cost of his maintenance, of course, being borne by the Counties of Northumberland and Durham.

Disease Born of Carelessness

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Disease results in most cases from the presence of poisonous waste matter in the body, and may, therefore, be said to arise from ignorance or carelessness.

Bilious spells, sick headache, attacks of indigestion, kidney pains and backache—such are the indications of failure on the part of the liver to remove the poisonous waste matter as rapidly as it accumulates.

By the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the situation is promptly relieved, because, liver, kidney and bowels are set in vigorous action and the filtering and excretory system thoroughly cleansed and strengthened.

Neglect to afford assistance at such a time is to invite the attack of such ailments as Bright's disease, dropsy, rheumatism or appendicitis.

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailment was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing this treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse until there were brick dust deposits, and then I know that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural colour and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting."

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE MIKADO"

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday next, in thee Grand opera house the famous collaborative production of Gilbert and Sullivan, the "Mikado" comic opera, will be represented by a company of Peterborough amateurs, under the direction of Mr. R. J. Devey. First produced at the Savoy Theatre, London, in March, 1885, this popular piece, has been given all over the world, and young and old have made merry at its pure comedy and sparkling music. Naki-Poo, son of the Mikado, flies from court to escape unwelcome attention from Katisha, an elderly lady of the court. Disguised as a strolling trombone player, he meets Yum-Yum, a ward of Koko, Lord High Chief Executioner, and a mutual attachments results in Koko giving up Yum-Yum to Nanki-Poo in spite of Katisha, who appears on the scene, trying to expose him. Under an edict Koko is obliged to execute some person within a month, but failing to provide a victim persuades Pooh-Bah to swear falsely that he has executed Nanki-Poo. The certificate is found by Katisha and the Mikado, and Koko only escapes execution by marrying Katisha and producing the supposed victim Nanki-Poo, to the chagrin of Katisha and the delight of the Mikado. The opera abounds in tuneful numbers and is well worth a visit.

CONGREGATION ISSUED A CALL

Rev. Harris Peckover, of Sunderland, May be Next Pastor of Omemee, Lakevale and Mount Pleasant Churches

Last night the congregation of the Presbyterian churches at Omemee, Lakevale and Mount Pleasant met at Omemee to consider the question of calling a pastor. Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, presided and the ballots which had been distributed some weeks ago among the members of the congregation were collected and counted, and it was found that Rev. Harris Peckover, of Sunderland, had obtained practically all the votes of the congregation, and was the unanimous choice. It was decided, therefore, to present the call to the meeting of Presbytery, which will be held to-morrow morning in St. Andrew's Church, and Mr. Thomas Young, of Lakevale, Mr. Wm. Sandy, of Omemee, and Mr. James Best, of Mount Pleasant, were appointed to support the call.

In case the call is sustained by Presbytery and is accepted by Mr. Peckover, it is expected that the new pastor will take charge of the congregation about the first of next month.

The salary was fixed at $800 with a free manse.

This afternoon Rev. J. G. Potter was in telephone communication with Rev. Mr. Peckover, and the latter intimated that he would give favourable consideration to the call of the Omemee congregation.

Out of 140 votes cast Mr. Peckover received no less than 137, and it was later made unanimous.

The Crisis In France Was The Subject Of A Lecture

Rev. Father McColl Displays Deep Knowledge of That Burning Question of the Day — Large Audience Snatched the Opportunity — Rev. Dr. Torrance Occupied the Chair — A Musical Programme.

Opportunities such as were afforded the citizens of Peterborough last night at the Grand Opera House are seldom available to those who wish to become acquainted with the universal questions of the day. The lecture of Rev. Father McColl on the world-wide burning question, "The Religious Crisis in France" was presented there to a particularly large audience for such unfavourable weather conditions and was followed from beginning to end with undivided interest. The subject is one of the most widely discussed in all non-Christian, as well as Christian countries of the universe and it is certain that there are very few so fully versed in the history of the struggle between the Popes and the French Government during the past three hundred years as the Reverend Father who presented the facts from the stage of the Grand Opera House last night.

The curtain rose shortly after eight o'clock and at the conclusion of a short musical programme, introduced by Miss Gertrude McCollum, the chairman, Rev. Dr. Torrance and the speaker, the Rev. Father McColl, took seats upon the stage. Rev. Dr. Torrance before introducing the speaker of the evening referred to absence of one of the preliminary participants—Miss Helen Davies, vocalist—who was absent on account of a severe cold. The subject, he explained was one not merely of local interest. The eyes of the whole civilized world were fixed, he said, on the Vatican and the French Government and when the history of the Government of France was written, this story he believed would occupy an important place. It was a pleasure, he said, to have the honour of being chairman before such a gathering. Rev. Father McColl was then called upon.

"The crisis which exists in France at the present time, is occupying the attention of the whole Christian world. The French Government openly proclaim that their Separation Bill is but an honest endeavor to sever the ties of Church and State in France, to divorce politics from religion, and to grant to all her subjects absolute freedom of worship. I think, however, that a review of French history for the last twenty-five years, and a study of French Legislation for the last five, prove the very opposite to the case. Instead of granting freedom of religion, their intention is to enslave the Christian Church, and by separating the Church from the State, they mean the banishment of Christ and the Christian religion from the French dominions. For the last quarter of a century these atheists have shouted their beliefs in the market place. Gambetta's motto was "Behold clericalism the enemy." In 1885 Fernand Faure declared, "I maintain we must eliminate religious influence in whatever form it may express itself. The triumph of the Gallilean has endured twenty centuries. The God liar has died in his turn. He is sinking in the dust of the ages, with the other Divinities of Asia, Egypt, Greece and Rome." Briand, the present minister of Public Worship, speaking at a Congress of Teachers said;

"The time has come to root up from the minds of French children the ancient faith, which has served its purpose, and replace it with the light of free thought; it is time to get rid of the Christian idea. We have hunted Jesus Christ out of the army, the navy, the schools, the hospitals, insane and orphan asylums and law courts, and now we must hunt Him out of the State altogether."

This is the very language which suits the Socialistic party in the Chamber, one of whom, their leader, M. Jaures, said:

"If God Himself appeared before the multitude in palpable form, the first duty of man would be to refuse Him obedience, and to consider Him, not as a Master to whom men should submit, but as an equal with whom men may argue."

One of M. Briand's colleagues, M. Viviani, the Minister of Labor, who has taken possession of the residence of the Venerated Archbishop of Paris, Monseigneur Richard, said also recently;

"All of us together, first by our forefathers, then by our fathers, now by ourselves have been attached to the work of anti-clericalism and irreligion. We have snatched the human conscience from belief in a future life. Do you think that the work is at an end? No, it is but beginning."

These blasphemous statements will give you some idea of the animus of the Atheists now ruling France, and of their hatred of everything Christian. We trust that a careful consideration of the facts we are about to present, will make clear to every impartial mind, that this so-called law of separation is not one of equity and liberty, but one of injustice and oppression, and that the action of the Holy Father regarding it, was neither unreasonable nor arbitrary, but necessary in the defence of religion, freedom of conscience and of Christian worship.

NO PARALLEL HERE

The relations of the Church and State in France have no parallel in our Canadian or American conditions, and cannot be judged by

REV. FATHER McCOLL,
The lecturer at the Grand Opera House last night on "The Crisis in France" standards, which are in place here. There are many preliminary questions concerning the treatment of the Church by the French State, which demand exposition, if one is to have a full understanding of the situation. The French State has unduly interfered with the liberty of the Church, ever since the reign of Louis XIV. This powerful monarch usurped all the powers of the State for the Crown and established, in defiance of the old constitution of the Kingdom, absolute monarchy, which, as long as man remains what he is, can be in practice only despotism. Having virtually suppressed the States-General, he left no organized check on his arbitrary will except the Church. So long as the great body of the people of any country hold the Catholic faith, absolute monarchy can exist only in name, if the Church be left free, and her Bishops and clergy independent of the State in spiritual matters, and responsible only to their own spiritual chief.

Louis could affect his purpose, and establish the absolutism he adored only by destroying the freedom of the Church and the independence of the French clergy. He attacked the Church with the same recklessness as he attacked foreign nations, and endeavored to transfer to himself the spiritual jurisdiction which belongs solely to the Church.

Louis XV. proved more arbitrary even than his predecessor in dealing with the Church. He banished Archbishops and Bishops, exiled Priests, who were faithful to the Church and condemned many to the galleys, at the same time that he gave perfect freedom to such infidels as Voltaire and Rousseau to propogate their infamous doctrines. The corrupt morals of the King and his Court and their extravagance, combined with the abominable doctrines inculcated by these two chiefs of the army of Satan had an immense influence in weakening the hold of religion on the hearts of the multitude, in corrupting the manners and morals of the people, and in giving to the revolution its special bone and character.

NATURE OF FRENCH CONCORDAT.

"The breaking out of the French Revolution, caused disorder in every branch of society, and the interests of church and religion were among the first to suffer. One of the acts of the National Assembly of 1789, was to lay hold of all of the property of the church, and place it "at the disposal of the nation." In the course of its 1400 years of ministry, the Catholic Church in France had duly become the possessor and titular of much property, consisting not only of its edifices for public worship, but of residences of bishops and priests, of monastries and other religious houses, of hospitals, schools and asylums, with lands and revenues for their support and maintenance.

"These were not, for the greater part, the gift of the State originally, nor created from the public treasury, but as is the case in this country, came from the donations and bequests and offerings of the faithful. Their confiscation, therefore, by the revolutionary government, was neither legal, equitable, nor moral. As Mirabeau said: "We have their money; but they have preserved their honor."

"Napoleon, the First Consul, was convinced that the State needed the aid of religion for a stable and secure existence. He decided therefore, to reinstate the ancient Catholic faith in France. With this end in view he sought the co-operation of Pius VII., the reigning head of the church, and made with him a solemn compact or treaty. This bilateral contract, signed July 15, 1801, by Napoleon and Pius VII., is known as the French Concordat. By the terms of this Concordat France gave recognition to the re-establishment of the Catholic Church in that country, and acknowledged the authority of the Pope as its supreme pontiff and chief, and bound herself to support and uphold in public worship. The Chuch on its part made certain concessions to the State, particularly in the matter of its property taken by the revolution.

"Articles XI., XII., XIII., and XIV., of this Concordat treat of these property questions. The church had been claiming title to her goods of which she had been unlawfully despoiled, and much of which had been sold and transferred by the State, beyond the possibility of return. In the first place, the state agreed to restore to the church whatever property had not already been irrevocably alienated to other parties. And the Holy See pledged itself to put an end to all contention concerning her other confiscated goods by surrendering her legal rights to them, but in return the government guaranteed on its part an annual payment for the needs of public worship as an indemnity or compensation to the church, amounting, however, to only about one per cent. of the value of the property confiscated.

"This solemn treaty, or Concordat, thus terminated an immense property lawsuit, as M. Etienne Lamy has said. It regulated the relations of Church and State in France and helped in no small measure to bring about the desired peace and security. Its terms have been observed with scrupulous loyalty by the Holy See at all times."

"Other conditions of the Concordat, were that the First Consul shall make all nominations to Archbishoprics and Bishopricks, and the the Holy See confer canonical institution. The bishops shall have the right of appointing pastors, but shall select no one obnoxious to the government. These restrictions to which Pius VII. consented in order to effect the restoration of religious peace in France were still further aggravated by the "Organic Articles" against which the church has never ceased to protest, but with the different governments that have been in power during the 19th Century have always considered a law of the State. According to these Articles, no bull, no announcement from Rome, no decree of a council, even of a general council, could be published in France, without authorization from the government. No bishop could journey to Rome, or go outside of his diocese, unless he first obtained permission to do so from the Minister of Public Worship. They were forbidden to hold a council or a provincial synod or to pass among themselves a common letter without the consent of the government.

"These 'Articles' then, were never a part of the Concordat, and never consented to by the church. It is necessary to have a clear idea of the Concordat, and of the 'Organic Articles,' in order to understand the crucial events, which led to the present conflict between church and State.

These events may be summarized as follows:

1. The dispute concerning the nominations of bishops for the vacant Sees;
2. The journey of President Lauhet to Rome;
3. The resignation of the Bishops of Laval and Dijon.

Under the ministry of M. Waldeck Rousseau, the predecessor of M. Combes, the Pope deemed it necessary to reject several of the candidates for Bishoprics, proposed by the French government. Negotiations were about to follow concerning the selection of others, when Combes stepped into office.

The first act of the new ministry was to present to the Roman Curia the names which had been discarded both by the Papal Nuncio and the preceding cabinet. Combes declared that for the Sees in question he could never accept other candidates. He ventured still further and even sought to usurp the rights of the Holy See. The State had the right according to the Concordat, to nominate, but the Pope also had the right to reject candidates he considered unfit for so important a position. Combes then announced his intention of compelling the Pope to accept all his candidates in a body. The consequence was that during his ministry no episcopal vacancy was filled. This explains why on the rupture of the Concordat fifteen Episcopal Sees were unoccupied.

That which served as a pretext for the final rupture, and which Combes seized upon, was the cases of bishops of Dijon and Laval. The Vatican White Book, "The Documentary Expose of the Rupture of Diplomatic Relations between the Holy See and the French Government," leaves no doubt as to where to place the responsibility. Grave charges, of an exclusively religious kind, were brought in Rome against Mgr. Geay, Bishop of Laval, and Mgr. LeNordez, Bishop of Dijon. After careful investigation the accusations against the Bishop of Laval proved to be such as to compel the Holy Father to counsel the Bishop of Laval to resign his diocese, and to call him to Rome in order to give an explanation of his conduct. On July 2nd, 1904, the Cardinal Secretary wrote thus: "As those arrangements remain in all their vigor, Mgr. Geay will be invited to present himself in Rome within fifteen days, which follow the date of this letter, to appear in person before the tribunal of the said congregation with regard to divers accusations formulated against him, under pain of suspension latae sententiae ordivis et jurisdictionis, to be incurred ipso facto at the expiration of the delay fixed." (Doc. VIII.)

The case of the Bishop of Dijon is similar to that of the Bishop of Laval. On March 11, 1904, the Nuncio Apostolic wrote to him: "By order of our most Holy Father, I hasten to inform your Lordship that His Holiness desires that, until further orders from him, you, my lord, will suspend sacred ordinations." (Doc. XVII.) On April 24, 1904, the Cardinal Secretary summoned him to Rome: "The Holy Father has charged me to invite your most Illustrious and Right Reverend Lordship to be good enough to present yourself at Rom as soon as possible." (Doc. XIV.)

THE SEPARATION BILL.

The injury inflicted upon the Holy See by the abrogation of the Concordat is notably aggravated by the Separation Bill. "When the state brok the bonds of the Concordat and separated itself from the Church," says Pius X. in the encyclical 'Vehementer nos," it ought as a natural consequence to have left her independence and allowed her to enjoy peacefully that liberty, granted by common law, which it pretended to assign her. Nothing of this kind has been done." In fact, the French Government never intended to give the Church any share of liberty. The object in view was to crush the Church, to stamp her out. To achieve this end the Separation Bill despoils the Church of her property and deprives her of the very right to own property. It assigns the supervision of the Catholic worship to laymen. It subjects the Catholic clergy to an exceptionally severe penal code. This three-fold injustice of the new law makes it absolutely impossible for the Church to submit to it without giving up inalienable rights that condition her existence.

Now the law of separation, since it may already be spoken of as set aside, deprived the priests of their salaries, allowing only the more advanced in years a nominal pension; it deprived Catholics of the use of their churches, by providing that these should be made over to associations which Catholics could not consistently organize; and it provided for the sequestration of properties rightfully belonging to the Church. It was therefore an act of spoliation rather than a law of separation.

To appeal to the "spiritual," or property, worship associations as devised by the law, and to pretend that the state proposes to maintain the Church in the use of ecclesiastical properties, merely changing the form of associations which will be responsible for the exercise of worship, is only to raise other difficulties against the acceptance of this law. It is true that the law (article 11) declares that these worship associations should be in conformity with the general organization of the religion which they propose to maintain; but straightway it proceeds to determine for them a form and mode of organization which is in principle and practice wholly opposed to the organization of the Catholic religion, and which is designed to enslave the Church, instead of separating or liberating it from the state. According to article 19 of the Law of Separation:—

"These association should have no

OBITUARY

MRS. FRANK GREIG

The following has been handed the Examiner for publication:

It is with feelings of deep regret that will be shared in by the whole community that we chronicle the death of Mrs. Frank Greig, which sad event occurred at the residence of her parents, 672 Stewart street, on Friday, January 4, at the early age of 25 years. She had been a resident of Toronto since her marriage, which took place two years and ten months ago in Peterborough, and, having contracted a cold, she decided to come home about two months ago to see if a short stay at her home would prove beneficial. But instead, she immediately became worse, and in spite of all earthly aid, she passed peacefully away. Deceased possessed the faculty of endearing herself to all with whom she associated, and of her, many a kind word was spoken by her many friends in this city. During the last few weeks of her illness her conversation centred chiefly on that happy transition which was about to take place, and many were the heartfelt prayers which issued from her lips that the angel of death might conduct her safely to the throne of mercy, there to be judged by the God who gave her, being fortified by the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church, of which she was always a devoted member. We hope and trust that are she was cold in death that the great Judge of All pronounced on her that beautiful sentence, "Come, ye blessed of My Father, possess the kingdom prepared for you."

The funeral on Sunday to St. Peter's Cathedral was very largely attended. The last service was conducted by Rev. Father McColl, and at the cemetery by Rev. Father O'Leary. A feeling of profound sorrow and regret is felt by the many acquaintances of the deceased lady, and the sympathies of the entire community are extended to her bereaved husband, Mr. Frank Greig.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell; three sisters, Mrs. Phelan, of Smith street; Mrs. Fagan, of Toronto, and Miss Ella, at home; and three brothers, William, James and Joseph, all of this city, survive.

The pall-bearers were her two brothers, William and James, her two uncles, David Curtin, of Cheboygan, Mich., and Wm. Curtin, Lindsay, and two brothers-in-law, Patrick Phelan, Ennismore, and Ed. Phelan, of this city. Much credit is due the undertakers, Messrs. Lane & Eano, for the creditable manner in which the funeral was conducted.

THE ELEVATION OF ART PHOTOGRAPHY

New and Original Development of Etching Portrait Effects at Roy's Studio

The ability to get the artistic portrait effects that the modern city studios desires, comes only by study, persistence and painstaking experimenting. Much attention is being given in the studios of to-day by professional photographers to illustrate the beauty of soft, diffused lights and the correct rendering of figure effects and textures generally. The imaginative treatment of the enthusiastic artist demonstrates how photography may be made an art expression.

Photography is losing more and more every day the mechanical and tending more to the artistic. Old fashioned styles are rapidly losing ground and are being replaced by the newer and sketchier effects.

The Roy Studio, with its accustomed enterprise has introduced another new and original etching portrait. The idea follows closely along the lines of a sketch-drawing, and has all the beauty and depth of such with the additional advantage of being an absolutely true likeness. The features and principal parts of the drapery are actual photography while the background and lighter draperies are sketched in by hand, each print being treated separately and thus bearing an individuality, impossible to obtain in any other manner.

Mr. Roy has specialized along this line for some time past and his etchings have gained a wide and enviable reputation; but this, his last effort, is a crowning effort and original with the studio. A rather large head is printed and etched in the centre of the paper and in the lower left corner a small minature portrait of an entirely different view of the subject's face, gives the effect of a steel plate engraving.

After many experiments with varying results Mr. Roy believes he is the first to apply to photography these principles which, for beauty of conception and faithfulness of likeness, seem to be conceived in the poetic spirit.

An inspection of the samples of sepias, carbons and platinums at this studio will be highly appreciated by art lovers.

WEDDING BELLS

HAZLETT--BAILEY

At 11.30 a. m. yesterday in All Saints' Church, the marriage of Miss Bertha May Layton Bailey, daughter of the late Thomas J. Bailey, the late government engineer of Charlottetown, P. E. I., and neice of Col. E. B. Edwards, Edmonton, with William Alexander Hazlett, of Edmonton, was solemnized by Rev. William Major, rector of the church. The bride, who was given away by her mother, Mrs. Bailey, of this city, looked charming in a beautiful delicate dress of white Brussels lace with white satin trimmings, and wore the conventional bridal veil and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white bridal roses and white carnations. The bridesmaid Miss Helen Georgina, sister of the bride, was becomingly attired in pale green silk voile trimmed with Irish lace and a white tulle hat. Mr. Frank Austin, of this city, supported the groom. The groom's presents to the bride were a beautiful gold watch and chain and a diamond pin, and to the bridesmaid a lovely gold brooch.

The happy couple left yesterday afternoon for Edmonton where they will reside. Mrs. Hazlett's many Peterborough friends will join in wishing her a long and happy married life.

Prizes Distributed

The prizes to the scholars for regular attendance were next distributed to a number of the pupils by the secretary, Mr. O. S. Matchett. There were also a number of presents given by pupils to their teachers and by the teachers to their pupils.

For attendance every Sunday during the year four received prizes. These were Hazel Crowe, Albert Crowe, Wesley Crowe and Charlie Telford. Those who attended every Sunday but one were Douglass Coon and Harry Gillespie. The former has only missed one Sunday in three years, and on that day he met with an accident which prevented his attendance.

A vote of thanks was moved by Norman McIntyre, and Albert Crowe to the senior scholars for their kindness in providing the drive and supper and also for their attendance. This was briefly responded to by Mr. J. Miller, the assistant Superintendent.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of God Save the King.

TEACHER ENTERTAINS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Miss Frise, of McDonnel Street, was the Hostess in Social Event

The Sunday School pupils of Class No. 6, of the George Street Methodist Church were entertained last night in a pleasant social manner by their teacher, Miss Alzena Frise, at her home, 278 McDonel street. After tea number of games were played which together with a delightful musical programme made the evening an enjoyable one. The event has become an annual affair and was very much appreciated by Miss Frise's class. The hostess thoughtfully arranged for the safe delivery home of her pupils living in the outlying districts of the city.

MR. KNAPMAN TAKES AN IMPORTANT POSITION

Will be Purchasing Agent for Poles for the Bell Telephone Company—Will Control Expenditure of $400,000 Annually

ABOUT 75,000 POLES ARE REQUIRED

Yesterday Mr. J. S. Knapman commenced work for the Bell Telephone Company, on an important engagement, in the purchasing department. Mr. Knapman will have charge of purchasing poles for the company, his territory being Ontario and Quebec, and, in all probability, the Northwest. The position is an important one, involving purchases amounting to in the neighbourhood of $400,000 per year.

The new position will take Mr. Knapman out of the city practically all the time, superintending the work of procuring the supply of poles for the extensive operations of the company, contracts having been made last year for about 75,000 poles, so rapid has been the expansion of the business.

Mr. Knapman will have under his direction a staff of inspectors and cullers who will take charge of the poles after they have been bought, the latter work being essentially Mr. Knapman's. For this position he is well qualified, his years of experience with the telephone business having made him familiar with this, as well as with other features. Since he left the company's employ he has been in the pole business himself, taking contracts for supplying poles to telephone and telegraph companies. He is thus in a good position to give his new employers good service, by reason of his thorough knowledge of the business.

The Bell Telephone Company buys its poles in different parts of the country, chiefly, however, in the northern portion of the province, and along the line of the Canada Atlantic.

Mr. Knapman's headquarters will be in Montreal but he will still live in Peterborough and will be here frequently.

THE CRISIS IN FRANCE SUBJECT OF LECTURE

other object than the administration of a religion and be composed of 7 persons in communes of from 1,000 to 20,000 inhabitants; and in communes of more than 20,000 inhabitants of 25 persons, all resident in the same ecclesiastical territory."

So far as qualifications for membership in these associations are concerned, the law does not specify any, except the vague requirement that the associations themselves shall be in conformity with the religion they are organized to maintain. The members need not be Catholics, or they might be nominally Catholic and at heart hostile to the Church so far as the framers of this law care; they may even be atheists, Socialists, Protestants, Jews, anything but Catholic, provided they profess the intention to organize associations for the exercise of the Catholic religion. Their powers are not limited, except by the control which the state is to hold over their finances; so far as religion goes, they should have complete jurisdiction over it. They should select its ministers, determine their functions, designate the time and conditions for holding services; in a word, regulate the religion itself as well as administer its temporalities. The law does not obviously exclude bishops or priests from membership; but it contains two, among other, provisions which effectually prevent them from organizing or taking any part in these associations. In the first place the law has so devised these associations that to form or take part in them would be to acquiesce in the right of the state to the possession or sequestration of church properties to administer with these associations are intended. Now even if the bishops could waive the question of the right of the state to appropriate these properties, they cannot consistently become members of associations which would have entire control over them and their priests as also over the regulation not only of the temporalities of the Church, but also of its public worship, of its administration of the sacraments and of its entire discipline and doctrine. To invite the ministers of the Church to form or to enter the cultual associations is to invite them to approve of spoliation and submit to slavery.

No Catholic layman would assume the responsibilities devolving upon the members of the cultual associations. If it were possible to organize them, they would be formed of groups of anti-Catholics, united for the purpose of hampering the Church authorities. Even were it conceivable that any bishop or priest, with some thoroughly devoted laymen would unite to form a cultual association, there is nothing to prevent the formation of contesting societies; nay, the law would seem to encourage rival formations, with the result that two or more associations might be claiming the right to use the same Church, employing different ministers, holding different services, and even as Briand admitted, teaching different doctrines. The law foresees and provides for such a situation, and constitutes the Council of State supreme arbiter in such disputes. This government, is not likely to be Catholic, nor, for that matter, far different, so far as religion goes, from the Council of State, under the present men who are seeking to enforce separation of Church from State. Even if they were all Catholics, or at least Christians, they would not be competent to decide the merits of disputes, which properly fall under the jurisdiction of the bishops and priests. This is why the bishops of France were unanimous in deciding they could not consider the formation of the cultual associations, and why also they agreed with the Pope that it would be impossible to form any association which could satisfy the Law of Separation, and safeguard their own authority. They might have submitted to the spoliation of their property; they could not submit themselves and priests and people to incalculable slavery.

From all that has been said, it was clear that the Law of Separation was intended to promote religious dissension or schism. It may be deemed incredible by some, that a body of legislators would frame a law with the motive of stirring up religious strife; but no one who has followed the discussion of this law can refuse to believe that this was its avowed object. In the first place its reporter and advocates in the Chamber of Deputies, did not conceal their objections to the intrusion, as they styled it, of the Pope's interference in the regulation of religion in France. In the next place, they were warned over and over again, that the religious associations they were to constitute by this law, were intended to divide clergy from laity, and to sow dissension among the laity themselves. No clause in the law was more hotly contested than article 19, on the organization of these associations, and to no other were so many amendments offered. It was clear that those who urged this measure were determined not only to wrest control of religion from its proper authorities, but also to create such antagonism in the chief religious body in France as would ultimately accomplish its destruction. M. Briand and his abettors, could not believe that the Catholic laity would have nothing to do with his cultual associations. Even so late at Sept. 8th, he said in an interview with the Temps, his favourite organ, that "The bishops could never succeed in dissuading the faithful that a business-like and loyal trial of the law, so widely advertised for several months, had become suddenly impossible." He was relying on the Catholic laymen to take the initiative in forming these associations, and he was confident that others besides Catholics would be only too ready to co-operate for the sake of the advantages, political and pecuniary, which might accrue to all who could get control of these associations, and the variety of business opportunities they could offer. The Pope set aside, the authority of the bishops ignored, the priests deprived of support, or, obtaining it, on the condition that they would serve a religion to the taste of his associations, and the laity, finally, at war, instead of in peace, M. Briand might have enjoyed his Christmas holiday in the supreme satisfaction that he had driven Christ from the land.

How little he dreamed that the very eve of Christmas, while he was nursing an opportune political illness, the order of the day would be a new law forced upon the attention of the Chamber by his chief, M. Clemenceau, protesting that, since the Prussian war, no Cabinet had had to deal with a more serious situation than they were now facing, owing chiefly to the legislation which had been ineffectual to despoil, enslave and disrupt the church.

When the Parliaments of England and Scotland were united in 1706, freedom of worship was guaranteed to the Church of Scotland. Interfered on certain landed proprietors quite of this, by an Act of Parliament, 1711, the right to appoint ministers to vacant churches was commuted with the parishes.

The Church protested and the case was carried to the Civil Courts, which threatened the Presbytery with imprisonment. The court also interdicted the General Assembly and Lower Judicatures of the Church from inflicting censures. It suspended the Church censures when pronounced by the Church Courts in the exercise of discipline.

As a result of this interference ferred on certain landed proprietors in 1843, withdrew and formed the Free Kirk, sacrificing $10,000,000 in salaries.

Meanwhile, Pius X., who, with eighty-six steadfast bishops, thoroughly in accord with him, has caused the French Cabinet to confess failure, is counselling the thirty-six million Frenchmen, who acknowledge him for the spiritual head, not to be disloyal to their Government, not to resist its just laws, but to resist its oppression with patience, and to insist that the Deputies give them a law, which will not deny them in practice the assurance it gives them in principle, in Article 1 of the Law of Separation; "The Republic assures liberty of conscience. It guarantees the free exercise of religion, with no restriction save such only as public order requires." He bids them to insist that their law-makers give this guarantee specifically and unequivocally in the law, and not leave it to the arbitrary interpretation of a minister who may be weak or hostile. He is not indulging his own sensitiveness, he is not hurt because no has been ignored, but because a solemn contract has been unjustly broken. He may not be diplomatic enough to connive at injustice, but he has the courage to proclaim the truth. Frenchmen know it, and in obedience to his commands they suffer the first acts of spoliation; they witness daily the eviction of their pastors, and the closing of their churches without the slightest resistance on their part; they behold cordons of police protecting the Chamber of Deputies, detachments of military hastening to and fro, and precautions which remind them of martial law; they hear themselves denounced as lacking initiative, reactionary, infranchisement, disloyal, and, worst of all, "clerical." Were it not that their Premier had already played the farce of rounding up Paris for a conspiracy, they might, with all France, be denounced as conspirators simply because they will not stultify themselves by forming associations professedly for the exercise of religion, which, in reality, would bring about the extinction of religion. This is the crucial point and it is precisely why Clemenceau, with all his eagerness to push a new law through the Chamber, insists that the question of the form of cultual association be deferred. Something must be done to extricate the Government from the ridiculous position created by the Briand Law. The churches are empty; by law, the time is up when the present establishments can hold them; the Government, by its own law, cannot take immediate possession. "Suppose no associations should be formed?" Mr. Briand was asked in the interview mentioned above. "Then the situation would be inextricable," he replied. And inextricable it must be, so long as the Government persists in making laws which do not separate, but enslave the Church.

Dr. Torrance added a few words to the topic at the evening by way of compliment to Father McColl for the vivid manner in which he had placed the subject before the audience. He did not believe that any state should have authority to dictate as to who should administer the religious duties of the Christian. He referred to the time of the trouble in Scotland which the speaker had mentioned, and explained how the Free Church in Scotland was established on account of men believing they had the authority to appoint the ministers.

The musical portion of the programme was much appreciated. Miss Gertrude McCollum, a pupil of Prof. Davies, rendered a delightful piano solo entitled "La Reverie" by way of introduction. A fine tenor vocal solo entitled "Mona" by Mr. Firth was also a number which delighted the audience. Messrs. Mendel and Clarke were next heard in a mandolin and banjo duet which were enthusiastically applauded. The last was a vocal solo, "The Perfect Life" rendered with excellent effect by Mr. W. H. Denham. The accompanists of the evening were Messrs. Crane and Davey.

SUFFERED EIGHT YEARS FROM KIDNEYS

Doctor's said Female Trouble.

Mrs. Charles Lewis, Collingwood, Ont., writes: "For eight years I suffered from Kidney Complaint, and until twelve months ago doctors' said I was suffering from 'Female Trouble.' Last November (1905), I was seriously ill, resulting I believe from kidney troubles. Finding doctor's medicine doing me no good, I persuaded my husband to purchase me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, after having read of a case somewhat resembling mine. I commenced taking them according to directions (not taking the doctor's medicine), and on second day a swelling commenced in my feet, legs and body. The following day I was so changed and swollen my husband, in alarm, hastened to Mr. Johnson's drug store, who told him to tell me he thought the pills were drawing something out of the blood, and to keep on taking them. I did so and after taking them a week, the swelling disappeared leaving me with a complexion free from pimples, tired, weary feeling gone, constipation, from which I suffered for years, gone, pain in the back, gone, and a general feeling of joy and light heartedness, I have not felt since a child, took place in me.

My sister-in-law (Mrs. Bryan), seeing the action of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the change for good they accomplished in me, sent for a box and they completely cured her. When there is an opportunity of telling people what Doan's Kidney Pills did for us, we always take advantage of it, and tell them to give them a fair trial."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, for sale at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

PICKED TEAM PLAY IN LINDSAY TO-NIGHT

Will Endeavour to Give the Midgets a Trimming

Ernie Ford is "Chaperoning" a picked team from the High Lifes and Strathconas in Lindsay to-night, where they play Lindsay's beloved Midgets in an exhibition game. The local team will be strong and should make the Scugog team extend themselves to win. The team will line up:—

Goal—Sawers.
Point—Myers.
Cover—White.
Rover—Kelly.
Centre—Seymour.
Right Wing—Rose.

TWO GOOD GAMES ARE SCHEDULED TO-MORROW

City League Contests To-morrow Night Will be Fast

The City League games to-morrow night should furnish an exciting evening's sport, and their promises to be a big attendance. It will be the first appearance of the Orphans, who will clash with the Lakefield team in what should prove a decidedly interesting struggle. Nothing much is known of either line-up.

The High Lifes and Auburns are the contestants in the second game which will be a battle royal with honours even.

NEIL-SHEPHERD TROPHY GAMES ON TUESDAY

Rinks Will be Selected at the Meeting To-night

The annual Neill-Shepherd trophy games will be held here and in Orillia on Tuesday next. Four of the northern rinks will play at the Charlotte street rink in the afternoon, while four local rinks go to Lakefield. These games have always aroused considerable interest between the places and will be as keenly contested as ever. Orillia has won the trophy the last two years but Peterborough cruisers believe that it will reside here during the next year. The rinks for the games will be chosen to-night.

Good Skating at the Brock Street Rink To-night.

HOCKEY

Good ice is assured for the big game between Kingston and Peterborough on Friday and local enthusiasts may rely on seeing one of the fastest games ever seen here. It will be the first senior O.H.A. game here in years and as Kingston and Peterborough are old rivals, who have not met for some time the contest will be decidedly interesting. There will no doubt be an enormous crowd present.

• • • •

The locals have applied for senior certificates for Hague Sawers, Leo Dercher and Walter Miller.

• • • •

The Peterboros had a great practice last night, travelling at top speed for over an hour. They will be in the best of shape for Friday's game. Those out last night were Lang, Dercher, Comstock, Glover, Crowley, Whitcroft, Morgan, Moore and Miller.

• • • •

The locals have asked to have Waghorne referee Friday's game. "Wag" is always a favourite here.

• • • •

The Royal hockey team composed of Juvenile players leave on the Saturday morning train for Lakefield to play the Alerts of that town. The following will be the players from Peterborough:—Goal, H. Giroux; point, J. Doherty; cover point, H. Clancy; rover, A. Howson; centre, F. Halpany; right wing, L. Stephens; left wing, M. Turner. Referee, Gordon Long.

• • • •

Friday night's game with Kingston furnishes the chief talk in sporting circles these days and the indications point to one of the biggest crowds in year. The eastern critics pick the soldiers as the O.H.A. senior championship and even if this is an optimistic prediction, it is at least certain that they have a wonderful team who will make things decidedly interesting for the locals. The Peterborough team will be in good shape, however, and will put up a great fight.

CURLING

The ice at the curling rink last night was in fairly good shape, but the best possible is promised for this evening when four scheduled games will be played. D. Hall won from Dr. Greer last night in a scheduled game by 9 points up. The following were the rinks:—

H C Taylor	H Rose
Jas. Montgomery	J D Collins
W Lang	Dr. McCullough
D Hall, 16.	Dr. Greer, 7.

• • • •

The following skips will play at the curling rink to-night in schedule games:—

W. G. Morrow versus C. N. Brown.
W. J. Thompson versus T. Brightman.
J. Stanger versus D. Cameron.
R. Neill versus J. Bogus.

BOWLING

Last night an interesting game of bowls was played at Smyth's bowling alley, between the Merchants and High Lifes, the former winning two out of the three games played. Two other teams in the league are the C.G.E. and the Independents.

Good Skating at the Brock Street Rink To-night.

ACCUSED INDIAN WAS DISCHARGED

Two Cases Came Up To-day at the County Police Court—No Evidence to Convict County Police Court was held this morning before Magistrate Edmison when two cases came before him for settlement.

Thos. Blaker, who is originally a Roseneath Indian, was charged by Edward Johnson with committing a theft of $45.00 a couple of weeks ago. From the evidence this morning the Magistrate and Crown Attorney concluded there was no proof to show that Blaker had committed the theft and he was discharged by the Magistrate.

It was shown that the loser of the money had been intoxicated on the night of the supposed robbary and his evidence was not corroborated by the others.

The case of the Douro man charged with obtaining money under false protences from the North American Fire Insurance Company was enlarged until Jan. 17th, at 10 o'clock on account of a lack of witnesses for the Crown.

CANADA'S TRAIN-DE-LUXE

The "International Limited" is the appropriate name by which one of the swell trains of the Grand Trunk Railway System is known. In addition to the many Canadians who travel by this flyer its passengers include men and women of international reputation, for the reason that it merits its world wide reputation as the train-de-luxe of Canada. When we recall that the Grand Trunk is Canada's double track railway between Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and other principal cities, and that its roadbed is the best in the Dominion it is certainly a matter of congratulation. This great system is the longest double track in the world under one management. The "International Limited" leaves Montreal every morning at 9 o'clock, and runs over the splendid double track system from Montreal to Chicago, its stops being limited to the chief points along the route. It is the finest and fastest train in the Dominion, where it is known as the "Railway Greyhound of Canada."

Those who travel should not miss the opportunity of riding on this train when they are going West. Through sleeping cars, cafe and library cars are part of the equipment of this magnificent train.

THE CHRISTIAN MINISTRY THE SUBJECT OF PRAYER

In connection with the week of prayer, two services will be held tonight, in the George street Methodist church and in the Park street Baptist church, the subject for prayer being "The Christian Ministry."

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

And it contains no drugs and no alcohol.

SCORED ANOTHER WONDERFUL VICTORY

One More Added to the Long List of Cures Effected by Psychine.

This young lady, who lives in Brownsville, near Woodstock, Ont., tells her own story in a few effective words of how she obtained deliverance from the terrible grip of weakness and disease.

I have to thank Psychine for my present health. Two years ago I was going into a decline. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. I could not sweep the carpet.

If I went for a drive I had to lie down when I came back. If I went for a mile on two on my wheel I was too weak to lift it through the gateway, and last time I came in from having a spin I dropped utterly helpless from fatigue. My father would give me no peace until I procured Psychine, knowing it was excellent for decline or weakness. I must say the results are wonderful, and people remarked my improvement. Instead of a little, pale, hollow cheeked, listless, melancholy girl, I am to-day full of life, ready for a sleigh-ride, a skating match, or an evening party with anyone, and a few months ago I could not struggle to church, 40 rods from my home. I have never had the slightest cause to fear any return of the disease.

ELLA MURIEL WOOD,
Brownsville, Ont.

Thousands of women are using PSYCHINE, because they know from experience that in it they have a safe friend and deliverer. Psychine is a wonderful tonic, purifying the blood, driving out disease germs, gives a ravenous appetite, aids digestion and assimilation of food, and is a positive and absolute cure for disease of throat, chest, lungs, stomach and other organs. It quickly builds up the entire system, making sick people well and weak people strong.

FIREMEN ELECT NEW OFFICERS

And Make Arrangements for Official Opening of the New Fire Hall About the Last of This Month

The annual meeting of the Peterborough fire brigade was held last night, when the officers for the year were elected.

It is the intention of the brigade to hold open house on the occasion of the opening ceremonies, and elaborate preparations will be made. It is probable that the building will be open for occupancy about the end of January.

PRESBYTERY TO DEAL WITH PASTOR'S CALLS

An Important Meeting of Peterborough Presbytery Will be Held To-morrow Morning

An important meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery will be held to-morrow morning in St. Andrews Church, when the question of calls to two ministers will be considered. The call of Rev. A. Bright, to Knox Church, will be taken up, and, so far as Peterborough is concerned this will be the important item of business at the session. The other matter of interest is the consideration of the call of the Onemee church to Rev. Harris Peckham.

409-411 GEORGE ST. - - PETERBORO, ONT.

SENATOR COX RESIGNS BANK OF COMMERCE PRESIDENCY

found the Senator in his office at the Canada Life Assurance Company. He had none of the appearance of a man obliged to reduce his activities by reason of slackening vigour or anything that could be called advancing age. The Senator is a man of strong physique, and the past ten years have scarcely changed that appearance of physical vigour which has all his life characterized him. That the reason of his course is not, therefore, to be found in his appearance, his friends throughout the country will be heartily glad to know.

The Senator himself puts his decision upon three grounds. In the first place is his promise to his family to lessen the strain which is the inevitable result of taking so active an executive part as he has for many years done in a number of business concerns. Some of these concerns are of great magnitude, requiring frequent journeys and absences from home, and imposing upon the executive head responsibilities as to detail, which if a man takes a serious view of his duty, entails an incessant and severe tax upon all his time and upon his strength. And, in acceding to his family's wishes, he is gratifying those natural inclinations of his own which are entirely in harmony with these wishes.

His second ground is that, having occupied for a good many years a position of honour at the head of so great an institution as the Bank of Commerce, it is only fair that he should resign in order that that honour should now be passed on to somebody else, especially in view of the fact that the bank has arrived at such a splendid position in the country, and its solidity and future expansion are abundantly assured.

In the third place, the course he is taking will enable him to devote himself to the Canada Life and the Central Canada, whose concerns have always occupied a foremost place in his mind.

When the Star asked him if he proposed resigning from the presidency of these two companies, he replied: "It is not my intention," you may say, "to resign from the presidency of the Canada Life or the Central Canada Loan, I have spent 47 years working for the Canada Life, my period of association with the company covering practically my entire business life. The Central Canada Loan and Savings Company I organized 25 years ago, and in its affairs also I have taken a deep interest.

My Peterborough friends may be interested in knowing that it is not my intention to retire from the presidency of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, whose head office is in that city. In these three companies I will find scope enough in the future, I am sure, for any ability and all the strength I possess. Toward these companies there is, in my mind, something of a sentimental attachment by reason of the nature of my relations to them, and to their interests I expect to be able to give increased attention."

Senator Jaffray's Tribute

"I appreciate as others do, the exceptional financial ability of Mr. Cox, and the great difficulties he has overcome. He is one of the most forceful men I have ever had the pleasure of meeting."

This was the tribute paid this morning by the Hon. Robert Jaffray, in discussing the retirement of Hon. George A. Cox, from the Presidency of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and other institutions.

Mr. Jaffray recalled the story of Mr. Cox's early days—the commencement of his career as a telegraph operator, his stepping into the express business, and the various events that led to his establishment in Peterborough enterprises.

"Mr. Cox was a large factor in the early development of Peterborough," said Mr. Jaffray; "and the position which that city holds in the manufacturing and industrial world to-day is largely attributable to his entry into the early history of the place."

It was in the struggling days of the Midland Railway that Messrs. Cox and Jaffray were first associated in large business interests.

"Mr. Cox was president and I was a director of the company," recalled Mr. Jaffray, "he took hold of it when it was in its lowest possible condition, and brought the negotiations which led to success to a satisfactory consummation. It was in the development of the Midland Railway that Mr. Cox first exhibited the ability that afterwards marked him as a successful leader in all the projects he undertook. He had more to do than anybody else, in bringing the Canada Life to its present position. He organized the Canada Central. His influence inspired the confidence of moneyed men, and put the British America and Western Fire Insurance Companies in a position where they could stem the tide of financial reversals arising out of the San Francisco disaster."

Wide Interests of Senator Cox

Hon. George A. Cox, who announces his resignation from the presidency of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has filled that office for the past 16 years. It is announced, too, that he will resign from all the other executive positions he holds, with the exception of the presidency of the Canada Life and the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, and the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, of Peterborough. It is not his present purpose to resign directorships, of which he holds 28, including many of the most important business institutions, of Canada. He joined the directorate of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in 1885, became vice-president in 1888, and president in 1891.

Senator Cox will retain the presidency of the Canada Life Assurance Company, the institution with which he has been longest and most intimately connected. He joined the staff of this company when he was 21 years old, in 1861. At that time he was a telegraph operator in Peterborough, whither he had come a few years earlier from Colborne, his birthplace. He continued to reside in Peterborough for almost thirty years and occupied a high position in the municipal and political as well as the commercial life of the district. One of the large enterprises with which he was associated in the early days, was the Midland Railway, now a portion of the Grand Trunk System.

Outside business Senator Cox has wide activities which may now be expected to grow even larger. He is a warm supporter of the Methodist church, a large but unostentatious giver to charities and a supporter of the cause of temperance. He is prominently connected with Victoria University, Whitby Ladies' College, and as one of the founders of the Dominion Sanitarium. Politically a Liberal, he was appointed to the Senate in 1896. To his legislative duties he may also now be able to give more attention.

At the present time Senator Cox holds 28 directorships, the largest number held by any Canadian. They are as follows:—

President British American Assurance Co.
Director Canada Cycle and Motor Co.
Director Canada Foundry Co.
President Canada Life Assurance Co.
President Canadian Bank of Commerce.
Director Canadian General Electric Co.
Director Canadian Shipbuilding Co.

A Sketch

The Toronto News, referring to the retirement of the Hon. Senator, says:—

Senator George Albertus Cox, who today resigns the presidency of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is an eminently quiet man. He can be as silent as the Sphinx. He is commonly rather impassive, impressive, imperturbable. Yet, for all that, he can be gracious, cordial, even warm and enthusiastic. Perhaps it depends on whether the appeal is to his head of his heart. To gain anything like a right conception of the man, it is necessary to remember these things.

Physically, Senator Cox is a large and well-proportioned man. He is tall, and broad-shouldered, and the head is of the shape which men have commonly agreed to call the financial type. The facial outline is almost square, the oval of the lower face being half concealed by a short beard, cut nearly square. The forehead is rather low, but very broad. The eyes are deep-set, calm, and unusually wide apart. They have no look of weariness or of haste, nor is there any indication that their owner is one of the busiest men in Canada. The nose is large and regular. It has nothing to indicate the Roman type, nor is there any trace of the Semitic, but it leaves an impression of power. The mouth is large and retains to a curious degree the outlines of youth, at least, it has little of the thin-lipped, tightly closed, straight-lined type which is often associated with men who have done great things in the worlds of commerce and finance. One of the notable things as to the physical personality of the Senator, is that he shows none of the sallow pallor which is the usual result of an indoor life, or of advancing years. On the contrary, he has a fine ruddy complexion which extends even to the smooth and shiny top of the head. The other thing you notice most is that while he wears a beard on chin and shackle, he has a clean-shaven, long upper lip. J. M. Crockett calls this "the unloveliest of all the Cameronian austerities." Perhaps the phrase is too strong, but its old-fashioned, square-cut, rather uncompromising style lends a touch of the picturesque.

Senator Cox is something over sixty-six years old, and his life has been active and filled with many interests. At sixteen he entered the service of the Montreal Telegraph Company, and for several years he learned to "pound brass." He was sent to Peterborough in 1858, where he lived for 30 years. These thirty years were years of expansion in his interests and steady development of his powers of organization, of executive capacity, his knowledge of men and how to use them. He soon came to the front in Peterborough, and took an active interest in educational and municipal matters. He was Mayor for seven years, being four times returned by acclamation. If the Senator would only drop out of two or three companies of the many in which he is an officer or director, and would give some of his ability and time to municipal matters in Toronto, the city would probably be the gainer.

However, his municipal experience was more successful than his attempts to enter politics. In 1871 Mr. Cox contested West Peterborough with the late W. H. Scott for the Legislature. He won the election, but the contest was so marked by irregularities that it was voided. He was beaten by one vote in the election of the next year, by the same opponent. It was about fifteen years later when Mr. Cox re-entered the political arena and contested the same riding for the House of Commons against James Stevenson. Both candidates were Methodist, belonging to the same congregation, and, in fact they took up the collection on opposite sides of the church. Now, they do say that more than one vote was canvassed while the two demure looking candidates were gravely handing the plates around among the people. It was a hot contest, of which some hectic tales are told, but, at any rate, Mr. Cox was defeated by sixteen votes.

In 1862 Mr. Cox became local agent for the Canada Life. The story of his rise from local agent in 1862 to President in 1900 was simply but effectively told by Senator Cox during the insurance investigation in June. It was a story of much perseverance, a good deal of daring, some patience, and the unhurried calm of one "who has belief in himself. "He that believeth shall not make haste," wrote the Hebrew prophet. The Canada Life Assurance Company has ever been the first love of Senator Cox, and to-day it is the institution which most claims his attention, his ability as an organizer and financier, and, perhaps, it is not too much to say, his sentimental regard.

In 1878 he became President of the Midland Railway, and the five years of his presidency were years of consolidation and of marked improvement to the whole system. In 1881 he was a member of the syndicate (headed by the late Sir W. P. Howland), which offered to build the Canadian Pacific Railway. All these years his connections and interests were widening. In 1884, when 47 years old, he became president of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, and the following year Came him a director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Three years later he was made Vice-President, and in 1890 he became President. Senator Cox has always taken a keen interest in the affairs of the bank, and there can be no doubt that the great expansion of that institution has been due, in part, at least, to the foresight and sagacious daring of its President.

To enumerate the corporations with which Senator Cox is connected would take too much space. They include four insurance companies, seven purely financial corporations, half a dozen transportation companies, and about a dozen industrials. He is a president of nine, vice-president of one, and a director of eighteen others. His corporate interests extend from the Dominion Iron and Steel and Dominion Coal Companies on the Atlantic to the Crow's Nest Coal Company of the Rockies. He is a director of the Grand Trunk Pacific, which will link the two oceans.

It is to be noted that in his whole career Senator Cox has never been a wrecker. His ability has always been given to building up the commercial fabric, and with a few exceptions, indeed, the Cox companies have been successful, and have made money for his backers. One of the secrets of his success has been his ability to choose men, to train them, and then to give them responsible positions in his companies. The capable and successful men who have grown up around Senator Cox constitute a large and noteworthy group, and they form a large part of the commercial fabric of the community.

Senator Cox has always been a strong temperance man, and a Methodist, who gave freely of his time and money to the Church and its educational institutions. In politics an ardent Liberal, he was for many years the party's chief financial backer in Ontario, and when the elections of 1896 returned the Liberals to power he was one of the first men appointed to the Senate. One of the pleasing things about Senator Cox is his modesty about his achievements and himself. Nowhere is this revealed better than in the large amount of anonymous charity and donations to enterprise, having for their aim the good of humanity and the alleviation of suffering, which might be traced to him. But he does not tell these things. Senator Cox is an advanced type of the modern capitalist in a new country, at once cautious and daring, safe and enterprising, able to plan and skilful to execute, for whom Canada has done much, and who has in many ways done much for Canada.

NAVIGATION CO. HAS BEEN FORMED IN CITY

Composed of Local Capitalists and to be Known as the Otonabee Navigation Company

LARGE NEW STEAMER NOW BEING BUILT

The importance of Rice Lake region, as an attractive summer resort has long been recognized by those who have had the good fortune to pay a visit to these delightful waters but it has always been a well known fact that steamboat accommodation has not been competent to meet the passengar traffic demand in the past. It is now assured that this lack of accommodation will become a thing of the past.

A new company has been formed in the city composed of local capitalists

W. H. ROBERTSON
President of the Otonabee Navigation Company and known as the Otonabee Navigation Company. It has recently been organized with a capital stock of $40,000 with the following officers:—

President—W H Robertson.
General Manager — Capt. W. H. White.
Manager—E W Henderson.
Solicitor—R F McWilliams.
Sec.-Treasurer—Miss K. Campbell.

The company has acquired the steamer Water Lily from W. H. White, and all the barges and other steamboat equipment which he owned. They are building also a splendid new steamer which when completed will be the largest and one of the most modern navigating in the surrounding waters.

They also contemplate building another steamer next year to be able to deal efficiently with all excursions and also have boats running regular daily trips. They intend to have an automobile service between Harwood and Cobourg for the accommodation of American visitors wishing rapid transition to Rice Lake. They have purchased the island of Idyl Wyld together with the hotel and they purpose enlarging the latter.

CAPT. W. H. WHITE
General Manager of the Otonabee Navigation Company

The New Steamer

The new boat for which a number of timbers have already been provided is now in the course of construction at the East City steamboat wharf which the company has purchased. It will be built exclusively for excursion trade and with a view to accommodate the largest number of passengers that come to the city on excursion journeys. It will be ready for commission about the 24th of May and will have a capacity for about 700 people. The length will be 115 ft. and it will have a 23 foot beam. This means that it will be about 5 feet wider and about 20 feet longer than the present City of Peterborough. In fact she will be built as large as possible, taking into consideration the sizes of the various locks in the canal through which she will navigate. Her speed will be 11 miles an hour and she will be equipped with compound double engines of 110 horse power. The boat will be thoroughly lighted by electricity which will be supplemented by a powerful search light so as to be able to navigate by night as well as by day.

E. J. HENDERSON
Passenger and Traffic Manager of the Otonabee Navigation Company

Built For Excursions

The object which the company has in view, is to cater largely to outside excursion trade and they expect to have excursions from places as far west as Toronto and the surrounding towns. The difficulty heretofore has been the carrying of a large number of passengers down the river. There has been no single boat with sufficient accommodation to take a train load of people and hence no special trains could be run to the city for excursions down the Otonabee. With such a steamer it will now be an easy matter to leave Toronto about 7 o'clock in the morning, arrive here about 9.30, reach Idyl Wyld in time for dinner and return after giving the excursionists a few hours to spend on the shores of the beautiful Rice Lake.

Idyl Wyld Hotel

The Otonabee Navigation Company have also purchased Idyl Wyld which is one of nature's veritable lovely spots. The hotel will be completely overhauled and the grounds and buildings greatly improved. The hotel will be put under capable management and no doubt will attract a large number of summer visitors.

The company is arranging to have an auto. service similar to that to Chemong, from Harwood to Cobourg—a distance of 14 miles. This will enable American tourists to easily reach Rice Lake and also Peterborough. The auto. will be one made to carry about 20 or 30 people.

This new excursion boat which has not yet received its name will be open for excursions to either the upper or lower waters. The company's charter gives them power to handle not only passengers but grain, wood, quarry stone and freight of all descriptions. They have acquired a quarry of the finest of building stone on the upper lakes and will begin to bring it down to the city in the autumn. They will also handle wood in large quantities.

The new steamer will be built under the supervision of the veteran boat builder, Mr. Hickey and there is no doubt that the Otonabee Navigation Company will give a service to Peterborough citizens in search of the cool summer camping grounds such as they have not previously enjoyed.

MONTEITH OPPOSED TO THE DAIRY SHOW

Consequently Peterborough Stands Small Chance of Securing It If Statements Credited to Monteith are Correct

THE MINISTER STATES HIS POSITION

According to a statement credited to Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, of Ontario, he is opposed to the proposal to hold a dairy show, separate from the usual winter fair held each year in Ottawa, and, since it is not probable that the show will be held, unless Government assistance, and, consequently, Government assent is given, Peterborough stands a poor chance of securing the show, which, the city was given to understand, had been practically decided upon.

Government Opposed

The position taken by the Minister of Agriculture, in an interview with the Ottawa Free Press, in which city Mr. Monteith, is at present attending the annual meeting of the Dairymen's association, indicates that the Government will not be favourable to the proposal to hold a separate dairy show.

The Free Press in an interview with Mr. Monteith, says:—

Mr. Monteith does not approve the idea of separating the dairy features from the winter fair held in Ottawa. The most successful plan he contends, will be a combination attraction that will bring out all classes of farmers. The farmer usually is a busy man and not disposed to travel a great deal. When he goes out he wants to see as much as possible. On this occasion Mr. Monteith wants to have the coming March fair held in Ottawa, embody all the features of agriculture.

BANK OF TORONTO, REPORTS SHOW, IS RICH

Remarkable Figures Given at the Annual Meeting of That Institution—Reserve Now Greater Than the Capital

INTEND TO INCREASE THE CAPITAL

At the annual meeting of the Bank of Toronto, held at their head office yesterday, the report submitted showed that an excellent year's business had been experienced, and that the bank had fully shared in the general prosperity of the country. The following increases shown in the statement exemplify this: The deposits increased $3,370,048, or about 16 per cent., circulation increased $458,241, about 15 per cent., while commercial loans increased $6,749,270, or over 34 per cent.

The net profits on the business for the year were $544,295, to which is added $482,945, premiums received on new stock, and $109,046 from last year, making a total of $1,137,287 for distribution. Of this amount $370,293 was paid the stock holders in dividends, which were at the rate of ten per cent. per annum; $583,945 was transferred to Rest; $100,000 written off bank premises, $10,000 transferred to the Officers' Pension Fund, and $73,048 carried forward. The president in his speech stated that besides the $100,000 written off bank premises, a further sum of $62,000, representing the value of safes, furniture and fittings for the twenty-one new branches opened during the year, had been charged to expense account, making a total writing down of values to the extent of $160,000.

The Reserve Fund now amounts to nearly $4,500,000, 12 1-2 per cent. larger than the paid up capital.

On the 8th of July last the bank completed its fiftieth year of business operation, having during all these years paid a dividend every half year, the rate of dividend during the entire half century being at the rate of 9.32 per cent.

The directors recommended that for the future the dividends be paid quarterly and that the authorized capital be increased to $10,000,000.

REV. A. BRIGHT HAS DECLINED THE CALL

Will Not Become Pastor of Knox Church—Rev. W. L. Atkinson Leaving This Presbytery

IMPORTANT MEETING THIS MORNING

An important meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery was held this morning in St. Andrew's Church hall. Three calls were extended to ministers, two of which were accepted. The call to Rev. A. Bright, assistant pastor of St. Paul's, to accept the pastorate of Knox Church, was declined by him. Rev. A. E. Camp, the Moderator, presided at the meeting.

Those present were Rev. A. E. Camp, Havelock; Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. G. Potter, Rev. D. D. McDonald, Rev. W. R. Johnston; Rev. W. L. Atkinson, Warsaw; Rev. D. A. Thompson, Wm. Fowler, G. M. Rogers, F. G. Sandy, Thos. Young, W. Gardner, Robt. Harrison.

Messrs. Duncan Campbell and Thos. Anderson, of Knox Church, were present in support of the call extended by that church to Rev. A. Bright. The latter was heard, and stated that he had not considered accepting it, which fact he had communicated to Rev. Dr. Torrance, Moderator of Session, after the last congregational meeting.

With the consent of both churches, Sheriff Hall and Mr. Wm. Madill were retained in the Session of Knox Church as assessors.

A call was also extended to Rev. Horace Peckover, of Sunderland, by the Omemee Presbyterian Church, signed by 129 members and 26 adherents. It was supported by Messrs. F. G. Sandy, of Omemee, and Thos. Young, of Lakefield. The call was sustained, and with relative documents, ordered to be transmitted to Lindsay Presbytery. Provisional arrangements were made for the induction at Omemee. Rev. J. G. Potter will preside, Rev. Dr. Marsh will preach, Rev. S. S. Burns will address the minister, and Rev. Wm. Thompson, the people. The date will be announced later by the clerk.

Rev. W. L. Atchinson Leaving

A call was laid on the table from Mansfield, Orangeville, in favour of Rev. W. L. Atkinson, B.A., of Warsaw. Messrs. E. Hawthorne and Gardner were heard, and spoke very highly of Mr. Atkinson's work, but offered no objections to it being accepted. Rev. Mr. Atkinson was then heard, and accepted the call.

Translation was granted to take effect on the last Sunday of January, the charge to be declared vacant by Rev. Jas. Ross, of Peterborough, on the first Sunday in February. Rev. S. S. Burns was appointed Moderator of Presbytery to deal with the case. The members of the Presbytery expressed their appreciation of Rev. Mr. Atkinson, and regretted his departure.

PROSPERITY AND CAUTION

It seems to become the duty of bank presidents at annual meetings to counsel caution in financial operations, and to indicate that a reef or two should be taken in the sails of commerce, that reaction is due to follow the extraordinary prosperity the country has experienced for the past eight or ten years. But there seems to be no lull. Last year it was not expected that the Canadian Bank of Commerce would be able to duplicate a fourteen per cent. profit on its capital. But this year the rate of profit jumps forward to 17.41 per cent. This indicates a pretty prosperous condition of both the bank and the country. But all the same, Mr. Byron E. Walker hangs out the storm signal and advises a keen lookout to prevent conditions that may operate as a check upon our prosperity:

Unless we mend our ways we are not likely to escape a condition next autumn which may check our fair prosperity. This, then, is a time for every prudent man to survey carefully his financial position. If he has debts he should consider how he will pay them if he should have to face world-wide stringency in money. Has he assets which the world needs for daily use, or assets which sell only when the sun is shining? If he is happily in easy condition as to debt, he will, if he be wise, consider every circumstance arising in his business which tends towards debt instead of towards liquidation. As for those who are plunging in real estate at inflated values and in mining stocks, nothing, we presume, but the inevitable collapse which follows these seasons of mania will do any good.

UNDER LIBERAL RULE

Ottawa Free Press.

If Canadians have not been made to realize the extent of their country's growth during recent years, and particularly within the past year it is not the fault of statistics. Compiled from whatever source, or for whatever purpose, these tell a consistent tale of progress and development so phenomenal in some directions, as to render comparisons with previous periods almost useless. The editor of the Montreal Gazette annual, dealing with Canada's foreign trade, has some observations, which are alike interesting and suggestive.

"In the last ten years," he says, "Canada has developed materially and commercially, in an infinitely greater degree than in her whole previous history; out of all proportion also as to the growth of population." And then he goes on to show that while in that period the population has increased only 25 per cent., bank capital has increased 50 per cent., the reserve of profits 150 per cent., and note circulation 235 per cent. More striking still is the fact that while in 1896 public deposits in the chartered banks were $38 per head of the population they are now $91 per head.

The significant point about these figures, which emanate from a Conservative source, is that they cover the period during which the Liberal party has been in office. In other words, 10 years of Liberal administration have witnessed the greatest burst of commercial expansion in the history of the country. It would be idle to expect members of the Conservative party to accept the moral, but it must surely strike them as strange, and "give them furiously to think," that Canada should have prospered so mightily under an administration which they would have the people believe, is so incompetent and untrustworthy. Truly the history of the past decade has played sad havoc with the Conservative Jeremiahs.

Mr. McCarthy Points Out He Was No "Butter-In" In The Aldermanic Contest

Peterborough,
January 9, 1907.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me space in the columns of your well-read paper to make a few statements in regard to my nomination as Alderman for the city for 1907.

In the first place I have been severely censured by several of the ratepayers of East City as having been the cause of the defeat of the other two candidates running in this part of the city.

I would like to be informed as to what was the cause of their defeat in 1906—I was not in the city during the election for 1906 and took no active part in municipal affairs. In this contest they take me for their target—even one of the retiring Aldermen said to me if I had retired, as I should have done, when nominated, he would have been a candidate again. I did not know I had so much influence for good before. I wish to know are we British subjects or not,—I give my share to churches and charity and pay to the revenue of the city treasury what is levied on me, so I claim some right to the freedom of the city. I was nominated by one of the best known and influential men in the city, Mr. J. Batten, and did not know of my nomination until it was read out by the clerk—a few minutes after I signed my qualification papers. I was not aware that I was expected to ask permission from my opponents to do so.

If the other two candidates for East City thought two candidates were enough for this part why did not one of them drop out? It seems a very small thing to complain now. I wish to have no more insinuations made in the matter as I have as much right to run for Alderman as anyone else, and if, at the close of this year, I am nominated for Alderman, I will again be a candidate.

Thanking my nominator and seconder and all my supporters, I remain,

Yours,

A. McCARTHY.

IMMENSITY OF DAIRY INTERESTS

The representatives of one of the most, if not the most, important, industries in Canada, are meeting at Ottawa — the Eastern Dairymen's Association. Though we in Peterborough are in daily contact with the local evidence of the importance and prosperity of the great dairy industry, yet few of us can grasp its significance. However, some partial idea can be formed from the figures presented in the annual address of President Derbyshire, on Wednesday. This shows that the estimated value of cheese, butter, etc., exported during 1906, totalled $46,500,000. Of these articles of food, including milk, there was consumed at home, an amount valued at $54,500,000, thus making the total value of products during the year $101,000,000. This is an improvement of six million dollars over the year 1905. This is indeed a showing to be proud of, but it is only a type of what is to come, for there is certain to be continual advance. Those associated with the dairy industry, take no rest; they are never satisfied with the best attained conditions — they are always striving to advance. As dairymen, from the milk producer to the buyer in Canada they improve conditions, they improve products and the market is sure to enlarge, and with it the prosperity and magnitude of the industry.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The tax on steam railways for the past year amounts to $245,688. Of this amount one-half goes into the provincial coffers, and the other half goes to the municipalities, whose share will therefore be $172,844. According to the rate of apportionment — eight cents per head of the population, according to the census of 1901 — Peterborough's share will be $899.12.

After a brief interregnum, the reign of terror has been resumed in Russia. A Russian judge, whose character may be estimated by his popular name, Hangman Pavaloff, has been assassinated. Such actions are deplorable, but it seems that in the case of nations, as with individuals, what a man soweth that shall he also reap. Russia has sown the wind; it is reaping the whirlwind.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller is very happy in his finances. He can loose a hundred millions of dollars without losing a cent. The stock is so extensively watered that one hundred millions can be evaporated and still leave enough solid matter to earn the usual dividends. When a man's wealth is in stocks its' the dividends, not the market value, that counts.

TROUBLE IN THE CAMP AT LAKEFIELD

A Number of the Council Refuse to Sit with the Newly Elected Reeve

A peculiar state of affairs exists in Lakefield just at present in regard to the council of the village. There is now only one councillor elected and he has the position by acclamation. On nomination day a number were nominated but all withdrew except Robt. Duff and J. W. Cornish.

The latter has now resigned and it is stated it will be a difficult matter to form a council in Lakefield this year. The reason advanced is that Dr. J. A. Burgess, who was elected reeve by a majority of two over his opponent, Mr. Moore, is not agreeable to the proposed men and they, it is said, refuse to sit in council with him.

The names of Jas. Long, Jas. Farthing and J. H. Davis are proposed to conclude the list of councillors. These men are well known in the village and it is probable may be asked to carry on the village affairs of the year unless the reeve resigns, which is very improbable.

Leading Slowly to Paralysis

BE EARLY DETECTED AND CURE BROUGHT ABOUT BY USING

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is customary to consider paralysis, insanity and other diseases of the nerves as afflictions which come upon a person without warning and which are, therefore, unavoidable.

As a matter of fact such results are preceded by months, if not years, of symptoms which point to an exhausted condition of the nervous system. These symptoms are such, however, that many pass them by as not being of serious concern and thinking that they will wear away of themselves.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts and loss of memory are among the most common indications of a run-down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine instils into the blood and the nervous system the life-sustaining principles which replenish the nerve force in the body and so effect lasting benefit.

Miss Emma Scott, Athens, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good. I was troubled with fainting spells, bodily weakness and spent restless, sleepless nights. I frequently had cramps in the stomach and would at times become entirely insensible, not knowing what was going on until others told me afterwards.

"I doctored with several doctors and they told me I was threatened with paralysis. They gave me relief, but could not cure me. After suffering for three years I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has done me more good than all the medicines I ever used."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A GREAT SCARCITY OF LAMBS HERE

American Producer in Canada to Buy Them But Finds They are as Hard to Get as in United States

Mr. W. Pratt, of Detroit, Mich., has been in the city during the last few days on a business trip, and while here has been the guest of Mr. Albert Hanna, George street. Mr. Pratt's visiting to Canada and Peterborough was for the purpose of making some investigations in respect to the export lamb trade, his view being to work up an export business in Canadian lambs to the United States, where there is a very great shortage, reported at the present time.

If he expected to be able to buy lambs in Canada, however, he was doomed to disappointment, for he found that there was, proportionately, as great a shortage here as there was in the United States. He advises the Canadian farmers to go more extensively into a business which he believes will prove very profitable to those engaging in it. The shortage in the United States at the present time, is estimated at about sixteen million sheep, so that it can be seen that there is little danger of a reaction being experienced in the near future.

Mr. Pratt during his stay here visited the Lift Lock, with which he was greatly pleased.

COUNTY COUNCIL WILL MEET ON JAN. 22ND

Warden Will be Appointed and Committees for the Year Struck

The first meeting of the County Council will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 22nd. At this meeting the Warden for 1907 will be appointed and the various committees struck for the year. Speculation is rife as to who will be the new Warden to succeed Warden Johnston of Otonabee. The only last year's councillman who will occupy a seat in the County Council this year will be Robt. Shaw, the Reeve of Harvey and as an experienced man is necessary he may have the honour.

Messrs. Chas. Coben and Hales of Galway and Chandos, respectively, have been in the County Council before and their names may also be mentioned.

WEATHER IS PLEASING TO THE YOUNG PEOPLE

It Means That They May Resume Winter Pastimes

The cold snap is being enthusiastically welcomed by the young people as it means that the winter sports may again be resumed. Skating and tobogganing have been at a standstill for a week on account of the mild weather and the present conditions are more to the taste of young Canada. Last night the ice was in good condition and there was a very big crowd at the Brock street rink. The toboggan slide at Jackson Park was in good shape and this sport had many followers. To-night the band will be at the Park and as the ice is now in splendid condition a large crowd is looked for.

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Jan. 10.—Developments were favourable to short covering, which took place in the morning. The reports of the day added to the favourable money news and it was noted that light offerings were in most stocks. A hardening occurred. St. Paul was the leader while Northwest and N.Y.C. were strong at higher prices.

In the afternoon heavy selling of Mo., Pac., which broke that issue from 91 1-2 to 88 1-2 brought about a reaction in the whole market and the early gains were all lost. The bears were very aggressive, and with a few stop-loss orders being reached and a volume of short selling prices were held down to the close, which was irregular and weak.

SENATOR COX'S RIGHT HAND MAN IS A LOCAL BOY

The Rapid Progress of Mr. E. R. Wood, of Peterborough, Due to to His Conspicious Ability and His Unsatiable Appetite for Work

AN INVARIABLE RECORD OF SUCCESS

Peterborough has every reason to feel proud of her sons, and of none more than Mr. E. R Wood, a son of Mr. John Wood, of this city. At the annual meeting of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, held in Toronto, on Tuesday, Mr. Wood's conspicuous ability was given a further recognition, when he was elected to the Board of Directors of that institution. Referring to this fact, the Toronto News says:—

Mr. E. R. Wood, whose election to the Directorate of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is announced, is perhaps the ablest of the financial group which has grown up around Senator Cox. Practically his whole business life has been spent in business associations with the Cox interests.

Mr. Wood hails from Peterborough, where he entered the office of Mr. George A. Cox, when the latter's business interests were all under one roof. Sheer ability drew his chief's attention, and when Mr. Cox needed a confidential secretary, Mr. E. R. Wood was given his chance. The same qualities that have made him a successful financier made him a model secretary. He was genial, approachable, painstaking, capable, reliable and, above all things, discreet. He had a memory which was a blessing, and if E. R. Wood was attending to a thing, it was safe to go away and leave it alone. It would be all right. More and more, Mr. Cox came to look on Mr. Wood as his right arm, and presently came his reward. Soon after Mr. Cox became president of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, Mr. E. R. Wood became its managing director. Some of the largest financial deals in the country are put through by the Central Canada, under the skilful guidance of Mr. Wood. It being the first financial corporation of which Mr. Cox became president, he naturally steers a good deal of business in its way.

Mr. Wood is reported to be one of the two or three financiers whose judgment on investment securities, is practically unchallenged. In breadth of grasp and foresight, in sound financial judgment and in sheer capacity he has justified Mr. Cox's selection, and to-day he is said to be the Senator's right-hand man, in large deals, as he was in smaller matters when he was private secretary.

Mr. Wood is a rather short man, of the sallow hue that comes from long hours indoors. He has the bald pate that goes with most financiers. His forehead rises dome fashion, and is rounded rather than square. The face as a whole is a well shaped oval of which the keen and searching eyes are the most prominent feature. There is something in the eyes that speak of nervous strength, untiring energy and insatiable, or even a gluttinous, appetite for work. He gives one the impression that he lives a good deal on his reserve of nerve force, but if it is a choice of either, Mr. Wood or Mr. Wood's work suffering, he always manages to have it fall on Mr. Wood. The keen but somewhat inscrutable quality of his gaze is heightened by a pince-nez. The nose is big (all these noses are big), the mouth is firm and well shaped, but partly concealed by a heavy moustache, and a little chin whisker, which somehow strikes one as rather inadequate.

Besides being managing director of the Central Canada Loan, he is vice-president of the Dominion Securities Co., (a subsidiary concern,) of the National Trust Company, and of the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway Company. Not satisfied with this he is a director of Sao Paulo, and Rio, of Mexican Light and Power, the Canada Life, and Western Assurance Companies, of the Dominion Iron and Steel, the Grand Trunk Pacific, and now of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. And Mr. Wood is essentially a director who directs.

Mr. Wood is said to have some politics, but it is a business at which he does not work very hard. A notable thing and a pleasing thing about him, is his enthusiastic interest in the young men of his church, St. Paul's, on Avenue Road. He has a large class of young men, of whom he is the leader, and they meet on many a week night beside the hour on Sunday morning. To this end, and to promote the social well-being of his class, he spares neither energy, thought nor money.

Altogether, Mr. Wood is one of the ablest and most capable financial men in Canada, whose acknowledged pre-eminence in the world of investment securities will give value and authority to his new directorship.

FASTEST GAME IN YEARS PROMISED TO-MORROW

Kingston Will Have Their Strongest Line-up for the Occasion

To-morrow night's game with the speedy Kingston team is causing great excitement in sporting circles and one of the biggest crowds in years is looked for. The Kingston outfit will be very strong as it is likely that Cyril Knight formerly captain of the Queen's team and one of the fastest centre players in the business will be on the line-up for to-morrow night. Knight is wanted by Queen's again this season, but it is said that he will turn out with the Soldiers. Geo. Richardson, the fast left wing of last year's Queen's team and Powell, formerly of the famous Pieton Pea Carriers as well as Hiscock Potter Beattie Vanborne and J. Richardson will be here so that the locals to beat this outfit will have to play the fastest kind of hockey. The Peterborough team is in splendid shape and will not give up the ghost without the hardest kind of a fight. The fans may rely upon seeing a hair raising contest, one that will be worth many times the price of admission. Judging by the way the seats are selling the seating accommodation of the rink will be taxed to its utmost Kingston are confident of winning not only to-morrow's game, but also the O.H.A. championship and as the locals are thinking about the same thing themselves the hockey should be of the true championship variety.

A Delightful Banquet In The Oriental Last Night

Mr. E. G. Patterson, the Host at Banquet Given to the Foremen of the Many Departments of the C. G. E.—A Decided Success

"Say, Eboshua, why so pleasid? What can there be
In commune held by Pallas and by thee?
Her pleasure is in darts and battles; thine
In joyous feats and draughts of rosy wine—"

Now that the winter season is at its zenith, and in a few short weeks will be again on the wane, many occasions are presenting themselves to the business men of the city and to others of cementing old friendships and forming new ones. Perhaps chief among these is the banquet. The present time of the year is marked by many socials, banquets and "at-homes," and thus the dreary winter months are brightened by the assemblies of friends around the festive board, where good fellowship and friendliness are bound to exist.

Perhaps there has been no banquet more eminently successful than that which was given last night by the superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Works, Mr. E. G. Patterson, to the foremen of the various departments of that institution. If the goodwill and friendship that were plainly evident at last night's social is considered a criterion, it is no wonder that the C. G. E. is becoming, year by year, a stronger and larger manufacturing establishment. "In union there is strength," and amiability among the staff is perhaps the greatest motive for hearty co-operation among the foremen and managers for the company's advancement.

The Spread

The banquet was held in the spacious dining hall of the Oriental Hotel, and the fact that it was prepared by the efficient cuisine of Mr. G. N. Graham's Hotel is practically saying sufficient. The menu was a very extensive one, and the serving of the food was done in a most commendable manner. Mr. Patterson occupied the seat of honour, Rev. Father McColl and Messrs. D. Hughes Charles, W. S. Davidson, John Belcher, L. M. Hayes, W. H. Denham and others being seated immediately around him. The other guests were seated at a long table extending the full length of the dining-room. It is needless to say that the spread was the most enjoyable part of the evening's entertainment. It might be noted that the menu cards were very artistic and pretty and were in keeping with the thoroughness of the preparations for the banquet.

Music

While the supper was being partaken of, music was provided which helped in making the banquet the success it was. Miss K. Graham assisted with several instrumental numbers rendered in a very skilful manner. Mr. A. E. Wilson, during the olio, if this term may be used, contributed a vocal selection. Mr. Denham also delighted the audience with a vocal number, to which he had to respond, Miss Graham acting as accompanist. Mr. W. S. Davidson provided entertainment in various ways, which was certainly greatly enjoyed.

Toast List.

The supper being over, and removed, under the influence of "My Lady Nicotine" some fine speeches were made. The first toast was that to the King, proposed by Mr. Patterson, who acted as chairman. In a few brief remarks he stated the purposes of the meeting and referred to the honour bestowed upon him as proposer of that toast. He asked that the health of our gracious Sovereign be drank to the lees.

"Our Guests" was the next toast on the list, and was proposed by Mr. R. E. Layfield and responded to by Rev. Father McColl, Mr. Denham and Mr. Hayes. These gentlemen paid high tributes to the local management of the C. G. E., each being satisfied that the foremen were a very intelligent and bright-looking body of men. They made mention of the good work the C. G. E. had done for this city, being practically the industrial artery of Peterborough. They thanked the host for the kindness he had extended to them and the honour given therein, and wished that the company would enjoy continued prosperity.

Mr. Davidson, in a witty speech, proposed the health of this city of Peterborough, which toast was very heartily drunk. Ald. Tovey and Mr. W. S. Robinson, responded, each referring to the great strides the city has taken during the past two years. Mr. Tovey said the city's ambition is to acquire a population of 25,000, and he felt confident that that number would be reached before many years had passed. He urged everyone to take an active part in municipal affairs. Many men do not take the interest they should do, he said; they even neglect to cast their vote. He thanked everyone for the hearty manner in which the toast was drunk.

Mr. Robinson said that the C. G. E. has grown with the city, or rather vice versa. One large industry generally brings many more, as the C.G.E. has undoubtedly done. He thanked the host for coupling his name with such an important toast.

To the lot of Mr. D. Hughes Charles, fell the honour of proposing the toast of the Canadian General Electric Company. He spoke of the friendly relations existing between the C. G. E. and the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The latter bank, he said, has advanced with tremendous strides. This success was chiefly due, he thought, to the fact that the customers of that bank were financially very strong. It was a good plan for young men to place their money with a banking institution that was known to be safe and trustworthy. He considered it an honour to be asked to propose this toast.

Before Mr. Harding responded the assembly sang, "Drill ye Tarriers, drill!" followed by the chorus, "Everybody works but Father."

Mr. Harding's remarks were very eulogistic of the Canadian General Electric. It was widely known throughout the country for the work that has come from its buildings. As an example of the growth of the company Mr. Harding said that a few years ago a 100 k.w. machine was an eight day wonder around the shop, but to-day there are four 8500 k.w. machines under construction, and there are over 1100 employees on the pay roll. He believed the works would continue to grow and that the present premises would in time prove to be too small.

Mr. Rowe proposed the toast to the ladies; Mr. P. L. Allison and Mr L. B. Ramsden responding.

The last toast was proposed by Mr. John Belcher, and was that of the health of the host, Mr. Patterson. Mr. Belcher paid a warm tribute to his administration in the C.G.E., and the hearty co-operation of the foremen was undoubtedly due to the good feelings that existed between the foremen and the superintendent.

Mr. Paterson disclaimed any of the praise that Mr. Belcher and others had paid to him. If the company had attained any success, it was not due to him, Mr. Patterson said, but to the co-operation and ready assistance of the men who have made the C.G.E. what it is. If the foremen were not so generous and ever ready to lend a hand, no man's administration would amount to anything.

Mr. Patterson thanked the gentlemen for the good wishes that had been extended to him and the success that had been wished the company as well as himself. He appreciated the heartiness with which they had drunk to his health and success.

The assembly broke up with "Auld Lang Syne," and the National Anthem.

It was a very successful banquet and there is no doubt but that all those present last night will long remember the occasion and look forward with pleasure to a similar one in 1908.

A Welsh Evangelist Engaged To Conduct Special Services Here

A somewhat remarable case of what some might call a Providential co-incidence has been reported. It appears that the Christians who meet for worship in the Gospel Hall, George street have been considering the advisability of engaging an evangelist and conducting a series of special services. They had thought of a Mr. Mapleton, of Buffalo, a man who had but recently returned from Wales where he engaged in the great revival, and were going to write to him to ask for terms. Just as this had been decided upon they received a letter from Mr Mapleton himself asking if arrangements could be made for him to come here. No one here knows Mr. Mapleton, except by reputation, and he had simply heard of Peterborough, as a city where there was a community of Christians.

In view of these circumstances it was decided to ask Mr. Mapleton to come, and it is expected that the special services will be commenced on Sunday, though the place of meeting has not yet been decided on, but will be announced later.

FERGUS CROUGH

A sad death is reported from Enniskmore, where Fergus Crough, the twenty-year-old son of Mr. Philip Crough, passed away last night at 10 o'clock. The deceased had not been enjoying robust health for the past two years, and inflammation of the lungs was the immediate cause of his death. Mr. and Mrs. Crough and a family of six brothers and three sisters remain to mourn the loss.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence on the Communication road, at the corner of the third line of Smith, and proceed to St. Martin's Church. The remains will be interred in the Cross Cemetery.

DELIVERY HORSE IN AN EXCITING RUNAWAY

Ran Over the Driver and Ended by Smashing Into Telegraph Pole

The horse attached to Mrs. T. Lush's delivery sleigh was responsible for an exciting runaway last night. Mrs. Lush's son, Gilbert, was unharnessing the horse in front of her home on Dublin street when the animal bolted, and the boy, in an effort to stop it, was thrown under the sleigh which passed over him. He fortunately escaped without injury. The animal ran down Division street into London street, where its progress was rudely checked by a collision with a telegraph pole. Beyond smashing the shafts of the sleigh no damage was done.

CANADIAN DAIRYMAN A POPULAR PUBLICATION

A Valued Paper to the Dairy Interests—Peterborough Man Making Success of Exploiting It

The Canadian Dairyman, the official organ of the Eastern and Western Ontario Dairymen's Associations, has recently been changed from a semi-monthly to a weekly publication, and in its present form should prove a very valuable publication to dairy interests. It is carefully edited, Mr. H. B. Cowan being editor-in-chief, and every issue contains much information of deep interest to those engaged in the dairy business. It is evidently proving popular with the public, as the following reference to the success of a Peterborough canvasser, made in the last issue of the Dairyman, will show: "Mr. J. J. Hogan of Peterborough county, secured 20 new full years' subscriptions at $1 each in five days, as well as a three months subscription, and he expects to do much better than this from now on. In writing us he says: 'I have secured many renewal subscriptions also, and the old subscribers inform me that the Canadian Dairyman is by far the best and most practical authority in Canada on dairy matters. Everybody is delighted that they are going to receive a weekly instead of twice a month.'"

ONE MONTH IN GAOL AND ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS FINE

Sentence of the Court Upon Mr. P. Clunan, who Was Charged With Assaulting Richard Cornelius, an Indian

IN DEFAULT OF MONEY ANOTHER MONTH

The trial of P. Clunan was resumed yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It will be remembered that the charge was that of assault on Richard Cornelius in the Royal Hotel.

Thomas Cleary was the first witness called. He stated that he saw Cornelius in front of the hotel with his head bleeding. He did not see anything of the fracas inside.

Mr. E. Wilson was working in the hotel at the time, engaged at his trade, plumbing. He saw the trouble between Mr. Clunan and the Indian. It was about five minutes to twelve, according to his statement, that the trouble commenced. Mr. Clunan repeatedly requested the Indian to leave the hotel, and refused him drink. The Indian insisted and acted very threateningly. He said that he heard the Indian call Mr. Clunan vile names, and the latter took a club from a drawer, and, after telling him to make himself scarce, began to put Cornelius out. The latter struggled and resisted, and finally hit Clunan with his fist. Witness said that the latter then swung the baton and hit the Indian twice, and, with the assistance of Mr. Kelly, ejected Cornelius to the street.

Dr. Greer

Dr. Greer was next called and described the Indian's injuries. He said that he believed he would have bled to death as an artery had been severed, had not prompt attention been given the Indian. Both wounds went in as far as the skull.

Michael English and William Christie gave their testimony, which contained nothing not already stated.

Mr. Clunan was given a hearing, but his evidence included nothing more than had been already stated.

Mr. G. W. Hatton made an appeal for Mr. Clunan, reviewing the incidents of the case. Mr. Dumble concluded that Mr. Clunan was guilty of the charge, and reserved judgment until this morning.

At 10 o'clock to-day the case was again brought up. Mr. Hatton made a strong appeal for leniency, after which Mr. Dumble pronounced the judgment of the court on Mr. Clunan. The latter was sentenced to one month in jail and a fine of $100 imposed. In default of payment another month's confinement will be added.

Mr. Dumble's Views

The following is Mr. Dumble's statement and sentence:

"In this case, an Indian, with two other men, came to the city from Indian River station and went to the Royal Hotel, and there had three rounds of whisky. Then they separated, and about noon the Indian returned to the hotel and remained for the others, by appointment. The Indian wanted more whisky, but was refused. He persisted in his demand and, being refused, said some rude things to the keeper of the hotel, Mr. Kelly, and to the manager, Mr. Clunan. His language was offensive, but such as is too frequently heard in bar-rooms. Mr. Clunan several times ordered the Indian to leave the room, but he refused, then Clunan took from the drawer a policeman's baton and, raising it, repeated his order, then seized the Indian by the coat and forced him back to the door. Kelly came from behind the bar, opened the door, and took hold of the Indian and pulled, while Clunan forced the Indian into the porch, and finally out of doors. Mr. Clunan says the Indian raised his hand and struck him, not a severe blow, on the head, which did not hurt him. The Indian says Clunan twice struck him on the head with his club, and that Kelly kicked him. Clunan admits striking twice with his club. The two blows cut the Indian down to the skull, one wound an inch and a quarter long, cutting an artery, which, Dr. Greer says, would have bled him to death had he not promptly stitched it up. The other wound was also to the bone, but was not so long, and was more contused. The charge is for an aggravated assault. I find the charge proven.

"The sale of liquor to the Indian is unlawful, and the man who sells liquor to anyone must be very indulgent with him, whose consequent bad behaviour he has helped to make. If the Indian was offensive it was for Clunan either to endure it or 'phone for the police. He only 'phoned after the assault, instead of before. The Indian was not violent before the clubbing. If it was necessary to put him out, the two men could easily, with gentle hand, have removed him. To club a man as this man was clubbed was a cruel and wanton act, without excuse or decency. Hotel men owe it to the public to be very gentle with drunken men, and I cannot encourage them in the idea that they may club every poor drunken fellow whose wit liquor has deprived him of.

"The judgment of the court is that Mr. Clunan be confined in the County Jail for one month and that he do pay a fine of one hundred dollars. In default of payment that he be confined in said jail for one month from the termination of the first month's confinement."

D. W. DUMBLE,
Police Magistrate.

ANCHOR ICE AFFECTS THE LIGHTS

Power was Interfered With During Early Morning Hours Yesterday—Waterworks, Too

The sudden drop in the temperature yesterday was not without its disagreeable effects, as those who used the electric lights found out last night during the early part of the evening. Both electric companies were greatly troubled with anchor ice, the result being that until six o'clock, the lights were dim, consequent upon the heavy drains upon the power resources. After the power used in the factories had been shut off for the night, the quality of the light improved very materially.

The water works dam was affected to a certain extent, too, but the service was not interfered with.

Human "Steam"; Keeping It Up

The Secret Of That Tireless Energy Some People Possess.

There is another kind of steam than that in which the boy James Watt, watching his mother's tea-kettle, first saw the great possibilities that long since have become realities.

This other kind of steam is human "steam." And it is a most important factor in our affairs.

Some people call this human "steam" by other names. They call it "push" sometimes, or "hustle," or "get-up," or "life." Well, it's all of these, but after all it's just "steam." It's the power to do things,—a seemingly tireless power which some people possess.

Malta-Vita, the perfect malted wheat food, fills men and women and children with the power to do things. It makes them strong in body and mind. It keeps up their "steam."

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, every flake baked crisp and brown, it is the most delicious and most healthful food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is nutrition, digested most readily, even by the weakest stomach, because the gelatinized starch of the thoroughly cooked wheat has been converted by fine malt extract into maltose, or malt sugar.

There's no other food like Malta-Vita! None "just as good." Sold by all grocers, 10 cents.

WEDDING BELLS

WHITE—GOODACRE

The wedding was quietly celebrated yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Goodacre, Park street, of their daughter, Florence, to Mr. James Franklin White, of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's church in the presence of a few intimate friends of the young couple, who were unattended. The bride was prettily attired in a gown of blue trimmed with silk.

After the ceremony a dainty wedding repast was served. Mr. and Mrs. White will reside on Park street.

McDONNEL—WHEELER

A wedding that will surely interest some of the people of Peterborough was that of Miss Clara Wheeler, youngest daughter of Mr. Robt. Wheeler, of Oshawa, to Mr. Frederick J. McDonnell, third son of Mr. Chas. McDonnell, of Downey's Corners. The ceremony was performed in the Roman Catholic Church in Oshawa by Rev. Father Mallory at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The groom is well known in this city, having attended school here, and was one of the Peterborough members of the Canadian contingent to the South African war. A large number of the friends of the contracting parties were present at the church to see the happy couple launched into wedded life. Mr. Ray Wheeler acted as best man, and Miss A. McDonnell was bridesmaid. The bride's little niece performed the duties of flower girl.

The bride was dressed in white silk with rose Valenciennes lace and baby ribbon, and with customary veil and bouquet, looked quite charming as an ideal bride.

Her travelling suit was of navy blue lady's cloth with hat to match. She also wore a set of white furs, the gift of the groom, which becomingly harmonized with her suit.

The wedding dinner was served at the residence of the bride's parents, about thirty-five guests being present, some from Toronto and Peterborough.

Afterwards the happy couple left on the east-bound train for Peterborough, where they will remain until Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell were the recipients of many beautiful presents, tokens of the esteem and regard in which they are held by their many friends.

PRIZE-WINNERS AT PETTAWAWA AND COBOURG

Members of the 24th Field Battery Have Done Remarkably Well—Prizes Now Here

OFFICERS TO BE CONGRATULATED

The prize winners of the 24th Field Battery which camped last summer at Cobourg and later at Petawawa, are announced. A large share of the prizes have been won by Peterborough boys which is a fact to be appreciated by the citizens.

Considering that it was the first year the battery had been organized it speaks remarkably well, not only for the men, but also Major T. W. H. Young, M.D., who was so prominent in the recruiting of the men and also the other local officers, all of whom are to be congratulated for their splendid work.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The management of the Grand opera house is trying to secure the presence of Madame La Grand Reed with the Pittsburg orchestra, about the end of the present month.

Madame La Grand Reed is a well-known and charming woman who took up her residence in Toronto a few years ago. Subsequently she went abroad to study under Sir Geo. Powers, and Blanch Marcasse, in London, and spent two years in Paris under the greatest tenor of the age, Jean De Reszke. Prior to that time she had refused many offers to appear in light opera. She made her first appearance in New York with the Victor Herbert orchestra at Daly's Theatre. The New York critics were very loud in their praises Mrs. Reed has been chosen as the soloist for the Canadian tour of the Pittsburgh Orchestra, which is another tribute to her rich beautiful voice, of dramatic quality and great range, and in addition she possesses a very magnetic personality, and a charming stage presence.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERT WAS A DECIDED SUCCESS

An Interesting Programme was Presented at Fraserville—Visitors for the Holidays

Examiner Special

Fraserville Jan. 9.—The Fraserville Sunday School tea and entertainment on New Year's night, was a decided success.

The programme which lasted for about two hours, and which was prepared under the direction of Miss Walsh, was exceedingly well rendered and delighted the large audience which almost completely filled the church. Neighbouring ministers were present.

Miss Wallace, of Toronto, and Miss Smithson, of Bailieboro, rendered several vocal selections which were much enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walters and daughter were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hutchinson, for New years.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Wood and baby, Peterborough, were out to the Sunday School entertainment.

MUNICIPALITIES' SHARE.

What the Province Will Pay Over of Railway Taxation.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—Eight cents a head on the census population of 1901 is the ratio of railway taxation to be paid by the province to the municipalities under the act of last session of the Legislature.

For each non-paying patient in any asylum the municipality to which such patient belongs will contribute from this allowance ten cents a day.

The amount collected from the steam railways was $375,699 for 1906, as against $191,990 for 1905. For the expenses of the railway board $30,000 is deducted, and half of the balance of $173,344 will be distributed as above stated. The province retains the rest.

The municipalities will receive about twice as much as formerly.

FIRE REGISTRATION.

Underwriters' Deputation Waits on Government With That Request.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—Statutory registration of all fires occurring in the province was the request of the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association, preferred to the Government yesterday. A deputation presented the question as the result of action taken at the last annual meeting.

J. J. Craig, M.P.P., East Wellington, introduced the gentlemen: D. D. Yorke, Harrietsville; J. W. McKendrick, Galt; James McEwing, Drayton; George Kay, Stratford; J. Beattie, Fergus; Hugh Black, Rockwood.

Consideration was promised.

DESTRUCTIVE STRIKERS.

$1,500,000 Damage Done by Mexicans —Troops In Pursuit.

City of Mexico, Jan. 10.—A telegram from Orizaba received Tuesday night says that the value of the property destroyed by the strikers totals $1,500,000.

The strikers, who have escaped the soldiers, have fled to the nearby mountains, and are being sought by gendarmes and troops.

So far as known none of the 28,000 textile strikers has returned to work. The factory owners announce their intention to open up all the mills today.

Woman Abducts Child.

Sarnia, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Rose Cleveland, aged 39, was arrested as she was hurrying to the American border with her 6-year-old child, and brought back here, where she will be held on a charge of abduction. After kidnapping her child from the orphan asylum, where it had been placed by its father some months ago, she hurried to Port Huron. An officer stopped her as she was about to walk from the boat.

A BAD COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs, and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds, and failure to take hold at once and get rid of them will cause many years of suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree and will certainly cure all coughs colds and lung troubles.

Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Langton, Ont., writes : "In November, 1905, I caught a bad cold that settled on my lungs, so I got two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and used one and a half of them and by that time I was cured. I laid the balance of the bottle away for future use. A few days after our eight months' old baby took the whooping cough.

He was so bad we had to call the family physician, but he said he could do but little.

I commenced using the Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and to my great satisfaction the baby was cured. I only used four 25 cent bottles ; a small doctor bill.

I believe there is no other remedy for coughs, colds, etc.

Price 25 cents a bottle at all dealers.

PICKED TEAM LOST A HARD GAME TO MIDGETS

Local City League Bunch Gave the Lindsay Seven a Good Argument

SCUGOG TEAM WON BY 7 GOALS TO 2

The picked team from the Strathconas and High Lifes, who went to Lindsay last night were trimmed by the Midgets by a score of 7-2, after a hard and fast game. The Midgets led at half time by 5-1 and the Peterborough team did much better work in the second half, considering that it was the first time the team had played together Ernie Ford's team made a fine showing and the game was closer than the score would indicate. It was not until the second half that they began to find themselves and play combination with the result that the Midgets had to go the limit.

For Lindsay, Leon Koyl, the big point was the star, his rushes being a feature of the game. McDougal was prominent on the forward line. Myers at point, for Peterborough, had them all backing up when he unloosed his wrist shot, once scoring from centre ice. Sawers played a splendid game in goal, picking off shot after shot that seemed to bear the counter label. Rose was always prominent on the forward line, but was closely watched by the Midgets.

Ernie Ford gave satisfaction as referee. The game was not rough, although marked by close checking.

The boys report the best of treatment at the hands of the Lindsay team and management. They were entertained at a banquet at the Big Twenty restaurant after the game and a very pleasant time was spent.

The Peterborough team was as follows:—

Goal—Sawers.
Point—Myers.
Cover—Nicholls.
Rover—Rose.
Centre—Seymour.
Right wing—Kelly.

CITY LEAGDE GAMES TO-NIGHT WILL BE FAST

Lakefield Will Make Their First Appearance of the Season To-night

The ice is in great condition for the City League games to-night and the patrons may rest assured of seeing two of the best games of the series. A strong seven will represent Lakefield in the first game against the Orphans, who although very light are fast and should make things decidedly interesting for the boys from Cementville. The High Lifes-Auburn battle scheduled for the second game should furnish an interesting struggle. Both teams are heavy and fast and a battle royal should ensue when they come together.

HARRIERS EASILY WON FROM THE O.T.C. MEN

Score was 51-20 in First Game in the Latter Half of the Series

The first game of basketball in the second half of the Y.M.C.A. series was played last night between the O.T.C's and Harriers and easily won by the latter. The score at the finish was 51 to 20; the half time tally being 19 to 17 in favour of the winners. During the first half the Harriers could scarcely find the nets, but they warmed up to the game in the latter and quite easily distanced their more inexperienced opponents.

The Harriers have been greeted by a long string of victories without a single defeat and it looks as if they will duplicate their past record.

John Lang carried the whistle and made a very satisfactory referee. The teams lined up as follows:—

Harriers.—Defence, Richardson, McTavish; centre, Dobbin; forwards, E. Best, Robertson.

O. T. C's.—Defence, Ray Best, Stratton; centre, McRae; forwards, Galley, Huston.

Referee—John Lang.

CYRIL KNIGHT MAY YET GO WITH 14TH TEAM

Queens Wants Him Badly But His Collegiate Status is Questioned

It is yet possible that Knight will play with the 14th Regiment team of Kingston. He naturally wishes to play with Queen's, his old team, but it is held that he is not eligible. Queen's will endeavour to have his college status established, in view of the fact that he is back in the science department doing post-graduate work, but the intercollegiate rule requires all college players to be bona fide undergraduates. If Knight cannot play with Queen's he will give his services to the 14th. He is a centre player of the first rank.

MAY AMALGAMATE THE TWO TORONTO TEAMS

St. George's and Argonauts May Join Forces in the Senior O. H. A. This Year

Last night's Toronto Telegram says:—The Argonauts and St. George's met yesterday afternoon to discuss the advisability of amalgamation. As the Saints had played all their senior men and the Argonauts had not played any of theirs, the only thing to be done was to turn over the Argo player to the Saints, which the caramen were loth to do. As a matter of fact the Saints wanted only Toms and Hamilton, who were willing to go. The Argonauts will not amalgamate with the Saints, and if the two players desert they will play their schedule through. They say they can get a strong team for home games. Neither Toms nor Hamilton has signed Argo certificates and may turn out with the Saints.

A CHANGE MADE IN THE PROGRAMME AT RACES

The Turf Club has decided to change the 2.13 race announced for in their annual Winter Races to 2.17, and horse men are asked to make a note of this fact.

TURF.

The Horse World, published in Buffalo, contains the following items of local interest:—

Everything points to a prosperous season on the ice this winter. Duffers in Park, Toronto, starts the ball rolling. Then comes Port Perry, Lindsay, Peterborough, Port Hope and Belleville, in turn, and they are all good towns with genuine sportsmen behind the game in each place.

Harry Cook, who is now famous through being expelled for transgressing, is now a real hotel man, having bought a tavern in the Town of Trenton, where he will reside in the future. He has taken Tim Alert, 2.13 1-4, owned by Mr. Martin, of Peterborough, and his own mare, Miss Paisley, 2.24 1-4, to his new home. The mare has been shifted to the trot and it is said she can go some at that gait.

HOCKEY

Mr. Geo. Lynch will referee both games in the City League to-night and will see that everybody plays hockey from start to finish.

• • • •

The reserve seat plan for to-morrow night's game opened this morning and judging by the way in which the seats are going the crowd will reach record proportions. Kingston will bring up a few supporters with them and the game will be very interesting. The public is advised to secure their seats as soon as possible as there will be none found begging to-morrow night.

• • • •

The seniors had a good practice last night and with another light work out before the City League games to-night will be in splendid condition for to-morrow's game with the 14th Regiment team of Kingston.

• • • •

Great excitement is being aroused over the big game to-morrow with Kingston and the attendance promises to surpass all previous records for the season's first O.H.A. game. As an exhibition of fast hockey the game should be a daisy. Both teams are confident of winning and will play hockey from the drop of the hat. The betting is even and it is said that Kingston money is being offered already, so that the Kingston team is looked upon as having a good chance of winning. To do so they will have to move about as fast as any in the business.

• • • •

The Peterborough team will practice to-night before the City League games.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S. WON FROM ENNISMORE BUNCH

In an Interesting Game of Cards Played in St. Martin's Hall Last Night

Last night an interesting game of "45s" was played in the T.A.S. Hall, Ennismore, when eighteen men, representing the Peterborough T.A.S., played a similar number from St. Martin's Society, the visitors winning by a score of 154-152 for the round. After the game an interesting programme was given, consisting of recitations and music, and contributed to by the visiting as well as the local members of the society, and refreshments were also served.

CURLING

Four more scheduled games were played off at the curling rink last night with the following results:—

C. N. Brown, 16.	Morrow, 10.
N. J. Thompson, 16.	T. Brightman, 7.
D. Cameron, 10.	J. Stanger, 13.
Jas. Bogue, 11.	R. Neill, 12.

• • • •

The ice was in a perfect condition for good curling last night and many lovers of the game took advantage of this. All the rinks were in motion and the rink looked quite natural again after the intervening mild weather. A large number of young men were out last night who are just learning the game.

Besides the four scheduled games the following scratch games were run off in which the new men figured prominently:—

D. Hall, 7.	Geo. Fitzgerald, 10.
T. F. Matthews, 21.	S. T. Medd, 13

NO MORE DANDRUFF

Newbro's Herpicide Destroys the Pestiferous Cause of Annoying Dandruff.

Does your head itch? Is your coat or dress full of white flakes after dressing your hair? That's the effect of dandruff. Is you hair thinning? Are you beginning to get bald in spots? Are you already, in fact, already becoming bald? If so, that is the effect of the measly little parasite that burrows in at the root of the hair and throws up the scalp in dandruff and eats off the hair at the roots. Science's latest discovery is a destroyer of that pestiferous germ. That destroyer is contained in no other hair preparation on earth but Newbro's Herpicide. Try it and be convinced. A delightful dressing. Sold by all druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for a sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond and Walsh, special agents.

HIS FAITHFUL SERVICE MUCH APPRECIATED

Mr. Jos. Goselin Re-elected Chairman of the Separate School Board

Mr. Jos. Goselin, who was last night elected chairman of the Separate School Board for the second year, has been a member of that Board for 12 years, and has never, since his first term, been opposed, an evidence of the fact that his record as a member of the board has been satisfactory. In his position as chairman of the Board he has given much time and much thought to the work, and that his colleagues appreciate his services, is evidenced by the fact that he was re-elected.

THE CONVENTION OF DAIRYMAN IN OTTAWA

Annual Gathering of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association Opened This Morning in the Capital—President's Address

MR. G. A. GILLESPIE IS ATTENDING

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—This morning the annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association opened in this city, with a large attendance of delegates and others interested in the daity industry. A feature of the gathering this year is the fact that the dairymen of the province through their Farmers' Institutes have nominated seventeen men for the directorate of the Association. These men, one of whom is Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of Peterborough, are in attendance at this convention.

President's Address

This morning the annual address of the President, Mr. D. Derbyshire, M.P., of Brockville, was given at the first meeting of the Association. Mr. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner for the Dominion, was in the chair, at the opening session. After expressing his pleasure at again holding the convention in the Capital City of the Dominion, Mr. Derbyshire referred to the assistance which the business men of Ottawa had rendered in making the preliminary arrangements for the convention, and complimented the city upon the wonderful progress it had made since the convention was last held there.

Dealing with matters of special import to the practical dairymen Mr. Derbyshire said:—

We find that we have made about 100,000 more cheese this year than last, yet we find that we are behind in the exports of butter about 180,000 packages, but with the high prices obtained. we find that the estimated value of cheese, butter and bacon exported will amount to about $46,500,000 from the make of 1906, and when we add to this $54,500,000, the value of these articles of food (including milk) consumed at $101,000,000, which is $6,000,000 more than for the year 1905, and as our dairymen become better educated in the work, we expect to see the demand for both foreign and home consumption increase each succeeding year.

Sanitary Inspectors

Under the direction of the Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, we have had twenty-eight (28) instructors and two sanitary inspectors for the year 1906 just closed, and we expect our staff to be increased for next year and each instructor made a sanitary inspector. We have, also, had the services of our chief instructor, G. G. Publow, whose untiring energies and marked ability have always been at the disposal of this association.

Our Dairy Commission for the Dominion has also been of great assistance to the dairy industry in many ways, and his work in the line of better transportation and refrigeration has been much appreciated.

A Prosperous Year

Continuing Mr. Derbyshire said:—I am proud of the fact that our dairymen have been very prosperous during the year just closed and I predict a continuation of this prosperity for the coming year, yet I regret that our manufacturers have not shared in that prosperity as in most instances, they are paid the same prices only, as formerly. I do hope our dairymen will carefully consider this matter, which is, in my opinion, of vital interest to them and not allow their old and trusted makers to retire from this business, but encourage them by giving at least 1 1-4c. for manufacturing and urge them to attend our Eastern Dairy School, which is so well equipped to give them a thorough training and thus enable them to do you much better service in the coming year.

With our present opportunities for education and instruction and with every factory in Eastern Ontario belonging to the syndicate system, with our milk producers joining heartily with the manufacturer, we hope to make 1907 the most prosperous in our history.

Concluding his address Mr. Derbyshire expressed his appreciation of the honour which the Association had done him in electing him for a number of successive years to the presidency of that body. As the retiring president he would like to have every producer, every maker and every maker and every proprietor of a factory join him in making one supreme effort for improvement all along the line, and heave for the watchword for 1907, "Improvement."

Committees

The following committees were then appointed:—

Business—J A Ruddick, John R Reid, E B Faith, R G Murphy.

Nominations — J B Dargavel, M. P. P., Edward Kidd, James Whitton.

Legislation — D Derbyshire, M. P., John J Dargavel, M. P. P., Henry Glendenning, G G Publow.

SPRINGVILLE CHURCH HAS A VERY GOOD YEAR

Annual Meeting of the Congregation of the Springville Presbyterian Church Was Held Last Night

GOOD PROSPECTS ARE REPORTED

Examiner Special.

Springville, Jan. 10.—Last night the annual meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian Church was held, and the reports of the different departments of the church for the past year, as presented last night, show the church to have experienced a most successful year, in spite of the fact that during the greater part of the year 1906 it was without a pastor. In the early part of November Rev. Dr. Marsh accepted the pastorate, and since that time the church has made rapid strides under his leadership.

The attendance at the meeting last night was large and keen interest was displayed in the affairs of the church. The prospects for the future under the progressive pastorate of Rev. Dr. Marsh are of the brightest. Last night the nucleus of an organ fund was formed, when an offering of over $56 was received in response to an appeal.

After the business of the evening had been transacted Rev. Dr. Marsh gave an interesting illustrated lecture on his trip to Bermuda, and the choir delighted the audience with a number of musical numbers.

The election for the Board of Managers resulted in the return of the old Board, with the exception of Messrs. D. McRoberts and Joseph Sanderson, who are retiring. In their stead Messrs. Alex. Laing and W. H. Baptie were elected, and Mr. Willis Tully was elected as an addition to the Board. Messrs. Robert Fowler and William White were elected auditors. All the other officers are the same as those who held office during the past year.

AUTOMATIC VAUDEVILLE RE-OPENS TO-NIGHT

New Pictures and New Music Will be Features of this Popular Place of Amusement

After having been closed for about ten days the Automatic Vaudeville will be re-opened to-night, at 432 George street. During the time that this amusement place was closed a number of improvements were effected. An entire change of pictures in the moving picture machines has been made, every machine having a new scene. The new pictures are said to be more humourous than any that have yet been shown here. In addition to this a free musical programme, embracing all the latest musical hits will be given each evening. Go and hear the newest, "The Mouse and the Cloak."

A new departure has been decided on by the management of this popular amusement place. In future Tuesday and Friday afternoons will be reserved for ladies and children, who will have charge of the place, punching bags included.

On the afternoons mentioned no one but ladies and children will be admitted. In the selection of the pictures special thought has been given to ladies and children, and it is believed that they will find something amusing in a visit to this popular arcade.

Whooping Cough

"My three boys had the whooping cough this winter and I could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so distressing and dangerous an ailment. — Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, Ont.

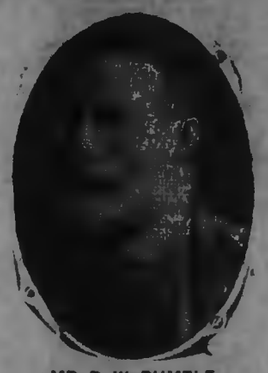
A resolution was passed at the Fredericton, N.B., city council protesting against the abolition of the United States consular agency here and requesting the Board of Trade to take the matter up with the United States authorities.

THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S ANNUAL MEETING

Satisfactory Reports Were Received and Officers Were Elected Last Evening

MR. D. W. DUMBLE AGAIN PRESIDENT

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society was held last evening in the City Council Chamber, when the reports for the year were received and the election of officers held. The attendance was not large, but a deep interest was manifested by those present in the affairs of the society, which is in a very flourishing condition. A very satisfactory report was read from the treasurer, showing a credit balance on hand of $124.68 from the Horticultural account and $255.32 from the Park account. The election of officers resulted in most of the old Board being re-appointed. Mr. T. A. S. Hay, who was vice-president last year, was nominated for the position again but had decided to withdraw.



MR. D. W. DUMBLE,
Unanimously Re-elected President of the Peterborough Horticultural Society Last Night.

There were present Mr. D. W. Dumble, President, in the chair; Messrs. H. L. Beal, Secretary-Treasurer; P. Campbell, Frank Wise, Jas. Stevenson, Jas. English, T. A. S. Hay, Wm. Pringle, Dr. Burnham, H. Nesbitt, S. Jordan.

President's Address

Mr. Dumble, the President, in his address, said that judging by the attendance one would say that the people were not enthusiastic over the society. The society, however, was as well supported as any in the Dominion, and had a membership of 164. Mr. Dumble explained the dropping of the annual show, saying that a few people captured all the prizes and the affair was not a financial success. He referred to the present system of distributing bulbs to the members, which could not be purchased by them for their subscription of $1. During the year 500 roenles, 500 hyacinths and 1300 daffodil bulbs had been distributed. As a result the practice of growing flowers has become more general. The society was very largely turning the city into a flower garden.

Reference was made to the distribution of prizes for well kept gardens and premises. This, he said, was a most desirable feature. A gentleman representing the Canadian Horticulturist, had said that the Peterborough society was doing as much as any other society in Canada.

Financial Statement

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. H. L. Beal, presented the following very satisfactory financial statement, which was, on motion, adopted.

Officers Elected

The election of officers was then proceeded with and resulted as follows:

President, D. W. Dumble.

First Vice-President—P. Campbell.

Second Vice-President — Jas. Stevenson.

Secretary-Treasurer—H. L. Beal.

Directors—Hon. J. R. Stratton, Jas. English, S. Jordan, H. Nesbitt, A. Saunders, T. A. S. Hay, Wm. Pringle, W. H. Moore, Adam Hall, Dr. Geo. Burnham, W. H. Hill, Col. H. C. Rogers, Frank Wise, B. Cooney.

Park Committee—W. H. Hill, H. Nesbitt, Frank Wise, S. Jordan, Dr. Geo. Burnham.

The following committee was appointed to wait upon the Council — Messrs. D. W. Dumble, W. H. Hill, Dr. Geo. Burnham, Adam Hall and Jas. Stevenson.

Auditors—Messrs. T. A. S. Hay and Arthur Stevenson.

County Grant.

Mr. Dumble said that the society had asked for a grant from the County Council, but that body did not report favourably. He thought they should get the grant this year. He explained that the Court House park was the property of the County Council and he thought that they would want to have the grounds kept in good condition. He explained that the lease which the society had on the park had expired and had not been renewed.

Dr. Burnham asked about the walk in the middle of the park.

Mr. Dumble said that the County should bear the expense of keeping the walk in good repair.

Mr. Campbell thought that the city and county should unite in repairing the walk.

Mr. Beal said that if an estimate of the expense of the repairs was made, and the city and society should pay three-quarters of the cost, the County Council, he thought, would pay the balance.

Mr. T. A. S. Hay said that the city had spent about $50 on the walk.

Mr. Dumble brought up another matter. He said that last year the society had asked the city for the scrapings off the streets. The request had been refused and the scrapings thrown along the river front, where they were of no use. The dredge in one day had put more gravel there than did the scrapings in the whole season.

It was moved by Mr. Jordan, seconded by Mr. Wise, that a wire fence be placed around Victoria Park in the early spring to protect the bulbs from the school children until the proper time for opening the park.—Carried.

It was moved by Mr. Wise that the Canadian Horticulturist be secured for the members of the society for the next year. This was seconded by Dr. Burnham and carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Tenders Are Now Called For New Peterborough Armouries

Building, According to Plans, Will Have Frontage of 252 Feet on Murray Street—To be Built of Brick and Stone

TO HAVE ALL CONVENIENCES

Largest and Most Commodious Armouries in the Dominion with Three Exceptions—Description of the Building

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—To-day tenders are being called for the erection of the Peterborough Armouries, and the plans show them to be the largest, most commodious and best equipped of any in the Dominion, outside the largest cities.

Advertisements will be authorized to-day asking for tenders, the bids to be in by February 1. The plans of the new building will be on exhibition at the office of Mr. A. J. Grant, Superintending Engineer of the Trent Canal at Peterborough, as well as at other places throughout the Province.

As a result of Mr. R. R. Hall's action in urging upon the Government the importance of Peterborough as a mobilization centre of a populous and prosperous district, with railway lines radiating in all directions, the erection of the large Armouries referred to has been decided on. Mr. Hall also pointed out to the Government the great interest that is being taken in military matters in his home city and in the county of Peterborough generally, and the necessity, in view of the existence of these conditions, of providing well for the gratification of the military spirit. How much the governing body was impressed with his representations is seen by the decision to accede to his wishes in the matter of the large and pretentious Armouries, for which tenders are now being called. With the erection of this Armoury Peterborough will be the envy of all the other cities in the Dominion.

The plans and specifications show that the building will be constructed of brick and stone, and will be a very handsome structure. In size it will be 252 by 169 feet, the front facing on Murray street. Every known convenience and comfort for all classes of the militia have apparently been provided in this building. In the basement there will be a shooting gallery, where the men may indulge in target practice, and a bowling alley for recreation. The furnace and fuel rooms and lavatories will also be located here.

The Ground Floor

The main hall will be located on the ground floor and will be 170 by 80 feet in size. On the southeast end of this floor will be found the infantry quarters, containing mobilization, quartermaster's stores, infantry orderly room, infantry commanding officers, infantry adjutant rooms and eight infantry companies Armouries.

In the north-east end of this floor will be the Cavalry quarters, including a mobilization store room, Commanding Officer's room, Cavalry or-

PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF EDUCATION.

MR. W. PRINGLE
Chairman of the Supervision Committee

DEAD PREACHER WAS WELL KNOWN IN CITY

Rev. James McCollum, Whose Death is Recorded in Toronto, Preached in Local Church Frequently

HE HAS RELATIONS IN THIS CITY

The following refers to a gentleman well known in Peterborough, where during two or three summers he took the services at St. John's during the holidays, in the absence of the Rector. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. McCollum, who formerly resided on Gilmour street. The late Mr. McCollum was a minister of the old school, deeply learned, pious and an eloquent and forcible preacher, of the Gospel—sermons full of meat, and —Gospel truth:—

Rev. James H. McCollum, the aged rector of St. Thomas' church, died suddenly in the studio of his home, 158 Albany avenue, about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Of late he had enjoyed the best of health, and death was due to apoplexy.

Deceased was a native of Cavan county, Ireland. Being an honour graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, he received an appointment as curate to the Rev. George Gough Gubbins at Limerick, Ireland. Then for two years he travelled over most of Great Britain, preaching in many of the most important churches in the interest of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. Coming to this country, he became assistant to Rev. Dr. Lett at St. George's, and was later the first incumbent at St. Stephen's. He then successively had charges at Aurora and Burlington. When the parish of St. Thomas was organized in 1874 he became the first rector, and had occupied that position ever since.

The late Rev. Mr. McCollum, who was eighty-one years of age, was a scholar of exceptional attainments and quiet, studious habits predominated his entire life. A widow, two sons and four daughters survive. The sons are Messrs. James K. and Thomas E., both of this city, and the daughters, Misses Alice, Dorothy and Margaret, all at home. The widow is a daughter of Frederick Matthews, of Oxfordshire, England.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL SPECIFICATIONS AND PLANS

Are in the City—Tenders Close on Jan. 15th, After Which Contract Will be Let

BUILDING WILL BE 110 FT. BY 78 FT.

The revised Normal School plans and specifications have arrived in the city, and are now in the possession of Mr. W. G. Morrow, at his office. The Government has advertised for tenders, which will be opened after the fifteenth of January, and the contract will then be let. A number of Peterborough contractors are figuring on the building to be erected in Dixon Park.

The new school will be 110 feet in length by 78 feet wide, and 61 feet high. It will consist of four stories, to be built of brick, with a stone foundation. The plans have been drawn up by F. R. Heakes, architect, of the Department of Public Works.

The plans show that the basement constitutes the janitor's, manual training and boiler rooms, lavatories a coal vault and a large gymnasium at the rear of the building.

Ground Floor

The front of the ground floor is divided off into lobbies, porches, cloak rooms, and the principal's and secretary's rooms, which are at the left of the entrance. Porches are also situated on either side of the building, so that entrances may be effected from the front or on either side. Hallways from the porches extend to the main hall, which the plan shows will be 20 feet in width. Off this hall are three large cloak rooms, one of which is situated in the north east corner. On the opposite northern corner is a library and reading room, about 24 feet in width, by 50 feet in length.

First Floor

On either side of the front of the first floor, are teachers' rooms, one for ladies and the other for gentlemen. Immediately to the rear of these are laboratories and ladies' cloak rooms; off the laboratory is an apparatus room. Class rooms off the main hall occupy a portion of the left of this floor, and also the northeast corner. A large lecture room, about 50 feet long, is situated in the other corner of the rear of the first floor, to which access is given by a door from the main hall.

Second Floor

The greater portion of the second floor is taken up by the assembly hall. It stretches from the front of the building to within 40 feet of the rear, thus making the dimensions of it 70 feet by 78 feet. The rear of this floor is taken up by a pantry, domestic science rooms and an art room.

The footings and foundation walls are to be constructed of cement concrete up to the grade line, for all exterior walls and to basement floor line for interior walls.

All window sills throughout the building, except sills in the basement windows, the capitals to all pilasters, and piers, of the building, the keys and archivolt mouldings, etc., will be constructed of cement stone. Sand stones will be accepted in lieu of the above if satisfactory to the department.

The whole of the lumber for the carpenter work is to be of the best of pine, except where otherwise specified in the specifications.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has now come to be the city of Winnipeg's largest water consumer. During the quarter ending Dec. 31, the C.P.R. used 29,000,000 gallons of city water, for which $2,700 was paid after all discounts had been allowed.

The information is desired by the editor of the official paper of the Y.M.C.A. of the United States. Men over 25 who are still bachelors are urged to give their reasons, if they have any.

WANTS THE DUMPING CLAUSE TAKEN AWAY

So Far as it Relates to Binder Twine—Mr. Hall Points Out That Peterborough Factory May Lose $15,000 if it is Not Done

WAS MUCH DISCUSSION IN THE HOUSE

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Fielding moved to add binder twine or twine for harvest binders to the list of articles exempted from the operations of the dumping clause. This proposition, he suggested, might at first glance seem to be something which ought not to be adopted, but binder twine is one of those articles which to some considerable extent is being exported to the United States, which admits it free of duty. At least two factories are exporting, one at Peterborough and another at Montreal. There may be others, and as a provision in the United States tariff only admits free of duty twine from those countries which have no duty upon twine from the United States, they fear this penalty under the dumping clause might be held to be "duty." If such a ruling were given by the United States authorities it would shut out the products of Canadian factories. There had been no complaint of the dumping of United States twine in Canada, and the manufacturers who are exporting believed that the advantage of being allowed to send their products into the United States free would be greater than any possible advantage which might arise from dumping.

Mr. R. R. Hall, whose views, speaking as he did from personal knowledge gained in actual experience, were listened to with close attention, shattered the assertion that there was a combine, under which Canadians were only allowed to produce 60 per cent. of the amount required. There was, he said, absolutely no combine in any sense of the term in either the sale or production of binder twine. To his knowledge not even the suggestion of such an arrangement for restricting the output or maintaining the price, as referred to, had been made. The increase in the price had been the result of the advance in the price of raw material, which had more than doubled in recent years. Canadian manufacturers could produce binder twine as cheaply as United States manufacturers. The International Harvester Company could supply the Northwest farmers more cheaply because of freight conditions, and the Peterborough factory could export to the United States from a similar cause. Trade followed its natural course along the line of least resistance. Unless the amendment suggested by the Finance Minister was adopted Canadian factories would find themselves cut off from the United States market by a duty of half a cent a pound, and the result would be a loss to the Peterborough factory this year of $15,000 on contracts already entered into. Hence the Canadian manufacturers did not wish to have the dumping clause apply to binder twine. Although the United States manufacturers may fix prices, the profit to the Canadian manufacturers for the last few years had been less than three cents per pound; but Canadians could sell at any price they liked.

IS GOVERNMENT TO CANCEL THE LEASE?

Rumour Says That Lease of Healey Falls Power is to be Taken Away From Company

Examiner Special

Toronto, Jan. 11.—There is a rumour in legislative circles that the Government will cancel the lease of the Healey Falls power on the Trent River, given to a Northumberland and Durham counties company. The terms of the lease, it is said, have not been complied with, and a deputation representing the company will wait upon Hon. Mr. Cochrane this afternoon to ask for an extension.

TWO CENT A MILE RATE

While municipal and public ownership and operation of public utilities, may be advocated, on principle, with some considerable show of justification, yet their practical adoption is subject to reasonable consideration of conditions that may very easily modify the universality of their operation. Municipal ownership is limited in its desirability of application, by circumstances under which acquirement is to be regulated, by reasonable cost, and operation is attended with reasonable prospect of success. Municipal ownership, under certain circumstances and conditions, may be eminently wise and desirable; under other conditions and circumstances, it may be absolutely contraindicated.

The same idea applies to a compulsory maximum two-cent passenger rate for railways, as proposed by suggested legislation. We have in Canada 21,518 miles of railway, to serve the needs of a population short of six millions. In one of the most populous provinces of the Dominion—Ontario—the population averages ten persons per square mile. Under these circumstances is it reasonable to suppose that a population of less than six millions, can supply a passenger traffic that can bear a two-cent per mile rate? It is not necessary to go into the details of the question to reach the conclusion that railways cannot exist as going concerns unless they are permitted to fix rates that will cover expenses, and leave a reasonable margin for meeting interest charges, performing maintenance work, etc. It is eminently desirable that the public which has done so much to help build our railways, and upon whom the railways depend for paying patronage, should receive railway accommodation at the lowest living rate; but to insist upon the railways adopting a rate that would be ruinous and confiscatory, would manifestly be unwise. Though temporally, such a rate might be a popular advantage, it would, in the end, be a public calamity; railways could not exist without the revenue derived from a paying rate. And the non-existence and non-operation of railways, would spell ruin, in letters which would stretch from the Atlantic to the Pacific. While the public are not participants in the dividends declared—sometimes — by railways, they are in a large and very important sense sharers in the profits of railways to an extent that cannot be estimated by the most cunning actuary. Railways are the conditions of our national progress. We can never build up, and people the great Northwest; we can never give to the other portions of the Dominion the advantages which Northwest development is bound to confer, without railways. It is a little trick of demagogic speech, to say that "the country should own the railways — the railways should not own the country." In the most important sense the country does own the railways—in the sense that it derives the lion's share of the advantage from their operation, not in the form of dividends reducible to percentages, but in the expansion of trade, the development of material resources, and every form of national enrichment dependent upon adequate transportation facilities. The railways are as much a necessity to the country, as the country is to the railways. There is a broad community of interest, that should lead to reasonable limitations to the demands legislation should make on our railways. If circumstances and conditions would warrant the exaction of a two cent a mile maximum rate, there should be no delay in providing for it. If such a rate cannot be imposed without crippling the railways and fatally impairing their ability to serve the needs of the country, to contribute to its growth and development, then let the hand of legislation be withheld. Justice should stop short of spoliation.

When Canada should come to be more thickly settled, when magnificent railway distances pass through teeming population, capable of yielding corresponding traffic; in a word, when circumstances and conditions warrant the demand for a two-cent rate, the demand will be made, and granted. The question now is, has that time come?

PERCY STUBBS WARNED TO RETURN TO LINDSAY

Was Found Drunk on the Streets by the Police and Was Told to Skidoo by the Magistrate

Only one person appeared at the police court this morning. This was a Lindsay man, named Percy Stubbs, who was found in a drunken condition on the streets. He said that he had been in the city for about a week, having come here for work. Mr. Dumble told him to get out of Peterborough as soon as possible—in other words it was "23" in large figures, for Stubbs.

TENDERS NOW CALLED FOR PETERBOROUGH ARMOURIES

derly room, Cavalry armouries and harness room. An entrance will be provided at the rear, for harnessing horses.

The south-west end of the building will be devoted to artillery purposes, and this section will contain Commanding Officer's room, Artillery orderly room, Artillery harness room, mobilization stores, and a store room for small arms, with a main gun shed, 81 by 40 feet.

In the north-west corner of the armouries on the ground floor there will be a wagon shed, forty feet square, and also quarters for the Stretcher bearer companies.

The Second Floor

The officers mess rooms, which are situated on the second floor are very comfortable and commodious, fitted with all the conveniences. Separate entrances to these quarters are provided, as are also entrances to the galleries and lavatories. In the centre of the east end of this floor there will be an officers' and sergeants' lecture room, 43 by 20 feet, and the north-east corner contains sergeants' mess and caretakers' quarters, with separate entrances and lavatories.

On the south-west wing on the ground floor, there is a large recreation room, with stage for men and four sitting rooms, leading off, for the men. Entrances are also made to the galleries for the men and the public.

The band room will be situated on the north-west end and will be 40 feet square. The room for the bugle band will also be located at this end, and both will have entrances from outside the building.

It will thus be seen that everything has been provided for the comfort of the officers and men, who will no doubt appreciate the provisions which have been made. As a result of the erection of this armoury there will doubtless be a revival of interest in military matters in the Electric City.

Work will probably be commenced in the spring on the building, and it will, no doubt be rushed to completion.

These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the organs which this medicine surely cures. Fatigue From Poisons in Systen

AND GOOD HEALTH CAN ONLY RETURN WHEN THE BLOOD FILTERS, THE LIVER AND KIDNEYS, ARE SET RIGHT BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Tired, languid feelings are the result of the accumulation of waste products in the system. On the failure of the liver and kidneys to remove these impurities the blood becomes filled with poisonous substances which instead of aiding the functions tend to arrest them and give rise to pains in the limbs, backaches, headaches and tired, worn-out feelings.

There remains to be discovered a more prompt and effective means of enlivening and invigorating the action of the liver and kidneys than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In fact this medicine is unique in its combined influence on the liver and kidneys and to this double action is attributed its extraordinary success in the cure of complicated diseases of these filtering organs.

Biliousness, headaches, indigestion, kidney disease and constipation are promptly and thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the whole system is cleansed of the foul impurities which result in disease and suffering.

Mr. John Gureen, who is in the fish business in Port Hope, Ont., states: "In my business I do a great deal of driving over bad roads, and the constant jar of the rig, along with exposure to all sorts of weather, brought on kidney disease. I was in miserable health, and suffered a great deal with sharp pains in my back. I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. Before I had used all of the first box I felt better, and three boxes have entirely cured me. I am very glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, for I have proven their wonderful control over kidney disease."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where ordinary kidney medicines fail, because of their direct and combined action on the liver and kidneys. This has been proven in thousands of cases of serious and complicated diseases of the kidneys.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, January 11. — The announcement that the Penna. would issue $200,000,000 new stock demoralized the stock market at the opening to-day. Losses ranged from 1 to 4 points, and during the greater part of the day showed no signs of recovery. C P R became very weak and declined to 188, while Penna. sold from 139 1-4, the close last night, to 136 3-8. The London market for Americans was weak and lower.

In the last hour St. Paul, which had been well supported during the day, started upward and gained over 3 points. This brought short covering elsewhere and a general rally set in which carried many issues to last night's close or better. Copper, Atchison and Reading were strong. The close was strong and active.

FORMAL OPENING OF HOUSE OF REFUGE AT COBOURG

An Interesting Gathering Held There Yesterday—Attended by County Clerk Elliott, Representing This County

THE BUILDINGS ARE A GREAT CREDIT

Yesterday the formal opening of the House of Refuge and Jail, in Cobourg, built for the united counties of Durham and Northumberland took place, with the usual ceremonies, followed by a grand banquet. The jail is not yet completed, but bids fair to be the best in the province when finished, which will be in a short time.

At the opening yesterday there was a large gathering, though, unfortunately, many of the prominent men of the Province to whom invitations had been issued were not present, letters of regret having been received from Premier Whitney, of Ontario; Hon. W J Hanna, Provincial Secretary; Hon. J W St. John, Rev. Father Murray and others. Invitations had been sent to the Reeves and Councils of the local municipalities, the local clergymen, and to the Wardens and clerks of the adjoining counties. The only representative from Peterborough County was Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, clerk of the county.

Warden Weir, of the United Counties presided at the banquet, and Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, Hon. Nelson Monteith, occupied a seat at his right and the Inspector of Public Charities, Dr. R. Bruce Smith, at his left. A splendid dinner was provided, and following its participation an interesting programme of toasts was given, the King being loyally and and heartily honoured in the usual manner.

The toast to the Counties Council was responded to by Messrs. Throbscock and Miller, while, in response to the toast to the local municipalities, speeches were given by Lt.-Col. Hughes and Mr. Adams. "The Sister Counties" brought to their feet Col. Farwell, from Ontario County, Ed. M. Elliott, from Peterborough County and David Ormiston.

A dedicatory service was carried out at this stage of the programme, Rev. Mr. Lewis reading a chapter, and Rev. Mr. Quarrington offering prayer, after which the Institutions were formally handed over to the public, under Government Inspection, by the Warden, who called upon the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, the Inspector of Prisons and Mr. S. Clark, M.P.P., to address the meeting, all responded in an able manner, expressing appreciation of the building, and the meeting.

Satisfied With Expenditure

A night session of the council was held when the Reeves of the Municipalities, and ex-Councillors, Mr. H. Johnston, of Hastings, and others, were called to the floor all expressing satisfaction in the way their money was spent by the retiring council, and assuring them that the report taken back by them would reflect widespread credit upon the proceedings of the past year.

It was pleasing to note the harmony that existed between the County Councillors and Reeves, and all emphatically eulogized their County Clerk, Mr. Neil McNaughton, for the patient and painstaking way in which he had carried his part of the work over the past year when so much work was being carried on.

Mr. H. Johnston, who contributed $1,500 towards the House of Refuge, drew the attention of the gentlemen assembled to the necessity of, in some way, providing for the poor consumptives not now admissable to public institutions.

Before closing the retiring councillors each addressed the meeting giving evidence of co-operation and harmony having existed throughout the busy year just closed.

The visitors were most royally and courteously treated, and will always remember the opening of the Cobourg House of Refuge.

The House of Refuge is an immense stone structure, the main building being 2 1-2 stories with basement, 112 feet long and 52 feet wide. The wing is of brick 64 feet long and 28 feet wide, 2 stories, with basement. The cost of the two buildings will be about $75,000.

THE RURAL DEANERY'S INTERESTING SESSIONS

Several Very Profitable Papers Were Read Yesterday—The Business Done

THE AFFAIRS ARE SATISFACTORY

The sessions of the Rural Deanery of Peterborough and Northumberland held at the residence of Rev. Wm. Major yesterday were decidedly interesting and profitable.

At the morning session Rev. A. J. Reid, of Campbellford, read a paper on "Parochial Appointments," comparing the different systems used in the various dioceses of Canada with a view to an improved condition of affairs in this respect.

After a discussion of this paper, the meeting proceeded with the business of the deanery.

Reports concerning the condition of some of the missions in the deanery were made by those in charge, and the Rural Dean, Rev. Canon Davidson, who presided.

The mission of South Burleigh, with headquarters at Young's Point, is still without a clergyman, and further efforts will be put forth to have a clerical appointment made. In the meantime the work is being done by Mr. Battesby, of Young's Point, and Mr. Bagshaw, of Buckhorn.

Rev. C. Lord reported on the mission of Apsley, where a new church has been built, and is almost paid for.

The general condition of affairs throughout the deanery is very satisfactory.

The Rural Dean reported that during [illegible] had left Lakefield and his place had been taken by Rev. Mr. Creighton, while Rev. V. E. F. Morgan was in Colborne in place of Rev. A. J. Fiddler.

Rev. Mr. Morgan, a man of great prominence, was present yesterday and is a decided acquisition to the ranks of the deanery.

The delegates were most hospitably entertained at luncheon by the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church.

Afternoon Session

In the afternoon a most carefully thought out and interesting paper was given by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt on the "Historic Episcopate," which brought out the continuity of the Church since the days of the Saviour.

Mr. Langfeldt took up the Scriptural and historical references very carefully and showed that the Episcopal constitution of the Church was of divine origin and had been preserved in unbroken succession. He dealt with the advantages derived from this. It was not only a question of administration and government, but was also one of corporate life and unity.

The paper was followed by an animated discussion which brought out the strong agreement in this feature of the Church.

Some objected to the name of Apostolic Succession, as from ideas supposedly connected with it, but all agreed on the essential facts underlying the term.

After expressing appreciation to Rev. Mr. Major and the ladies of All Saints' Church, the meeting was adjourned.

Public Service

In the evening a public service was held in the church. The service was read by Rev. W. Burns, of Hastings; Rev. V. E. F. Morgan, of Colborne, and Rev. E. W. Pickford, of Norwood, and Rev. C. Lord of Apsley read the lessons. A very interesting and helpful sermon on Bible truth was delivered by Rev. Canon Sprague, of Cobourg.

The benediction was pronounced by Ven. Archdeacon Warren, of Lakefield.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY"

This famous comedy success is the offering at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday, Jan. 15th. This production was seen in this city last season and pleased our local theatregoers immensely, and no doubt will be welcomed by all lovers of fine music and melody. The comedy has been re-written and new interpolations have been added that make "The Arrival of Kitty" more popular than ever before, and possesses the attributes that go to make an evening's entertainment pleasing.

The Company this season far surpasses the one of last year, and the fun is fast and furious. Norman Lee Swartout, the author, whose fame is pronounced, has woven together a fabric of fun, melody and frolic that has pleased the American public far better than any other American comedy by an American author. The novelty of the plot and ingenuity of treatment, presented by an acting, singing and dancing company of Broadway favourites, make "The Arrival of Kitty" one of the best amusement vehicles now on tour.

MIKADO PRESENTED BY CLEVER ARTISTS

Local Talent Gave an Excellent Performance at the Grand Opera House Last Night

UNDER DIRECTION OF MR. R. J. DEVEY

The presentation of the comic opera, "The Mikado," at the Grand Opera House last night was one of the musical treats of the season to the four hundred or more who were present. The interesting feature in connection with the presentation was the fact that it was undertaken and carried to a successful culmination by local talent. The remarkable achievement of the company, whose personnel is well known to many Peterborough citizens cannot be ignored, and it is quite safe to predict that "The Mikado" will be greeted by even larger houses tonight and to-morrow afternoon. Nothing but love and enthusiasm for the work, which was exceptionally excellent for those who had been before the footlights for the first time, could have produced such a convincing result, even granting the abilities of the various performers.

The caste has been carefully selected by Mr. R. J. Devey, under whose direction the rehearsals have taken place, and he has certainly made the best of the clever talent at his disposal. Tributes of admiration have been paid to the splendid merits of the participants and to the superb work of the chorus and the orchestra. The work of the latter, though somewhat arduous, was splendidly executed and in no small manner assisted to make the opera the success it was. The chorus consists of about fifty members with both male and female voices which harmonize well and which were particularly fine at the closing of the first act and at the grand finale in the second.

The Japanese costumes are pretty and attractive and suitable to the places where the different scenes are laid. The scenery was also attractive and appropriate, which added pleasure to the production.

The story of "The Mikado" is probably new to many. The plot centres upon the actions of Nanki-Poo, the returned son of the Emperor of Japan, disguised as a wandering minstrel. He had left the home of his father who had determined to effect his marriage with Katisha, an elderly lady for whom he had no love. His affections were centred upon Yum-Yum, the most beautiful of the three sister wards of Koko, the Lord High Executioner of Japan. He finds his return is too late as Yum-Yum is to become the bride of Koko that very day. The wanderer becomes despondent and seeks his own life, but is prevented from so doing by the protestations of Koko, who promises him that he may marry Yum-Yum, and at the end of a month will be respectably befriended. Events, however, intervene and Nanki-Poo is wedded to the girl of his affections and reinstated as heir to the throne of Japan, while Koko is forced to seek the hand of Katisha.

The greater part of the work of the opera devolved upon Miss Marion Elliott, as Yum-Yum, and Messrs. Geo. Chandler and E. A. Dalton, as the wandering minstrel and High Executioner, respectively. Miss Elliott made an excellent Yum-Yum and was heard with delight in a number of solos, duets and quartettes. Her performance during the evening was in all respects a most creditable one, for which she is deserving of the highest praise. Mr. Chandler's fine tenor voice was also much appreciated, and his conception of the part he played was much admired. Mr. Dalton, too, deserves a great deal of praise, as well as Mr. John Hogan, as Poo-Bah, the Lord High of Everything. He has an admirable stage presence, due to much study. Mrs. R. J. Devey made an ideal Katisha, excelling in the recitation of her charms and the denunciation of her faithless lover, the son of the Mikado. Mrs. W. A. Greenslade and Miss Brunsdrett were the other wards of Koko, and they acted their parts well. The other members of the company are Messrs. N. Greenhalgh and V. Morphet, as the Mikado and a noble lord. Their work was also much appreciated, and could scarcely be improved upon.

The music was bright and catchy and rendered with a swing and precision only perfected after very careful training. The sentimental songs of the wandering minstrel made a decided hit. The members of the orchestra consisted of the following: Violins, Mr. A. Greig, Mr. G. Howarth, Master Frank Halpany; Flute, Mr. John Butcher; Clarionet, Mr. G. F. Ward; Cornet, Mr. Hughes; Bass, Mr. Cunningham; Drums, Mr. Beach; Piano, Mr. H. Nichols.

Conductor—Mr. R. J. Devey.

The chorus of the "Mikado" is constituted as follows:

Ladies — Mrs. Seward, Mrs. Halpany, Mrs. Rehill, Mrs. Hincheliffe, Miss Layfield, Miss Martin, Miss Ida Wesley, Miss Lily Wesley, Miss Shirley Wesley, Miss Lancaster, Miss Seward, Miss Eleanor Seward, Miss Daisy Wood, Miss Huffman, Miss Ethel Roberts, Miss Horsfield, Miss Emily Horsfield, Miss Agnes Horsfield, Miss Aberne, Miss Lang, Miss Hincheliffe, Miss Blois, Miss Gilbert, Miss Butler.

Gentlemen — Mr. Jos. Halpany, Mr. N. Greenhalgh, Mr. W. A. Greenslade, Mr. Pollard, Mr. Jarman, Mr. Richardson, Mr. Denham, Mr. W. Coleman, Mr. Drysdale, Mr. Doucette, Mr. N. Lee, Mr. Lang.

Stage Manager — Mr. Richard Marston.

Mr. R. J. Devey, the director of the opera, is to be congratulated upon the success which has crowned his efforts. His undertaking was a heavy one, and the energetic way in which he applied himself to the work cannot fail to be appreciated by Peterborough citizens. Those who wish to hear a most creditable and satisfying performance should make it a point to be at the Opera House tonight, at the second performance of "The Mikado." One of the best choruses seen on the local stage is a feature.

HIGH HONOURS FOR THE NEW PASTOR

Rev. John R. Webb and Family Much Appreciated in Montreal—Farewell Dinner and Presentation

Rev. John R. Webb, the new pastor of the Murray Street Baptist Church, who was expected to be in the city to-day with his family, will not arrive until to-morrow afternoon. He has gone to Toronto to spend a few days visiting friends, and has notified the church authorities that he will be here to-morrow.

The Montreal Gazette, referring to a farewell dinner given in his honour prior to his departure from that city, says:

The Rev. J. R. Webb, of Point St. Charles, was tendered a dinner yesterday noon by the gymnastic class of the Railway Y. M. C. A. at the 'Point.' This class is composed of doctors, druggists, clergymen and other professional men. Dr. Hall presided at the dinner and speeches were made by Dr. Brown, Rev. K. J. Macdonald, the chairman, and others. Messrs. C. McAllister, Reynolds and McBride were among those present. Mr. Webb made a suitable reply to the good wishes and appreciative remarks uttered by the different speakers. The affair was a complete surprise to him. The presentation of a casket of gold to Mr. Webb by Mr. Hodgson at the reception on Monday evening was made on behalf of the Point St. Charles congregation, of which Mr. Webb has been pastor for about nine years. He leaves with his family for Peterborough on Friday. He will conduct the usual midweek service in the Point Baptist Church this evening, and his last public appearance will be at the union service in connection with the week of prayer in St. Matthew's Church to-morrow evening.

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruit of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

SCOTT & HOGG

THE CALGARY "TOWNSMAN" A JOURNAL OF THE BREEZY WEST

We are accustomed to regard the Canadian West as entirely given over to the hustle of gain, real estate turn-overs and other things, and to correspondingly despise, or at least, value lightly, literary and other culture and all considerations that do not directly affect business and "getting on in the world." "The Townsman," a Calgary publication, whose first numbers The Examiner has received with pleasure, is a proof that the smartness in tastes of the West are not a wanting quality. "The Townsman" is a very creditable weekly publication, meeting in a very clever way the demands of Calgary for a satirical, civic, literary and social publication. It is a very neatly-printed, nicely-compiled, 16-page publication, whose editor-in-chief is a lady well known to many in Peterborough through her personal and journalistic associations with the Kawartha Lakes, and her contributions to the Toronto Mail and Empire. Her pen name, "Alice L. Page," may give a clue to her personal identity to her many friends in Peterborough. The excellent work she has already done in connection with the ten initial numbers of "The Townsman" gives promise of the prosperous career for her publication which The Examiner wishes it may enjoy.

HOGS TAKE ANOTHER ADVANCE IN PRICE

Farmers Are Now Receiving $6.50 for Select—Hay also a Good Price

Hogs are a good price at the market this week, local buyers paying $6.50 for select. This is 25c. per cwt. extra on the price given out on Friday last, and the farmers that have hogs to sell are wearing the smile that won't come off. There have only been a fairly large number on the market during the week.

The price of hay, too, is remaining firm. Good timothy is selling at $14 per ton and some farmers have received as high as $15.

This morning 17 head of fine cattle were weighed on the market scales. They were purchased from Mr. Fred Stabler of Smith, for Mr. H. P. Kennedy.

KNOCKERS PLAY TIE GAME WITH NEVER EATERS

On Wednesday Night at Brock Street—Score at Half Time Was 2-0 in Favour of Noisy Bunch

On Wednesday night from 10 to 11 at the Brock street rink the Knockers and the Hungry Seven met in fast game of hockey that resulted in a tie each team scoring three times. They were very evenly matched and while the Knockers had the best of the argument in the first half the score being 2-0 in their favour. The "Gluttons" ate up the puck in the second half and scored three goals to the one scored by the Knockers. The game was rather strenuous, but 'Lajore" the great, kept them well in hand. The forwards of the Knockers showed up well, but did not have anything on their opponents. The teams lined up as follows :

Knockers.		Hungry Seven.
Allen	Goal.	Halpin
Dencon	Point.	Ryan
Henderson	Cover Point.	E. Elliott
Bartley	Rover.	Sanderson
Dorris (centre)	Centre.	Delaney
R. Hillier	Right Wing.	McMillan
Holland	Left Wing.	Curtis (Capt.)

Referee—L. Derocher.

ARMSTRONG MAY NOW PLAY AT COVER POINT

Armstrong may catch a place on the Ottawa team after all. To-day's despatches state that Moore, whose place Armstrong was slated earlier in the season to take, will be out of the game for the rest of the season, and it will probably be up to Armstrong to play cover point for the rest of the season. The despatch referred to is as follows :—

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—A serious casualty for the Ottawa hockey team occurred to-night just at the close of a hot practice. In a collision with a Victoria player Arthur Moore, the star cover point, fell and broke his ankle, which puts him out of play for the season.

HOCKEY

The Peterborough team will make their appearance on the ice to-night clad in attractive blue and white coats or over sweaters. They were secured for the club by Mr. Fred. A. Clarke and present a very natty appearance. The body is of blue with white trimmings and the outfit makes a splendid costume in which to warm up.

The pessimistic statesmen who are predicting disaster to Canada because the foreign element which is pouring into the country will not assimilate with our population, should take heart. Last night Dominico Sabatino, an Italian, played point for the Lakefield team in the City League and played a good game too. If the natives of Sunny Italy can pick up the fine points of hockey so readily, surely there is no danger of them not becoming rapidly Canadianized.

CURLING

Three scheduled games were played off at the curling rink last night with the following results :—

R. G. Sturgeon, 13.	F. Matthews, 14.

The great annual benefit of the Peterborough Curling Club will begin this year on Feb. 19th, when a number of outside rinks are expected to be present. First and second prizes will be offered in the primary competition and first, second, third and fourth prizes in the consolation.

BASKET-BALL.

Next Wednesday night two more basket ball games will be played in the senior Y.M.C.A. league. At eight o'clock the Alerts play the O. T. C., and at nine the Arrows play the Harriers. Great interest is shown in this game for should the Harriers win, it will practically give them the championship, but should the Arrows win, the two teams will be tied for first place, so the game will be the fastest seen yet. Come and see it.

AFRAID THEY'LL LOSE THE CAR WORKS NOW

Fort William Times-Journal Advises Council Not to Repeat the Coates Fiasco and Let This City Steal the Industry

WILL BE A GOOD FACTORY TO GET

The people of Fort William are evidently afraid that Peterborough will repeat, with the proposed car works the experience of the Coats Carpet Works, and take them away from that town. A recent issue of the Times-Journal, of Fort William refers to an article in the Examiner pointing out that the capitalists were in Canada looking for a location for a car works, and advising the local authorities to place themselves into communication with them with a view of having them locate in Peterborough, and commenting on it editorially says:—

By reference to an article taken from the Peterborough Examiner it can be seen that the people of that city expect to see a repetition of the fiasco that sent the Coats representatives to the eastern city. The Times-Journal believes that no second failure will be recorded against the council of Fort William. Whatever men constitute the council for 1907 we can reasonably expect that they will not attempt to make themselves dictators of the people and that whatever proposition may arise the question of the benefit to the whole town will be taken into consideration.

CANADA HAS ENERGETIC ADVERTISING AGENT

Former Peterborough Man in New York Sings the Praises of This Region as Sportsman's Paradise

It is pleasant to see how Canadians, who expatriate themselves by removing to, and living in, the United States, not only creditably uphold the name of Canada in regard to ability and reliability, but how loyally their hearts stay with the old home, and how ready they are to speak good words for Canada, and its attractions. The Examiner has heretofore referred to the large share which a former Peterborough-ian, Mr. John C. Douglass, has had in making known, especially, the sporting capabilities of Canada, the Peterborough district, in particular, to the people of New York, through the journals to which he contributes. In the issue of the New York Press, of January 4th, Mr. Douglass, who, by the way, writes under the nom de plume of "John Canada Douglass," reproduces, from the columns of the Examiner, with an appreciative introduction, Mr. Roland Tivey's adventure with a vicious buck, at Balsam Lake. Mr. Douglass, in his loyalty to Peterborough, is giving the Kawartha Lake region splendid advertising, through which, doubtless, many summer tourists will be attracted.

Regina and Moosejaw Teams Had a Warm Contest in Which Spectators Took a Hand

The first game in the Saskatchewan league, between Regina and Moose Jaw, was very rough nearly every player being on the fence at different times. The game finished with three Regina men resting. A Regina spectator fell out of the gallery on to the ice, and was unconscious for some time, but was not seriously injured. On scoring the second goal in the last half a Regina spectator jumped over the fence and struck Caldwell, the Moose Jaw emplre. A free fight ensued, ending in several spectators going to the coop.

City League Games Last Night Supplied Surprise

The "Poor Little Orphans" Came Very Near Trimming the Cementville Team After a Hard Game

THE AUBURNS WERE VICTORIOUS IN THE SECOND GAME

A big crowd saw two good games in the City League series last night and went away well pleased with the evening's programme. The result of the contest was somewhat of a surprise. The Orphans, a young and light team who have had no practice whatever, after a plucky fight succeeded in playing a tie game with the Lakefield team, the score at full time being 5 all. The Auburns took a fall out of the High Lifes in the second contest, winning by seven to two.

The hockey displayed was somewhat better and also cleaner than last week and the crowd was apparently well pleased with the exhibition put up by the players.

First Game Even Battle

The first game furnished the most excitement of the evening and was made interesting by the stubborn fight put up by the Orphans against the Suburbs. They were outweighed and for the first half outplayed, but rallied wonderfully in the second period and by playing good hockey succeeded in making it an even battle. The score at half time was four to one in favour of the visitors who appeared to have the game cinched.

The hockey was not out of the ordinary, both teams bunching too much to play good hockey. They were always on the puck and this resulted in a good deal of ragged playing. The teams were not to blame very much for this. The Lakefield team had been practising on a small rink and naturally had a tendency to gather in the centre of the ice while the Orphans have had no practice at all and were thus disorganized. The plucky playing of the local team under the existing conditions was made the subject of much favourable comment from the spectators. They were behind four goals at one time, but kept plugging away until they had tied the score. Neither team had much combination and the match resolved itself into a series of individual rushes. Lakefield showed some signs of combined effort early in the game, but they were not in condition and after the first fifteen minutes it was generally a one man effort.

Barber played a decidedly useful game at point for the locals, checking hard and turning away many well meant attempts. Pentland checked well and his rushes were of great assistance to the forwards. He scored a goal in the second half on a splendid one-handed stunt. Ray and Dobson were the pick of the forward line. Both displayed clever stick-handling ability and were fast and aggressive.

For Lakefield, Quigley, who played with the T. A. S. team two winters ago, played a good game at point. Simpson and J. Quigley were the pick of the forward line and were always prominent. The shooting of both teams was decidedly weak and many opportunities were thrown away. The game was clean and referee Geo. Lynch, who gave general satisfaction, had an easy task. The teams lined up as follows:

Orphans.		Lakefield.
McFadden	Goal.	Robinson
Barber	Point.	Quigley
Pentland	Cover Point.	Sabatino
Ray	Rover.	Quinn
Dobson	Centre.	Simpson
Sanderson	Right Wing.	Morin
Saunders	Left Wing.	J. Quigley

The visitors started off like easy winners. The game was hardly under way when J. Quigley notched the first goal scoring easily on a pass from behind the nets.

The play was generally in the locals' territory at this stage but the Orphans held them out. Dobson followed up fast on a lift to Quigley and took the puck from the Lakefield point man and with no one to beat, but the goal keeper, scored easily, putting the locals on even terms.

They were not to remain this way long. Quinn, by a long lift from centre which beat McFadden completely, scored again for Lakefield and a moment later repeated the feat. Simpson made it four to one shortly after intercepting a pass, and scoring without trouble.

Dobson got another goal for the locals before half time was called, scoring by a pretty shot from the side after a nice rush along the bourds.

Early in the second half Pentland broke up a Lakefield rush and carrying the rubber through the visitors' defence cleverly scored. The Orphans had taken a decided brace and were playing the visitors off their feet at this stage.

Sanderson put the teams on even terms soon after with a nice shot after a scrimmage in front of the Lakefield nets. Quigley put the visitors ahead again by a pretty rush but the Orphans were not to be beaten and just before time was called Pentland scored on a long shot from centre. On account of the second game there was no opportunity to play extra time and so the game ended with honours even.

Penalties—Pentland, 2; Simpson, M. Quigley, 2; Dobson, Barber.

Second Game

The second game brought together the Auburns and High Lifes and the boys from the North won without difficulty by seven goals to two. The High Lifes were a man short for the greater part of the first half and this was responsible for them winning by such a margin but they would have undoubtedly won the game in any event had the High Lifes had their full team on all through. The hockey shown was not of a championship calibre. Neither team had the slightest notion of playing combination and the shooting was not what might be called dangerous. It was very ordinary hockey, marked by close, hard checking, which allowed no one to perform anything very startling in the in the way of individual stunts.

The checking of the Auburns, more than anything else won the game for them. They are very hard to get away from. The forwards checking back so fast that their opponents very seldom got clear away.

For Auburns, Derocher played a good game in goal, getting almost everything that came his way. Belleghem broke up many rushes. Tucker, the lightest man on the ice, showed up brilliantly on the forward line. He was very aggressive and handled himself nicely. McDonald was as usual prominent by his scoring qualities and played a fine game. Shaw also showed up well. Myers played a good game on the defence for the losers, and Stroud also was effective, although several of his rushes went astray and were responsible for two of the goals scored by the Auburns. There was no particularly bright and shining light on the advance division.

The teams were:—

Auburns.		High Lifes.
Derocher	Goal.	Sawers
Belleghem	Point.	Stroud
Tougas	Cover Point.	Myers
Shaw	Rover.	Kelly
McDonald	Centre.	Cameron
Tucker	Right Wing.	Ferguson
Clegg	Left Wing.	Dorris

The High Lifes were short a man at the beginning of the game, the Auburns refusing to drop one to even up. As a result the High Lifes were on the defensive for the greater part of the half until Stroud was pressed into service. The red and grey team succeeded in scoring four goals in the first period. McDonald was responsible for the first, scoring on a nice shot. Tucker got the next scoring on a pass from McDonald. The latter scored the third, bringing the puck around from behind the nets and scoring easily. The last goal of the half went to Clegg.

The play was more even in the second half. The High Lifes showed better form and although they were never in any danger of winning, they made things more interesting for their opponents and also the spectators. The Lifes landed the first goal in the second period, Cameron doing the trick from a scrimmage. The Auburns, however, came back at them with three in a row, DeDonale getting all of them. Shortly before time was up Stroud scored for the High Lifes, batting the puck in after his shot had gone astray. Score: Auburn 7, High Lifes 3.

Penalties.—Kelly, 2; Belleghem, 2; Ferguson, Clegg, 2; Tucker, 2; Myers.

STOMACH TROUBLES

To wrong action of the stomach and impaired digestion a host of diseases owe their origin.

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body, and then stomach troubles start to appear.

Thus you become thin, weak, nervous and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vigor are lost and in their place come dullness, dizziness, loss of appetite, depression and langour. The great point is to get the stomach back into good shape again so it can properly digest the food, and the easiest, quickest and best way to do it is by the use of

Miss Lizzie Furlotte, Jacquet River, N.B., writes: "I was very much troubled with my stomach and did not know what to do. I consulted several doctors, got medicine from them, but all to no purpose, and was constantly growing worse. One day I had the good luck to meet with a friend who had been troubled in the same way as myself. My friend told me of the wonderful cure Burdock Blood Bitters had made with her and advised me to try a bottle. I did so, and what a happy change the first bottle made. I took two more and am completely cured, and I shall ever sing the praises of B.B.B."

Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

INDEPENDENTS TIE THE BRIGADE IN GOOD GAME

An Interesting Hockey Contest on Knox Church Rink Last Night—Score 2-2

Last night the All Saints' Brigade and Independents hockey teams played the first game on the Knox Church skating rink. The game was stubbornly contended throughout, though the Independents showed better combination. But despite this the Brigade aggregation held down their opponents to a tie 2-2. The goalkeepers of both teams showed their ability in that line, resulting in the small score. The lineup of the teams was:—

Independents.		Brigade.
E. Moss	Goal.	J. Moore
J. Copperwhite	Point.	G. Latimer
A. Vincent	Cover Point.	C. Armstrong
C. Martin	Rover.	D. Layfield
D. Anderson	Centre.	E. Lebar
N. Mein	Left Wing.	A. Gilbert
D. Grose	Right Wing.	M. Armstrong

E. Shepherd refereed to the entire satisfaction of both teams.

BEST GAME IN YEARS PROMISED FOR TO-NIGHT

Kingston with Their Strongest Line-up Will Clash With the Local Seniors

F. C. WAGHORNE WILL REFEREE GAME

Beyond all doubt, to-night's gamee, the opening O.H.A. attraction between Kingston and Peterborough, will be one of the fastest ever seen in this city. The ice was never in better shape and with both teams in the best condition, the hockey should be of the lightning variety throughout.

The Penitentiary city team is confident of winning to-night. They have been practising faithfully under the watchful eye of "Jack" Harty, the former Queen's star, who is said to have developed them into a most formidable and well balanced team. It is probable that Cyril Knight, the ex-Queen's player, will be at centre; if not, Potter, another fast man on centre ice, will play the position. Richardson, whom Marty Walsh claims is the best hockey player in Canada, will be at left wing, and Hiscock, the well known goalkeeper, in the flugs, so that it will be seen that they will take a lot of beating.

Peterborough will present a changed line up to-night. Chris. Graham is out of the game with an injured knee and his place at right wing will be taken by Moore. Miller, the city league man, who made such a good showing last week, and who has been doing equally well in practise, will be on the other side of the boards. Lang will guard the nets. The team, according to Trainer Breen, is in excellent shape, and should play hockey from the drop of the hat.

F. C. Waghorne, the popular Toronto referee, will handle the bell, and this should guarantee clean, fast hockey.

The game will start at 8.15 sharp and the teams will line up as follows:

Peterborough.	Kingston.
Goal.
Lang	Hiscock
Point.
Glover	J. Richardson
Cover point.
Crowley	Vanhorne
Rover.
Whitcroft	Powell
Centre.
Morgan	Knight or Potter

Moore	Bernier

GREAT INDEED

Will be the Advantage Derived From an Old Remedy In New Form

M'DERMID & JURY, DRUGGISTS, OF OUR CITY, INTERESTED

The Public Marvel, and Doctors Everywhere Pleased

Probably no branch of science has made such wonderful strides as have been made in the practice of medicine. Diseases that a number of years ago were considered fatal, are now known to be curable. Even consumption is no longer looked upon with the dread that it formerly inspired.

Every one is familiar with methods that have been employed by physicians for years, in cases that they were afraid would develop into a decline. In all troubles of the throat, lungs, bronchial tubes and other similar ailments that were known to end disastrously, about the first thing the doctor would do would be to recommend cod liver oil, for cod liver oil has been recognized for a great many years as possessing peculiar medicinal properties particularly adapted for the cure of such troubles.

Every one knows the objection, however, to the use of this nauseating remedy. So extremely disagreeable is the taste and smell of cod liver oil that many people have actually been unable to take a single dose of it. Many others have made heroic efforts to take the medicine, but have been obliged to abandon it after struggling with the horrible stuff for a few days.

The consequence is that thousands have drifted into incurable diseases who might have been saved, had it been possible to administer this potent medicine. Enough people have been able to assimilate cod liver oil to prove to the medicinal profession and the world at large, its intrinsic value. Such patients as were blessed with unusually strong stomachs derived benefit from cod liver oil. Why, then, could not a form of it be devised, to be administered to patients whose digestive organs had been weakened by disease.

This is exactly what scientists and chemists have been aiming at for years, and this is exactly what has been accomplished by two prominent French chemists. Their secret has been brought to America, and Messrs. McDermid & Jury, our leading druggists, have succeeded in connecting themselves with the prominent firm of Boston Chemists who are placing this new preparation on the market. The preparation in question, now, that it has been discovered, like all other great inventions, is simple. By a peculiar process the liver of the live cod is treated in such a manner that there is obtained an extract which contains all, and only all, of the curative properties that have made cod liver oil famous. Not a drop of the horrible-smelling, nauseating oil and grease of the cod's liver enters into the compposition of this new and modernized remedy.

This curative extract is the basis of Vinol, which McDermid & Jury are presenting to the public. It is placed in a delicious wine, and, in itself being tasteless, the consumer is unable to distinguish the fact that he is taking anything more than a pleasant tort wine.

Messrs. McDermid & Jury have indeed been fortunate in making arrangements to handle this new remedy, which goes under the name of Vinol, the cod liver preparation. It is worth any one's while to talk to them about it and to learn directly from them the good that is being done by finding a way to administer what has always been a horrible and much-dreaded medicine, in a form that is actually pleasant, to say nothing of being a hundred times more efficient.

A TEACHER TRAINING CLASS TO BE FORMED

Mr. D. Walker, City School Inspector, Will be Speaker

In accordance with a resolution of the City Sunday School Association, a Teachers' Training Class will be conducted at the Y.M.C.A., beginning on Friday, January 11th, at 8 o'clock. Announcement as to the following chapters will be made at this meeting.

No fee will be charged, and all Sunday school workers, as well as others who desire to fit themselves for the work, are urged to attend. Read Chapter I. before coming to the meeting, and so be in a position to get the most from the discussion.

RICHARD HALL & SON

HONEST TEMPERANCE AMAZED AT A RESOLUTION

A Blanket Certificate Given to License Inspector Stewart on Strength of His Statement That Law is Observed

ARE SOME CITY PREACHERS GULLIBLE?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—It seems to me that the Ministerial Association of Peterborough has established a claim to lineal descent from Abraham, the Father of the Faithful. The touching faith they showed at their last meeting in Mr. Joseph Stewart, licensc inspector for West Peterborough is unsurpassed in the annals of blind faith in ex parte testimony. In Wednesday's issue of your journal was published a letter received from the secretary of the Ministerial Association which was said to be "self explanatory". It is "self explanatory" with a vengeance. It explains on the very face of it, how a dignified ministerial association, without evident knowledge of the facts involved in the matter, "expressed entire satisfaction with Inspector Stewart in his work of carrying out the license law." On what grounds was this satisfaction based? Wonderful to state the unimpeachable grounds of Inspector Stewart's personal assurance—"We have heard from the Inspector, with great pleasure that the law is well observed." On the strength of the assurance of Inspector Stewart, an interested party, and on not one whit of assurance justified by the facts, this wonderfully credulous and optimistic Ministerial Association gives an omnibus certificate of efficiency to Inspector Stewart and "We desire to commend the action of those who faithfully keep the law." Did you or anybody ever see any body of men — even one making no claim to superior enlightenment, superior sanctity, and moral leadership, go so far out of their way to thrust a certificate of character upon a license official on no better grounds than his own assurance,—assurance in both the assertive and brazen sense—and in face of facts and conditions which utterly fail to justify a palpable attempt to give partizan approval to partizan administration of the license law? If the Ministerial Association want to assure the public of a non-existent fact—that the license law is well enforced—they should ask somebody who knows and will tell the truth. They ask Inspector Stewart. Of course he would say yes. Let them ask the hotelkeepers themselves. They would doubtless say yes and there would be just as good reason to believe them as to believe Inspector Stewart. Let them ask the poor souls that go reeling home, sodden with whiskey from stomach to skin on Sundays and late Saturday nights; they go out from drinking places at early morning, hours after closing time at eleven o'clock. Go ask the courts where drunken Indians are arraigned where they get their drink? By the way, would Inspector Stewart know anything about Indians getting whiskey were it not for assault cases in the police court? Let them ask somebody that knows and will tell the truth. If the Licensed Victuallars Association should go to the Ministerial Association and tell them that the license law was well enforced, would the Ministers believe them, and "commend the actions of those who faithfully keep the law". Yet they would have better reason to believe them, for among the licensed dealers there are many whose interest, if no higher or better motive influences them, leads them to be observers of the law. And they would not tell the Ministerial Association that the license law is well enforced. I don't believe that you could pick a half dozen honest men, from the church congregations represented by the Ministerial Association, who would be so gullible, so quick to act without a knowledge of the facts, so ready to accept the cheeky assurance of an inspector, so indifferent to the moral interests of the community, so solicitous of partizan interests, as to express "entire satisfaction with Inspector Stewart in his work of carrying out the license law". I have lived nearly fifty years in this wicked crooked world and mixed much with men crooked and otherwise, yet in the whole history of humbug I have never seen as monumental a specimen of humbug as the resolution of the Ministerial Association, giving an unlimited certificate of efficiency to Inspector Stewart and their smug commendation "of those who faithfully keep the law." Especially in face of the facts known to every man about town, which sweep away every iota of justification from the extraordinary and incompre-hensible resolution introduced by Rev. Dr. Crothers and Rev. J. G. Potter and voted for, let us hope, for the sake of decency, without due consideration, by the other members.

Yours truly,
HONEST TEMPERANCE.

Evangelist Mapleton Enters Into No Engagement with Christians Who Meet in Gospel Hall

A somewhat misleading announcement in last night's Examiner, regarding Evangelist Mapleton Maplesden, requires a little correction. The Christians who meet in the Gospel Hall, do not engage preachers, and Mr. Maplesden comes to Peterborough the same as all other evangelists who preach in the hall. He takes no collections, requires no fee, and his coming is entirely at his own pleasure, and we enter heartily with him in any Gospel effort he may put forth. Further announcements will be made when he comes.

The Alleged Fuel Famine In Hanley, Saskatchewan, Is Now Contradicted

THE SENSATIONAL STORY HAS BEEN DENIED AND SAID TO BE ABSURD

Fuel and Food Famine Does Not Exist at Hanley, Sask., is Now Stated by Residents of That Town

Examiner Special.

Winnipeg, January 11. — J. R. Milligan and B. F. Gaines, of Hanley, Sask., are in the city, having just arrived from that prosperous town of 1200 inhabitants, the chief place between Regina and Saskatoon. They say that they started on Monday night and came to Regina on the same train as H. M. Prestholdt, who brought to that city the story of the fuel and food famine.

They deny the statements atributed to Prestholdt, both as to lack of food and lack of coal. They affirm that all the coal sheds there were filled with coal and two or three carloads were on the track. also there is plenty of wood eight or nine miles northwest from Hanley. They have not heard of anyone burning lumber or barns for fuel or even thinking of doing such a thing.

The moving of freight is admitted to be a little slow since the C. N. R. took over the road. Some small places near Hanley have been a little short of coal, but that the situation still exists, is denied. On the contrary it is maintained there is an abundance of coal.

WAS SEVENTY-BUT HE COULD NOT WAIT FOR HIS NATURAL END

Matthias Wallcocks, of Montreal, cut his Throat With Razor—Stabbed Again and Again.

Examiner Special.

Montreal, Jan. 11.—A terrible sight met the gaze of Yvonne Aubrey, cook at the Angus Hotel, at the corner of St. Germain and Nolan streets, when at 9.30 this morning she knocked at the door of the room of Matthias Wallcocks to ask what he would have for his breakfast, and, getting no response, opened the door and walked in. "Mon Dieu!" she cried, and fell back against the door.

On the bed in front of her lay Wallcocks, gaunt, white-haired, half-dressed, an old man of 70, covered with blood. A terrific gash in his throat—it was really a hole—had severed the windpipe, and the freshly-drawn blood had dyed crimson the little white pillow on which his head reposed, spurting around on the bedclothes as evidence of the desperation of the act. The razor, also dyed crimson, with which the man had committed the act, lay there also, the edges jagged and uneven by the force of contact. What must have been the power that responded to the mad act was shown by the horrible effects of the injuries, for the razor must have been clutched, almost nakedly, in the desperate hands, and jagged, time after time, savagely and strongly, right into and across the throat.

LATE SENATOR HAYDEN RELATED HERE

A Prominent Citizen of Fort Wayne, Ind., Ind., Who Was Brother of Two Peterborough Ladies, Passed Away

HE WAS HONOURED BY HIS FELLOWS

A recent issue of the Fort Wayne, Ind., Journal-Gazette contains reference to the death in that city of Senator Hayden, a prominent citizen. The late Senator was related in Peterborough, having been a brother of Mrs. William Kerr, East City, and Mrs. William Hamilton, Sherbrooke street.

The late Mr. Hayden received from the Canadian Government a grant of land on the head waters of the Nipegon River, and a medal as well for his services rendered in the defence of his country at the time of the Fenian Raid in 1866.

The Journal-Gazette, referring to his death, says:

Hon. Fred J. Hayden, a resident of Fort Wayne for over 30 years and prominent among the public men of Indiana, died Sunday at noon at the family residence on Lewis street, of heart disease or a hardening of the arteries, after an illness extending over a period of three months, but which had been regarded as serious only for the past week. Mr. Hayden was one of the foremost citizens of Fort Wayne, living a life whose influence was ever felt for good in the community, and in his death the community bears a loss that will be keenly felt by all.

Few men there are who have had a more interesting and at the same time useful career. Mr. Hayden was born February 29, 1836, at Cobourg, Canada. He was the son of Rev. and Mrs. William Hayden, his father being the first missionary sent to Canada by the Congregational denomination, and a personage of eminence in the religious world. The son received educational advantages in his native Province and eventually completed the course of study in Victoria College, where te graduated as a member of the class of 1864. Two years later he was honoured by his alma mater with the degree of Master of Arts. After his graduation Mr. Hayden became prominently identified with industries in the Dominion, occupying for a number of years the position of secretary of the Cobourg & Marmora Railway and Mining Company of Ontario, and this incumbency he resigned in 1874, coming to Fort Wayne where he resided during the remainder of his life.

Was State Senator

In this city he had gained distinction in business and official circles, having at various times been honoured by the people with office and having filled a number of important positions in the business world, ever performing his duties in a manner alike creditable to himself and to those whom he represented.

In the year 1884 Mr. Hayden was elected by the Democratic party representative from Allen county to the State Legislature, and with signal efficiency served through two sessions. Still higher appreciation and honour was accorded him in 1888 by his election to the State Senate from the senatorial district, comprising the counties of Allen and Whitley, by the Democrats.

Senator Hayden was actively concerned in the passage of the Australian election law in 1889 and also in the passage of the new tax law in 1891—these being two of the most important enactments ever made in the Indiana Assembly to that date.

Was World's Fair Manager

As one of the World's Fair Commissioners for the Twelfth District of Indiana, Mr. Hayden played an active part in furthering the great World's Columbian Exposition enterprise in 1893, he having been appointed by the late Governor Hovey in 1891. He was later elected treasurer of the Board of World's Fair Managers of Indiana, an office he held with entire satisfaction to the commission and the people of the State. It has been very truthfully claimed that it was owing to the careful and conservative management of the funds appropriated for this magnificent enterprise by the State that Indiana was enabled to make such a typical and representative exhibit and to keep its building open until the close of the Exposition. It is worthy of record in this connection that when all the accounts were finally adjusted and expenses met, Mr. Hayden was enabled to convey back into the State treasury the sum of nearly $2,000.

In 1872 Mr. Hayden was married to Miss Eliza Hanna, the only daughter of the late Judge Hanna, who was for many years the most distinguished and foremost resident of Fort Wayne.

Was Interested in Agriculture

The latter years of Mr. Hayden's life were occupied in looking after his large financial and real estate interests. During the years of his residence in this city he evinced a deep interest in matters pertaining to agriculture and has been a successful exhibiter of horses, cattle and swine and grains at every fair in Allen county with but one exception, receiving many first premiums on his exhibits.

He took a strong and influential part in support of the Allen County Fair Association, serving the organization as vice-president. He was for a number of years a director of the First National Bank, which he also served as vice-president. Mr. Hayden's friends will remember that he was like most Englishmen, a lover of outdoor sports and recreations.

The funeral services will be held at an hour to be announced later.

Besides the wife there are two sisters living in Peterborough, Canada. The death is a great shock to Mrs. Hayden, who is left alone to bear her burden of sorrow.

Severe Form of Asthma

"I first used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with my little girl, who suffered from a severe form of asthma. The least exposure of cold would lay her up, and she would nearly suffocate for want of breath. I must say that I found it to be a most satisfactory treatment and it has entirely cured her."—Mrs A. A. VanBuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B.

HIRED INTERPRETER SO HE COULD PROPOSE

A Mexican Lover Shot Himself When American Girl Could Not Understand His Proposal

SHE DIDN'T KNOW HE PROPOSED

Examiner Special.

St. Louis January 10. — Miss Dora Richter, who is young and good-looking but does not understand Spanish has been placed in a curious position by the assertions of Felipe Jaurequi, who shot himself in Detroit on December 27.

Felipe was a young Mexican, the son of a wealthy man, but he could not speak English. He came to St. Louis and fate took him to the Richter home to board. Miss Richter was impressed with his good looks. Felipe became an ardent admirer. The courtship was all the more interesting from the fact that neither was ever quite sure what the other was saying.

Jaurequi wasn't badly hurt by his own bullet but he told the surgeons he was suffering from a wound caused by Miss Richter's refusal to marry him.

"If he ever proposed I didn't know it," said Miss Richter at her home yesterday. "He could not speak a word of English nor could I speak Spanish. I never dreamed that he was serious enough to shoot himself. I knew him just as I did the other young men who boarded at the house."

At last accounts Jaurequi was headed towards St. Louis again with an interpreter to repeat his proposal.

LET THE MURDERER PRAY THEN HANGED HIM, DID A MOB

Lynchers Took the Law into Their own Hands in Iowa Town—Was a Wife Murderer.

Examiner Special.

Waterloo, Iowa, Jan. 10.—A crowd of more than a thousand men last night battered through the walls of the county jail at Charles City, Ia., with railway irons, wrenched the hinges off the door, and took James Cullen and lynched him for wife murder and the murder of his stepson, yesterday morning. Cullen, who was 60 years of age, was weak minded for years. After dragging Cullen from jail, the mob took him two blocks from the main part of the town, where it halted, and gave the prisoner an opportunity to pray. It then hanged him to the bridge over the Cedar River.

Women

Can you Answer "NO" to any of these Questions?

1.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women are the prescription used for sick and run-down women by a great specialist in diseases of your sex. Such a prescription ought to be a good one, hadn't it?

2.

The tablets are compounded just for women and contain the special tonics which your peculiar system needs. That should make them a better medicine for you than any sold alike for both men and women, shouldn't it?

3.

The tablets contain the very latest ingredients and discoveries in medicine—are up-to-date. That makes them worth more to you than any medicine put on the market years ago, doesn't it?

4.

The tablets are a compound remedy, that is, they contain something for every organ of your system. They must therefore reach the organ which is causing you trouble, even if you don't know yourself which one it is. That is a big point in their favor, isn't it?

5.

Unlike the liquid preparations, the tablets contain neither alcohol nor opium. You don't want to drink whiskey or take opium, do you?

6.

Because the tablets contain something for every organ, they reach immediately the seat of the trouble. Result—immediate gain in health. That is what you want, isn't it?

The Vital Question.

But here is the question of most vital interest to women suffering from a run-down condition or any trouble peculiar to her sex.

Will you take the tablets? Will you risk 50c. to get back your old time life and vigor?

The 72 tablets in a single box, taken now, will start you on the road to health. Take them now before your condition becomes harder to cure.

ner side. I supplied the details per telephone, but the plot was really Miss Chris's. How on earth should we have managed without the telephone over this business?"

"I am at a loss to say," Enid smiled. "But tell me about that plot. I am quite in the dark as to that side of the matter."

David proceeded to explain his own and Chris's ingenious scheme for getting Merritt into their power. Enid followed the story with vast enjoyment, tempered with the fact that Henson was so near.

"I should never have thought of that," she said; "but Chris was always so clever. But tell me, what was Henson doing in the garden just now? Williams says he was ilitreating my aunt, but that seems hardly possible even for Reginald."

"It was over a ring that Mrs. Henson had," David explained. "She was running away with it, and Henson was trying to get it back. You see——"

"A ring!" Enid gasped. "Did you happen to see it? Oh, if it is only—— But he would not be so silly as that. A ring is the cause of all the trouble. Did you see it?"

"I not only saw it but I have it in my possession," David replied.

Enid turned up the flaring little lamp with a shaking hand. Quite unstrung, she held out her fingers for the ring.

"It is just possible," she said, hoarsely, "that you possess the key of the situation. If that ring is what I hope it is we can tumble Henson into the dust to-morrow. We can drive him out of the country, and he will never, never trouble us again. How did you get it?"

"Mrs. Henson dropped it and I picked it up."

"Please let me see it," Enid said, pleadingly. "Let me be put out of my misery."

David handed the ring over; Enid regarded it long and searchingly. With a little sigh of regret she passed it back to David once more.

"You had better keep it," she said. "At any rate, it is likely to be valuable evidence for us later on. But it is not the ring I hoped to see. It is a clever copy, but the black pearls are not so fine, and the engraving inside is not so worn as it used to be on the original. It is evidently a copy that Henson has had made to tease my aunt with, to offer her at some future date in return for the large sums of money that she gave him. No; the original of that ring is popularly supposed to be at the bottom of the North Sea. If such had been the case—seeing that Henson had never handled it before the Great Tragedy came—the original must be in existence."

"Why so?" David asked.

"Because the ring must have been copied from it," Enid said. "It is a very faithful copy indeed, and could not have been made from mere directions—take the engraving inside, for instance. The engraving forms the cipher of the house of Littimer. If Henson has the real ring, if we can find it, the tragedy goes out of our lives for ever."

"I should like to hear the story," said Steel.

Enid paused and lowered the lamp as a step was heard outside. But it was only Williams.

"Mr. Henson is in his bedroom still," he said. "I've just taken him the cigars. He's got a lump on his head as big as a billiard-ball. Thinks he hit it against a branch. And my lady have locked herself in her room and refused to see anybody."

"Go and look at our patient," Enid commanded.

Williams disappeared, to return presently with the information that Van Sneck was still fast asleep and lying very peacefully.

"Looks like waiting till morning, it do," he said. "And now I'll go back and keep my eye on that 'ere distinguished philanthropist."

Williams disappeared, and Enid turned up the lamp again. Her face was pale and resolute. She motioned David towards a chair.

"I'll tell you the story," she said. "I am going to confide in you the saddest and strangest tale that ever appealed to an imaginative novelist."

CHAPTER XLIV.

"I am going to tell you the story of the great sorrow that has darkened all our lives, but I shall have to go a long way back to do it," Enid said. "I go back to the troublous days of Charles, as far back as the disastrous fight at Naseby. Of course I am speaking more from a Royalist point of view, for the Littimers were always followers of the Court.

"Mind you, there is doubtless a deal that is legendary about what I am going to tell you. But the ring given to my ancestor Rupert Littimer by Prince Rupert himself is an actuality.

"Naseby was over, and, so the legend goes, Prince Rupert found himself desperately situated and in dire peril of capture by Cromwell's troops, under one Colonel Carfax, a near neighbor of Rupert Littimer; indeed, the Carfax estates still run parallel with the property round Littimer Castle.

"Now, Carfax was hated by all those who were attached to the fortunes of the King. Seeing that he was of aristocratic birth, it was held that he had violated his caste and creed by taking sides with the Roundheads. History has told us that he was right, and that the Cavaliers, picturesque as they were, were fighting a dubious cause. But I need not go into that. Carfax was a hard, stern man who spared nobody, and many were the stories told of his cruelty.

"He and Rupert Littimer were especially at daggers drawn. I believe that both of them had been in love with the same woman or something of that kind. And the fact that she did not marry either made little difference to the bitterness between them.

"Well, Carfax was pressing close on Rupert, so close, indeed, that unless some strategy were adopted the brilliant cavalry leader was in dire peril. It was there that my ancestor, Rupert Littimer, came forward with his scheme. He offered to disguise himself and go into the camp of Carfax and take him prisoner. The idea was to steal into the tent of Carfax and, by threatening him with his life, compel him to issue certain orders, the result of which would be that Prince Rupert could get away.

"'You will never come back again, friend,' the Prince said.

"Rupert Littimer said he was prepared to run all risk of that. 'And if I do die you shall tell my wife, sir,' he said. 'And when the child is born, tell him that his father died as he should have done for his King and for his country.'

"'Oh, there is a child coming?' Rupert asked.

"Littimer replied that for aught he knew he was a father already. And then he went his way into the camp of the foe with his curls cut short and in the guise of a countryman who comes with valuable information. And, what is more, he schemed his way into Carfax's tent, and at the point of a dagger compelled him to write a certain order which my ancestor's servant, who accompanied him, saw carried into effect, and so the passage for Prince Rupert was made free.

"The ruse would have succeeded all round but for some little accident that I need not go into now. Rupert Littimer was laid by the heels, his disguise was torn off, and he stood face to face with his hereditary foe. He was told that he had but an hour to live.

"'If you have any favor to ask, say it,' Carfax said.

"'I have no favor to ask, properly so-called,' Littimer replied; 'but I am loth to die without knowing whether or not I have left anybody to succeed me—anybody who will avenge the crime upon you and yours in the years to come. Let me go as far as Henson Grange, and I pledge you my word I will return in the morning!'

"But Carfax laughed the suggestion to scorn. The Court party were all liars and perjurers, and their word was not to be taken.

"'It is as I say,' Rupert Littimer repeated. 'My wife lies ill at Henson Grange and in sore trouble about me. And I should like to see my child before I die.'

"'Then you shall have the chance,' Carfax sneered. 'I will keep you a close prisoner here for two days, and if at the end of that time nothing happens, you die. If, on the other hand, a child is born to you, then you shall go from here a free man.'

"And so the compact was made. Unfortunately or fortunately, as the case may be, the story got abroad, and some indiscreet person carried the news to Dame Littimer. Ill as she was, she insisted upon getting up and going over to Carfax's camp at once. She had barely reached there before—well, long ere Rupert Littimer's probation was over, he was the father of a noble boy. They say that the Roundheads made a cradle for the child out of a leather breast plate, and carried it in triumph round the camp. And they held the furious Carfax to his word, and the story spread and spread until it came to the ears of Prince Rupert.

"Then he went to see Dame Littimer, and from his own hand he drew what is known in our family as Prince Rupert's ring. He placed it on Dame Littimer's hand, there to remain for a year and a day, and when the year was up it was to be put aside for the bride of the heir of the house for ever, to be worn by her till a year and a day had elapsed after her first child was born. And that has been done for all time, my aunt, Lady Littimer, being the last to wear it. After Frank was born it was put carefully away for his bride. But the great tragedy came, and until lately we fancied that the ring was lost to us for ever. There is, in a few words the story of Prince Rupert's ring. So far it is quite common property."

Enid ceased to speak for a time. But it was evident that she had more to say.

"An interesting story," David said "And a pretty one to put into a book especially as it is quite true. But you have lost the ring, you say?"

"I fancied so till to-night," Enid replied. "Indeed, I hardly knew what to think. Sometimes I imagined that Reginald Henson had it, at other times I imagined that it was utterly gone. But the mere fact that Henson possesses a copy practically convinces me that he has the original. As I said before, a true copy could not have been made from mere instructions. And if I could only get the original our troubles are all over."

"But I don't see how the ring has anything to do with——"

"With the family dishonor. No, I am coming to that. We arrive at the time seven years ago, when my aunt and Lord Littimer and Frank were all living happily at Littimer Castle. I told you just now that the Carfax estates adjoin the Littimer property. The family is still extant and powerful, but the feud between the two houses has never ceased. Of course, people don't carry on a vendetta these peaceful days, but the families have not visited for centuries.

"There was a daughter Claire, whom Frank Littimer got to know by some means or other. But for the silly family feud nobody would have noticed or cared, and there would have been an end to the matter, because Frank has always loved my sister Chris, and we all knew that he would marry her some of these days.

"Lord Littimer was furiously angry when he heard that Frank and Claire had got on speaking terms. He imperiously forbade any further intercourse, and General Carfax did the same. The consequence was that these two foolish young people elected to fancy themselves greatly aggrieved, and so a kind of Romeo and Juliet, Montague and Capulet, business sprang up. There were secret meetings, meetings entirely innocent, I believe, and a correspondence which became romantic and passionate on Claire Carfax's side. The girl had fallen passionately in love with Frank, whilst he regarded the thing as a mere pastime. He did not know then, indeed nobody seemed to know till afterwards, that there was insanity in the poor girl's family, though Hatherly Bell's friend, Dr. Heritage, who then had a practice near Littimer, warned us as well as he could.

"Then those letters of Claire's fell into Lord Littimer's hands. He found them and locked them up in his safe. Frank, furious at being treated like a boy, swore to break open the safe and get his letters back. He did so. And in the same safe and in the same drawer, was Prince Rupert's ring. When Lord Littimer missed the letters he missed the ring also and a large sum of money in notes that he had just received from his tenants. Frank had stolen the ring and the money, or so it seemed. I shall not soon forget that day.

"After taking the letters Frank had gone straight to Moreton Wells, and it looked for a little time as if he had fled. Within an hour of the discovery of his loss Lord Littimer met Claire Carfax on the cliffs. She was wearing Prince Rupert's ring. Frank has sent it to her, she said. Anybody but a man in a furious passion would have seen that the girl was not responsible for her actions. Littimer told her the true circumstances of the case. She laughed at him in a queer, vacant way and fled through the woods. She went down to the beach, where she took a boat and rowed herself out into the bay. A mile or more from the shore she jumped into the water, and from that day to this nothing further has been seen of poor Claire Carfax."

"Or the ring, either?" David asked.

"Or the ring either. The same night Lady Littimer started after her boy. Littimer was going to have Frank prosecuted. Lady Littimer fled to Longdean Grange, where Frank joined her. It is said that Lord Littimer struck his wife, but Frank says that she fell against his gesticulating fist. Anyway, it was the same as a blow, and Lady Littimer dropped on the floor, dragging a table down with her, flowers and china and all. You have seen that table in Longdean Grange. Since then it has never been touched, the place has never been swept or dusted or garnished. You have seen my aunt, and you know what the shock has done for her—the shock and the steady persecutions of Reginald Henson."

"Who seems to be at the bottom of the whole trouble," said David. "But do you think that was the real ring on the poor girl's finger?"

"I don't. I fancy Henson had a copy made for emergencies. It was he who sent the copy to Claire, and it was that copy that Littimer saw on her hand. You see, directly Frank broke open that safe, Henson, who was at the castle at the time, saw his opportunity—he could easily scheme some way of making use of it. If that plot against Frank had failed he would have invented another. And the unexpected suicide of Claire Carfax played into his hands. Henson has that ring somewhere, and it will be our task to find it."

"And when we have done so?"

"Give it to Lord Littimer and tell him where we found it. And then we shall be rid of one of the most pestilential rascals the world has ever seen. When you get back to Brighton I want you to tell this story to Hatherly Bell."

"I will," David replied. "What a weird, fascinating story it is! And the sooner I am back the better I shall be pleased. I wonder if our man is awake yet. If you will excuse me, I will go up and see. Ah!"

There was the sound of somebody moving overhead.

CHAPTER XLV.

At the same moment Williams came softly in. There was a grin of satisfaction on his face.

"The brute is fast asleep," he said. "I've just been in his room. He left the lamp burning, and there is a lump on the side of his head as big as an ostrich egg. But he didn't mean to go to sleep; he hasn't taken any of his clothes off. On the whole, sir, wouldn't it be better for you to wake our man up and get him away?"

David was of the same opinion. Van Sneck was lying on the bed looking vacantly about him. He seemed older and more worn, perhaps, because his beard and moustache were growing ragged and dirty on his face. He pressed his hand to his head in a confused kind of way.

"I tell you I can't find it," he said; "the thing slipped out of my hand—a small thing like that easily might. What's the good of making a fuss about a ring not worth £20? Search my pockets if you like. What a murderous-looking dog you are when you're out of temper!"

All this in a vague, rambling way, in a slightly foreign accent. David touched him on the shoulder.

"Won't you come back with me to Brighton?" he said.

"Certainly," was the ready response; "you look a good sort of chap. I'll go anywhere you please. Not that I've so much a penny or money left. What a spree it has been. Who are you?"

"My name is Steel. I am David Steel, the novelist."

A peculiarly cunning look came over Van Sneck's face.

"I got your letter," he said. "And I came. It was after I had had that row with Henson. Henson is a bigger scoundrel than I am, though you may not think it."

"I accept your statement implicitly," David said, drily.

"Well, he is. And I got your letter. And I called. . . . And you nearly killed me. And I dropped it down in the corner of the conservatory."

"Dropped what?" David asked, sharply.

"Nothing," said Van Sneck. "What do you mean by talking about dropping things. I never dropped anything in my life. I make others do that, eh, eh! But I can't remember anything. It just comes back to me, and then there is a wheel goes round in my head. . . . Who are you?"

David gave up the matter as hopeless. This was emphatically a case for Bell. Once let him get Van Sneck back to Brighton and Bell could do the rest.

"We'd better go," he said to Enid. "We are merely wasting time here."

"I suppose so," Enid said, thoughtfully. "All the same, I should greatly like to know what it is that our friend Van Sneck dropped."

It was a long and tedious journey back to Brighton again, for the patient seemed to tire easily, and he evinced a marked predilection for sitting by the roadside and singing. It was very late before David reached his house. Bell beamed his satisfaction. Van Sneck, with a half-gleam of recognition of his surroundings, and with a statement that he had been there before, lapsed into silence. Bell produced a small phial in a chemist's wrapper and poured the contents into a glass. With a curt command to drink he passed the glass over to Van Sneck.

The latter drank the small dose, and Bell carried him more or less to a ground-floor bedroom behind the dining-room. There he speedily undressed his patient and got him into bed. Van Sneck was practically fast asleep before his head had touched the pillow.

"I went out and got that dose with a view to eventualities," Bell explained. "I know pretty well what is the matter with Van Sneck, and I propose to operate upon him, with the help of Heritage. I've put him in my bed and locked the door. I shall sleep in the big armchair."

David flung himself into a big deck lounge and lighted a cigarette.

"My word, that has been a bit of a business," he said. "Pour me out a little whisky in one of the long glasses and fill it up with soda. . . . Oh, that's better. I never felt so thirsty in my life. I got Van Sneck away without Henson having the slightest suspicion that he was there, and I had the satisfaction of giving Henson a smashing blow without his seeing me."

"Sounds like conjuring," Bell said, behind his cigar. "Explain yourself."

David went carefully into details. He told the story of Prince Rupert's ring to a listener who followed him with the most flattering attention.

"Of course, all this is new to me," Bell said, presently, "though I knew the family well up to that time. Depend upon it, Enid is right. Henson has got the ring. But how fortunately everything seems to have turned out for the scoundrel."

"If a man likes to be an unscrupulous blackguard he can make use of all events," David said. "But even Henson is not quite so clever as we take him to be. He has found out the trick we played upon him over Chris Henson, but he hasn't the faintest idea that all this time he has been living under the same roof at Littimer."

"The girl is a wonderful actress," Bell replied. "I only guessed who she was. If I hadn't known as much as I do she would have deceived me. But Henson has shot his bolt. After we have operated upon Van Sneck we shall be pretty near the truth. It is a great pull to have him in the house."

"And a nasty thing for Henson——"

"Who will find out before to-morrow is over. I feel pretty sure that this house is watched carefully. Any firm of private detectives would do that, and they need be told nothing either. I know that I was followed when I went to the chemist's to fetch that dose for our friend yonder. Still, it is a sign that Henson is getting frightened."

"Why do you bring Heritage into this matter?" David asked.

"Well, for a variety of reasons. First of all, Heritage is an old friend of mine, and I take a great interest in his case. I am going to give him a chance to recover his lost confidence, and he is a splendid operator. Besides, I want to know why Henson has gone out of his way to be so kind to Heritage. And, finally, Heritage was the family doctor of the Carfax people you just mentioned before he went to practise in London. Let me once get Heritage round again, and I shall be greatly disappointed if he does not give us a good deal of valuable information regarding Reginald Henson."

"And Cross. What about him?"

"Oh, Cross will do as I ask him. Without egotism, he knows that the case is perfectly safe in my hands. And if we care to look after Van Sneck, why, there will be one less burden in the hospital. What a funny business it is! Van Sneck gets nearly done to death under this roof, and he comes back here to be cured again."

David yawned sleepily as he rose.

"Well, I've had enough of it for to-night," he said. "I'm dog-tried, and I must confess to feeling sick of the Hensons and Littimers, and all their works."

"Including their friend, Miss Ruth Gates?" Bell said, slily. "Still, they have made pretty good use of you, and I expect you will be glad to get back to your work again. At the same time you need not trouble your head for plots for many a day."

David admitted that the situation had its compensations, and went off to bed. Bell met him the next day as fresh as if he had had a full night's rest, and vouchsafed the information that the patient was as well as possible. He was cold and no longer feverish.

"In fact, he is ready for the operation at any time," he said. "I shall get Heritage here to dinner, and we shall operate afterwards with electric light. It will be a good steadier for Heritage's nerves, and the electric light is the best light of all for this business. If you have got a few yards of spare flex from your reading-lamp I'll rig the thing up without troubling your electrician. I can attach it to your study lamp."

Will be continued next Saturday.

A Proven Cure For Indigestion

A healthy stomach does two things.

1st—gives up enough gastric juice to digest food—and —2nd—churns food, by means of its muscular action, until digestive juice and food are thoroughly mixed.

An unhealthy stomach is either too weak to properly churn the food or it does not give up enough gastric juice to make digestion complete.

Then you have Indigestion—Heartburn—Distress after Eating—Sour Stomach—Headaches—and finally chronic Dyspepsia.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia because they give you a healthy stomach.

"Fruit-a-tives" actually strengthen the muscles of the stomach—increase the power of the churning movement—and also enable the stomach to excrete sufficient gastric juice to completely digest every meal.

Thousands have been cured of Indigestion and Dyspepsia by "Fruit-a-tives" alone.

"Fruit-a-tives" also cure the Constipation and Biliousness with which so many Dyspeptics suffer.

"Fruit-a-tives" are intensified fruit juices, combined with tonics and antiseptics—and are an infallible cure for all Stomach Troubles. Try them. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ELECTIONS IN DOURO WERE KEENLY CONTESTED

Douro Correspondent Gives Municipal History of the Reeveship Candidates

VOTES POLLED BY COUNCIL CANDIDATES

Examiner Special.

Douro, Jan. 8. — There was a lively contest for the reeveship here yesterday, Mr. Frank Maher being returned by the handsome majority of 11 votes, taking into consideration the fact that he was opposed by a County Councillor.

The unsuccessful candidate was Mr Dennis Moloney, who has sat in the county council for the past four years. Both men are very popular in the township. Mr. Moloney entered municipal life ten years ago, and served the township as a councillor for four years, then getting the reeveship, which he held for two years, when he became a candidate for the county council for the fifth division.

Mr. Maher entered the township council three years ago, heading the poll by a large majority. At the end of the year he was made reeve by acclamation, which position he has since filled with great credit and ability. He is a young man with a great knowledge of municipal affairs and should certainly make a good name for himself in the county council, which is now represented by the reeves and deputy reeves of the different townships.

There were seven councillors in the field, Mr. Frank Leahy, Michael Walsh, Thomas E. Jory, William Quinlan, Patrick Farley, George W. Powell and David Darling. The first four named were in last year's council, three of whom are returned.

For Reeve.
Frank Maher, 232.

For councillors.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines on the death of Nina Stella Barr, wife of Mr. W. J. Little, who died on December 1st, 1906.

Darling Nina she has left us,
Left us yes for evermore,
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.

Dearest loved one, we must lay thee
In the peaceful grave's embrace;
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thy heavenly face.

Thy gentle voice now is hushed —
Thy warm true heart is still,
And on thy young and innocent brow
Is resting death's cold chill.

Thy hands are clasped upon thy breast,
We have kissed thy lovely brow,
And in our aching hearts we know,
We have no darling now.

Thy vacant pew and empty chair,
We see them day by day;
Her influence will never be forgot
And oh, it fills our hearts with care.

When we think of her earnest prayers
Since our loved one passed away,
She has gone to be with Jesus
In the heavenly mansion beyond.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still;
Her place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love has given,
And though the body slumbers here
The soul is safe in heaven.

Call not back the dear departed,
Anchored safe where storms are o'er
On the border land we left her,
Soon to meet and part no more.

When we leave this world of changes,
When we leave this world of care,
We shall find our missing loved one
In our Father's mansion fair.

We miss thee from our home, dear,
We miss thee from thy place;
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.

We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere.

Some stimulation is also required, but it must be stimulation without reaction. Tea, coffee, spirituous drinks and similar preparations, are stimulants—stimulants that react.

Beef tea and meat extracts are also stimulants, but with this difference, they don't react. Yet while they have stimulating properties, they are practically devoid of nourishment.

Members of Salem Sunday School Presented Mr. Sargent With Handsome Pair of Persian Lamb Gauntlets

Mr. and Mrs. Sargent were pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening, January 2, when the Salem Sunday School met at their home for the purpose of presenting Mr. Sargent their worthy superintendant, with a pair of Persian lamb gauntlets. When all had heartily joined in singing a familiar hymn, Miss Violet Webster read the following address:

Dear Mr. Sargent,—We, the members of Salem Sunday School, have gathered here this evening, desiring to show you in some little measure, at least, our appreciation of the faithful service you have rendered our school for so many years. As far back as many of our younger members can recall, excepting only one brief interval when you were relieved by another, you have filled very satisfactorily indeed, our most important and most difficult office, that of superintendent. By your presence and brightness as well as by the beautiful truths you have so frequently brought before us, you have very helped and encouraged us in our work. Many times you have been with us when, we are sure, physically speaking, you were not able—when, had you followed your own inclination and desires, you would not have been there. But we know that your own feelings have not been your master, that One is your Master, even Christ.

And now, in conclusion, we would ask you kindly to accept as a slight and tangible token of our aforesaid appreciation of these services, this pair of gauntlets. We would also ask you to accept our heartiest wishes for a happy and prosperous future, and that you may long be spared to us to continue in this pleasant relationship.

Signed on behalf of the school—
Lillie Hatherly.

During the reading of the last paragraph Miss Jean Girven presented Mr. Sargent with the gauntlets. Mr. Sargent, now somewhat recovered, made a very suitable reply, after which dainty refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in music, games and social enjoyment, all feeling satisfied that they had spent a most delightful evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sargent proved to be an excellent host and hostess.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last if FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

WINTER SERIES OF MEETINGS FOR FARMERS

Noxious Weeds, Dairying and Growing of of Clover Among the Topics Considered

MEETINGS HAVE BEEN GREAT SUCCESS

The winter series of meetings under the auspices of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, opened at Lakehurst on Friday afternoon. The attendance was fair, about 25 farmers being present to hear the addresses. The president, Mr. Telford occupied the chair, and after a few introductory remarks called upon Mr. Annis to give an address on "Noxious Weeds and Means of Eradication."

After a few opening remarks, Mr. Annis said that weeds were the greatest robbers the farmer had to contend with, dwelling very strongly on the sow thistle. He also stated that most of the worst weeds had been distributed through grass seeds. He showed how very careful farmers should be in the selection of seed they sow, and also explained the Dominion Seed Control Act, which was passed for the protection of the farmer, but which is not yet carried out in its entirety, as it should be. He explained the fact that a farmer or dealer who sells any seeds that have in them weed seeds is liable to a severe penalty for offering impure seeds for sale. The speaker gave his methods of cultivation for the eradication of the weeds of the different varieties — annuals, bi-annuals, and perennials, as they require different modes of treatment in order to destroy them.

Mr. Zufelt followed with an address on the production and care of milk. He first took up the dairy herd, warning farmers not to mix the breeds. Keep none but the best, weed out the culls, as they are only boarders, and you do not want to keep the cow, simply for the sake of her company. In the care of milk the watchword is embodied in one word—cleanliness—in the full acceptance of the term from start to finish. At no time should the milk be exposed to dirty surroundings, or a filthy atmosphere, showing the importance of supplying the cheesemaker with the very best quality of milk, if you expect him to give you good cheese. Do not expect that the cheesemaker can give you a good article from tainted milk.

At Hall's Bridge

Friday evening's meeting was at Hall's Bridge, where there was a good attendance and a most profitable meeting.

President J. N. Telford opened the meeting and invited Mr. Frederick McKee, Vice-President, to occupy the chair.

Mr. Zufelt was called upon to deliver an address on "Dairying." He commenced his subject by comparing past and present conditions of farming and especially in dairying, which he claimed was the most important branch of agriculture in Ontario — a province of which we should all be proud.

Mr. Annis gave an address on "Farming as an occupation." He considered that no occupation gave the comfortable, independent life that was enjoyed by the farmer who loved his work. It was the noblest of callings and he enjoined the boys and girls on no account to leave the farm, for no other calling was so ennobling as farm life. He spoke of the many advantages possessed by the soil, morally and spiritually, describing many of the happy ideals he had seen and compared the life of the farmer with the grafting and other occupations, that we met on every hand. A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Northey.

Selwyn Meeting

At Selwyn Saturday afternoon Mr Zufelt spoke on the care of milk, and the subject was well discussed by those present.

At the evening meeting the attendance was about 60. Mr. Telford occupied the chair.

Mr. L. E. Annis gave an address on "Growing of Clover for Seed.

After a few congratulatory remarks he described the clover midge, its life, history and habits, showing very clearly all the changes and stages of its development; also how it attacks the clover plant. Next he spoke of the modes of dealing with the clover to destroy the year's crop of the midge. There was a danger that a second attack might be made, and in that case cut the crop in order to kill the midge. If this is not done they will destroy the crop of seed. He then spoke a short time on "Cultivation of the Soil and Rotation of Crops," strongly advocating the thorough cultivation in the early autumn to conserve moisture in the soil, and the destruction of weeds which are fast becoming such a menace to the farmer. Before closing he gave a short and encouraging talk to the boys and girls.

Mr. L. A. Zufelt's address was on

ENGLAND

A girl stowaway, scarcely 16 years of age, recently landed at Tilbury Docks, London, from the royal mail steamship Orient. Early in November Clara Fairweather was missed from her home in London. She had made her way to Tilbury and boarded the steamship Orteva. In the crush of people ascending the gangway she was not noticed. Mixing with the third-class passengers, of whom there were several hundred on board, she continued to evade attention after the vessel had left port. Just after leaving Plymouth, however, the suspicions of the ship's authorities were aroused, and she was questioned, and, of course, being unable to give any explanation of her presence, was ordered to be kept under observation until it was decided what should be done with her. Such a frail slip of a girl was she, with the prettiest face imaginable, that stern measures were altogether out of the question. When the ship reached Marseilles she was disembarked and transferred to the steamship Orient, which was on its homeward passage. Asked why she had run away from home, she said she was ambitious and wanted to go to the colonies.

A curious story of an arrangement with a burglar was told at Bath recently when John Wilson was charged with breaking into the Royal School for Officers' Daughters, at Lansdown, and stealing a silver watch and chain. The man entered the school during the night by the scullery window, which had been left unfastened. Miss Fox, the assistant mistress, who was ill in bed, saw him in her bedroom. He said that he wanted money, and asked where it was. Miss Fox said that she had none, but gave him her silver watch and chain. She promised to meet him in the Royal Victoria Park the next day with the money if he would leave the house. When Miss Fox told her tale to Miss Blake, the lady principal, it was at first discredited as the hallucination of a sick person; but by the advice of the police, Miss Blake kept the appointment made by Miss Fox. Wilson met her, and received an envelope handed by Miss Blake. A policeman in hiding then seized Wilson.

Chaje Sablitzes, a 16-year-old Jewess, has had a romantic experience at Grimsby, where she arrived and was refused permission to land. After two unsuccessful attempts to cross the Russian border without a passport, she suffered imprisonment. She escaped, but in her hurried flight mislaid the address of her uncle, whom she wished to join in Liverpool. While detained in Grimsby pending the meeting of the Immigration Appeal Committee, Mr. Woolfe, a prominent Jewish resident, interested himself in the girl and found a situation for her in Grimsby as a domestic servant. The shipping company had, however, instituted inquiries, and the missing uncle was discovered. He was a wealthy Bootle gentleman, and, being informed of his niece's plight, wired for her to join him. She was accordingly released, and had the delightful experience of seeing her prospects of life as household drudge exchanged in the course of a few minutes to that of a young lady of means.

Considerable excitement was caused at Chatham recently by the statement that a naval signal book was missing, and that a signalman had been arrested at the Royal Naval Barracks. A second yeoman of the signals, named Abbott, of H.M.S. Amphitrite, wrote to a person whom he no doubt presumed to be the agent of a foreign country offering to sell him a naval signal book. The person who received the letter at once brought it to the notice of the naval authorities, who recommended their informant to continue the negotiations with a view to their stepping in at the proper moment. Arrangements for the sale of the book were therefore concluded, and a meeting between the signalman and the agent on the presumed purchaser was fixed to take place outside one of the Chatham dockyard gates. Abbott kept the appointment, but instead of meeting the purchaser's agent, as he anticipated, an agent of the naval authorities appeared on the scene and he was arrested.

A feeble, ragged old man, with long, grey hair that might have provoked rude mirth on the part of street boys if the general aspect of the figure had not been so unspeakably pathetic, shuffled sadly along a London street recently. His name was Milton Wellings, and "Some Day," one of his musical creations, had a tremendous popular success even before piano-organs were as very energetic in working up a "boom." "Some Day" was parodied more than once, but no one would have dreamed of such a satire upon its speculative title as that which has come in the real life events of the past few years. Musical piracy was the direct cause of Mr. Milton Wellings' failure. He had relatives, but they lost sight of him, and recently he has been living in penury at a Rowton House in Newington. Next to "Some Day," probably his most popular compositions have been "Golden Love," "Dreaming, and Forget, Forgive."

IRELAND

At the regular monthly meeting of Glenties Rural District Council recently, a letter was read from Sir J. B. Dougherty, Dublin Castle, stating that he was directed by the Lord Lieutenant to acquaint the Council that representations had been made to His Excellency as to the desirability of constructing a line of railway from Glenties to Ardara, and that the Irish Government had been approached for assistance to the carrying out of the project, the cost of which had been variously estimated at from 20,000 to 30,000 pounds. His Excellency after careful consideration had come to the conclusion that if Donegal County Council and the joint committee of the Midland Railway Company of England and the Great Southern Railway Company of Ireland were prepared to make definite and substantial offers as to the sums which they would guarantee payment of interest, he would then be prepared to submit the matter to the treasury.

A mother's objection to her daughter's projected marriage, led to a strange case at Belfast police court recently, when Mary McCormack, the girl in question, was charged with threatening her mother. The mother said that on the night of November 3, the girl was very violent, shouting and threatening her life. Several witnesses for the defence, however, stated that the girl was about to be married, that the mother very strongly objected, becoming more abusive and determined as the date of the wedding approached. On one occasion she had turned her daughter out of the house, and had followed her fiance through the streets, abusing him. The Magistrate in dismissing the case, said he was extremely sorry that the daughter should have been placed in so terrible a position at a period that should be the happiest in her life. The young man, producing the marriage license, said that the wedding would take place in a few days.

A knowledgee of Jiu-Jitsu, the Japanese art of self defence, has brought about the capture of a burglar and a lunatic, under remarkable circumstances. Two Belfast burglars were smartly caught at the residence of Mrs. John Davidson, Bloomfield, Belfast, on Sunday night, by Mr. Ian Davidson. Hearing noises in the dining room, Mr. Davidson took off his boots, turned on the light in the hall and quietly opened the dining room door. The men were engaged in ransacking a writing desk, when they were surprised by Mr. Davidson's appearance. One escaped through an open window but the other was not quick enough. He was tackled in the correct jiu-jitsu fashion and given an arm lock which rendered him absolutely powerless. The police were summoned by telephone and took the man into custody. From a full description of the second man the authorities were able to affect his arrest a short time afterwards.

Under the auspices of the Dublin Victuallers' Association an All-Ireland competition in hide and skin-flaying was held recently at the corporation abattoir. The competition was restricted to legitimate Irish journeymen butchers, who had been resident in Ireland for the past 12 months at least. There were twenty-two competitors, including four from Belfast, one from Cork, and one from County Down. The rest were from Dublin. Each competitor had to flay one beast and skin one sheep within a certain time. A challenge cup of twenty-five guineas value was offered as a prize to the winner.

News was received from Newry recently of a shocking gun accident which occurred near Poyntspass. It appears that while a middle aged man named William G. Barber was engaged in charging an old fowling piece in the kitchen of the house, by some means the gun went off, with the result that the unfortunate man had the front portion of his throat, chin, lower jaw, and tongue, completely blown away. His teeth were scattered about the floor, and on the ceiling where the shot entered, some of the hairs of his beard were sticking.

Last week the chairman of the Kingstown Urban Council, Mr. R. Norman Patterson, J. P., opened a new road for traffic. The new road runs from the Crofton Road to the railway crossing at Dunleary, making a sea road of easy gradient towards Monkstown.

A lunatic who was discharged from an asylum ran amok in a Dublin street a few weeks ago and stabbed three men with a large knife. One of the men by using jiu-jitsu methods, overpowered his assailants until assistance arrived, when he was taken into custody.

SCOTLAND

An interesting discovery was made recently in Chapel Royal, Holyrood. The Office of Works discovered 10 beautiful pieces of tapestry stored away in certain rooms which had been used by the ancestors of the Duke of Hamilton, as hereditary keepers. The Office of Works claimed these on behalf of the Government, and the duke disputed the ownership. Mr. Old rieve, on going carefully into the matter, found that in 1850, on the occasion of one of Queen Victoria's visits to Holyrood, accommodation was required for her Majesty's maids of honour and superior servants. A large tapestried room was requisitioned, but as it had to be partitioned into three, the wall hangings were taken down. The tapestries were then apparently stored in the rooms under the control of the Duke of Hamilton, and there for 55 years they have lain undisturbed. As the duke would not renounce his claim to these valuable works of art, the matter was submitted to the arbitration of Sir Herbert Maxwell, who has just given his decision, awarding the tapestries to the Government.

The House of Lords is to be called upon to decide whether the will of the late John Murdoch, of Dundee, who died in Edinburgh on Dec. 8, 1901, is valid or not. The deceased left estate amounting to £67,419, and by his will directed his trustees to employ the whole of the residue, amounting about £50,000, "in instituting and carrying on a scheme for the relief of indigent bachelors and widowers of whatever religious denomination or belief they may be who have shown practical sympathy either as amateurs or professionals in the pursuits of science in any of its branches, whose lives have been characterized by sobriety, morality, and industry, and who are not less than 55 years of age, or in aiding any scheme which now exists or may be instituted by others for the purpose." The next-of-kin challenged the validity of the will on the ground that it was vague and uncertain; and claimed to be ranked and preferred in equal shares to the whole residue. The trustees, on the other hand, maintained that the will was valid and effectual. The Outer House of the Court of Session decided in favour of the next-of-kin, but on the trustees appealing the Second Division recalled the decision of Lord Johnston, holding the bequest to be valid. An appeal to the House of Lords against the decision of the Second Division has now been intimated.

Sensation has been created in Glasgow by the mysterious disappearance of a well known citizen who was to have been married in a few days. The wedding invitations had been out for some time, and arrangements completed for the ceremony. A house had been taken in the suburbs, and handsomely furnished. The prospective bride has received numerous presents, while each of the parties has been the recipient of testimonials from the church where they had been active workers for some years. They also took part in the Sunday School work, the teachers also making a combined presentation. They were in the city making purchases and completing arrangements for the happy event. They returned and had tea with the bride's parents. Some time later the young men left for home, and arranged that he and his sweetheart should meet the following evening. From that point all trace of him has disappeared.

Culross Abbey, Perth, first built in the very earliest days of Scottish history, has been rebuilt once again, and was reopened for public worship a few days ago. Discoveries were numerous during the excavations and renovations. An exquisitely carved figure was unearthed in the Argyll aisle. Unfortunately the face is smashed, but the plate-mail covering the shoulders and the chain-mail protecting the lower limbs stand out as boldly as when executed by the sculptor hundreds of years since. There is no doubt the effigy, if not of an Earl of Argyll, whose race were hereditary bailies of Culross Abbey, is at least that of a person of high rank. It now reclines on the Argyll tomb in the restored church.

A severe storm raging over the West of Scotland, recently blew down the wireless telegraphy tower at Machribanish, Argyllshire, which is 450 feet high and weighs almost 2,000 tons. The tower, which was erected some time ago by the National Electric Signaling Company of Washington, U.S.A., for the purpose of wireless communication with America, was a tubular steel structure containing a stairway leading to the top, and had outside balconies every hundred feet. The stays to the west of the tower were torn from the ground foundations, and the tower snapped in two places and crashed to the ground.

It has been found impossible to carry out the intention of the late Earl of Leven and Melville to restore the Chapel Royal at Holyrood, Dumfriesshire. The execution of the work was, by the terms of Lord Leven's will, made conditional on the acceptance by Lord Balcarres and Sir John Stirling-Maxwell of the responsibility of supervising it. The decision is the outcome of a report from Professor Lethaby, R.S.A., who considers that either to add to the ruin without rebuilding it, or to rebuild it, would be disastrous to it as a great historical monument.

Turkey offers facilities for the marriage of infants. It is only necessary for the bride and bridegroom to toddle from the cradle to the altar and understand something of the meaning of the ceremony.

Only a short time ago the woman whose inventive brain gave the ice cream freezer to delighted humanity died at an advanced age in Philadelphia. This was Mrs. Nancy M. Johnson, and her device was patented in 1843.

SPLENDID ADDRESSES AT INSTITUTE MEETINGS

Two Very Well Attended Gatherings Were Held in Otonabee on Wednesday

A FINE PROGRAMME IN THE EVENING

Otonabee has always had the well-deserved reputation of being one of the most progressive townships in the county, and consequently it was no surprise that the Farmers' Institute meetings held at Stewart's Hall were among the most successful of the series. There was a good attendance at the meeting on Wednesday afternoon and the greatest interest was taken in the addresses. The chair was occupied by President Telford, who opened the meeting with a few appropriate remarks. Mr. Annis then gave an address on "Weeds and Their Eradication." He explained the Seed Control Act and its provisions. He said that municipal councils could appoint inspectors to enforce the Act. Very few councils had taken any notice of the Act, which he explained very clearly, also designating the present mode of dealing in seeds as a dead letter. Before closing he gave his method of cultivation to rid the soil of weeds. Many questions were asked by the audience, which were answered by the speaker in a clear, forcible manner, making it an ideal farmers' club meeting.

Mr. Zufelt gave an address on the "Care and Production of Milk."

This address was largely on the lines followed at some of the previous meetings, but was well discussed, numerous questions being answered.

The meeting was a most profitable one and greatly appreciated by those present.

Two songs by Mr. R. Henderson added greatly to the programme.

The hall was filled at the evening session, when a most successful meeting was held. President Telford occupied the chair and opened the meeting with a short address. This was followed by a comic song by Mr. Henderson, to which an encore number had to be given.

Mr. Zufelt followed with an address on "Dairying."

He dealt with the industry of old times, dealing with the manufacture and the markets for the products in contrast with those of to-day, drawing a splendid picture of the advances made in the output of the Canadian dairy. He said it was possible, however, to attain an even higher standard in point of quality; there was still room at the top.

A recitation by Miss Emily Deyell and a song by Mr. Henderson were enthusiastically received.

Then came an address by Mr. Annis on "Farming as an Occupation." In commencing, he spoke of the pleasure it gave him to meet such large and appreciative audiences for the past few days, and also paid a tribute to the officers of the Institute in West Peterborough, saying that it was a rare thing to find men who put their whole heart into the work. It was a pleasant thing to find everything done so well. He thanked them for the attention that had been shown.

SECOND ODD DEATH IN SAME HOUSE

Companion of Late Mrs. McDermott Found Dead in Bed Under Similar Circumstances

The Toronto Star, of last night had the following in reference to a mysterious death which occurred in that city in the same house in which Mrs. McDermott, the former Peterborough woman was found dead:—

Lying in bed, her body contorted, Mrs. Mary Duffy was found about ten o'clock this morning at her home, in the rear of 238 1-2 King street east, by her husband, Dr. St. Charles was called in, and said that death had taken place a few hours previous. The Chief Coroner was then notified.

Duffy asserts that his wife was in good health last night when she retired, but during the night had been up a couple of times. When he left he supposed she was sleeping, and thinks death must have taken place about 7.30 o'clock. She had not been drinking, he said, and also told the police that she had been suffering from asthma, but did not take medicine for it, with the exception of a small dose of liquor occasionally.

This death recalls another that took place last Thursday night at the same place, when Mrs. Annie McDermott was found dead after imbibing too freely. The place is a very small shack, and the police assert has not been kept very clean.

Naming it "spring water" doesn't make it safe to drink.

¶ Spring water, as a rule, is good pure water, and fit to drink—at the spring. But it may not be so when you get it.

¶ Many things can happen—do happen—to much spring water, long before you pour it into a glass. Some of them are things you wouldn't like to know about. Some of them are things you wouldn't like to know about.

¶ Some bottlers of spring water bring it long distances in tanks. This simply invites bacteria to come and multiply in the water. ¶ Some spring waters are stored in containers a long while before they are bottled. Then the water gets flat and insipid. ¶ Things happen in the bottling house, too, that don't do the water any kind of good. ¶ The safe way for you, and the only way for a bottler who cares about purity, cleanliness, quality, is to do the bottling where the spring flows, as we do with

York Springs Water

Wholesome — Limpid — Refreshing

We take more trouble than seems worth while to have everything just as clean as daintiness demands — we are perhaps "finicky,"— even the bottles we use are cleansed with York Springs water. ¶ Bottling at the Springs for surety of purity, and bottling under scrupulously hygienic conditions, we KNOW York Springs Water gets to you pure. ¶ If you realized half the dangers that come from drinking water that isn't surrounded with just such precautions— you would drink no water except York Springs Water. 204

BLACKSOD BAY TO HALIFAX

Strong Financiers and Shippers Supporting the Scheme—Passengers and Mails From London Could Reach Chicago in Time Best New York Steamers Take to Arrive at the Latter — 25-Knot Steamers

London, Jan. 11.—(C. A. P.)—A representative conference has been held at Ballina for the purpose of considering proposals to submit to Parliament at the forthcoming session a bill entitled the Collooney-Ballina-Belmullet Railway piers bill, for the construction of one hundred miles of railway in Sligo and Mayo, and the construction of a deep-water pier at Blacksod Bay preliminary to running a fast line of steamers to Canada. It is stated that the scheme has the support of the Linton-Clarke Co., Chapman Milne, Lord Grenfell, Vickers, Son & Maxim, Swan & Hunter and Lord Strathcona.

The approximate capital authorized by the bill is £125,000. Regarding the transatlantic service, it is estimated that a weekly service of three steamers of 24 1-2 knots would cost two and one-quarter millions. A bi-weekly service and two additional steamers would bring the cost to about four millions. Mr. John Dillon, M.P., wrote, promising to support the bill. It is stated that the building of the steamers has been decided upon, and it is anticipated that the enterprise will have the assistance of the Imperial and Canadian Governments. It was decided to forward the project in every way.

The Three Aims.

Montreal, Jan. 11.—The prominent shipping and financial men who are behind the scheme for a new fast steamship line between Canada and Great Britain aim at: (1) Giving a fast service between Halifax and Blacksod Bay (west coast of Island). (2) The establishment of ferries between the east coast of Ireland and England. (3) The construction of a railroad across Ireland. The distance between Blacksod and Halifax is 2,100 miles, and with 25-knot steamers the trip would be made in three and a half days. The distance between Blacksod and London (664 miles) would be covered in about fourteen hours, and between Halifax and Montreal in eighteen to twenty hours, so that mails could be conveyed from the postoffice in London to the postoffice in Montreal in less than five days; from London to Chicago in less than six days, and from London to the Pacific coast in nine days. With the proper steamers on the Pacific Ocean it would be possible to deliver mails in Japan in seventeen days, and to Hong Kong in about 23 days. The promoters claim, in fact, that passengers and mails can be landed in Halifax and sent on to Chicago by the time the best New York steamers reach that port. The name of the company is the Great Britain, Ireland & Canada Express Route.

Old Soul In Young Body.

Minneapolis, Jan. 11.—James Anderson, who died here yesterday, aged 11 years and two months, was, in the opinion of physicians, at least 60 years old, so far as the condition of his vitals determine the age of a man. When 6 years old his hair began to turn grey, his eyesight began to fail, and he walked with the deliberate care of a person who is advanced in years. As a child he was exceptionally bright, but his mental faculties were gradually failing for the last two years, so he was little better than a person in his dotage the last few months.

Poison In Turkey.

Kingsville, Jan. 11.—County Crown Attorney Rodd and Provincial Detective Mahony are investigating a case of wholesale poisoning of the members of a Christmas party at the home of a prominent resident of this town. It is supposed that the poison was in the turkey. There were no fatalities.

Cut His Throat.

Montreal, Jan. 11.—Matthias Wallcocks, an Englishman, employed at the C. P. R. Angus shops, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor while preparing to go to his work yesterday morning. He was 62 years of age, sober and industrious, but had been acting strangely for a few days.

WEAK HEART
SYSTEM WAS RUN DOWN

When the heart is healthy and performing its functions naturally, it should beat regularly seventy-two times a minute without causing its owner the slightest inconvenience or distress.

When it begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through unnatural action of their heart.

To all such sufferers

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

can give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. F. Hatcher, Sault Ste. Marie, West, Ont., says: "I have been troubled for four or five years with weakness, and run down system. My feet were always cold and I felt almost dead. My heart was weak and I was so nervous I could hardly walk across the street. I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using three boxes I felt much better. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes and I am now well."

TWELVE BODIES RECOVERED

Fifteen to Twenty Men Still Missing at Pittsburg and It Is Feared They Have Been Reduced to Ashes—Ten Men In Hospital—Condition of the Injured Is Pitiful — Eyes Burned Out—Amputations.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 11.—Partial investigation to ascertain the number of fatalities at the Eliza furnaces of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., Limited, Wednesday night, when an accumulation of gas exploded, bursting the base of the large furnace and showering tons of molten metal over about forty men, was completed last night, and shows that the bodies of twelve men, horribly mutilated, have been recovered and from fifteen to twenty men are missing.

It is generally believed the bodies of these were consumed by the white hot metal. Ten men are in hospitals terribly burned. Four of them are expected to die. It is doubtful whether the number of men killed will ever be known.

The condition of the injured is pitiful. A number have their eyes burned out, and others were so badly injured that amputation of limbs was necessary.

Last night Deputy-Coroner Laidley said that one foreigner, apparently a youth, became crazed by his injuries, and before he could be prevented, leaped into a pot of molten metal and was incinerated.

W. L. Jones, vice-president of the company, issued a statement last night, that it has been unable to determine what caused the explosion. A rigid investigation has been instituted, however. The damage will amount to over $50,000.

Coroner Armstrong announced yesterday that he would conduct an investigation into the accident, and if he found that carelessness was responsible prosecution would immediately follow.

Killed By Fire Damp.

Connellsville, Pa., Jan. 11.—Fire, caused by an explosion of gasoline in the mines of the H. C. Frick Coke Co. at McClure station, spread to nearby shafts. Several men overcome by fire damp will die.

Powder Plant Explodes.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Jan. 11.—The plant and buildings of the Standard Powder Co. of Pittsburg at Horrell station yesterday, were destroyed by an explosion, caused by a fire. No lives were lost. The damage will exceed $100,000. Two houses, a mile distant, were wrecked. The explosion was heard 25 miles away. Five thousand kegs of powder went up in the explosion.

HIS LEG PULLED OUT.

Horrible Death of Workman in Pulp and Paper Plant.

Chatham, N. B., Jan. 11.—John Burns, an employe of the Miramichi pulp and paper plant here, met a terrible death yesterday morning.

He was clearing away refuse accumulating near the blow pipe, when a rope attached to one of the grappling hooks he was using became entangled in the shaft and the hook was jerked into his right leg, whirling him around the shaft. As the rope was drawn into the machinery his leg was pulled out of the socket and clean away from the body.

He was alone at the time and no one saw how the accident actually occurred.

Body Strewn Along Track.

Fernie, B. C., Jan. 11.—Wm. K. Thomas, aged 34, a brakeman on the Mine Road train here, was thrown under the cars at the high line switch leading to the slack bins at the coke ovens and instantly killed Wednesday night. The fragments of his body were strewn along the track from the lower end of the switch to the bins at the top.

Killed by Flying Rock.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—While engaged in blasting in a mica mine at Kingsmere, Que., Wednesday forenoon, William Fleury, a miner, was struck in the head by a flying rock and died from the effects in a few hours. Fleury had put in the blast, ignited the fuse and was re...eating.

Painfully Burned.

Hamilton, Jan. 10.—Louis Gill, 159 Cannon street, was painfully burned on his right arm and side yesterday afternoon at the International Harvester Works. He was taken to the city hospital.

Mill Fly Wheel Breaks.

Port Credit, Jan. 11.—Wednesday morning at Craigie's saw mill, with the engine running at full speed, a large hard knot was struck. The jar threw the belts off and the engine "ran away," the fly wheel breaking. One large piece broke through the roof and the others through the sides of the building, wrecking it. John Craigie was close to the engine, but escaped with a shock, which stunned him for a few seconds. Dan Fowler, the engine driver, was also thrown to the ground by the concussion. About $600 will cover the damage.

A rich gold bearing specimen of quartz has been found nine miles to the north of Madoc.

ARE PROTECTIONISTS, SO THEY SAY

Opposition Speakers Says the Farmers of Canada Are Such.

THE TARIFF RESOLUTIONS

Some Amendments to Anti-dumping Clause — Binder Twine Excepted From Its Provisions—Applies to Goods on Free List—Remedies Proposed for Conspiracies in the Restraint of Trade.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—On the first day after recess the Finance Minister resumed consideration of the tariff resolutions, and good progress was made. Having first disposed of all the explanatory and enacting clauses of resolutions in committee, the tariff schedule was taken up, and as the first items dealt with agricultural imports, the discussion took a wide range, covering the general question whether the agricultural interests desired protection or not.

A Straight Issue.

The Opposition generally declared that the farmers were protectionists, and that the deputation which waited upon the Finance Minister and not only protested against the increase in duties, but suggested the elimination of the protective feature and strict adherence to the principle of revenue tariff, did not represent the farmers. Government supporters took issue and challenged the Opposition to quote an instance where the farmers had asked for an increase in the tariff.

The Dumping Clause.

In the afternoon the dumping clause and provisions extending the powers of the Governor in Council in regard to the application of the law against conspiracies and combinations in restraint of trade were discussed and approved of, after an amendment along the lines of which the Finance Minister had given previous intimation.

Mr. Fielding announced there must be a time when the taking of evidence must close and a verdict on the tariff be rendered. He intimated that, although every consideration had been given to the views presented by deputations in the past, he could not hold out the same hope for the future.

Before the orders of the day were proceeded with Mr. Paterson presented six petitions asking that the iron and steel bounties should be discontinued.

Mr. Hyman's Condition.

Mr. R. L. Borden inquired whether the Prime Minister had any further information as to the position of Mr. Hyman, whose informal resignation was announced by the Speaker three months ago. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that since the House separated for recess he had received no communication whatever from Mr. Hyman himself. He had, however, received a communication from someone very near to him, and was sorry to have to inform the House that Mr. Hyman's condition was very unsatisfactory. His condition was a very serious one, although not without hope, and under the circumstances the Government thought the House would allow some further delay to take place before calling upon him to make an explanation.

The assassin escaped.

Poludniowa street was closed by troops and the police began making a strict search of all the houses fronting upon it.

SHOCKS WERE SHARP.

Two Distinct Earthquakes Felt In Norway and Sweden.

Stockholm, Sweden, Jan. 11.—Two distinct and sharp shocks were felt at several points in Sweden at 1.30 yesterday morning.

Despatches received from Arvika, Mellerud and Stromstad, report that the rocking of houses at those places caused a hasty exodus of the alarmed inhabitants.

At Christiania, Norway, the disturbance caused considerable alarm, but no damage has been reported.

The shock was also felt at Yekaterinburg, Russia.

Pennsylvania Towns Shaken.

Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 11.—A series of shocks, evidently earthquakes, were felt in this section from 4.45 to 5.30 a.m. yesterday.

Buildings shook so that the families were awakened, and rumbling sounds were heard over an area of about 20 miles.

The shocks were felt in the vicinity of Baltimore, Md., but the Washington seismograph made no record of the disturbance.

Eruption In Hawaii.

Honolulu, Jan. 11.—The crater on the summit of the volcano of Mauna Loa broke out Wednesday midnight. The eruption forms a magnificent spectacle, which is visible for 100 miles at sea.

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruit of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

The Latest In Fashion's Realm; Items Of Interest To Ladies

CHIC STYLES.

Latest In Neckwear—Dainty Handkerchiefs—Opera Bag.

Deep turnover collars and cuffs of stiff embroidered linen edged with the narrowest knife plaiting of pale blue, crimson or light green and worn with a little bow of the same color are new and very becoming.

Dainty novelties shown in handkerchiefs are small squares of cambric plaided with a hair line stripe of color and edged with a narrow border of the same color.

There is a new opera bag very useful to the woman who goes to the play in the street cars. It is a small bag of gray or green suede to hold glasses and kerchief. On the outside is a little pocket for car fare or cab tips.

Nets of all kinds, silk mousselines, lace and gauzes in infinite varieties rival tulle in popularity, and a skirt of some crush gauzy silken stuff, combined with a coat or bodice of velvet, represents one of the favorite ideas of autocratic fashion. These net skirts are set into the waistband as full as possible, yard upon yard of the material being used, and they are perfectly plain save for a flat, deep band of some heavy stuff at the skirt bottom which drags the extreme fullness down into graceful folds and lines.

Cheviot trimmed with velvet makes an exceedingly handsome suit. The suit illustrated is of marine blue cheviot relieved by a bit of brightness in the vest, which is made of velvet and oriental banding. JUDIC CHOLLET.

"Micrography."

A post card of the usual size is exhibited at the Bucharest exhibition. On it are written the Bulgarian constitution in full, the opening speeches of various European Parliaments and two poems by Rudyard Kipling, 12,000 words in all. The caligraphist, Peter Pankoo of Sofia, spent nine hours a day during three months to accomplish the feat.—London Express.

Chiffon Silk Stockings.

For brides there are white silk stockings fine enough in texture and exquisite enough in design to suggest a fairy spun cobweb tipped with morning dew. The self embroidered white stockings are visions, and those of diaphanous chiffon silk embroidered in heavy white silk dots are beautiful enough to have tempted Queen Elizabeth (who, so says history, was the first woman to wear silk stockings) to forsake her vow of spinsterhood for the joy of wearing them to the nuptial altar.

THE LATE DR. LAPPONI

Death Has Removed a Distinguished Physician and a Man of Rare Courage.

In the death of Dr. Lapponi, physician to the Pope, a personage has been removed from life's scene who was scarcely less known throughout the world than the pontiffs whom he ministered unto. He was a wonderful man as well as a distinguished physician.—Ottawa Free Press.

It may be added that Dr. Lapponi was a man of rare courage. He had no fear of that bugbear known as professional etiquette. When he found something good in a medicine he did not hesitate to say so to the world. He proved this when he wrote the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., strongly endorsing their celebrated Pink Pills for Pale People as a cure for anaemia (bloodlessness) and certain nervous disorders. In the interests of the thousands who suffer from anaemia, nervous disorders and kindred troubles, it is worth while republishing Dr. Lapponi's letter, as follows:

"I certify that I have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in four cases of the simple anaemia of development. After a few weeks of treatment, the result came fully up to my expectations. For that reason I shall not fail in the future to extend the use of this laudable preparation, not only in the treatment of other morbid forms of the category of anaemia or chlorosis, but also in cases of neurasthenia and the like.

(Signed,) Dr. Giuseppe Lapponi,
Via dei Gracchi 332, Rome.

The "simple anaemia of development" referred to by Dr. Lapponi is of course that tired, languid condition of young girls whose development to womanhood is tardy, and whose health at the period of that development, is so often imperilled. His opinion of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at that time is of the highest scientific authority, and it confirms the many published cases in which anaemia and other diseases of the blood as well as nervous diseases have been cured by these pills, which, it need hardly be mentioned, owe their efficacy to their power of making new blood, and thus acting directly on the digestive and nervous system. In all cases of anaemia, decline, indigestion, and troubles due to bad blood, and all affections of the nerves, as St. Vitus' dance, paralysis and locomotor ataxia, they are commended to the public with all the greater confidence because they had the strong endorsement of the great physician who has so recently passed away.

Some Christmas Quotations.

The quotations given below may be of some value to those who like to accompany a Christmas gift with an appropriate sentiment: With a calendar, "Write it on your heart that every day is the best day of the year;" with a book, "An old friend to trust;" with a pair of slippers, "We must go together;" with a pair of gloved, "We're a pair if ever there was one."

Stoles and pelerines this year are longer than ever and are very picturesque in their lines.

Of the simpler hair ornaments nothing is prettier than the white pearl daisies when tucked into coils of dark hair. These may be worn either directly in front of the coiffure, at one side or between the front and side. They are of white gauze wired so the petals stay in place, and to this material the imitation pearl beads are attached.

Brown furs of all kinds are unusually fashionable this winter, whether sable, mink, brown marten or even caracal or dyed squirrel. There are few colors with which brown furs are not exquisite. Red is one of the shades that are most beautifully brought out by brown furs. Brown marten is often preferred to mink, as the long hair is softer and more apt to be becoming.

Faille silk is one of the old favorites that have been revived, but has come back to us in the new chiffon effect that makes it doubly attractive. The illustration shows a princess gown made in faille gray silk. A panel of lace extends from the square neck to the hem of the gown.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Headgear For the Small Girl—Ways of Using Velvet Ribbon.

Little girls are privileged characters as far as their head coverings are concerned. They may wear caps like their brothers or simplified models of the hats of their elder sisters. Most of them affect the Scotch cap in its gayest colors, quills and ornaments as school headgear.

Instead of forming entire hats of fur many attractive models are seen of velvet, red, green, black, etc., with animals draped about the brim. The soft velvet crowns give a touch of becoming color. Flowers and feathers, too, are smart trimmings for the fur toque or turban.

Lacings of velvet are much used for holding panels, sleeves, cape and jacket fronts.

Flannel and flannelette nightdresses are no longer the plain unsightly robes they once were. They are trimmed with heavy lace insertion and soft ribbons, although fussiness is out of place on this heavier fabric and should be preserved for lawns and batistes.

No petticoat since petticoats began has been more serviceable than the Jersey topped skirt, without vent, fitting closely over the hips and finished with deep silk flounces that give an admirable foot flare. The elastic waistband slips on over the head and needs no string, hook or fastening.

Coquettish little boleros are made by taking black velvet ribbon of a two inch width or wider and using it in alternate stripes with black lace insertion of the same width. These brief and cobwebby coatees lend quite an air of elegance to a plain gown.

The simple shapely breakfast jacket in the cut is designed for cold mornings. The material is elderdown flannel trimmed with plain colored silk. The jacket is worn over a skirt of white serge. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Ancient Coffins.

The coffins of the ancient Egyptians were made of marble and stone. The Romans used similar receptacles for their dead, and Alexander the Great is said to have been buried in a coffin of solid gold. In parts of England glass coffins have been found. The Athenian heroes were buried in coffins made of cedar, owing to its aromatic and incorruptible qualities, while the first record of wooden coffins in England dates back to the days of King Arthur. This monarch was supposed to have been buried in the hollowed trunk of a gigantic oak tree. Patent coffins were invented in 1796, and metallic air tight coffins were advertised at Birmingham in 1841.

WHAT TO WEAR.

To Keep Up With Fashion's Procession You Must Be Much Betrimmed.

If you are to be in the fashion this winter you must be trimmed—much trimmed as to gowns, hats and even fur coats, no matter if your tastes are Quakerish and your income on the wrong side of nothing.

There is no getting away from the fact that the plaited skirt is the fashionable one for this season, no matter what the material.

Great wide wall-of-troy trimmings have returned to favor and are made of velvet, cloth or gathered silk or satin ribbon. A stunning black and white checked gown just over from Paris has a double skirt with each plaited flounce trimmed with a wall-of-troy design done in black velvet.

One has to get used to the eccentric shapes of the hats this season. When they are first tried on, one is seized with a feeling that they will wear a mantilla of lace over their heads rather than one of these freaky things. They are an acquired taste. Try on seven, and the last one does the trick.

NET EVENING BODICE.

Comparatively few of the velvet suits are trimmed with anything but lace or braid or buttons. Nothing else seems to set them off in a way at once effective and perfectly in keeping with the character of the material. Many of them have no trimming at all, the rich beauty of the velvet being sufficiently attractive.

The evening bodice pictured is of spotted net. The low round neck has a fall of lace headed with insertion. The baby bloused fullness is shirred just above the waist line on cords and trimmed with a lace ruffle. The sleeves have a jabot effect down the center of the short puff. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MODISH CONCEITS.

Caracal Is Flavor—Beware of Too Popular Colors.

Caracal is, fashionably speaking, the fur of the season. This does not mean that it is valued above such high class furs as sable, chinchilla, etc., by the smart woman, but merely that there is always a craze for some fur of comparatively reasonable price and that this winter caracal is the fur.

Very popular shades rarely last more than one season, and it is wise for the woman of moderate means to select what will not be a marked color after another year.

Sleeves are to be rather small, though they are elaborately trimmed.

PRINCESS FROCK—5361.

On short coats they are generally of seven-eighths length, but street coats have long sleeves.

For party and evening dresses for girls from ten to fifteen the favorite material is challis, nun's veiling, cashmere or some of the pretty and inexpensive silks which are now considered perfectly good style for young girls' and even children's wear. Indeed, mothers are apt to be embarrassed more by the quantity of fabrics than their lack.

The guimpe effect that is so popular for grownups is also to be found in the frocks of little girls. Here is an exceedingly attractive little dress that includes the yoke and deep cuffs that give the desired suggestion. In the illustration the gown is of red veiling trimmed with red velvet and yoke and cuffs of simple all over lace.

Can Consumption be Cured?

There is plenty of indisputable evidence to prove that Consumption has been cured even after the symptoms were well defined and the lungs actually involved.

On the other hand, there has always been a point beyond which the disease has been considered incurable. Until a comparatively recent date this point had a place at a very early stage of the malady, but modern scientific discovery and common-sense methods of treatment have gradually moved the hopeless point further and further back, until now the Consumptive is not "given up" until the very last stage of the disease is reached.

Nothing in recent years has done so much to improve the chances of Consumptives as the advent of

FERROL

In fact, it is claimed that, with plenty of fresh air, sunlight and comfortable surroundings, FERROL has pushed the hopeless point to the limit, that is to say, where these fail the chances of cure are very slim indeed.

FERROL does not kill the germs of Consumption (anything that will do that will kill the patient), but FERROL does the work by repairing the waste tissue, enriching the blood, toning the nerves, in short, by building up the whole system and thus enabling nature to expel the disease.

The only possible chance of curing Consumption is by proper nutrition, and FERROL is the only perfect nutrient, because it combines in palatable and easily digested form the very essentials of life—Oil, Iron and Phosphorus.

We feel some diffidence in claiming that FERROL will cure Consumption, lest we be misunderstood, but we have not the slightest hesitation in stating that it is an infallible cure for BRONCHITIS, CHRONIC COUGHS, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, SCROFULA and all wasting diseases.

For restoring lost weight and building up the run-down system FERROL is absolutely without an equal.

ENNISMORE TURNED OUT WELL TO MEETING

One of the Most Successful in Series of Meetings Under the Auspices of the West Peterboro' Farmers' Institute

SOME INTERESTING ADDRESSES READ

The Farmers' Institute meeting at Ennismore on Tuesday afternoon, January 8th, was one of the most successful of the series. The attendance was about 45, and President Telford occupied the chair. Mr. Zufelt was the first speaker and he pointed out the advantages that would accrue to any of the farmers' sons who would go to the agricultural college at Guelph and take the free short course in the different lines of agriculture, such as seed grains, stock grading in all its different lines; also the breeding and feeding of horses, cattle, beef and dairy, sheep, hogs and poultry. These, he said, would be of untold benefit to any young man at a very light cost as all they would have to pay was their board and railway fare. He then spoke on dairying, taking up first the grading up of the herd. Next the care of milk, tainted, or containing dirt, impurities or foreign matter. He went on to warn them to be sure and cool and strain the milk thoroughly. A good discussion was carried on for a time, those in the audience asking questions and the speaker answering them in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. Flood, the cheesemaker in Ennismore, was called on to give an address and he gave a retrospect of the work of the factory of which he is in charge showing the extent of improvements since he took hold of the factory.

Evening Meeting

At the evening meeting the attendance was over three hundred and fifty. After the address of the chairman, S. Killen, Esq., reeve, Mr. Telford gave an address on clover. He spoke of the importance of growing clover, the more the better, and if you can grow it you can grow any other crop. He gave the proper way to handle it, viz., cutting and saving it, and also gave some instruction as to growing clover seed and how to avoid the ravages of the clover midge, showing its habits and how to detect its presence and the best way to destroy it.

An address by Mr. Zufelt, "Growth and Development of the Dairy Industry," came next. In a few introductory remarks, the speaker referred to the pleasure at gave him to meet such a large audience in such a splendid hall. He could not but congratulate them on the auspicious circumstances under which they met.

He commenced by giving an account of the way that this industry had progressed from the old system of butter and cheese making of 40 years ago, contrasting them with those of to-day. He went on to describe the difficulty of selling the products made by the old methods until to-day, as during the past season, we had exported about $20,000,000 worth of cheese and $7,000,000 of butter.

He also spoke of the place that our butter and cheese had taken at the world's fair at Chicago. Next a resume was made of the work done by the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations in the past, and what they were about to undertake to give the best results from the product of the dairy cow, in the way of getting better milk, better factories, with modern equipment, so that the cheesemaker can give the very best results in the shape of first class cheese which will keep that we have attained on the British market. It is possible to yet obtain still a higher plane than we have at present. The farmer is the man who is most directly interested in keeping up our reputation, as an inferior lot of cheese would act very disastrously on our reputation.

The farmer must furnish good clean milk if he expects us to retain our hold on the market. Lastly he spoke of the troubles that the cheesemaker had to contend with in the shape of tainted or greasy milk, and described the duties and powers of the instructors and inspectors, who were being appointed to make a sanitary inspection of the whole line of the industry, from the producer to the consumer.

Mr. John Flood, the next speaker began by describing a vat of milk—good vs. bad—showing the difference and the process of handling. He also described all the different stages and methods necessary, to go through in the manufacture of the cheese from the good milk. Then he humourously gave a description of handling the bad milk, caused by carelessness or of cows drinking dirty water. He showed the trouble involved in making. When the good and bad milk are mixed, it is utterly impossible to get good results. He said it was a pleasure to say that sixty out of seventy of the patrons of his factory sent in a first-class product. This was a splendid and instructive address, and showed that the speaker was thoroughly posted on the subject he dealt with.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick spoke of the pleasure it gave him to listen to the able addresses and also spoke regarding the improvement of agricultural conditions. He gave his opinion on the necessity of having text books in the schools, teaching agriculture, and also compared the life of the contented farmer, as compared with that of the busy man in the city, advising the former to stick to their farming and to become specialists in their line, not to be a politician, but to mind their own particular business. He gave a very practical talk, full of sound advice, showing that he takes a lively interest in the prosperity of his parishioners.

It was moved by Mr. Collins, seconded by Mr. Telford, that a vote of thanks be tendered to the ladies and gentlemen, who had furnished such a splendid entertainment, also to the chairman.—Carried.

G. T. R. DINING CAR SERVICE

The general passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System are in receipt of a letter from a Chicago gentleman who travelled over the Grand Trunk recently, and who speaks in eulogistic terms of the service he found on the train, especially the dining car service. He says:—"It was after about one hundred and twenty people had been served that I could secure a table for myself and a friend in the dining car. Our supper was as good a one as I have ever had on a railway. Our table was so situated that I could make a close observation of the general service and we were surprised at what we saw. Dishes like sliced tomatoes, ice cream and other delicacies which so much depend upon the way in which they are served, were certainly never put on a table in a more dainty manner. The service was prompt, and everyone connected with it pleasant and agreeable, and I wish to congratulate you on the satisfactory way in which you take care of your patrons."

Since he has been locked up he had been tolerably quiet, until yesterday, when he became a raving maniac. Force had to be resorted to in order to dress him to-day, after which he became unconscious and had to be carried on a stretcher to the C. P. R. station, from where he was taken on the afternoon train by Constable Graham to Mimico.

Mr. Upton has a son in Toronto and a daughter in Ottawa. His wife is living in Havelock.

ORIGIN OF SURNAMES IN HISTORY

In Europe Husbands Frequently Adopt the Wife's Name—John and William Popular Names

In most countries it is customary for the wife to take her husband's name, but in some European countries it is not unusual for the husband to append the wife's name, particularly when it is more honourable than his own. Hyphenated names and the wife's retention of her maiden-name for a middle name are customs growing in favour in the United States and Great Britain.

Among the earliest names introduced into Britain by the Norman Conquest are Seri, Drew, Bryce, Harvey, Arnold, ("ern" — eagle), Albred, (now known as Albert and Allbright), Almeric, Ingelram, Ebrardus, (Everad,) Warin, "Guerinn," now "Warren," Ivo, Hamon, (Hammond), and Puyn, (originally Pagan.) After their adoption as surnames the most of these became obsolete as personal names.

The most popular personal names since the Doomesday Book recorded them, have been John and William, but their derivatives are too numerous to mention here. Robert, Roger and Richard took a double nickname in H and D; hence Hodge and Dodge, Hobbs and Dobbs, Hick and Dicks, with the rougher forms of the last — Higgs and Digge, and even Hitch, giving rise to Dickens, Hitchcock and Higginson.

Diminutive and other affixes served an important part in the origin of surnames from personal names. The Anglo-Saxon kin and cock and ing are represented in Jenkins, little John Hutchcock, little Richard, and Browning, little Brown, the Norman "ot" and "et," in Eliot, "little Elias," and Emmet, "little Emma" (sometimes "lot" and "let," Hamlet, "little Hamon") the French "on" and "en" in Marion and Dickens.

Many prefixes were used. The Celtic Mac, or M of the Scotch; Me of the Irish; Map, Ap, Ap or P of the Welsh; and the Norman Fitz (Latin filis,) signifying son or son of, and the Irish O, grandson of.

A fair knowledge of English nomenclature gives a fair knowledge of English history, so closely are the two interwoven.

SOME REMINISCENES OF RICE LAKE REGIONS

Unrecorded Incidents of the Winter Seasons in the Forgotten Past

SUBJECT INTRODUCED BY MR. MOORE

"Rice Lake in Winter" was the subject of some very interesting reminiscences overheard by an Examiner scribe while on his rounds in the city the other day. The conversation was introduced by Mr. Archie Moore, the popular director of ceremonies, who is so much in demand throughout the county by managers of dancing parties, etc.

Mr. Moore had been down at Harwood the night before and had just returned that morning through a severe storm. He was describing the wind which was blowing at the rate of 166 miles a minute or more, and the difficulty he and his companion experienced in getting their breaths in such a wild gale as that which blew across the lake. The ice was as smooth as glass, he said, and it was with difficulty that the horse could find its way.

Another of the trio who listened to Mr. Moore's vivid description of the furious storm, then told of how he had crossed Rice Lake a number of years ago with a horse and cutter when the ice lay broken behind him.

"Every step the horse took," said he, "the caulks of the shoes went through, causing the water to squirt upwards; but we went across so fast that we didn't have time to sink." His reason for venturing on such honeycombed ice was the fact that a house was on fire on the other shore and he had gone over by night to warn the unsuspecting family.

"Speaking of Rice Lake," interjected the third person, "I once lived near the shore, and one day I went out on the ice, smoother than that pane of glass, to cut a hole to find the thickness. A friend was with me, but we stood some rods apart. He asked me to toss him over the axe, and I did so."

At this point the speaker rose from his chair to impress the story before his hearers. "That axe," said he, "just went a mile and a half before the other fellow got hold of it—and he didn't bless me, neither."

The listeners with one accord dispersed, and the relator of the tale was left alone.

THE DOMINION BANK HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Annual Statement Published This Week Shows a Gratifying State of Affairs

The Toronto World of yesterday, said: The annual statement of the Dominion Bank, which was published yesterday, is another tribute to the continued successful management of this institution, and likewise a running commentary on the prosperity of things Canadian during the year 1906. For the year ending December 31, 1906, the bank showed earnings on its capital of practically 18 per cent., against 16.35 per cent. earned during the previous twelve months. Out of the profits, four quarterly dividends of 3 per cent., or 12 per cent. for the year, have been paid to the shareholders. With the balance brought forward the previous year, (249,487.97), together with the net profits, $534,460.30 after the payment of dividends, it has been found possible to transfer $90,000 to rest account, which now stands at $3,900,000, with the capital stock $3,000,000, and to leave a balance to the credit of profit and loss account of $28,788.33. The deposits with the Dominion Bank are now $36,876,156.47, an increase of $2,800,000 during the year, placing this institution third on the list of Canadian banks in the matter of public deposits. The total assets of the bank are $49,094,870, an increase of $5,000,000 for the year. Of the assets $16,000,000 are quickly available, $9,000,000 being in cash, or its equivalent. The statement is highly commendable from any point of view and will no doubt be so regarded by the shareholders.

ANNIVERSARIES IN METHODIST CHURCHES

Two Prominent Preachers will be in the City to Preach Special Sermons To-morrow

To-morrow special anniversary services will be held in two Methodist churches in the city. In the George treet Methodist church, Rev. Dr. Briggs will preach special sermons in connection with the anniversary of the church, and in the Charlotte street church the speaker in connection with the Educational Anniversary Services which will be held, will be Rev. Both of these gentlemen are well known in Methodist circles in the Dominion, and their reputations as preachers are of the best. No doubt the services in both churches will be well attended.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK
Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide
Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Mont., bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 5th, '06 and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles on his scalp were not dead and in twenty days he had hair all over his head. On July 2, he writes, "and to-day my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle, and with a new discovery, "destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once, and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Mac-Dermid & Jary, Special Agents.

Carpet Designer Brought His Third Wife To Peterborough

Williams' First Wife Tells the Story in Letters of His Matrimonal Adventures on Both Sides of the Atlantic

TWO FROM THE OLD COUNTRY

Lived in Peterborough for Six Weeks with Woman who Passed as His Third Wife—Was Too Hot for Him Here

John Williams, a designing designer, who was employed at the Brinton Carpet Works for about six weeks during the latter part of 1906, was, according to the testimony of his first wife, a much-married man, and the story of his matrimonial ventures, as told by her, reads like a story which would do Bertha M. Clay credit.

Had Three Wives

It appears, from letters which have been received in the city during the last few weeks by the gentleman with whom Williams boarded during his six weeks' stay in Peterborough, that he has lived, altogether, with no less than three different women during the last few years, each of whom he represented to be his wife. The letters, two of which are published below, were written by his first wife, who lives in Thompsonville, Conn., and if what she says is true, and the letters seem to bear the stamp of genuineness, he has not proved himself a very faithful husband to her.

His Second Wife

The writer of the letters and Williams, were married in the Old Country, and afterwards came to the United States, and, it appears, during one of his subsequent visits to Scotland, Williams induced the second woman to come to the States with him as his wife. A picture accompanying this article, reproduced from a photograph sent by Mrs. Williams, shows him and the woman whom he represented to be his second wife. The other picture represents, and is said to be a very good likeness of, the woman who was with him here, and who was believed to be his wife. Williams is an expert carpet designer, and had a good position with the Brinton Carpet Company here, earning, it is said, about $30 a week. The persons at whose house he was staying in Peterborough, first became suspicious by seeing a letter written by him, and addressed to a Mrs. John Williams, of Thompsonville, Conn. Later on they received the letters from her, and their suspicions were confirmed. In the meantime, however, Williams, with the woman, had left the city, and they were unable to give the writer of the inquiring letters any definite information as to his present whereabouts.

Letters Tell Story

The story of Williams' much-married state is told very fully in the letters which are published below, with the name of the recipient left blank, for the very good reason that the family with whom Williams and his alleged wife stayed while they were in Peterborough do not wish to be brought into prominance in connection with the affair.

The letters will prove interesting reading, and are as follows:

Box 1,067 Post Office,
Thompsonville,
Conn., U.S.A.

Sir.———

Dear Sir,—I wrote you in reference to my husband and also sent a letter for him to your address, which was forwarded to me by Mr. Percy Freen, of the Brinton Carpet Factory in your town. I have had no reply and I should esteem it a favour if you will give me a line per return and say if you got my letter and also if Mr. Williams received his, and if you can, give me any information regarding him. He had been in the States five years and was held in high esteem by his masters, he was in receipt of $40 per week and held a responsible position here. Myself and his family came here from Scotland in May of this year and he arranged to take a holiday and spend it with his friends in England. He sailed from New York on June 23rd, and from inquiries I find he was met at the boat in Glasgow by a Scotch woman at whose house he spent his holiday and sailed to Canada in company with her at the end of July. He took all our savings from the bank, and has not contributed anything to the maintenance of myself or children since he went away. His doings has caused great sorrow in his home, as we were all looking forward with pleasure to his return, when he had promised

WILLIAMS AND ANNIE HILL, WHO POSED AS HIS SECOND WIFE

MANY NEW SCHOLARS SINCE THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS, CROWD THE ROOMS IN CITY'S CENTRAL SCHOOL

Peterborough schools have never been as crowded as they are at the present time. Since the schools opened after the Christmas holidays the rooms have had to accomodate a considerable increased number of pupils, a great many more than usual having commenced after Christmas. The result has been that there has been a general shift in the arrangement of the rooms, and classes, and in some rooms, the number of scholars has been very materially increased. In one room, which before the holidays contained 43 pupils, there are nearly double that number since the school reopened, and it is stated that in other rooms similar conditions prevail.

It appears that in the central portions of the city the school population is increasing at a more rapid rate than the accomodations, the result being that the schools are becoming more and more crowded all the time.

The problem of how to accomodate all the children who want to attend school is one which is becoming increasingly serious, and it is stated that even with the completion of the new south ward school the situation, so far as the Central School, which has been referred to particularly in this recital of conditions, is one which will require the best thought of the Board of Education.

Colder Weather Promised Soon

A regular old-time winter snow storm was rushed in upon us last night while we slept, and this morning, when those who begin work at 7 o'clock, came to go out of doors, they found several inches of snow on the walks and still more falling. The result is that sleighing has been improved considerably.

The prospects are that the weather will stiffen up and become colder to-night, and that to-morrow will see a return to the lower temperature of a few days ago.

Dairymen Endorse Project To Hold Annual Show And Consider The City's Proposal

At Closing Session of Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association in Ottawa—Mr. G. A. Gillespie Was Elected a Director

JOHN DARGAVEL ELECTED PRESIDENT

At Ottawa yesterday Mr. G. A. Gillespie was elected to the directorate of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, as the nominee of the Peterborough District. A despatch from Ottawa refers to the closing session as follows:—

A brisk little controversy marked the closing session of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association in St. Patrick's hall to-day. A small element of cheese men protested against compulsory factory inspection. An overwhelming majority took an opposite view and after some discussion passed a resolution calling upon the Ontario Government to approve a system providing for a complete system of inspection. Other business included election of directors. The new board met this afternoon and chose Mr. John R. Dargavel, M.P.P., of South Leeds, president.

The Nominating Committee's report on the directors was adopted unanimously.

Those chosen are John H Singleton, Smith's Falls; Neil Fraser, Vankleek Hill; Edward Kidd, North Gower; J D McPhail, Russell; John McGregor, Alexandria; Angus Grant, Moose Creek; C F Whittaker, North Williamsburg; Levi Patton, Brockville; O W Carson, Charlieville; John R. Dargavel, Elgin; D Derbyshire, Brockville, (for life); T A Thompson, Almonte; William Guthrie, Perth Road; Robert Metzler, Odessa; James Whitton, Wellman's Corners; P S Curlow, Wicksworth; G A Gillespie, Peterborough; Henry Glendenning, Manilla; G G Publow, Kingston. Honourary director for Eastern Ontario, D H Young, Melville; Morden Bird, Stirling, auditor.

A resolution was passed in favour of holding a national dairy show. Peterborough and Guelph have offered accommodation for the enterprise and Western Ontario dairymen have placed themselves on record in favour of the scheme. If the show is carried out it will consist of a display of dairy products, cows and equipment for the manufacture of cheese and butter.

FLOWER OF BRITISH MAIDENS FOR CANADA

Mr. Pipe of the C.P.R., in devoting his attention at the present time chiefly to farm labourers and domestic servants. He says he finds that there is no difficulty in attracting the best of English and Scottish maidens to Canada, provided their passages and railway fares are paid, and good wages are promised. The Western farmers are anxious to get girls of the right type on these condidions. These girls at home get about five shillings a week, and they need every penny of it for their clothing, and other perquisites of their station in life. That is why it is is necessary to have their passages paid. In the West they can get $15 a month, and the demands upon them are less exacting.—Montreal despatch.

All the meetings have been well attended, and the object in view when they were arranged has been fully met.

Why Do Men Over 25 Years Not Enter Into Matrimony?

A Question for Which an Answer is Sought—Men of Marriagable Age With Good Prospects Still Remain Single—Why Is It?—Some Correspondents Tell From Their Standpoint Why They Do Not Marry

The despatch in The Examiner last night from Lookport, in which the question was asked as to why men over 25 did not marry, has evidently aroused some interest in the question, locally. To-day The Examiner received the following letters on the subject, and it seems to be one of sufficient interest to open the columns of this paper to its consideration. The Examiner, therefore, invites its readers to give their views on this question, which is a live one.

There can be no disputing the fact that men do not marry as early in life as they did in former years, and there must be some reason for it.

Is it because they have lost the home instinct, or is it explained by any possible attitude which the young ladies of marriagable age might take on the question?

When a man reaches the age of 25 it is generally considered that he has reached a sufficient stage of maturity to enter the matrimonial state, yet right in this city of Peterborough how many men over that age are there who have, apparently, no intentions along that line?

They are drawing good salaries, have good prospects for the future, and in spite of this they are showing little inclination to take upon themselves what many regard as a responsibility which no man should shirk?

Can anyone give the reason?

Will the young men of the city, who have reached 25 years of age and are yet unmarried, tell the anxious public the reason?

Is it because they are unwilling themselves, or is it due to an unwillingness on the part of the fair sex to trust themselves to the care of the men?

Perhaps the ladies themselves can throw some light on what is, apparently, to some persons, at least, a mystery.

Men who have married since they reached the age of 25 can probably give their reasons for remaining single as long as they did, and, further, can tell what influenced them to make the break.

By a strange coincidence last night at the last meeting in connection with the week of prayer in the Mark street Methodist church, one of the speakers, Rev. Canon Davidson, referred to a phase of this particular question, though he had not seen the article which was the inspiration for the letters published to-day. Mr. Davidson was speaking of the home, and took the position that the claims of the home were being, to a large extent sacrificed for society and street life, and that many young men did not appreciate their responsibility in this matter. He expressed his hearty accord with President Roosevelt in his views on the question of the home, and as to the responsibi-

WANTS THE CITY TO BUY THE ARMOURIES FOR A NEW MARKET BUILDING

A Suggestion That the Discarded Building Could be Utilized for This Purpose if Removed to River Front

FOR THE DAIRY SHOW AS WELL

Yesterday's announcement to the effect that the tenders were being called for the erection of the new armouries, and that in all probability work would be commenced on their construction in the near future has apparently pleased those who are interested in seeing the city provided with a modern and well-equipped armouries, and who now see a chance of their hopes in this respect being realised.

A suggestion with respect to the disposal of the present armoury has been made to the Examiner, and it is one which will, no doubt be taken into consideration by the City Council. A gentleman who has many interests in the city suggested that the city council would be doing well to buy the present building, move it to a site suggested on the river bank, at the foot of Charlotte street, and use it as a market building.

He was also of the opinion that this proposal would solve the problem of providing a building in which to hold the proposed Dairy Show, in case Peterborough was selected as the place in which to hold it, if the scheme is approved of by the Ontario Government. He believed that this building, if it were moved as suggested would make a very serviceable market building, and that it could also be adapted to the other purpose with little difficulty.

He pointed out that unless the city took some such steps, the Government would, in all probability, direct that the building be taken down, and the material sold. In this event the city would derive no benefit from it whatever. Whereas, if his suggestion were carried out, the city could, he thought, be able to secure it at a reasonable cost, and, incidentally its acquisition might enable Peterborough to secure the Dairy Show, which will, if the expectations are realized, mean considerable for Peterborough.

This will not, however, be the first time he members of this congregation will have heard Mr. Webb, since he was one of the best speakers at the recent convention held here, and the congregation fell in love with him at that time.

THAT PROPOSED NEW BRIDGE AGAIN

The proposal to erect a new bridge across the Otonabee River appears to be meeting with general favour throughout the townships of Otonabee and South Monaghan. A reporter was speaking to a number of Otonabee farmers to-day who referred to the article which appeared in the columns of the Examiner a week ago. The suggestion they considered was an excellent one which had been in their minds almost every time they drove to the city.

If the proposition goes through they would quite willingly put down their names for substantial subscriptions.

QUARTER OF BEEF WAS MUCH SHORT IN WEIGHT

Are Householders Getting What They Pay For at the Market?

This morning at the market an incident occurred, which should open the eyes of the person or persons whose business it is to see that the weights of the various commodities offered for sale are what the dispensers state them to be. A gentleman appeared at the market with a quantity of beef for sale. He had each quarter weighed at home before coming to the city, but decided to have it duplicated at the market. One quarter weighed exactly 28 lbs. less on the market scales than at his home.

It is understood that there have been many mistakes made of this nature, and of course it must be attributed to the inefficiency of the home scales, as the honesty of the farmers can scarcely be doubted.

THE ARBITRARY MAJORITY

The temperance people throughout the province are naturally disappointed over the result of the local option contests at the late municipal elections and have some severe opinions to express of the Whitney Government whose legislation is responsible for the three-fifths handicap represented by the requirement of a sixty per cent. vote to make local option operative. It appears from returns from 72 of the 111 municipalities where local option was voted upon that only 22 municipalities have been successful in reaching the three-fifths vote necessary to carry a local option bylaw. As a matter of fact in forty-eight of the seventy-two municipalities majorities, more or less substantial, but nevertheless ineffective, were cast in favour of the measure. Without pronouncing upon the wisdom or unwisdom of a provision looking to a sufficient majority to insure the probability of effective enforcement, it may not be amiss to recall that the late Ross Government, was subjected to bitter and, even, venemous, criticism because, in the Referendum vote it provided for a certain majority as indicative of popular bona fides, in order to bring a prohibitory measure into satisfactory operation. On this ground some, and not a few, excellent temperance people felt it their political duty to defeat the Ross Government and substitute the Whitney Government, which declared an entire absence of sympathy with prohibitory appliances as a means of promoting temperance reform. The temperance people made their choice deliberately and they should philosophically as possible abide by the result, or take the proper action to remedy their mistake. Leaping from the frying pan into the fire may be a lively but it is certainly not a profitable form of exercise. The wisdom, or unwisdom of trying to mix political sentiment and temperance sentiment, may easily form a profitable subject for contemplation. Recent local events, however, show that the leaven of the old idea of advancing political or rather partizan interests at the expense of temperance is still silently working in some quarters.

NEED OF RAILWAYS

At the last Dominion election the Opposition declared a second transcontinental railway an extravagant superfluity, and assailed the idea very vigorously. That they did not know what they were talking about, there was a very shrewd idea at the time, and subsequent events have tended to emphasize the pessimistic attitude of these little Canadians. An article in the Canadian Courier, shows how urgent is the need of railway lines in the Northwest in connection with the progress of settlement and development of the marvellous fertility of the region. The article says:—

A year ago the settlement ran 40 miles south-west of Saskatoon. To-day homesteads are located and are being improved 160 miles from that throbbing young city, which has already come to regard itself seriously, as the centre of the earth. Here between Hanley and Lacombe Battleford and Swift Current, lies a little empire of itself, isolated and utterly empty of railways. Into this vast valley-country, two hundred miles wide and three hundred miles long, (60,000 square miles, or nearly 40 million acres,) eighty per cent. of which is open arable land, hundreds of Americans have gone to buy land in the past twelve months and thousands to settle and build homes. The land is fair and fertile and that is all the born pioneer asks. He knows the railway will come, and it is coming. The Canadian Pacific is cutting the little empire bias from Moose Jaw to Lacombe. The Canadian Northern are already surveying south of their main line, while the Grand Trunk Pacific, leaving the main line west of Saskatoon, will go to Calgary almost as the bird flies. Three years from to day this vast region that was empty three years ago, will be served by at least three competing railways and will hold the homes of hundreds of thousands of settlers.

This region is only a type of the conditions in numerous other areas, calling with clamorous voice for railways to assist in the work of home-making and empire-building. Not one railway but three railways and scores of branches are called for. The statesman looks ahead; the mere politician bends his eyes upon the little obstacles which seem to be at his feet. The poet sang "Come bright improvement on the car of time," but we have changed all that; the car of time is too slow. Canadian "improvement" must come on the car running on a railway line, hauled by engines panting with the steam of energy and enterprise.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The name of a Manitoba town, "Snowflake," is chilling enough, but it becomes positively frigid when to the name is added the fact that the town has neither coal nor wood. We in happy Ontario, can hardly appreciate such conditions.

The railway mileage of Canada is increasing at the rate of nearly one thousand miles per year. Last year the increase over the previous year was 917 miles, and next year the increase will be much greater. There are 25,603 miles of railways and sidings in Canada.

The natural centre of gravity is shifting westwards. In more senses than one, too. The population increase is greatest in the west, and, naturally, the representation centre of gravity follows it. A bill introduced into the Commons by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, provides for the addition of seven members for the new provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Important light upon the rapid advance in civilization in the United States is furnished by the fact that in old Kentucky, the judge, who is to conduct a murder trial, appeals for troops to protect him; no jury can be found to accept the dual responsibility of bringing in a verdict and dodging the rifles of the friends of the murderer, and the lawyers on both sides have been warned to "be careful."

A few figures selected from returns presented to Parliament, shows how rapidly the west is growing. On account of Dominion lands, the the total receipts for the last decade, from 1896 to 1906, were $13,139,941, as compared with $2,343,835, for the previous ten years, from 1886 to 1896. This must be accepted as the strongest possible indication of the substantial and rapid development in the settlement of western lands, which has been going on during the past few years. There were 41,869 homestead entries made, representing 105,420 souls, as against 30,819 for the year previous. Of these homestead entries 13,188, were made by persons from the United States. Last year's immigration was the largest in Canada's history, 189,004 arrivals being recorded, an increase of 42,798 over the previous year.

to bring presents for each of his children and also myself. I trust you will excuse my writing you at such length, but you will understand how necessary it is that I get into communication with him and I shall esteem it a great favour if you will give me what information you can concerning him, and if he has left you, if so, where did he intend to go, or if he is still in Peterborough awaiting a reply at your earliest convenience, I am,

yours truly,
MRS. SELINA WILLIAMS.

Box 1067 Postoffice.

Mr. ———

Dear Sir,—I beg to thank you for your reply to my inquiry for my husband. I regret that he has taken a downward step and brought sorrow to his home through his doings. From inquiries I have learned that he has led a double life for eight years previous to his friendship with this woman, photograph enclosed. She was a mill worker here, in the department of which he was manager. She was imported here from Scotland and her fare paid, and this in against the rules of the country, and the authorities caused her, with several others) to be sent out of the country for one year, when they can return, providing they pay their own fare, and are not engaged for work previous to their coming. We came here from Stirling, Scotland, in May of this year, as Mr. Williams wrote that the children would get better chances for their future. He had been in the United States five years and had lived with a woman whom he had co-habited with in Scotland previous to his coming to the United States. I had known of this, but thought that his coming to the States would end it, and I forgot him for the sake of my children, but I find he paid her expenses to New York and furnished a home, and are lived with him as Mrs. Williams until the autumn of last year, when she returned to Glasgow, but from inquiries at the postoffice I find that he was sent money regularly until he went away. He had signed a form at the postoffice, previous to his going away, for all letters addressed to him to be sent to the Edinburgh postoffice, Scotland. But as he sent the last money in another man's name and had arranged that his letters were to be sent to this man's box, I got her reply, and from the contents there is not a doubt as to his relations with her, and that he was sending money to keep her and her child, of which it is said, he is the father. I have four children and they were well connected in Scotland. My son, 18, had served three years in a solicitor's office, and my daughter, 19, was manageress at a bookstore; the younger boy, 15, left school, and is now working here in the designing room at the factory, and the older boy is in the shipping office, but my daughter has made such a grief of her father's doings that her health has broken, and it will be a while before she will be able to go to any business. I find that he took all our savings out of the bank here and left accounts unpaid, and he and the woman already created a scandal, to hide their guilt, that I had given birth to a child since I came, and that he had divorced me. We arrived here on the 13th of May and I sailed for Glasgow on the 23rd of June, and my first letter from him was on the 26th of August, when he wrote from a Mrs. Quakenbush, 120 Shuter street, Toronto, saying that he had not gone to Canada for a bad purpose but to try and better his position, and that he had not succeeded, and would I see his master here, and apologise for his long absence, and see if he could get his work back and asking if I would forgive him? His place was filled up and he was refused work here; and as I had caused inquiries to be made in Scotland, I had news to hand from the police as to his doings with this woman. She met him at the boat in Glasgow, and he gave her an engagement ring, saying he was divorced, and they stayed at her mother's house until the end of July when they sailed for Canada. I wrote him on the subject, and he replied and dared me to say such of him, as she and him were as innocent as the babe unborn. I located him through the police at 12 Shuter street, Toronto, where he introduced her as his intended wife. He wrote me from there that he was out of work, and was going a long way up the country where there was no post office, and I was not to write until I heard from him again. I located him later working at Brintons, Peterborough. I wrote Mr. Percy Preen, who told me that he had discharged him, and that if I would write to him and address it to the firm he would cause the letter to be handed to him. This I did and it was duly handed to him, but he did not reply. I wrote to him again, and addressed care of you, and I got a reply after a week, saying he was in Toronto, out of work, and had not a cent. He said that he had the promise of a situation in Toronto in a fortnight, but he did not know what he was going to do. He said the letter was forwarded to him from Peterborough, and that he had been in Toronto for a week looking for work, and that he had only done three weeks work since he left us in June. When he went from here he took 800 or 900 dollars with him, and wrote a list of the presents he was going to bring back, especially to my youngest child a little girl of 7, who was looking forward to getting a big doll. Even now she will watch the trains which pass our house looking for her papa with her doll. I cannot fully explain matters to you, but there are circumstances connected with my case very painful to me and my children; his doings have altered our circumstances in many ways. We cannot think to live with him again even if he should wish it, but I hope to make everything clear before I write the police at Guelph. I am enclosing a photograph, and will esteem it a favour if you will say if this is the woman who lived as his wife in your house. The other with himself is the woman he lived with in New York as her husband. I have had great trouble in getting these photographs, and I would ask you to please return them, as they will be useful to me for proof. I do not intend to go to law as I have not the means, but I want to be sure of everything as I intend writing the woman. You will please excuse my writing you at such length but I want you to understand that we are respectable people and not deserving of such treatment. Please give me an answer at your earliest convenience and oblige,

yours truly,
MRS. SELINA WILLIAMS

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Jan. 12.—The market has ruled very strong to-day with St. Paul, the Harriman stocks and Reading making the largest gains and excellent support in the Penna. group generally. Among the industrials, Coal Products still attract attention while the Copper and Steels are firm at advanced figures. The room element is still disposed to fight the advance and while a further rally may be brought about by an attempt of this interest, we do not believe the market will advance much more before it suffers marked reaction.

London is bearish for the moment and we cannot look for much support from abroad at least until the Penna. announcement is given reasonable explanation. St. Paul continued as the leader of the market in the second hour although So. Pac. was very strong. The shortage in St. Paul was much greater than had been generally supposed and has been made to suffer severely.

The bank statement was considered very good with a large increase in the reserve and a small reduction of loans. The close was strong.

LOAN COMPANY REBATES.

Manitoba Underwriters Want System Done Away With.

Winnipeg, Jan. 12.—A deputation consisting of Capt. Carruthers, W. R. Allan and W. J. Christie, representing the board of underwriters, waited on Hon. J. H. Agnew, Provincial Treasurer, yesterday morning, to see if some relief could not be secured in the matter of rebates exacted by loan companies operating in the province on insurances they require in connection with loans.

At present insurance companies have to make rebates to the loan companies, and underwriters want the system done away with in the province.

Lava Crossing Snow Fields.

New York, Jan. 12.—A cable despatch from Honolulu says in the eruption of Mokuaweoweo, or main crater of the Mauna Loa volcano, on the Island of Hawaii, there are scores of fire fountains. Streams of lava are crossing the snow fields. There have been 30 slight earthquake shocks.

Brantford Trades and Labour Council is considering a proposition of publishing a labour paper, to be issued each month.

A GIGANTIC PROBLEM.

Chinese Famine Is Appalling and Distress and Acute Suffering Prevails.

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—Capt. Kirton, the foreign relief commissioner on the famine camp at Tsingkiangtu, describes the refuge camp consisting of mat sheds arranged in rectangular group in street formation two miles long and a mile wide

In other camps in the vicinity of Tsingkiangtu, of nearly a half million refugees, 20 per cent. show signs of distress, and among 10 per cent. the suffering is acute. The roads are thronged with rice peddlers. Women tear up the roots of grass for food, and also are cooking leaves and twigs.

The efforts of the officials are confined to attempts to persuade the people to return to their homes. Some of them comply, but more arrive than depart. One hundred thousand men are absolutely idle.

Though it would not be difficult to organize relief works, none has yet been started. If the inaction continues there will be a gigantic problem to face. The end cannot be foreseen. The worst pinch has not yet been felt.

In False Position.

London, Jan. 12.—(C.A.P.)—Goldwin Smith, writing to The Manchester Guardian, says the Newfoundland quarrel with the British Government is one of a series, all arising from a continuance of a false relation between the mother country and her adult offspring. Indifference or carelessness with regard to these matters cannot with any show of justice be imputed to the British Government.

Not Open to the Public.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The Railway Commission has passed an order providing that the reports of any person or persons appointed by the board to enquire into railway accidents or casualties are privileged and not open to the public.

Fatigue From Poisons In Systen

AND GOOD HEALTH CAN ONLY RETURN WHEN THE BLOOD FILTERS, THE LIVER AND KIDNEYS, ARE SET RIGHT BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Tired, languid feelings are the result of the accumulation of waste products in the system. On the failure of the liver and kidneys to remove these impurities the blood becomes filled with poisonous substances which instead of aiding the functions tend to arrest them and give rise to pains in the limbs, backaches, headaches and tired, worn-out feelings.

There remains to be discovered a more prompt and effective means of enlivening and invigorating the action of the liver and kidneys than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In fact this medicine is unique in its combined influence on the liver and kidneys and to this double action is attributed its extraordinary success in the cure of complicated diseases of these filtering organs.

Biliousness, headaches, indigestion, kidney disease and constipation are promptly and thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the whole system is cleansed of the foul impurities which result in disease and suffering.

Mr. John Guheen, who is in the fish business in Port Hope, Ont., states: "In my business I do a great deal of driving over bad roads, and the constant jar of the rig, along with exposure to all sorts of weather, brought on kidney disease. I was in miserable health, and suffered a great deal with sharp pains in my back. I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. Before I had used all of the first box I felt better, and three boxes have entirely cured me. I am very glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, for I have proven their wonderful control over kidney disease."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where ordinary kidney medicines fail, because of their direct and combined action on the liver and kidneys. This has been proven in thousands of cases of serious and complicated diseases of the kidneys.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Butter and Eggs At The Same Price, Plenty of Fresh Pork and Beef at Usual Prices—Fair Crowd

There were no special features about the Saturday market to-day. It was fairly well attended in spite of the inclemency of the weather. There was plenty of fresh meat offered pork selling at 10 and 11 and beef at 5 and 6. There was a fairly plentiful supply of potatoes and apples although the outside market was not a very large one. The farmers have still fowl for sale, turkeys, geese and chickens being rather plentiful. A number of loads of wood were also for sale the prices ranging according to the quality.

CARPET DESIGNER BROUGHT HIS THIRD WIFE TO CANADA

ity of the young men of to-day.

The situation, he said, was unfortunately, not improving any, and the young men of the Protestant denominations, particularly, were not marrying, as their duty as citizens would seem to dictate.

Reference was also made to the Church in its relation to the home, and it was pointed out that the church was particular that its interests should not conflict with those of the home.

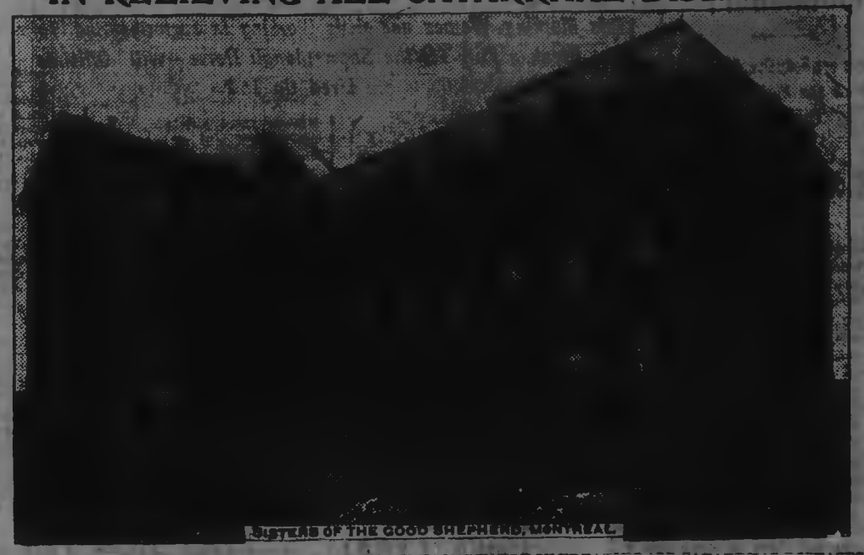
To-day The Examiner publishes some letters on what promises to be an interesting subject, and further correspondence is invited.

Send in your letters and make them short and to the point. The question for which an answer is sought is this: "Why do men over 25 years of age not marry?"

PROMINENT HOSPITALS SAY

PE-RU-NA DOES WONDERS

IN RELIEVING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.



SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, MONTREAL.

HOSPITALS ALL OVER THE CONTINENT FIND PE-RU-NA VALUABLE IN TREATING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

CATARRH of the respiratory organs is a common ailment in Canada for at least two-thirds of the year.

This condition is no doubt caused by the long, severe winters experienced in this part of the continent.

Therefore, when Peruna was discovered by Canadian people to be a reliable remedy for these catarrhal diseases, it at once became a popular medicine, not only among individuals and in families, but in the great hospitals, where it was used as a preventative and relief in hundreds of cases.

These institutions do not hesitate to give their endorsement of the remedy which has been so helpful in the treatment of their poor and sick.

Among these institutions is that of the Sisters of Good Shepherd, who gave the following endorsement:

The Peruna Company,
Columbus, Ohio.

Having used Peruna for the past few months, for our sick and poor, we are happy to say that it has given us great satisfaction.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd,
August 20, 1903. Montreal.

After a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

Montreal, Nov. 7, 1903.
We found Peruna a relief in several cases.
We can say it is a good tonic and we are very thankful.
Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

When catarrh once fastens itself upon the system, it becomes an obstinate disease to eradicate.

A systemic remedy—one that reaches every internal organ of the body—is an absolute necessity.

Peruna is just such a remedy. It searches out the cause of the disease, healing and strengthening the mucous membranes, and thus giving Nature an opportunity to perform her part of the restorative process.

One of the many hospitals which have found Peruna of value in treating old and obstinate cases of catarrh is the Hospital St. John, who write, as follows:

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it, one 60 years old, Renoul Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years.

"A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear.

"As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic.

"Before the treatment I could not walk for a quarter of an hour without experiencing much fatigue. Now I can walk a mile easily.

"Through these three cases we desire to make known to the public the efficiency of your remedy."

Hospital St. John, of St. Johns, Province of Quebec.

A later letter received from the same institution reads as follows:

"Three weeks ago I wrote to tell you how satisfactory we found Peruna. We recommend it highly for colds, coughs, catarrh and neuralgia.

"I have used it myself as a tonic with the best results, taken as directed, half a teaspoonful every half hour."

Peruna not only promptly relieves coughs and colds in their first stages, but is equally prompt and efficient for catarrhal diseases in the chronic stage.

Of course, it is only reasonable to suppose that a great deal less medicine will be necessary to cure a slight attack of catarrh than would be required to relieve the ailment after it had been allowed to become chronic.

Directions for taking the remedy will be found on each bottle, also in Dr. Hartman's book, called "The Ills of Life," which can be obtained from your druggist for the asking.

For special instructions write to Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

SELFISHNESS THE CAUSE OF DISINCLINATION TO MARRY, SAYS SOMEONE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

I noticed a little article in last evening's issue of your paper which set me a-thinking, viz: Why young men over 25 years of age have not married. The reason cannot be that there are not enough girls. It is surely not because the young men are not earning sufficiently high wages. I believe one reason is that many men earning good wages have saved none of it. They spend it as they earn it and thus believe it an impossibility to provide for a wife. There is a marked tendency for young ladies to enter upon business professions entirely neglecting a home training and thus when married would have to have a housemaid to do the work. This seems to me to be a great evil. I do not blame the women, if they are in the wrong it has been done unintentionally. I believe that if married they would fall in to the right groove the same as our own mothers did. The Canadian women are the best women on the face of the globe to-day and the primary reason for the state of affairs mentioned above is selfishness on the part of the men. They should take the advice of one of our Aldermen who, in a splendid speech Wednesday night admonished the young men to "get busy" and become married and be of some service to mankind.

Yours, etc.,
PRO VIRGINE.

WOULD LIKE TO MARRY BUT DOES NOT BECAUSE HE LACKS THE NERVE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Like many of your readers I was greatly struck by a little paragraph in the Examiner last night, which stated that the secretary of the Lockport Y.M.C.A. was seeking to discover why so many young men over twenty-five years did not marry. It seems to me that if other young men are like me the answer is easy. All that keeps me from entering double harness is sheer lack of nerve. I would get married to-morrow if I could muster up courage to pop the question to the lady of my choice. So far my efforts in that line have been doomed to failure. Many a time and oft have I rehearsed burning love speeches, all trace of which disappeared when I stood in the presence of my divinity. My only hope is that my lady fair will lose her patience and propose herself some day.

Yours, etc.,
ONE WHO WOULD LIKE TO BE MARRIED.

GROWS STRONGER AS THE YEARS ADVANCE

Thirty-Fifth Financial Statement of Confederation Life Association

Two facts are prominent in the thirty-fifth financial statement of the Confederation Life Association, which will be presented at the annual meeting of the Association to be held on February 12th. The amount of the new insurance written in Canada, as well as the total new insurance written, exceeds that of any previous year, and the ratio of expenses to premium income and to total income are less than 1905. The new insurance written during the year was $6,067,879, an increase over 1905 of $65,757, while the insurance in force is $45,119,516, a gain in the year of $2,619,166. Premiums for the year totalled $1,521,297.59, while disbursements to policy holders were $795,151.60, the death claims amounting to $359,781. The net ledger assets at the close of the year stood at $11,313,887.23, an increase on the previous year of $902,230.80.

The company has had, in fact, a really good and successful year's business, and has more than maintained its high position and its well-known integrity in dealing with its policyholders.

We notice that nearly $800,000 has been paid during the year to the company's policyholders, and that the surplus above all liabilities amounts to $838,060 odd.

In every way the statement is a credit to this excellent company, which is to be complimented on the clearness with which the figures are displayed and the attractive style in which the statement is put out.

Mr. H. Rush, the local cashier, for the Confederation in this district, reports the business, under his personal supervision, of the most assuring character—the various agencies doing excellent work. The local offices are conveniently situated in the Bradburn Block, corner of George and Simcoe streets. Mr. Rush informs us that he is desirous of securing an efficient general agent to assist in the district work.

The Medicine Hat district shipped in 1906, 1521 head of horses, 13,596 cattle, 4,171 sheep and 234,500 pounds of wool.

ALD. ELLIOTT TO BE BOARD OF WORKS CHAIRMAN?

Slatemakers are Busy Over the Chairmanship of the Various Council Committees

TWO NEW COMMITTEES ARE PROPOSED

The inaugural meeting of the City Council will be held on Mond ay Monday morning, and the slate makers are busy over the chairmanships of the various committees.

This is a very important matter, as a great deal depends upon the men who are at the head of the committees. If effective work is to be done the very best men should be in charge, and city hall gossip makes the slate as given below.

The Board of Works Committee, is the busiest body in connection with the council. The spending of the most of the money rests with them, and there is always a new problem turning up for them to deal with. The name most frequently heard in connection with this committee is Ald. G. E. Elliott, and it is possible that the chairmanship will go to him. Ald. Elliott was a member of the committee last year, and did good work, and he is looked upon with favour.

Board of Works—Ald. Elliott.
Manufacturers—Ald. Morrow.
Fire, Water and Light.—Ald. John-
Finance and Reception — Ald. Bradburn or Ald. Stevenson.

It is said that if there are only four council committees the chairmanships may be distributed as named above.

There is however an agitation to establish two new committees this year, making six in all. One of these is the Property and Health Committee, and it seems probable that if this committee is formed, the chairmanship will be given to Ald. McIntyre or Ald. Duncan. Another proposed committee is the Legal and Printing, the aldermen mentioned in this connection being Ald. Tovey and Duncan.

The various chairmen and committees will be struck on Monday, and the result will be watched with interest.

"We have kept Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house as a family medicine for years and find them the most satisfactory of any remedy we can get. "Pedestrian" Complains of the Non-Fulfilment of Contract Of Snow Plough Contractors

This Morning Women and Girls Working In Factories Had To Break a Path for the Snow-plough Horse—Will Officials See That Contracts are Lived Up To?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Judging from present experience the snow ploughing contracts are to be a repitition of previous years or a bare faced swindle of public money.

The snowplough men think office hours all right and will continue to think so as long as supine surest inspectors permit them.

This morning women, girls and men had to turn out to work and incidentally beat a Path for the snowplough horse. Can you inform us on the following points:—

1st—Have we a City Engineer?
2nd—Is he responsible for enforcement of contracts?
3rd—Have we a street inspector?
4th—Has he any authority?
5th—Have the two of them together backbone enough to enforce a contract.
6th—Is there any prospect that the new council will attend to necessary details and not spend their surplus energy like trying.

Surely the ordinary citizen has been sufficiently imposed on by lax officials violated contracts, bad streets and crossings.

We have a right to demand enforcement of contract. In a storm like that of this morning the ploughs ought to run continuously from 6 a. m. and not have the mass of toilers wading through snow that they are taxed to have removed.

It is time the council woke up. Let them wake the officials up and perhaps by spring the snowplough men will wake up and come in and draw their pay.

Yours truly,
PEDESTRIAN.

COOKING CLASSES ARE FORMED AT Y.W.C.A.

Miss Bawden will Have Charge of Instruction in Domestic Science

Under the instruction of Miss Bawden, the Domestic Science Instructor at the Y.W.C.A., classes in cooking will be formed at the Association building next week. On Monday afternoon at 4.15 children's classes will be formed, and the charge for ten lessons in this section has been fixed at $1.50. On Tuesday evening at 7.30 classes in plain cooking will be formed, and the charge for eight lessons will be $1.50 for members and $2 for non-members, and in advanced cooking the charge will be $2 for members, and $2.50 for non-members.

It has also been decided to form housekeepers' classes, and a meeting for this purpose will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. It is considered probable that the ladies of the city will appreciate the opportunity thus given them, and that large classes will be formed.

PERCY GOT A JOB AND WENT ON A LITTLE TOOT

Was Once More Arrested in Spite of Warning From the Magistrate to Get Out of the City

The cat came back, and so did Percy Stubbs. Told by Magistrate Dumble yestrday to get out of town, because he had been drunk, he appeared in the prisoner's box again this morning. He met a farmer yesterday and procured work, about 16 miles from the city, but as his employer was not going home until to-day, Percy, very sorely against his will, had to remain also. However, he drowned in liquor his sorrow at not being able to comply with the Magistrate's wishes, and, as a result, was found by the police on the streets, in an intoxicated condition.

Mr. Dumble allowed him to go, seeing that he had procured work, saying, "You are too valuable a man to be kept in jail."

"That's right, sir," Percy replied; "I understands my business, and am a very good hand at farm."

PLENTY OF "BAIT" IN TOWNSHIP OF SMITH

Correspondent Refers to Ministerial Association's Endorsation of Enforcement of License Law

To the Editor of the Examiner:

I don't want to get mixed up in the license enforcement matter, or run counter to the autocratic dictum of the Ministerial Association which declared in effect that "Joe Stewart" has eyes in the back of his head, and that he enforces the license laws to the letter.

But as one that knocks about a bit, and has eyes at least in the front of his head, I should like to ask if the Ministerial Association means to say that the law against the sale of strong drink was enforced in certain parts of the township of Smith last summer when I did a little fishing—without the necessity of taking any "bait" with me. As to the observance of the law in town, I am certain of this much that if a man had the money and the thirst he could get full in Peterborough any Saturday night or Sunday he might select and Inspector Stewart would be none the wiser unless the man was an Indian and brought somebody into the police court for assault. If the members of the Ministerial Association are not sounder in their doctrine and pulpit declarations than they are in their license enforcement opinions then their congregations must be lost in a theologically fog and travelling around in circles.

THE "MIKADO" AGAIN PLEASED BIG AUDIENCE

Work of Amateurs as Further Demonstrated Last Night Was Appreciated in Opera House

The "Mikado," presented by amateur performers, has had a most creditable run. Last night it was splendidly given to a large and appreciative audience. A feature of the performance reflects great credit upon those concerned. At the interval between the first and second acts, Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot addressed the audience, heartily complimenting the performers. He had witnessed many amateur performances but had never witnessed one put on with such general excellance as the Mikado on the present occasion Mr. R. J. Devey, the director, in acknowledging Mr. Eardley-Wilmot's tribute of recognition, was received with very hearty applause. He returned thanks on behalf of the performers, and was delighted that the public was pleased. The idea of the Mikado under amateur presentation, originated with St. John's Y.P.A., but the other musical people of the city so kindly co-operated that the Mikado became the expression of the musical co-operation and enterprise of the musical citizens generally. Both entertainments were successful, both in point of attendance and presentation. Everybody was astonished at the excellence of the histrionic and musical ability displayed, with much of the solo work, and especially with the splendid performance of the chorus. The costumes and stage settings were true to the requirements of the opera. Altogether it was a tribute to local talent. Mr. Harry Pearson, of the opera house staff, had charge of the stage settings and electrical effects, which contributed so largely to the pleasing success the "Mikado" achieved.

THE TEACHERS STUDIED THE CHILD NATURE

At First Meeting of the Teachers' Training Class Held Last Night

The Union Teachers' Training Class, under the auspices of the City Sunday School Association, held its first meeting in the Y.M.C.A. hall last night. The subject of study was "Child Nature," from Chapter I. of Adams' "Primer on Teaching." Inspector Walker was leader and handled the subject in a manner at once interesting and instructive.

The second meeting will be held on Friday next, when Chapter XVIII. on "Ideas and Their Relations," will be taken up by R. Lees, M.A., President of the association.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE VILLAGE PARSON

The many lights and shades that are constantly occurring in human life will be truthfully reproduced in the production of "The Village Parson," which comes to the Grand opera house, Thursday next, January 17. This play has been meeting with great success in all cities where presented and the numerous favourable comments that have been heaped upon it have been most flattering, to say the least. With a decidedly brilliant caste and new and complete mounting "The Village Parson" compares with any of the better class of melodramatic presentations of the current season.

SHOO-FLY REGIMENT

Cole and Johnston, the well known comedians, with their strong company of fifty people, is expected at the Grand soon in their new musical comedy, "The Shoo-Fly Regiment."

PITTSBURG ORCHESTRA

Arrangements are under way to have the famous Pittsburg Orchestra visit Peterborough. However before anything definite is arrived at, there must be some assurance that the entertainment will be patronized by Peterborough people much better than similar musical events in the past.

The Pittsburg Orchestra, which for the last six years, has made an annual visit to Canada, is one of the greatest permanent orchestras which the wealth and culture of the new world has established. This orchestra is a pride to the city it makes its home, and under the guidance of their matchless conductor, Mr. Emil Paur, the orchestra, has gained in refinement tone, unity of action and beauty of shading every season, and is recognized to-day by the critics as one of the finest musi-organisations in America. Our city has been included in their tour if the necessary support is guaranteed.

INAUGURAL MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL

The inaugural meeting of the City Council will be held Monday morning at 11 o'clock, when the Mayor and Council will make the necessary declaration of office. Mayor-elect McWilliams will outline his policy for the year. The only business to be taken up will be the striking of the standing committees for the year.

A GOOD ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED

An Interesting and Much Enjoyed Evening Spent at Parlour Social at Residence of Mr. George Curtis

A most enjoyable evening was spent last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Curtis, Warsaw Road, on the occasion of the parlour social, held there, under the auspices of the Sunnyside Branch, of the W. A., of St. Luke's church. All the available space was occupied, about one hundred and fifty people being in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis did everything in their power to further the evening's enjoyment, and to them much credit is due for the great success achieved. Mrs. Charles Curtis, the president, was, unfortunately, on account of illness, prevented from being present, which was a matter of regret to all. Miss May Curtis presided over the candy table, and her wares were in such demand that long before the close of the entertainment she had disposed of everything salable. Mrs. Curtis was ably supported by Mrs. John Michels, Mrs. H. Mackey, Mrs. George Curtis, jr., Mrs. Sedgwick, sr., Mrs. Dredge and a number of young ladies.

The tables were arranged in the spacious dining room, which was tastefully decorated with bunting and Christmas bells. The good things were temptingly arranged on them, and the menu was of a high order.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt acted as chairman, and in his opening address complimented the ladies of Sunnyside upon the great success of the evening. He said that the attendance was beyond expectation, and thanked all for their hearty co-operation. A very fine programme was then presented, consisting of the following numbers:—

Instrumental, Miss Edwards.
Vocal solo, Miss Bertha Curtis.
Recitation, Miss Alma Curtis.
Vocal solo, Miss Ruth Dawson.
Recitation, Miss Katie Leary.
Recitation, Miss Sadie Gamble.
Instrumental, Miss Katie Leary.
Vocal solo, Miss Bertha Curtis.
Recitation, Miss Adabelle Curtis.
Recitation, Master Bruce Hamilton.
Instrumental, Miss Katie Leary.
Recitation, Miss Bessie Powell.
Vocal solo, Miss Ruth Dawson.
Recitation, Master Bruce Hamilton.

Mrs. Graham, Miss Edwards and Mr. J. L. Armstrong acted as accompanists.

The various parts were given in a very creditable style and were appreciated by the audience, as was shown by the hearty applause and calls for encores. The programme being ended, the refreshments were served in the dining room. Everyone was highly pleased with the social, and expressed the wish that the Sunnyside Auxiliary would again provide such a happy entertainment in the near future.

A PETERBOROUGH BOY'S PROGRESS

Mr. Chester B. Laing Now Construction Engineer for Dominion Case Company of Glace Bay

His many friends in this city will be glad to learn of the success of another Peterborough boy in the person of Mr. Chester B. Laing, son of Mr. Robert Laing, Water street. He is now construction engineer of the Dominion Coal Company of Glace Bay, Cape Breton, and the position is a very responsible one, as this company is the largest of its kind in Canada, and one of the largest in the world. When the fact is considered that Mr. Laing has charge of 20 draftsmen and about 250 construction carpenters, bricklayers, machinists, etc., and is responsible for the expenditure of $750,000 annually, it will be seen that his position is a very important and responsible one.

WEDDING BELLS

PERKINS--CLARKE

A pretty wedding, in which the bride was a former Peterborough lady, was celebrated on Wednesday last in Port Hope. The principals were Miss Emma Olive Clarke, daughter of the late P. Clarke, and Mr. Wm. Perkins, of London, England. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Flood, of Yeovil street, in the presence of about thirty guests. Mrs. Jno. Holmes, of North Monaghan, assisted the bride who was attired in a beautiful white silk costume covered with net, and wore the bridal veil and white flowers. The groomsman was Mr. Wm. McDermott, cousin of the bride. A large number of beautiful presents, many of which went from Peterborough, testified to the esteem in which the happy couple are held.

After dinner Mr. and Mrs. Perkins left for Niagara Falls and other points west, and on their return will reside in Port Hope.

Those present from Peterborough were Mrs. John Holmes and Mr. S. J. Newhall.

WEYER--MAJEAU

The Rochester Post-Express of Thursday had the following:—

"Miss Agnes Majeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Majeau, of 9 Waverly place, was married to James Weyer of Peterborough, yesterday morning at Immaculate Conception church, by Rev. A. M. O'Neil. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Brabant, and the groomsman was Harry Majeau. The gift of the groom to the bridesmaid was a pearl set scarf pin and the bride gavve her a crescent brooch set with pearls. The couple left yesterday for Toronto, where they will spend their honeymoon and then go on to Peterborough, where their home has been prepared."

Mr. Weyer is a son of Mr. William Weyer, 24 Weller street, city, and is well known and very popular here. He is a member of the choir of St. Peter's cathedral, and that body made him the presentation of a very handsome clock, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. and Mrs. Weyer arrived in the city this morning, and will reside on Weller street.

The price of hogs will be unchanged during the next week from that of the past few days. With a raise of from $6.00 to $6.50 per cwt within a week's time the farmers have certainty no reason to feel downcast. Dressed hogs at the market to-day were selling at $8.50 per cwt.

SLATTERY BROS. HAVE GOOD THRESHING SEASON

The Slattery Bros. of Otonabee just completed yesterday a remarkable season's threshing. Their mill was in operation for 116 days during the season in Otonabee. It was run by a traction engine which means that no small amount of grain has been shelled out in that township this season. A record four hours' work done by these well known threshers was over 600 bushels of oats. They finished the season at their home yesterday.

THESE DARK DAYS

CAUSE US TO REALIZE ANY DEFECT OF VISION OR EYESTRAIN

Many people think that an examination can only be made on bright days. This is not so, as we use a dark room and artificial light exclusively in our examinations. So we can give equally good results on dark, dreary days, as on bright, sunshiny days.

ANOTHER TIDAL WAVE HORROR NOW

Dutch East India Islands Swept and Devastated.

GREAT LOSS IS REPORTED

Official Despatch Says 300 Persons Perished on Island of Tana, While 40 Others Are Known to Have Been Drowned at the Island of Simalu—Score Killed in Celluloid Explosion in Germany.

The Hague, Jan. 12.—A tidal wave has devastated some of the Dutch East Indian Islands south of Achin. The loss is great.

According to a brief official despatch, three hundred persons perished on the Island of Tana, while forty others are known to have been drowned at the Island of Simalu.

Terrible Celluloid Explosion.

Strassburg, Germany, Jan. 12.—Twenty persons were killed yesterday by the explosion of a vat of boiling celluloid in a bookbindery at Gaisbolsheim owned by an English firm, Houdart & Co.

The flaming liquid was thrown over rooms where many men and women were at work and caused such instantaneous ignition of everything with which it came in contact that all the exits were cut off.

Some of those who escaped from the burning rooms were terribly scalded.

Drowned In the Feeder.

St. Catharines, Jan. 12.—The 10-year-old son of Henry Williams, colored, of Marshville, was drowned by breaking through the ice on the canal feeder. The lad's young sister and his father who went in after him were both saved with difficulty.

Killed By Limb of Tree.

Stratford, Jan. 12.—John Carr, aged 54, while pruning trees, was struck on the temple by a falling limb, rendered unconscious and died yesterday. A wife and four children survive.

Boy Loses His Hand.

Belleville, Jan. 12.—A 12-year-old Tyendinaga boy named Merrill Wright will go through life with only one hand. His father had just left a straw-cutter, which he was operating, and told Merrill to keep away from it. He didn't.

Burned to Death.

Belleville, Jan. 12.—A hermit named Ephraim Rodger, who had for years lived by himself near Moria Lake, was burned to death last Sunday night in his hut.

NOT FOR RELIGIOUS WAR.

His Holiness the Pope Comforts French Catholics In An Encyclical.

Rome, Jan. 12.—The Osservatore Romano yesterday published the text of an important encyclical addressed by the Pope to the French Catholics.

In this document the Pontiff said that his chief object in addressing the faithful in France was to comfort them in their sufferings, which he felt deeply. There was, however, great consolation in the fact that the Catholics of France were united.

The French Government's declaration of war was not only against the Christian faith, but against all spiritual ideas.

The French Catholics must be prepared for all sorts of trials, but they were certain of final victory. This meant the maintenance of their union with the Holy See, which was of the greatest importance, as shown by the efforts of the enemies of the church to dissolve the union.

Contrary to the statements made on the subject, the church did not desire a religious war, involving violent persecutions, as she did not desire to see her children suffering.

Premier Scott to Go South.

Regina, Sask., Jan. 12.—As soon as the condition of Premier Scott permits he will leave for a southern point, where he will spend some months. It is unlikely that he will be able to take any active part in political affairs during the forthcoming sitting of the Legislature.

DAIRYMEN OF THE EAST.

New Officers Are Elected—Mr. Derbyshire Is Honored—Superintendent Putnam on Inspection.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The Eastern Ontario Dairymen's convention closed Thursday after a three days' session. The eyes of the dairymen will turn now to the Western Association, which meets at London next week.

The principal outcome of the meetings has been the new work outlined by Supt. Putnam for the better instruction of cheese and buttermakers, and for the better regulation of sanitary conditions. The total appropriation for the work is $42,700, and it is proposed to charge each factory $12 towards this work. The report also recommended that a fine be imposed on any factory owner or manager who knowingly allows milk from tainted sources to enter his factory.

G. H. Ecklin, sanitary inspector of Eastern Ontario, said that more attention would be paid next year to the condition of farmers' premises and wells.

Tobacco In the Dairy.

Prof. Dean of the O.A.C. laid great stress on the necessity of being absolutely clean around the dairy. Our dairy products are becoming of increasing importance, and their utility as food was being recognized more than ever. In this connection, he denounced the use of tobacco by dairymen as being a dirty habit and as destroying the sense of taste so as to impair the judgment of the maker and seller. A. W. MacLaren, M.P. for North Perth, agreed with Prof. Dean that the time for cheap dairy products had passed. He expressed himself as heartily in accord with the movement to bring the western and eastern associations closer together.

Mr. Dargavel, President.

In the election of officers, John R. Dargavel, M.P.P. for Leeds, was elected president; R. G. Murphy of Ottawa was re-elected secretary. The retiring president, D. Derbyshire of Brockville, was presented with a gold-headed cane, and elected honorary president for life. The following is the newly-elected board of directors:

John H. Singleton, Smith's Falls; Nail Fraser, Vankleek Hill; Edward Kidd, North Gower; J. D. McPhail, Russell; John McGregor, Alexandria; Angus Grant, Moose Creek; C. F. Whittaker, North Williamsburg; Levi Patton, Brockville; C. W. Carson, Charlesville; John R. Dargavel, Elgin; D. Derbyshire, Brockville; T. A. Thompson, Almonte; Wm. Guthrie, Perth road; Robert Metzler, Odessa; James Whitton, Wellman's Corners; T. B. Carlow, Warkworth; G. A. Gillespie, Peterboro'; Henry Glendenning, Manilla; G. G. Publow, Kingston; hon. director for Eastern Ontario, D. H. Young, Prince Edward; Morden Bird, Stirling, auditor.

TO SEND FARMERS OVER.

The Minister of the Interior to Try the Plan to Interest Farm Laborers and Others In Ontario.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The Minister of the Interior has decided to send a number of Ontario farmers over to the old country to interest the agriculturists there in Canada. Ontario especially is in want of farm laborers, and it is thought the propaganda determined on will result in meeting the demand to a large extent.

Among those chosen for the work are Messrs. George Alyesworth, Baker of Woodstock, and Brewster of the eastern townships. They will sail from St. John, N.B., will be employed about two or three months, and will be paid $100 a month and expenses.

A similar experiment in the case of western Canada was tried some few years ago with magnificent results, the missionaries from Manitoba and the Territories arousing the keenest interest everywhere they went.

PAVLOFF'S ASSASSIN.

Executed With Cheers for "the Revolution"—Not Yet Identified.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 12.—The assassin of Lieut.-Gen. Pavloff, the military procurator of St. Petersburg, was executed early yesterday at Lisynos, near Cronstadt.

He refused to take the sacrament and died unidentified and with a cheer for "the revolution" on his lips.

The head of the assassin was removed and preserved at the headquarters of the political police for possible identification later.

A Bomb Exploded.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 12.—There was a mysterious bomb explosion yesterday morning at Vassily Island, in the courtyard of a house in Little Prospect street, a part of the district of St. Petersburg, where many English families reside. Though the bomb was most powerful, tearing a hole three feet deep in the ground and driving splinter a foot into the walls of adjoining houses, no one was injured.

The Penalty.

Moscow, Jan. 12.—Epifanoff, who attempted to assassinate the master of the household of the Grand Duchess Elizabeth recently, was executed yesterday.

Terrorist Round-Up.

Warsaw, Jan. 12.—Nearly 100 terrorists were arrested in this city Thursday by the police, who also seized many rifles and revolvers. Five terrorists were tried by drumhead court-martial and condemned to death.

WAS COMMITTED FOR HIS TRIAL

Jos. Gurofsky Charged With Shooting With Intent to Kill.

MAGISTRATE REFUSES BAIL

Two Witnesses Say They Saw Prisoner Shoot at Tivani Twice After He Fell to First Shot — Magistrate Says Case More Serious Than He First Thought — Prisoner Released on $10,000 Bail.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—The clan Gurofsky got set back several blocks yesterday in the Police Court, when the case of Joseph Gurofsky, charged with wounding Dominic Tivani Thanksgiving day was called. Gurofsky asked for a remand on the ground that he had no counsel. "You should have had," was Magistrate Denison's retort. Then Gurofsky explained he was a bank manager, but it didn't save him.

Tivani is still in St. Michael's Hospital, but told about Louis Gurofsky running up the street after him with a revolver in his hand. He took the revolver from Louis and put it in his pocket. Then came Joe flourishing another revolver. Joe shot him in the hip. There was a crowd of Hebrews around. He was afraid for his life and jumped through a plate glass door.

Two other witnesses said they saw Joe shoot Tivani, and when he fell fire at him twice when he was down.

"This is much more serious than I thought," said the magistrate. "I will change this charge to shooting with intent to kill, and commit you for trial."

"What about bail?" asked Gurofsky.

"I will not grant bail, the high court can do as it pleases."

"I am a bank manager and a business man and can give $40,000 bail," declared Gurofsky.

"I don't care how rich you are, you cannot get bail in this court."

Gurofsky was taken across the building to the sheriff's office and detained until 4 o'clock when he was removed to the jail.

At 4.30 H. H. Dewart made an application for bail to Justice Britton, who granted it in the same amount ($10,000) and same sureties as before. Gurofsky was liberated later on.

THE GIRL FORGERS.

Gertrude and Maggie Harris Tried by Magistrate—Gertrude, Alias Grace Cameron Goes to the Mercer.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—Gertie Harris, alias Grace Cameron, six months in the Mercer.

Maggie Harris, alias Ruth Wilson, remanded until Wednesday.

This is the disposition of the two girls from the country, who became more or less famous through the passing of forged cheques, and in other ways. The court room was crowded.

The girls had no counsel, and when asked whether she would be tried by the magistrate or a jury Gertie said she did not know. "Whichever is the best way, but I want to get it over at once," she said, and pleaded guilty to having forged and passed cheques on W. H. Knowlton, Dr. F. E. Doolittle, Dr. F. Winnett, John Pettigrew and C. W. Coxwell for $15 each.

Maggie is supposed to have been mixed up in the Coxwell and Pettigrew cheques, but claims she did not know what she was doing, as Gertie gave her the cheques in envelopes. Her sister corroborated her.

If Gertie is to be believed, she certainly had an extended acquaintance with men of the "upper ten" of all ages and professions. She had no hesitation in mentioning names, and reeled them off quite freely when in conversation.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, keeper of the house where Gertie Harris lived for a time, was arraigned on the charges of procuring and keep a house of ill-fame. The first charge fell through, but on the second she was sent to jail for 30 days without the option of a fine.

Italian Stabs Another.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Jan. 12.—Because Raffelo Luirter said he was a better man than Luigi Allesandro, the latter drove a knife deep into his abdomen. The victim may die. Luigi was taken to jail.

Hollwey Goes for Trial.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—T. W. Hollwey was committed for trial yesterday by Magistrate Denison on two charges of defrauding the University of Toronto out of $575 and $11,300.

JUDGE INSTIGATED MURDER.

Man Indicted, Confesses That He Did the Killing.

Jackson, Ky., Jan. 12.—John Smith, under indictment for the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, has confessed that he, with two others, did the killing at the instigation of Judge Hargis and Edward Callahan.

Judge Hargis and his supporters are stupified by Smith's confession, which bears out in detail the story told by Asbury Spicer.

NOT A PEACE MEASURE.

German Efforts to Maintain Equal Trade Conflicts With Anglo-Russ Negotiations Re Persia.

London, Jan. 12.—The pacific views held in German official circles with regard to the second peace conference at The Hague have further minimized the possibility of international complications as a result of the death of the Shah of Persia.

At the same time the determination of Germany to maintain equal trade opportunity in Persia is noted here as being in direct conflict with the aim of the negotiations pending between Great Britain and Russia for the delegation of spheres of influence in Persia on which the two powers are nearing an agreement. In return for Great Britain's acknowledgment of Russia's preponderating interest in the north along the Russian frontier, Emperor Nicholas will recognize Great Britain's interests in the south to protect the route to India.

This is all Great Britain asks, it being in line with the announcement of Lord Lansdowne, when foreign minister, that Great Britain would take every means in her power to prevent other countries establishing a naval base or fortified port in the Persian Gulf, which would menace her Indian empire.

Officials here are inclined to concur in the German view that any attempt of Germany to secure political or commercial ascendancy in the Persian capital would tend to unite Great Britain and Russia in a common measure of defance.

The desire of the United States and Germany to refrain from urging Russia to fix a date for the assembling of The Hague conference is not shared here. The British Government has sought to secure definite information concerning the date, but thus far without success.

The opinion appears to be strengthening in official quarters that the question of limitation of armaments, however commendable in theory, will not command sufficient support to permit of its being discussed to a finality by the conference. Considerable objection also exists to the reopening of the question of the status of private property at sea, as one of the chief sources of the British naval power is the right to cripple an enemy's merchant shipping, the same as the warships of the United States made prizes of Spanish merchantmen after the declaration of the Spanish-American War.

MONTREAL'S FATAL FIRE.

One Man Dead, Two and a Woman Injured—Loss, $25,000.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—Another life was sacrificed to the fire fiend yesterday, and two men and a woman were injured. The loss to property owners will be about $25,000.

The stone dwelling and stores at the corner of Fort and St. Catharine streets was the scene of the fatality.

The dead man is A. Basil Greene, 26 years of age, a son of C. Price Greene, principal of the high school at St. Johns, Que., and a clerk in the Dominion Bank in Montreal. The injured are:

Rupert Reid, medical student, of Sudbury, is lying at the Western Hospital with a badly cut arm and burns.

Charles Dennis is suffering from cuts and burns and severe shock.

Marguerite Begin of Canton Neuf Chatel, Switzerland. She leaped through a storm window and her face is badly cut and her hands and arms injured.

Those who are burned out are: Baker & Co., grocers; I. Gauthier, R. E. Parker, W. Bryan Foster, New York, owner of the building; Henry Ward & Co., agents; the Dennis family; Mrs. Hormisdan Roy. In addition to this, five members of the Ben Hur Co., now playing at His Majesty's, will lose a trifle through injury by smoke to their clothing.

$35,000 Hamilton Fire.

Hamilton, Jan. 12.—The wholesale crockery and glassware establishment of Taylor & Mulveney, on East King street, was visited by fire last evening, and about $35,000 damage was done to the building and contents. The principal loss is on stock, and is covered by insurance.

Tobacco Fire Is Fatal.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 12.—A fire which started in the tobacco warehouse of S. R. Moss & Co. here yesterday caused a loss estimated at $1,000,000. The Pennsylvania officials sent men to the roof of their freight station to use a hose. Among these were two men named Beam and Moyers, who fell through a skylight and were badly injured. Both were taken to an hospital, where Beam died.

Holyhead as Landing Port.

London, Jan. 12.—(C. A. P.)—The Corporation of Holyhead is determined to urge on the British postal authorities the advantages of Holyhead as a port of landing for Canadian and American mails.

A prominent Irish M.P., speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, expressed great doubt of the Blacksod Bay scheme being carried out.

Death of Hon. C. C. Colby.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—Another privy councillor passed away yesterday in the person of Hon. C. C. Colby, ex-M.P. for Stanstead. Mr. Colby, who retired from public life several years ago, had been suffering at the Royal Victoria Hospital since November.

POWER EXPORT BILL IS EXPLAINED

The Minister of Justice Explains His Measure.

WELCOME AID TO PROVINCE

Enforcement of Contracts Against the Companies—No Serious Interference With Vested Rights Contemplated —Discussion on Mr. Fisher's Bill For Inspection of Canning Factories—Tariff Progress.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The Government's bill to protect the interests of Canadian consumers in electrical energy generated at Niagara Falls and to insure them an ample supply of power was introduced by Mr. Aylesworth yesterday. The Minister of Justice suggested that the bill involved no invasion of vested rights of an extraordinary character, and was no greater interference with the private management of private enterprises than is usually involved in cases where Government control is necessary to protect the public interest. With regard to the existing agreements made by the Provincial authorities with two companies, restricting the export of electric power, he thought, the provisions of the Government's bill would be a welcome aid to the enforcement of contracts as against the companies.

Canning Factories Inspection.

The debate in committee upon Mr. Fisher's bill providing for rigid inspection of canning factories and canned food products developed the fact that while unanimity prevails regarding the necessity of inspection to insure sanitary conditions and surroundings in factories, there is a wide difference of opinion between Government supporters and the Opposition regarding the inspection of canned food products and the stamping of packages by Government inspector.

Various speakers on the Opposition side objected largely on the score of expense to the provisions of Mr. Fisher's bill, which have for their object guaranteeing to the consumer that when he purchases a pail of apple butter, for instance, he is not supplied with a compound the principal ingredient of which is mashed turnip. Mr. Fisher insisted that Government inspection and marking was necessary to insure to Canadian goods in the British market a place to which their natural excellence, when properly packed and free from adulteration, entitled them.

Farmers and the Tariff.

In committee remarkably good progress was made with the tariff schedule. Members on the Opposition benches renewed their assertions that the farmers wanted higher duties on agricultural products, and made a vigorous demand for a duty on corn imported for feeding purposes. The Finance Minister, the Minister of Customs, and members on the Government benches maintained that the farmers were well satisfied with the tariff on the products of the farm, and that the great majority of them favored the admission of corn free, as the abolition of the duty enabled them to purchase feed for their stock cheaply, and to dispose of their home-grown grain at better prices.

Mr. Gervais gave notice that he will introduce a bill amending the Supreme Court act.

Mr. Oliver introduced a bill respecting surveys of the public lands of the Dominion and surveyors entitled to make such surveys.

OUR BEST SIX MONTHS.

Dominion Revenue Has Increased About Six Million Dollars.

Canada's revenue and expenditure statement for the six months ended Dec. 31 is probably the most satisfactory ever issued. The total receipts on consolidated fund account were $43,694,716, exceeding the expenditure under the same heading by a little less than $19,000,000 and giving a surplus over all expenditures combined of approximately $13,000,000. The receipts are nearly $6,000,000 ahead of the amount received at the same time a year ago, while the ordinary expenditure is more than $1,000,000 less. For December the receipts were $7,172,200, as compared with $6,314,633 for the same month in 1905, while the expenditure was $3,963,834, as against $4,376,065.

A comparative statement of the receipts for the six months gives the following showing:

	1905.	1906.
Customs	$22,428,759	$26,110,734
Excise	7,058,683	8,064,603
Postoffice	2,680,000	2,929,869
Public works ..	4,220,685	4,722,448
Miscellaneous ..	1,509,039	1,837,060
Total	$37,877,167	$43,694,716
Expenditure. ..	$25,747,696	$26,695,166

Would Nullify the Preference.

A caucus of Ontario members was held this morning to consider Mr. Hance Logan's resolution to limit the British preference to goods entering the Dominion by Canadian ports. There was a very thorough discussion of the proposition and an overwhelming sentiment that it would restrict and greatly nullify the preference. One or two eastern Ontario members who, geographically speaking, would benefit by a restriction to the purely Canadian route favored Mr. Logan's idea.

Men For G. T. P.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 12.—Edmund Storie, secretary of the Central Emigration Board of London, who is in St. John, has telegraphed Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that if 50,000 navvies are needed on Canadian railways the board can provide selected British navvies if a rate of $5 is made from Liverpool to the place where the work is in progress, thus shutting out aliens, such as Galicians, Hindoos, etc.

Peterborough Won First O.H.A. Game From Kingston Soldiers

Defeated the 14th Regiment Team Last Night Before 1,600 People by 7 Goals to 3 in a Splendid Game

THE CONTEST WAS MARKED BY CLOSE, HARD CHECKING

The Peterborough senior O. H. A. team got away to a good start last night, in the race for the championship stake, when they defeated the 14th Regiment seven of Kingston in the opening league game by 7 goals to 3 in a contest that left little to be desired from a spectator's standpoint. The half-time score was 4-1 in favour of the locals, and the issue was never much in doubt after the first few minutes. Sixteen hundred people saw the game, and it was indeed a splendid exhibition of hockey.

It was fast at all stages, and although the checking was heavy the game was by no means rough. The checking was hard, but not foul, the defence men using their bodies freely, and the forwards checked closely, but there was no one hurt, and the contest was played with the best of good feeling manifested. It was a game such as enthuses the spectators, and the crowd was wildly excited at times. The playing was at all times hard, and although, outside of a few flashes, there was nothing of a spectacular nature, yet the give and take way in which the players hammered along, never letting up, made the contest an ideal one to watch.

Combination was not a factor of the game. It could not be under existing conditions last night. Both teams checked too closely to allow of much combined work. Every man on the advance guard was generally covered and it seemed impossible to break away very often. As a result, the contest developed into a struggle in which two teams playing much the same style of game were pitted against each other.

The showing of the Peterborough team was such as to afford keen satisfaction on the part of their supporters. They continue to show an improvement in every game, and their form last night was much to the taste of the crowd. When it is considered that they have had practically to build up a team with young players, for the first time figuring in senior hockey, playing the boards, the slip at which they carried the visitors along last night was highly creditable. Head work was manifested in their playing and the manner in which, after obtaining a comfortable margin, they held the visitors safe, is an indication of this fact.

They showed themselves decidedly strong on the defensive last night, and held the visitors harmless all the through, although they could not afford to let up for a moment. The forward line were of material assistance in defensive work. Covering closely and checking hard, they broke up many attempts of the Soldiers to work the disc into the danger zone. It was only very rarely that the visitors got clean away, and when they did the defence, as a rule, blocked them in good fashion.

One of the features of the game was the showing made by Moore at right wing. His check was George Richardson, the speedy wing man, and the manner in which the local player held the ex-Queen's star was a delight to see. Richardson never had a chance, and closely was he watched by Moore, and the latter not only kept his check out of mischief, but he also managed to do some decidedly useful work with the puck on his own account. Miller, the Charlotte Street Guild captain, was at left wing, and his playing, seeing that it was his first whole senior game, left nothing to be desired. He handled himself splendidly, passing and shooting in decidedly clever fashion. The veterans of the forward line, Morgan and Whiteroft, played hard, useful games, getting most of the goals between them.

The defence played splendidly, refusing to be drawn out very much and checking hard and effectively. Both Crowley and Glover were instrumental in turning away many attempts. The former, as an effective player, still continues to improve in every game.

The visitors have a team that takes a lot of beating. There was no thought of letting up in their minds when the locals drew to the fore. In fact, the Soldiers steadied down and scored the last two goals. They have a big and fast team who will be even more formidable as the season progresses. The team is well balanced with a fast forward line, and a defence that, especially at the checking game, is decidedly hard to beat. VanHorne, their big cover point, was the star last night. He had speed to burn, his rushes being features, while he checked hard. Hiscock was responsible for keeping Peterborough's score below double figures. He stopped many shots, both at long and close range, that seemed certain counters. Richardson, as has been said, had little chance to shine. He was very closely watched and only rarely showed his usual form. He worked hard and pluckily, and the good judgment of the locals in closely checking him was shown by the fact that when he did break away he scored two of the three goals to the visitors' credit. Potter was the pick of the Soldiers' line last night. He is light, but speedy as they make them, handling the puck cleverly.

MELVILLE MOORE

Whose Playing at Right Wing for Peterborough Last Night Was One of Features of the Game

F. C. Waghorne, of Toronto, was the referee, and once more demonstrated that he has a little on all the manipulators of the bell. He was impartial, had an eagle eye for off-sides, and frowned upon any attempt at mixing it up.

The teams faced each other like this:

	Kingston Goal.
	Hiscock.
	J. Richardson.
	VanHorne.
	Potter.
Powell	Bernier G. Richardson
Miller	Morgan	Moore
	Whiteroft.
	Crowley.
	Glover.
	Lang.
	Peterborough Goal.

The Play

The pace at the start was terrific, with honours even. The puck went into Kingston territory from the face-off, but soon travelled back. Glover carried the disc down nicely and Whiteroft almost scored. The visitors got away together and a score seemed certain, but Powell's shot was wide. VanHorne lifted into the crowd and there was a few minutes' delay. The visitors' cover point was benched soon after for tripping Miller after the latter had started a promising rush. Whiteroft was penalized for bodying. The play at this stage was decidedly even. Kingston scored but the goal was offside and "Wag." called them back. Crowley was hit on the nose by VanHorne's stick and a delay ensued. After Wag. rang the bell to stop play a Kingston forward shot at the nets and the puck went a yard to one side. The Kingston goal umpire raised his hand and on the complaint of the locals another man was substituted, not because the umpire was unfair, but that he was too excitable to judge deliberately enough.

After eight minutes' hard playing Kingston drew first blood, Potter and Richardson uniting beautifully for a goal from the latter's stick. Score, 1—0. Peterborough were playing a man short at the time.

It did not take Peterboroughs long to tie the score. Miller made a pretty shot from the side which bounded from Hiscock's pads to Whiteroft and the latter scored without trouble. Score 1—1.

In the next period Crowley bodied VanHorne into the boards and was sent away. The big cover point was lifting frequently at this stage, and nearly scored from centre. Lang turned the shot away. Peterborough began to travel faster. Miller scoured at centre and passed to Morgan who, shooting from outside Richardson, scored on a beautiful shot. Score 2—1.

Wag. in the next few minutes sent Powell to the boards for loafing off side. Peterborough had the best of the play at this stage and only the block game of the Kingston point and goal keeper kept the score down. Crowley and Bernier had an argument and went off together. Potter was benched soon after for tripping and Crowley again received similar treatment. VanHorne's bodying did not suit Waghorne and the big Kingston cover had to serve time. There was a procession to the timers during this period, Morgan and Powell were the next pair to suffer. Peterborough were playing fast hockey and had the visitors backing. Glover made a brilliant rush and although he was bodied before he had an opportunity to shoot, Whiteroft was able to score from the scrimmage that followed. Score 3—1.

The next goal also went to Peterborough, Whiteroft slamming the rubber in after a shot by Miller had been blocked. Score 4—1. Half time was called with no change in the score.

The second half in the style of hockey displayed was very much similar to the first. In the first few minutes of the half the puck was constantly in the vicinity of the visitors' goal but it seemed impossible to score. Moore was hurt and after being carried off for repairs, was able to resume. Crowley got another term on the fence for bodying. Peterborough continued to press but Kingston were playing a stubborn defence game, varied only with an occasional attempt at rushing by VanHorne or Richardson. Miller served a fence sentence and on his return scored on a beautiful shot from the side, making the score 5—1. Peterborough seemed to have the visitors on the run. Moore soon after scored again from a scrimmage.

Peterborough's last goal was scored on the prettiest individual rush of the night, Crowley got the puck at centre and dashed through the visitors' defence for a score.

Kingston livened up a little with with the score 7—1 against them and the forward line became more aggressive. The result was that Potter was able to bang one past Lang in quick order.

VanHorne and Moore got into a mixup and went off together and Crowley followed the pair a moment later for a heavy check. There were four on the fence when Powell was benched for slashing. With the teams each two men short Geo. Richardson scored for Kingston in a combined rush, shortly before time was up.

Notes of the Game

The gate receipts last night amounted to $479.50. Of this sum the Rink Company receive $215.93, while the Hockey Club's share is $263.92.

Col. Young, of Kingston, accompanied the Soldiers' seven last night and was an interested spectator of the game.

The excitement proved too much for VanHorne, the Kingston goal umpire, and he raised his hand every time the puck struck his end of the rink. The locals objected and another man was substituted.

VanHorne, the big Kingston cover point, caused a sensation in the first half when he did a thrilling hurdling act over Crowley's stick.

Crowley's rush in the second half which ended in a goal was a brilliant piece of work.

The crowd did not like VanHorne's lifting and booted every time he made a heave. Strange how customs change. Time was when lifting was considered an essential feature of every game.

Peterborough's second goal was scored by Morgan on a magnificent shot from near centre ice. The puck flashed past the defence like a bullet.

Nearly all the Peterborough team shared in the scoring.

Waghorne is losing none of his keenness. He nailed everything in the way of an off-side.

Miller made good last night, and his playing was all to the good in the eyes of the crowd.

Whiteroft is handicapped by a badly injured finger.

It is surprising the number of local sports who have "doped out" the locals for a team that was going to be trimmed all along the line this season and have taken special care to back up their convictions. Some of them you can size up to-day without being told.

Referee Wilgherne stated that he was very much impressed by the showing of the locals last night. "Wag" picks Stratford to win the western district.

• • • •

From present prospects it appears as if the Neill-Shepherd trophy players will be snow bound on their trip next week. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that unfavourable weather exists whenever those games are arranged and from the outlook at present there will be no exception to this rule on Tuesday next.

• • • •

The locals' next game is in Toronto with the Marlboros on Wednesday night of next week. The club has decided to run an excursion to the Queen City for the game and the particulars will be announced later. No doubt a large number of fans will take advantage of the opportunity to see the game which promises to be a fine exhibition. The fare will be $2.95 and a special train will leave Toronto after the game. For those who want to remain over the tickets will be good the next day.

CURLING

The games for the district cup will commence here on Thursday of next week providing weather conditions are favourable. The District games include rinks from Lindsay, Lakefield, Keene, Colbourne, Cobourg, Port Hope, Oshawa, Fenelon Falls, and Bobcaygeon. It is probable, however, that some of these will not be able to attend.

One scheduled game was played at the curling rink yesterday which resulted in a win for skip S. Ray over A. Blade by 16 points to 2.

FOR SUNDAY READING

S. S. LESSON

Lesson II., January 13.—Man made in the image of God.—Genesis 1: 26, to 2: 3.

Golden Text.—God created man in His own image, in the image of God created he him.—Genesis 1: 27.

Our lesson text follows directly that for last week. In it we have to do with the sixth creative period, the length of which we have no means of ascertaining, as Scripture gives us no dates and the earth still keeps her secret as to her age. We are also introduced to the seventh, or rest, period; the one in which the world is at present. God, having finished his work of creation, is now, as it were, resting from that kind of work, but he does not cease his efforts; he is working, among other things, for "the moral education of man, for his redemption and final glorification." And all the world is alive with evidence of his activity.

CRITICAL NOTES.

26. God said, Let us. Probably addressing the host of angels. Compare Isa. 6: 8, where Jehovah speaks; and Jehovah, in Hebrew, as in English, is a noun of the, singular number. But God, while graciously counselling with his attendants, proposes to do the work wholly himself. Man. Not a man, but collectively mankind. Compare "them" in this verse, and "male and female" in v. 27. In our image, after our likeness. As God is a spirit, the resemblance is spiritual. In the moral likeness of God, including knowledge, righteousness, and holiness. Even after the fall man retained the divine image, but sadly marred by sin. Gen. 5: 1, 3; 9: 6. Likeness is not necessarily equality. Man was made a little lower than God. Ps. 8: 5. But his nearest affinity is with God, and to satisfy the deepest craving of his nature he must have fellowship with God. In the possession of this image of God lies man's advantage over the beast.

28. Replenish. Literally, fill. Not fill again, fill full.

29-30. I have given you every herb yielding seed . . . and every tree, in which is the fruit of a tree . . . to you it shall be for food; and to every beast of the earth. In herb and tree is found the ultimate source of nourishment for the support of animal life. Without these, fruits that feed upon upon vegetation, even beasts of prey, would lack food. Already carnivorous animals were feeding on other beasts, according to the nature which God had given them; but express divine permission to do so was not yet given to man. The authority to use animal food was granted to man later. Gen. 9: 3.

2: 1. All the host of them. The fullness of heaven and earth. The entire array of natural objects and forces, including stars, winds, trees, birds, beasts, and men.

2. The universe was completed on the sixth day. V. 1. And on the seventh day God finished his work . . . and he rested on the seventh day. On the seventh day God finished or ended his work by ceasing to create, and by blessing the day. The work of creation was regarded as brought to a formal and solemn close by the cessation from creative activity and the bestowal of a blessing. These two features, one negative, and the other positive, are part, and mark of the actual finishing, of the work. Rested. Not recuperated, but simply ceased from action, desisted. Compare the translation of the Hebrew verb in ch. 2: 22; Isa. 33: 8.

3. God blessed the seventh day, and hallowed it. More periods than the recurring seventh day of twenty-four hours were consecrated in the Mosaic law. The heavenly example of rest and good will extended to the seventh month and the seventh year, and not to the seventh day also. Num. 29: 1; Lev. 23; 23-25; 25: 2-7; compare Lev. 25: 8-12. Six periods of activity were completed and crowned by a seventh with its rest, worship, and blessing. This fact suggests again that the six days of creation were regarded, not as six consecutive days of twenty-four hours each, but rather as moments in time separated from each other by unmeasured intervals. Compare note on Gen. 1: 5, lesson for January 6. His work which God had created and made. A Hebrew idiom is employed here. In English, "from all his creative work." The particular kind of work from which God refrained is specified.

WITH THE SAGES

It is only by thinking about great and good things that we come to love them, and it is only by loving them that we come to long for them, and it is only by longing for them that we are impelled to seek after them, and it is only by seeking after them that they become ours and we enter into vital experience of their beauty and blessedness.—Henry Van Dyke.

To win and hold a friend we are compelled to keep ourselves at his ideal point, and in turn our love makes on him the same appeal. Each insists on his right in the other to an ideal. All around the circle of our best beloved it is this idealizing that gives to love its beauty and its pain and its mighty leverage on character.—W. C. Gannett.

It is not so much the being exempt from faults, as the having overcome them, that is an advantage to us; it being the follies of the mind, as with the weeds of a field, which, if destroyed and consumed upon the place where they grew, enrich and improve it more than if none had ever sprung there.—Swift.

If you would help to make the wrong things right,
Begin at home; there lies a lifetime's toil.
Weed your own garden fair for all men's sight.
Before you plan to till another's soil.
T. Wheeler Wilcox.

A sorrow in your soul that has changed into sweetness, into indulgence of patient smiles, is a sorrow that shall never return without a spiritual ornament; and a fault or defect you have looked in the face can harm you no more, or even be harmful to others.—Maeterlinck.

"VENICE" DESCRIBED IN ESSAY AT THE T.A.S. ROOMS

Miss Agnes Holland, in an Interesting Paper, Told of the Beauties of the City Built on a Hundred Islands

A DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME WAS GIVEN

A delightful literary evening was presented last evening by the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. in their association hall, it being the first literary meeting of the new year. Notwithstanding the many other attractions, the hall was packed with an appreciative audience evidencing the interest that is being manifested in this department of the organization.

The charming programme presented more than justified the expectations of the large assembly. However, the chief feature of the evening was the essay on "Venice," prepared by Miss Agnes Holland. This was Miss Holland's first appearance as an essayist before a T. A. S. audience, and that she delighted her audience by her splendid achievement was manifested by the rapt attention and congratulatory comments of her hearers.

Miss Holland, in her opening remarks, described "Venice, the City of the Sea," as victorious over Time. The unique, romantic city, where poetry conquers prose, is a fitting illustration of the poetical and the picturesque, and more than that, she wears upon her breast some architectural jewels unsurpassed in Italy, and finally, the splendour of her history enfolds her like the glory of her golden sunset, and she emerges from the waves of Time that have repeatedly endeavoured to engulf her, like her marble palaces from the encircling sea.

Then the audience were carried in imagination to the city built on one hundred islands connected by four hundred and fifty bridges, where the first surprise to the traveller is seeing its buildings rise directly from the sea, and the waves caressing the marble steps of its buildings. The origin of the city in the fifth century was dealt with, when a few brave men, seeking refuge from the vandal, Atilla, the Hun, sought safety in the uninhabited islands in the Adriatic. Exiled from land, they cast themselves upon the sea. Here they laid the foundation of this vast city, which was for many years the centre of trade between the East and West. The audience were taken through the City of Silence" on the Grand Canal, winding stately curves through the heart of the city, lined on both sides with marble palaces, which were marvels of magnificence.

To appreciate all the beauties of Venice the traveller must manage to arrive on the "City of One's Dreams" by night, when the liquid streets presents a scene too beautiful for words.

Here the essayist graphically presented those monuments of antiquity. The noted bridge of the Rialto, immortalized by Shakespere. Its huge marble arch, supported by twelve thousand trunks of elm trees — its gnomic look in the glare of the moon.

The Doge's Palace which from its variety of architecture has been called by Ruskin "The Central building of the world." The Cathedral of St. Mark, the church of gold, a wonderful building of Moorish, Arabic and Gothic Art, reminds one of the Orient. Its four bronze horses which surmounts its portals, St. Mark's Square, its fine marble statues, its attractive shops, its pigeons.

The Piazetta, its gondolas, grossio in appearance, though at one time they rivalled one another in richness and grandeur.

The Venetian sunset, its softness, brilliancy and splendour which seems to remind one of a shower of powdered gold perfectly transparent like the purest ether, cannot be described. The city is enchanting in its refulgent light like a beautiful mirage enthroned upon a golden bank between two seas—the ocean and the sky.

The essay was a beautiful vivid description of Venice in all its many phases and reflected credit on the young lady who prepared it.

The following programme was presented by Miss Jessie Clancy, who presided:—

Instrumental solo — Miss Beatrice Flynn.

Vocal solo—Miss Ollie Tagney.

Instrumental solo—Miss Nora Sheridan.

Vocal solo—Miss Alice Milloy.

Recitation — Little Miss Stella Cleary.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, Jan. 25, when a paper will be read by Miss L. Sullivan.

"LIGHT" ASKS FOR SOME MORE LIGHT

Upon the Doings of the Peterborough Ministerial Association—Who do the Members Represent?

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir. — Is the Ministerial Association a body that represents the different churches, in the persons of the various ministers constituting it? Yours, etc.,

LIGHT.

So far as the Examiner is informed, it is to be said that the members of the Association in the matter in question, represent themselves individually, and themselves only. Their congregations would certainly be very sorry to be held responsible for some of the utterances and doings of this busy body for the past few years. While representing themselves, they are entitled to the expression of their views and opinions, but when they assume to speak for their congregations, without regard to consistency or fact, the value of representative utterances at once becomes questionable.

OBITUARY

JOHN ROBERTSON

A very sad death was that of Mr. John Robertson, one of the city's most highly respected residents. It occurred this morning at half past four o'clock, after an illness of several weeks from bronchitis. The deceased has not been very robust during the past three months, the untimely death of his only son, Wm. H. Robertson, three months ago being a severe blow to him. The late Mr. John Robertson was 82 years of age. He was born in Scotland and when a boy moved with his parents to Belfast, Ireland. Fifty-two years ago he came to Canada and settled in South Monaghan, where he resided until about nine years ago, when he left the old homestead with his son and retired to this city. His wife predeceased him 12 years ago. The deceased was a staunch member of the Centreville Presbyterian church, being actively connected with the church affairs. On moving to Peterborough he became a member of the congregation of St. Paul's. He was a Liberal in politics.

His only surviving relatives are Misses Sarah Jane and Mary Ann, who live at the family residence on Reid street.

The funeral will take place on Monday morning at 11 o'clock from the family residence 397 Reid street to the G.T.R. station where the remains will be conveyed to Fraserville. From the station at that place he body will be taken to the cemetery of the Centreville Presbyterian church for interment.

RAILWAY COMMISSION TO DEAL WITH ACTION

Mrs. Eliza Rogers' Claim for Damages to be Considered by Commission To-morrow

DEPUTATION TO GO FROM THIS CITY

The Railway Commission at Ottawa will deal with a matter of considerable interest to this city to-morrow. It will be remembered that some little time ago Mrs. Eliza Rogers entered an action against the C.P.R. for damages for filling in a trestle near her property, and at Osgoode Hall, where the case was heard, it was referred to the Railway Commission, where, according to the opinion of the trial judge, it belonged. This has been done and it will be up for hearing to-morrow. The Trent Canal will be represented by Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent, while the city will be represented by the City Solicitor, and Ex-Mayors Stevenson, Deane and Best. Mr. W. H. Meldrum, representing the Peterborough Cereal Co., will also form one of the deputation. It is understood that Mr. Stapley will represent the C. P. R.

SUFFICIENT CAUSES TO KILL 20 DOGS

Yet Little Fox Terrier Braved Them All and Still Lives

An incident which attracted a good deal of attention happened this morning at the corner of George and Hunter streets. The centre of attraction was a small fox terrier, which had been afflicted with some disease, the nature of which was hard to realise, judging from the various speculations of the crowd. In fact, the different causes assigned would have been sufficient to have caused the death of twenty canines, even larger than the fox terrier, nevertheless the little dog after struggling for life for a few minutes, was able to run off, and gave the crowd the "haw-haw."

Some said it had been poisoned, and didn't get enough, while others said it was poisoned and got too much. Among the other causes ascribed were electric shocks from live wires, run down by a street car, and several street cars, and several horses, and dog fits. One man bet $10 that it would live, while others solemnly and in a sympathetic tone, said, "It will soon die now!"

Notwithstanding all these dangerous causes, the terrier, after a hard struggle at the very portals of death, managed to regain its feet and went trotting off in a spring-halt fashion down the street followed by the gazes of the many bystanders.

Six Standing Committees Of The Council This Year

Ald. Duncan, Chairman of the Board of Works—The Various Chairmen Were Selected To-day

TWO NEW ALDERMEN WERE ELECTED TO CHAIRMANSHIPS

The City Council after hearing Mayor McWilliams' inaugural address this morning, went into Committee o the Whole to deal with the question of the chairmanship of the different committees. As a result of the meeting the number of committees was increased to six, two more than last year's number. The matter was introduced by Ald. Elliott who said that more committees were needed, as there was some very important matters to come up this year that would require attention. Ald. Johnston also strongly advocated the establishment of more committees and moved that the Standing Committees for he year should consist of six as follows:

Board of Works.
Fire, Water and Light.
Manufacturers', including Railways and Franchises.
Finance, including Printing and Licensing.
Property, including Market Building and Health.
Reception and Legal, including Legislation and Joint with County.

This was seconded by Ald. Bull and was carried by a vote of 6 to 4, without much discussion.

It was moved by Ald. Leary, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that each committee be composed of four aldermen together with the Mayor.

On motion of Ald. Leary, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the committee of the whole council should select the different chairmen and that they in turn should decide upon the personnel of the committee.

The only contest was for the chairman of the Board of Works. When nominations were called for Ald. Stevenson moved that Ald. Duncan be chairman, while Ald. Leary nominated Ald. Elliott. Each candidate was found to have four votes and it was necessary for Mayor McWilliams to cast the deciding vote. He voted in favour of Ald. Duncan and that gentleman will be the chairman of the Board of Works for 1907.

The other chairmen were elected by acclamation as follows:—

Fire, Water and Light Committee—Ald. Johnston.
Manufacturers' Committee — Ald. Morrow.
Finance Committee—Ald. Tovey.
Property Committee — Ald McIntyre.
Reception Committee—Ald Phelan.

Dr. Burnham and Dr. McNulty were re-appointed members of the Board of Health.

There was some discussion over the appointing of auditors.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, Messrs. T. Q. Quartermaine and G. K. Martin were appointed to audit last year's books at a salary of $150. The question of appointing a permanent auditor, which has been before the council for some time, was taken up this morning and on motion, left over until to-night when the first business meeting of the year will be held.

FORMER CURATE OF ST. JOHN'S DIED SATURDAY

Rev. W. R. Tandy Passed Away in Kingston After Lengthy Illness—Memorial Services Held Last Night

A PROMISING LIFE IS CUT SHORT

Yesterday morning telegrams were received in the city telling of the death in Kingston of Rev. W. R. Tandy, M.A., who for about four weeks was a curate at St. John's Church here, and who, previous to that time, was rector at Havelock. Mr. Tandy left Havelock to accept the position of curate of St. John's Church, but was only here about four weeks when he was obliged to leave the city on account of illness, and since that time he has been gradually becoming worse. At St. John's last night the rector, Rev. Canon Davidson, referred to the death of Mr. Tandy, news of which he had received during the day, and before preaching the sermon last night at St. Luke's, Rev. F. A. Langfeldt conveyed from the pulpit the sad news to his congregation of the death of Rev. W. R. Tandy, M.A., on Saturday night in Kingston. The late Mr. Tandy had come to the mission of Havelock in 1902. His indomitable energy, his loyalty to the church, and his longing to win souls to Christ, made that mission what it was at that time in a deplorable condition, the centre of great earnest and successful work for Christ and His Church. Resigning this mission in 1905, Mr. Tandy came to Peterborough as curate of St. John's, which position he occupied for about a month. His health was greatly impaired; he literally gave his life for the Church. Mr. Tandy was an honour graduate in philosophy of Queen's University, and in theology he graduated from the Montreal Diocesan College. He was a clever student, a bright and logical preacher, and his happy disposition won him many friends. At St. Luke's he was no stranger, and he often said how much he enjoyed his visits to the parish. The Church of Christ at large, and the Church of England in particular, has lost, through his death, a most promising and bright son, and is the poorer for his loss. Brought up a Methodist, he was attracted to the Church of England by reading her history and claims, and became a most ardent and loyal son of the Church. The rector was bound to him by ties of great friendship, and through his death he has lost a very dear and personal friend. Mr. Langfeldt called upon the people to rise and join in a short memorial service. The office for the dead was then read by the rector, the people standing during the reading of it. The organist, Mr. J. L. Armstrong, played the Dead March as the congregation left the church at the end of the service.

REV. W. R. TANDY

The Rural Deanery will be represented at the funeral by Rev. E. W. Pickford, of Norwood, secretary of the Deanery.

Perfection In Manhood Constitutes Perfect Divinity

The Science of Evolution as Applied to Man's Spiritual Development — An Interesting Sermon Preached by Rev. Jos. Odery, of Orillia

THE EDUCATIONAL SERMONS

The science of evolution, as applied to the religious life, was the subject matter of an unusually interesting sermon preached in the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday morning, by Rev. Joseph Odery, of Orillia, in connection with the Educational anniversary of the church. The changefulness of the human life, as the Divine secret of all human progress, and the changelessness of God as the sublimest hope of all humanity were the conditions dealt with by the reverend gentleman, who is reputed to be one of the most eloquent as well as thoughtful speakers in the Methodist church.

"Jesus Christ, the same yesterday to-day and forever," was the text upon which the sermon was based, and constituted, the speaker contended, the supremest answer to the supremest question of the hour—the question which man, the thinker, man, sufferer and man the sinner, was asking. "Sir, we would see Jesus." Not the Jesus reared in philosophy, but God's Christ, the all Divine, all human Christ. The great mass of the people, according to the speaker, had a very poor conception of Christ. They see Him in the shadow, and see the Christ of yesterday, not the Christ of to-day.

It was pointed out that what was needed in the world to-day, was a conception on the part of the people of Christ as He is, a personal force. To Paul, Christ was a real personage, and he fellowshipped and companioned with Him.

The changefulness of the human life, said the reverend gentleman, is the secret of human progress. The world of to-day is not the world of our childhood—things have changed—and will continue to change. The friends who are around us to-day are not the friends of yesterday. The law of change is the law of progress, therefore it is desirable, and necessary, if we would make advances that there should be changes.

The truth was pointed out that growth and development were not a creation—simply an unfolding of that which is already within. The more you cultivate the man, the more manhood there will be displayed, but it is only the manhood that was always there. Therefore, the necessity for the new birth.

There is arrested growth, however, in spiritual life, just as there is in physical life. Some Christians have never grown any since they were born into the Christian life.

Every process of growth in the Christian life was represented to be progress towards the perfect life—the aim of Christianity. Perfection would, of course, not be attained in this life—it would be for eternity to accomplish this.

The changelessness of Christ, as the hope of humanity was next dealt with by the speaker. The changelessness of Christ in His love, his word and His mission were each referred to.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Odery was again the speaker, his subject being the story of Esther.

The music rendered by the choir at both services yesterday was of an especially enjoyable character. Interesting features were solos by Miss Manning and Miss Bellegham, the former singing in the morning "Come Unto Me," and the latter's selection at the evening service was "Hold Thou My Hand."

MEN ARE CONSERVATIVE

They Do Not Conquer Habits of Custom as Quickly as the Gentler Sex

Women will investigate and accept better methods more quickly than men do in all matters of dress. A man is satisfied usually to follow custom or habit and he is harder to convince.

But conviction has come at last to the majority of men in the matter of Semi-ready tailoring. It took many years and much strenuous endeavour. Of course accomplishment was easy when a man really gave his attention and thought to the physique type system of the Semi-ready. For five years the growth of the Semi-ready idea was slow, but in recent years it has been as swift as the rise in value of a gold mining company which strikes a rich vein of ore. Twenty-four new Semi-ready Wardrobes were established this year in Canada, each one the result of an eager enquiry and quick demand for the agency in some new district.

Cressman's have all the new Semi-ready styles, and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

WOMENS' NEGLECT

SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

Miss Clara Beaubien

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness or other female weakness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Clara Beaubien, of Beauport, Quebec, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"For several years I have suffered with a female weakness which proved a serious drain on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling, until I really had no desire to live. I tried many medicines, but did not get permanent relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In two months I was much better and stronger, and in four months I was well; no more disagreeable discharge, no more pain. So I have every reason to praise the Vegetable Compound, and I consider it without equal for the ills of women."

For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful. Address, Lynn, Mass.

LOOKING AHEAD

Is the responsibility of citizens in the good government of the city satisfied with a little work for a week or so around polling day? Do the citizens as a rule take enough interest in the management of our municipal affairs? The vast majority of the electors go to the polls and vote for a set of candidates about whom many of them know little and seem to care less. They have given no thought and have paid little, if any, attention during the preceding year and pay as little attention after they are elected. Cannot some means be devised to arouse in the public mind a deeper and more direct interest in municipal matters? How would it do to organize a municipal association whose function and duty it would be to keep watch on the work of our city aldermen and at the same time provide a supply of suitable candidates for the people to vote for at the next municipal election? As matters stand, and as they have stood for years the electorate has little or no part in selecting candidates: they are given the option of voting for candidates who come into the field largely on their own initiative or by chance. We cannot expect the best results when the interest of the electors is confined to voting for, and electing, a dozen candidates, who, as far as the mass of electors are concerned, are allowed to drop out of sight and work their will without practical attention from the mass of the ratepayers. The best board of aldermen electable will be the better of watching and it is a poor compliment to a board of aldermen if its course is not worth enlisting the attention of their constituents. As things stand the public do not take enough interest in their own business. It seems that it would not be a bad idea to form some organization that would not only be a connecting link between the people and their representatives but would provide for the selection of suitable candidates for their successors. As a rule every council contains members who by virtue of their ability and will to give effective service are deserving of re-election. Thus a certain number of acceptable candidates is assured and a little foresight will secure others whose election would give reasonable guarantee of a satisfactory board of aldermen and satisfactory municipal service.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Hamilton is discussing the question of returning to the ward system of electing municipal representatives. It is pointed out that in many cases persons had to stay at the polls an unduly long time waiting their turn to vote, and then many had to return without voting. To a certain extent, the same thing was complained of in the late municipal elections. The remedy is easy—provide a few extra polling booths. If sufficient polling booths were not provided the same difficulty would arise under the ward system. The fault lies not in the principle of the present system of voting, but in its application.

The export trade of Great Britain and Ireland last year amounted to the tremendous total of five thousand million dollars, a thousand millions more than that of the United States. To emphasize this difference it may be maintained that the British output is all of industrial origin, there is very little raw material entering into the products exported. Whereas, the United States, with its great quantity of raw resources, is able to add millions of dollars to its export total without any other manufacturing beyond the mechanical work of loading and shipment. Those who are watching for signs of the decay of British production and commerce have a good chance of dying with their wishes ungratified.

A PLEA FOR MAKING OUR CITY BEAUTIFUL

"One of the Old Guard" Writes to the Editor Regarding Dumping Place for Garbage

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Now that we have a practically new City Council, a suggestion to one of our new Fathers might not be out of place. Some of our senior representatives are now making their own words for it) responsible for the carrying through of certain improvements, or, practically speaking, a decided reform in several of the callings in life followed by fellow citizens, and also by neighbours residing in our adjacent townships. For instance, our new milk by-law.

The point I wish to make is this:—Citizens who have resided here for over half a century, and who have built their homes, and earned their good, hard earned money in paying for the same, and especially those who take a pride in keeping their home surroundings modern and neat, certainly object to have vacant lots, the end of city streets, or any old place that our "licensed" carters see fit to make a dumping ground of, utilized to suit their convenience. With due respect to all concerned one can hardly blame the carters for trying to save time in depositing their garbage, but what I want to come at is that I think—and I am satisfied that I will be borne out by all citizens that have the welfare of our city at heart—that our City Fathers should provide a dumping ground for refuse and at the same time insist that carters having refuse to dispose of, make it their business to deposit the same in the grounds provided for that purpose. If the carters in the city who are officially notified to use the grounds provided for the disposal of garbage, to save time, defy the law, let them suffer the consequences, for then there will be no one to blame but themselves.

Mr. Editor, this is a matter that effects us all, and not only our health, but also the appearance of our City to the many visitors from all over the world who are with us from one end of the year to the other.

If one of our Aldermen will make this idea a pet project of his, he will earn the everlasting gratitude of a large number of the citizens.

With the hope that my suggestion will meet with approval, I will sign as "ONE OF THE OLD GUARD."

Music and Drama

THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY

"The Arrival of Kitty" conceded by press and public to be the best and brightest comedy production now on tour is the offering at the Grand Opera House for Tuesday, Jan. 15th, 1907. The comedy has been called a comedy cocktail which seems a befitting description, as the performance is bright, lively, snappy and entrancing, and local theatregoers who relish tuneful music and bright dialogue presented by an excellent cast of players together with magnificent scenery and gorgeous costumes may look forward to a most satisfying entertainment. The story of "The Arrival of Kitty" is one of humourous complications and the interest never lags but holds the attention of the auditor to the final curtain. The novelty of plot, together with the ingenuity of treatment and the bright dialogue are the magnets that possess the attributes that go to make this entertainment popular with theatregoers. Plan now open.

THE SHOO-FLY REGIMENT

One of the distinct novelties of the season will unquestionably be Cole and Johnston, who are exploiting this season in a new musical farce comedy (written by themselves, entitled "The Shoo-Fly Regiment." All (or very nearly all) the coloured performers of note in the profession have been listed under the Cole & Johnston banner, and a company of exceptional merit is the result. A special feature is the capital singing ballet to which unusual attention has been paid. The members have been selected only after an exhaustive search among the dusky belles—not only of the South, but also of the north. These girls will create a sensation. The piece will have a superb scenic mounting and be exquisitely costumed. It will be presented at the Grand Opera House on Friday, January 18.

Fatigue From Poisons In Systen
DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Tired, languid feelings are the result of the accumulation of waste products in the system. On the failure of the liver and kidneys to remove these impurities the blood becomes filled with poisonous substances which instead of aiding the functions tend to arrest them and give rise to pains in the limbs, backaches, headaches and tired, worn-out feelings.

There remains to be discovered a more prompt and effective means of enlivening and invigorating the action of the liver and kidneys than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In fact this medicine is unique in its combined influence on the liver and kidneys and to this double action is attributed its extraordinary success in the cure of complicated diseases of these filtering organs.

Biliousness, headaches, indigestion, kidney disease and constipation are promptly and thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the whole system is cleansed of the foul impurities which result in disease and suffering.

Mr. John Gubeen, who is in the fish business in Port Hope, Ont., states: "In my business I do a great deal of driving over bad roads, and the constant jar of the rig, along with exposure to all sorts of weather, brought on kidney disease. I was in miserable health, and suffered a great deal with sharp pains in my back. I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. Before I had used all of the first box I felt better, and three boxes have entirely cured me. I am very glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, for I have proven their wonderful control over kidney disease."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where ordinary kidney medicines fail, because of their direct and combined action on the liver and kidneys. This has been proven in thousands of cases of serious and complicated diseases of the kidneys.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

REV. DR. BRIGGS WAS HEARD AT GEORGE STREET CHURCH

Preached Anniversary Sermons There Yesterday to Very Large Congregations

MUSIC APPROPRIATE TO THE OCCASION

The anniversary services in connection with the George Street Methodist Church called forth large audiences yesterday morning and evening. The anniversary sermons were preached by Rev. Dr. Briggs, of Toronto, who is one of the best known ministers of the Methodist Church in the Province. Dr. Briggs is a strong, fluent speaker, with the faculty of placing his ideas clearly before the minds of his hearers so that his sermons were listened to with the undivided attention of the whole congregation.

In his discourse last night he emphasized the great importance which Jesus has been to the salvation of mankind. He based his remarks on the 17th Chapter of Matthew and the 8th verse,—"And when they had lifted up their eyes they saw no man, save Jesus only."

The particular portion of the verse upon which he addressed the congregation was the last two words, "Jesus only." The chapter, he said, gives an account of the transfiguration of our Lord and Master, when the prophecies of past ages had been duly accepted by the disciples. Moses and Elias had surrendered their offices to Christ. The disciples felt the figure of Jesus touch their prostrate forms and heard a voice which said, "Arise, and be not afraid." They saw Jesus clad in His garments of humiliation, for He had a great work to do before He died. The words "Jesus only" in themselves suggested important thoughts—they mean Jesus has supremacy. It is the beloved will of God that Christ should have prominance in everything. He is the one foundation of a true theology, the one foundation for the moral and spiritual regeneration of the world. Our faith must rest on the Jesus incarnate—teaching, working, dying, interceding—as a perpetually acting power.

The creeds of the various churches, said the speaker, hold the same relative position to Christ as roads to a city, upon which we must walk along to get to that city. The sublime idea of God can never be obtained without the power of Jesus Christ. He is the friend of foreign man, and through Jesus only do we know Him.

Mohammedanism opposes this truth of "Jesus only." The creed of the Mohammedans is a Christless one. It is not an insignificant one, however, as the believers are very enthusiastic, verging up fanaticism, which is zeal without knowledge, a condition forbidden by Christianity. It rushes on with headlong fury, and wherever it appears it is a parasite. Mohammedans constitute a mighty power in the world. They are supreme in China, in India, and other Asiatic countries, as well as 100,000,000 in dark Africa, and they believe they are the chosen race.

"The final battle for religious supremacy, however," added the speaker, "will be between the Crescent and the Cross, but there is no danger as to the outcome. Paganism must fall, for the words of the Lord are supreme, and Christ will go forth conquering and to conquer."

Continuing, Dr. Briggs referred to a pamphlet issued by the late Dr. Newman, an American preacher, which was entitled "Christianity Triumphant." In a page of that book was described one of the Free Religious Association meetings at Boston, where all creeds assemble. It told of the various classes of people which congregated there — the dreamer, the enthusiast, the insane, the long-haired men and the short-haired women to spite St. Paul, the sentimentalist and the scientist. Among them were those who had openly declared that better men lived in the world than Jesus Christ. "What has this heterogenous mass done for the advancement of the world's morality?" he asked. Jesus is the only saver of souls, and he is not recognized by them at all.

The second specific application he made of his text was that Jesus is the only sound and efficient foundation upon which to base ethical education. In the light of human philosophy, sins appear as isolated wrongs, but in the sight of God they appear very closely connected. If any man be in Christ he is safe from sin, and it is only by faith in Him that we can be saved. Morality without religion, he said, saves no person; it is like a tree without fruit, but, with fait in Christ, accompanied with ethics, we can live aright.

Christ is the only unchanging source of a believer's course. He is the only hope of the sinner and the only way to God. Obedience to the law can not save alone; the best service that Moses and Elias can do us is to leave us alone with Jesus. How sweet are the slumbers of the dying man who has lived in the faith of Him alone.

"I wouldn't give a common two-cent Canadian postage stamp," he declared, "for a religion without fear." In concluding, he hoped that Jesus would strengthen our hearts for His own name's sake as we draw near to the end of life.

The music last night was particularly fine and appropriate to the anniversary services.

INSURANCE COMPANY GAVE BANQUET TO AGENTS

Mr. W. McMillan, of This City, One of 100 Guests of Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Co., at Ottawa

WAS A DELIGHTFULLY SOCIAL FUNCTION

Mr. W. McMillan returned on Saturday from Ottawa, where he has been attending the annual meeting of, an dbanquet to, the representatives of the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Company. Over one hundred of the agents gathered to this annual function, which this year was the most successful in the history of a gathering which has come to be looked upon by those participating in it as one of the most delightful experiences of the year. In respect to its success the annual meeting and bnaquet was but indicative of the condition of the year's operations of the company itself, the records showing the year to have been a most satisfactory one.

The Ottawa Free Press, in referring to the banquet, says, in part:

Over 100 agents of the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Company, met around the festive board last evening at the Windsor Hotel, and after the menu had outlived its usefulness, or rather after the good things to eat had been disposed of, speeches were made and many of the serious and complexing problems of insurance solved. It was the eleventh annual banquet of the company to its representatives, and certainly none in its history has a more worthy company assembled, a more tempting feast been spread, or a more enjoyable time spent. Mr. John Emo, of Ottawa, general manager of the company, presided, and among the guests were Mayor-elect D'Arcy Scott, Mr. A. J. Barr, second vice-president; Mr. J. P. Dickson, Ottawa, secretary-treasurer; Mr. H. W. Pearson, Toronto, who is to succeed Mr. Dickson, Mr. Peter Whelen and Mr. V. Boisvert, directors. Dr. Ouimet, Hull, and Dr. R. P. Robertson, Ottawa, medical officers, and Mr Stewart de la Ronde. The table, as well as the walls and ceiling were artistically decorated with evergreens and carnations, and behind the chairman was the company's motto, "Work wins," beautifully set off with smilax and carnations, and electric lights. Valentine's orchestra's discourses English, Scotch and other national airs, as well as the latest popular music. During the evening the valuable prizes won by agents having written up the largest amounts of insurance during the past year were distributed.

HE EXPLAINS

Mr. McDermid, Our Well Known Druggist, Tells What He Knows

A Reporter Investigates the Merits of Vinol

A Subject That is Agitating the Whole Country

There has reached us rumours of a new discovery. Something that will revolutionize the practice of medicine. A remedy that has given sufferers from wasting diseases hopes of renewed helth and prolonged life.

Of enough importance have these stories appeared that a special interview with Mr. McDermid, of the firm of McDermid & Jury, our leading druggists, was thought advisable.

"Why," said Mr. McDermid, "this is no more a new discovery than was the moon when it was first viewed through a telescope. The discovery existed simply in the fact of finding out a means of getting at the truth we were all . Perhaps the method might be considered a discovery, but what we have found has been known for years, and it is nothing more nor less than the valuable medicinal properties that have always existed in the cod's liver, and for which cod liver oil has been prescribed by so many physicians. Cod liver oil is something that is very valuable in all sorts of wasting diseases, and is itself is extremely disagreeable. For those who have a tendency to sore throat, bronchitis, coughs, colds, for everyone of an anemic disposition, it has always been considered as simply invaluable, and yet it has more often been necessary to abandon its use than it has been possible to devise a way of administering it.

Two eminent French chemists started in and got interested in the matter, and after years of study they have succeeded in extracting from the liver of the cod just what is necessary, and have left behind that obnoxious, greasy, vile-tasting fatty matter, the thought of which even has turned the stomachs of thousands. They found a way of getting the kernal out of the nut.

That is how the so much talked about Vinol is made. It is the concentrated essence of medicine found in the cod's liver that does the good. The grease is like the shell of the nut, absolutely useless, only it is different from the shell of the nut because besides being useless it is extremely obnoxious and disagreeable to sight, taste and smell.

We have now taken this extract and put a sufficient quantity of it in a delicious-tasting wine. We have also added a small amount of organic iron. This heightens the tonic effect of the wine. The extract of the cod's liver comes in just the right proportion to do the greatest amount of good. "Here, drink this," said Mr. McDermid, as he reached for a bottle, and poured forth a glass full of Vinol.

The reporter after carefully tasting and drinking the glass of Vinol handed him, found it to be deliciously palatable and in every way exceedingly agreeable.

"You have just taken, condensed, of the curative principles of the cod's liver what you would find in fifty per cent. of its volume of cod liver oil. You can therefore imagine that if it is necessary to take this remedy, how much easier it will be to derive benefit from it than it used to be when cod liver oil was administered. Do you realize that formerly you only obtained a small proportion of those same curative properties in a whole pint of that horrid oil? Doesn't that tell the story to you?"

The reporter thanked Mr. McDermid for his kindness, and left him, wondering to himself whether after all a man had to be born on purpose to be famous, or whether notoriety and good fortune did not sometimes come as a matter of luck.

WEDDING BELLS

BRADBURN—WILSON

A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. Robert Wilson, north of Omemee, on the afternoon of January 9, when his daughter, Rebecca Adeline, was united in marriage to Mr. John B. Bradburn, of Manvers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. McCulloch, in the presence of about fifty guests. The bride looked pretty in a lovely cream silk colienne dress trimmed with lace and cream satin ribbon, and wore a wreath of roses and carried a bouquet of white carnations and smilax. Miss Victoria Wilson acted as bridesmaid and wore a white silk dress trimmed with lace. Mr. John A. Paul, of Janetville, ably performed the duties of best man. Valetta Bradburn, niece of the groom, and Eva Cronk, niece of the bride, acted as flower girls and were admired by all.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful gold necklet, to the bridesmaid a gold brooch, to the groomsman a gold watch charm, and to each of the flower girls a gold ring. The presents to the bride were numerous and costly. The wedding dinner was all that could be desired and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson made all their numerous guests feel perfectly at home. Mr. Robert Wilson, Jr., the newly-elected councillor, acted as manager-in-chief. Congratulations were given by Mr. Stinson, Mr. Wilson, the groomsman, and Rev. R. McCulloch, and responded to by the groom. The happy couple took the 9.30 train for Peterborough, where they spent their honeymoon. Their home will be near Janetville.

THE BARGAIN ANNEX

IT'S ORIGIN AND USEFULNESS

A LITTLE over a year ago we transformed our fourth floor into a Bargain Annex; from the commencement its success was assured—for genuine bargains always appeal to the thrifty inclined. We hardly need to tell you of the crowds that have thronged the Annex from week to week, nor need we to tell you of the tremendous Bargains that are characteristic of the Annex; that is all still fresh on your minds—we have yet to hear of the first dissatisfied purchaser.

...OUR BUYING FACILITIES ARE UNEXCELLED...

The Bargain Annex is known to all the Big Wholesalers and Manufacturers, and as soon as a Big Bargain is on the market, we are first to hear of it, and usually we "clinch" it at our own price, which accounts for those Big Bargains you have had during the past months.

From an experiment the Bargain Annex has become a permanent institution of this store. Get the Habit and Come Every Wednesday.

The Bargain Annex will re-open on Wednesday, the 16th inst., with a Big Generous List of Seasonable Bargains.

OBITUARY

MRS. EDWARD CALCUTT

The Rainer Valley Record, of Columbia, Wash., in a recent issue has the following reference to the death of a former Peterborough lady:—

Harriett, beloved wife of Edward Calcutt, departed this life Tuesday, December, 31, at the advanced age of 74 years.

Mrs Calcutt had been suffering for some time from a cancer of the stomach, which finally resulted in her death while at Providence hospital.

She leaves a husband 80 years of age, and two sons, Marion Y., and William to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Calcutt was a native of Peterborough, Canada, coming to Dunlap nine years ago with her husband. She was a member of the Episcopal church of this place. She was an active Christian worker, one who never missed an opportunity to exemplify the true spirit of the Master. Those who knew her loved her and she will be missed by a host of friends.

The services were conducted from the Bonney-Watson undertaking parlours, Wednesday, by the Rev. Mr. Hudson, rector of the Episcopal church at Bremerton and at Dunlar.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Collin Gibb, Col. Joseph Green, George Glass, Wilson Davidson, Harry Egan and F. X. Holl.

LINDSAY MAN FROZEN IN THE WEST

Malcolm Cole, on a 70 Mile Journey After Fuel, Badly Frozen—Mules Frozen to Death

A recent report from Saskatoon, Sask., informs the Lindsay Post of the serious case of Mr. Malcolm Cole, who had been badly frozen. Mr. Cole is an old Lindsay citizen, he having conducted a grocery store in the north ward. Last fall he left for the West, accompanied by his wife, and has since conducted a store near Saskatoon.

The Post adds: Our readers will doubtless have heard of the coal famine in the West and how many have been suffering from a lack of fuel. Such seems to have been the case with Mr. Cole, for on the 5th of January he started out with a team of mules, for a load of coal, a distance of 70 miles. A blizzard came on that night, and later, Mr. Cole was found badly frozen, and nearby the bodies of the two mules frozen to death. Mr. Cole was taken to the hospital at Saskatoon and lies there in a very critical condition.

Deep sympathy is felt for Mr. Cole who had won general respect for himself in this town.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment

You cannot afford to grow old.

In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible, one's youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.

The presence of dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as dandruff cure.

APPOINT COMMITTEE TO DEAL WITH THE SHOW

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, One of Committee Charged with Duty of Arranging for Annual Dairy Show for Ontario

PETERBOROUGH'S CHANCES FOR SHOW

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, who returned on Saturday afternoon from Ottawa, where he was attending the annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, has been given signal honour by the members of that association, in electing him to the special committee charged with the task of selecting a location for holding the annual dairy show, which the association endorsed, and which Peterborough is an applicant for. At a meeting of the newly-elected directors of the association, held subsequent to the meeting of the association, this matter was considered, and a committee appointed to meet with a similar committee to be appointed by the Western Ontario Association, which meets this week. This committee is composed of Messrs. Alexander Hume, H. Glendenning, G. A. Gillespie and R. G. Murphy. This committee, with that from the sister association, will meet the Government and ask for a grant to assist the associations in holding the show.

Offers have already been received from Peterborough, Guelph and Toronto, all of which cities are anxious to secure the show, and this committee will have full power to deal with them.

Mr. Gillespie stated that while, so far as the business transacted at the convention, which closed on Friday, was a success, the attendance was not nearly so large as that of last year, when the association met in Peterborough. The district around Ottawa is not particularly good from a dairy standpoint, and there were comparatively few farmers at the convention, the attendance being confined largely to the manufacturers. A number of important matters, however, were considered, and legislation passed which will result in permanent benefit to the dairy industry in this part of the Province.

Mr. Gillespie is hopeful of securing the dairy show, for this city, the impression being general among the dairymen who attended the convention that this was the better location for it.

The case was to have been considered to-morrow, but owing to the indisposition of the Magistrate, proceedings will not be taken until the following day.

MERCHANT RESCUED WAIDEN IN DISTRESS

Was Fleeing from Undesirable Attentions of Young Man

A local business man was able to succor a maiden in distress the other night. He was returning home at a somewhat late hour, when, on George street, near the corner of Dublin street, his attention was attracted by the loud talking of a young man and woman on the opposite side of the street. Suddenly the young woman darted away from the man and broke into a run down George street. The man started in pursuit, and the girl, seeing Mr. Business Man, dashed across the street and implored his protection. The man she was escaping from kept on down George street. The girl would not give any explanation of the affair, but she seemed very much afraid of the man, from whom she fled. The identy of both parties is unknown to the business man.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE TO BE FORMED IN CITY

An Important Meeting of Building Contractors of the City to be Held on Thursday Night

FOR THEIR MUTUAL PROTECTION

A movement is on foot in the city to form a Builders' Exchange, and, with this object in view a meeting of the building contractors of the city has been called for Thursday night in the City Council Chamber.

Mr. James Bogue and Mr. Thos. Rutherford are at the head of the project which they believe will result beneficially to all the interests concerned. They point out that while the building trades of the city have formed themselves into unions, the contactors have no central organization, and they believe that to deal successfully with the interests which may, at times be opposed to those of the builders they should have an exchange, such as is proposed.

The main object of the contractors in forming this exchange is to protect local builders against the outside contractors. They believe that providing the local men's prices are reasonable they should have preference when local contracts are being let, and with the exchange they will be be in a better position to secure what they consider their rights.

It is the intention of the builders interested to form an exchange at the meeting on Thursday night. Officers will probably be elected, and a constitution adopted.

A draft constitution has been prepared, and from it the objects of the society are set forth as follows:—

The purpose of the Society shall be to encourage and protect the building interests in the city of Peterborough, to establish and maintain uniformity in commercial usages, to give valuable business information, to avoid, if possible, and to adjust trade difficulties and misunderstandings, to inculcate just and equitable principles and to promote good feeling and harmony among those engaged in the building trade, and other kindred trades, to the end that membership in this society shall be an assurance to the public of skill, honourable reputation and propriety.

They Mean It.

ECONOMY.

Of course there are other good points about "SURPRISE" Soap besides the way it makes work easy, and one of the best is the economy of it.

"SURPRISE" is a pure, hard soap, and it takes only a little to do a big lot of work. Some people who use it say they don't know which wears the best, the soap or the clothes they wash with it.

And it's just as good for general housework as it is for the laundry; in fact, there is n't a thing washable that can't be cleaned with "SURPRISE" Soap, better, easier, and cheaper than it could be done in any other way.

When this is understood most everybody is surprised that "SURPRISE" costs no more than common soaps.

AFTERMATH OF THE ASSAULT CASE TO-DAY

James Kelly of the Royal Hotel, Charged With Selling Liquor to an Indian on January 8th

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED TO-DAY

The case of James Kelly, the proprietor of the Royal Hotel, which resulted incidentally from the Clunan case that was disposed of last week, attracted a large crowd to the Police Court this morning.

A prelimiary case was that of Mark Butcher, who was charged with with being the owner of a dog that attacked Percy Fowler and bit him. Owing to lack of witnesses the case was adjourned until Tuesday morning.

James Kelly was then charged with having sold intoxicating liquor to an Indian Richard Cornelius, on January 8. Mr. J. T. Haverston, of Toronto, was present, and looked after the interests of the defendant.

Cornelius was the first witness called. His testimony was similar to that already given in the case against P. Clunan. He related how, on the morning of January 8, with two friends, Thomas Cleary and Daniel Leary, he came to this city from Indian River. They went to the Royal Hotel and each man treated once, so the Indian had three drinks. He said that the first glass was of Scotch whisky and the other two of rye. Witness said that later on Kelly refused Cleary and him more liquor.

Mr. J. T. Haverston then questioned witness about his doings that morning. Cornelius said that he knew Kelly about 16 years. Cleary asked for a drink, and the three men went up to the bar. Witness asked for Scotch whisky, and two rye bottles and one of Scotch were put up for their use. Leary and Cleary took rye. On the second treat the Indian asked for more Scotch, but it was all gone, and he asked a second time for cherry whisky, but there was none of that in the house, so he took rye, the same as Cleary and Leary. To Mr. Haverston he stated that he was a member of the Oneida tribe, but was not given any treaty money or an annuity from any source. He also said that he was in no way connected with a reservation, either at Rice Lake or otherwise.

Thomas Cleary

The next witness examined was Thos. Cleary. He said, as on the previous examination, that he had accompanied the Indian and Leary to the city last Tuesday. In the Royal Hotel he took whisky, and heard Cornelius ask for Scotch. He heard nothing said about cherry whisky. On further questioning as to what was drank, Cleary said that he was looking out for himself, and did not "analyse" what the others were drinking.

To Mr. Haverston witness said that he was sure Cornelius asked for Scotch and was refused. He also saw only two bottles on the bar. He did not know what was in them; it was what was called whisky, but might have been diluted with water.

Daniel Leary

The third of the trio from Indian River was Daniel Leary, who was next examined. Witness said that he had two drinks and a cigar at the Royal Hotel. He heard the Indian ask for Scotch, but not for cherry whisky.

To the defendant's counsel, on examination, witness said that he heard Cornelius ask for Scotch whisky on two of the rounds. He saw a bottle of what appeared to be soft drink on the counter nearby.

James Kelly

The defendant, Jas. Kelly, was then called, and stated that he was only a month in the hotel business, having formerly teamed with his own horses for about two years. Previously he worked with Mr. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon. He testified that on the occasion in question the Indian asked for Scotch whisky, but witness said he had none, as also he had no gin, which was demanded. Indian asked for something to drink and witness set up on the bar a bottle of lemon sour and a glass larger than the ordinary whisky glass. Leary treated the second time, and the Indian asked again for Scotch, but did not get it, and asked for the same and received more lemon sour. Witness said that he did not see the men drink, as he walked away to the cash register to make change.

Edward Leary

The second witness for the defence was Edward Wilson, who was working at the hotel that day. Witness corroborated the testimony of Kelly regarding the drinks. However, while Kelly's back was turned he saw the Indian take whisky from the whisky bottle that had been placed on the bar with one of lemon sour. On the second treat Cornelius repeated the trick. On the third round the Indian took a cigar, according to witness.

William Christie

Wm. Christie was also examined. He was boarding at the Royal Hotel at the time in question. His testimony was much similar to that of the last witness. He saw the Indian drink the whisky when Kelly's back was turned. This concluded the defence.

Cornelius was recalled and stated that he did not see any lemon sour bottle on the bar and that he drank from a whisky bottle, and had no cigar on the first three treats.

To his counsel Kelly stated that when he told the Indian he had no Scotch or gin, he thought it the easiest way to refuse him.

Mr. Haverston, in concluding his defence, said that, according to the Act, an Indian was any male person of Indian blood reputed to belong to a particular band, and that Cornelius did not come within the definition. In his testimony he proved himself not to be an Indian.

Magistrate Dumble decided to reserve judgment for a week.

Concord Village Appeals for Wives

Concord!

There's nothing about the name that hints at the true nature of the place.

It sounds like a good old fashioned kind of a country village, with more than its fair share of "maidens withering on the stalk," a country doctor, and a few bad boys. But it isn't.

In fact, Concord, Mass., leaps right into the limelight of publicity as a sanitarium for maidens of uncertain age with blasted matrimonial hopes.

The village of Concord is a newly organized community located on the beautiful shore of Lake Superior, just eight miles east of Grand Marais.

The population of the village consists of 29 widowers and bachelors, and four families which contain 14 children.

But Concord realizes its shortcoming. Concord is not single and unashamed. Before the haunting finger of scorn, and the accumulated wrath of the maiden ladies of the great American republic, the Concord widowers and bachelors hang out their heads in shame, while the words of President Roosevelt sting them like whips. In their dire extremity they have besought the aid of newspapers to deliver them from the desolation of their single cussedness.

Each widower and bachelor has 160 acres of fine farming land, and Concord will show the world that her citizens can support wives in the way that they are accustomed to. Concord has done her part. The Concord Society for the Propogation of Matrimony has elected John Massmann as grand chief cupid, and he is authorized to receive all communications from prospective wives.

The lonely Concord bachelors and widowers stretch forth their appealing hands to the unclaimed treasures of the wide world, and as their lips move there can be faintly heard the word, "come."

POLICY OF NEW MAYOR OUTLINED IN ADDRESS

Inaugural Meeting of the City Council Was Held This Morning—All Members Present

THE POWER QUESTION REFERRED TO

The inaugural meeting of the city council was held this morning, when the Mayor and all the Aldermen were present. The chief feature of the meeting was the address of Mayor McWilliams outlining the policy he intends to pursue during the year. Reference was made to the many important matters that are to be taken up, chief among them the power question.

City Clerk Armstrong read the result of the elections, and stated that the Mayor and Aldermen had taken the necessary declaration of office.

Mayor McWilliams then addressed the council, saying that he wished to touch upon the matters that were of the most importance just now:

Manufactures

The first matter was the securing of new manufactories. The city appeared on the point of greater successes than ever before, but they must not rest on their oars. The Mayor referred to the fact that the development of Niagara Falls power had changed matters. Peterborough should be able to offer cheap power, if the city wanted manufactories. He spoke of the offer from the Otonabee Power Company, to supply power at $15 per horse power. A similar offer had been received from the Peterborough Light and Power Company, but the offer had been limited to a three years' lease.

ALD. McINTYRE
Chairman of Property Committee

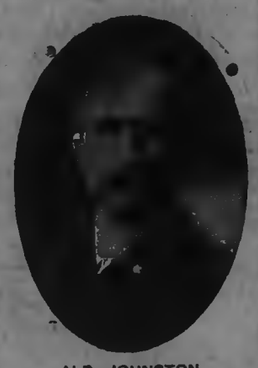
Referring to the special revenue received from the railway tax, Mayor McWilliams said he thought that it should be devoted to a special purpose, and that this year it should be used for adverising the town.

Light and Power Company's Offer

The Light and Power Company's offer was next touched upon. Mayor McWilliams referred to the early stages of the negotiations. Speaking of the separation of the gas works and Auburn dams, where power could be obtained. Speaking of the latter Mayor McWilliams referred to the difficulty experienced in getting the necessary legislation. He thought there would be no great trouble in coming to an agreement with Mr. Kendry in reference to the Auburn power. Reference was made to the power of the Hydro-Electric Commission to expropriate any power they see fit. He was in favour of leaving the matter to the Commission.

Cost Should Be Kept Down

The whole cost of the purchase of the light plant must be kept within the limits of reasonable debenture debt.



ALD. JOHNSTON
Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee

The third difficulty in the way was the danger of conflic with the Conmee Bill. The city owed the Otonabee Company a good deal as it was to them that credit for the cheap light should be given. He thought the fixing of the rate should be left to the Hydro-Electric Commission. It had been suggested that the city should only purchase the street plant. This would do away with the danger of competition.

In connection with the purchase of the plant, the Mayor advocated the appointment of a small committee of three members, who would keep the council in touch with all that was going on.

Street Work

Speaking of the street work, Mayor McWilliams said that there were certain reforms to be carried out. A large number of concrete crossings should be built. It was in the central portions that the crossings were most needed. A better system of keeping the business portion of the streets clean was needed.

Referring to the building of sewers by day labour the Mayor advocated the principle of having the city build the sewer itself. There were a lot of sewers yet to be built, and the council should try and see that every sewer that is applied for is built this year. He thought that a time should be fixed for the receiving of applications for sewers and sidewalks and all in before that time should be served first. The Mayor advocated the system of making no improvements on streets where there is not a sewer or water service.

Sanitary Inspector

Sanitary inspection was the next subject touched upon. He referred to Ald. McIntyre's bylaw for the inspection of milk, and Ald. Elliott's suggestion of taking up the principal of municipal scavenging. A sanitary inspector was needed and one should be appointed as soon as possible.

Dairy Show

Referring to the dariy show proposal Mayor McWilliams said that it would be a splendid thing for the city. He spoke of the proposal to erect a new market building, which would serve for the dairy show and also as a market. Reference was made to the decrease in market tolls due to some extent to the lack of accommodation, and to the revenue that would be derived from the leases of the present buildings if new ones were erected.

A number of communications were received after which the council went into committee of the whole to deal with the question of the chairmanships of the different committees.

There were present: Ald. Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Leary, Stevenson, Bradburn, Bell, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, Morrow and Phelan.

ALD PHELAN
Chairman of Reception Committee

Light and Power Company's Offer

The Light and Power Company's offer was next touched upon. Mayor McWilliams referred to the early stages of the negotiations. Speaking of the separation of the gas plant from the light and power business, he stated that Mr. Stuart had answered in the negative when asked if he would separate the two.

There were three difficulties in the way of the purchase of the light plant. There was the question of power. In this connection the Mayor referred to the water

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Jan. 14.—Extension of the recovery to-day took place on the shorts, but it was short lived for stock was met and bearish operations followed, with the result that the list was confined within the trading limits upward and in turn seemed to turn for the lower levels again, confirming the wisdom of the advocated policy of maintaining the strict trading position on the list as a whole, selling on rallies for turns and buying on the declines for small profits.

The report that Northwest would issue $25,000,000 new stock started the ball rolling in the afternoon and the bears had much the best of it. The list declined easily, the chief weakness being in Northwest, Nor. Pac. C. P.R., N.Y.C., U.P., and Copper. There was no rally to speak of and the close was weak at the low for the day. We advise selling this market on all strong spots and would not be surprised to see them sell much lower.

SUCCESSOR TO REV. F. J. SCOTT OFFICIATED SUNDAY

Successor to Rev. J. R. Webb, Late of Montreal, is the New Pastor of the Murray Street Baptist Church His Initial Duties

LARGE CONGREGATIONS AT THE SERVICES

Yesterday's services at the Murray street Baptist church, were of special interest to the congregation, and to the new pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, late of Montreal. It was Rev. Mr. Webb's introduction to his new flock, and it is safe to say that their future relations should be of the happiest. In his late field of work, Rev. Mr. Webb formed many strong friendships with his people, as the daily press has recounted recently, and it is sincerely hoped that he will meet with even greater success in this city. He made mention yesterday of the great reputation that the Murray street Baptists had gained in regard to missionary work, stating that throughout the whole Dominion they are known for their zeal in that work. He also spoke of the good will which existed between the congregation and their late pastor, Rev. F. J. Scott, and and hoped that the people would find the speaker deserving of similar confidence and co-operation.

Rev. Mr. Webb preached his first sermon at the morning service yesterday, from St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians, 14th verse of the 12th chapter, "I seek not the things that are yours, but you."

In reference to this text, which was a most appropriate one for the occasion, the preacher gave an account of the Apostle Paul's regard for Christ, before and after his conversion. Before he saw his error, he possessed riches and wealth of all kinds, and authority, and pride. He was of noble birth and acted as a peer among men in every respect. But afterwards, when by his marvellous conversion he became a staunch disciple of Christ, he cast away earthly pleasures and joys, and desired better things. He wanted a plentitude of God's love and to gain it by a great love for Him, and obedience to His word.

Thus, when speaking to the Corinthians, he said, "I seek not the things that are yours, but you." He meant that he was seeking for their salvation, and not for any of their earthly possessions. St. Paul wanted to give the good, and received the better, or gave the better and receive the best. He gave up everything that he might serve Jesus, by spreading His teachings, and winning soldiers to the banners of Christ.

These words discover for every individual his chief asset. What you have is not your best asset; what you are, is. Every man has not a purse, but every one has a soul. The speaker quoted the Scripture, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things he possesses."

Rev. Mr. Webb then referred to the awakening of the money-crazed kings of finance, to the fact that many of them in the diligent, continual search for wealth, have paid prices that were far too great, to leave any enjoyment of their opulence. One of them says: "The simpler my life the happier I am." It is pathetic, the speaker said, to read of what some men have lost in accumulating money. Some cannot rest, being nervous wrecks; others experience pain when eating the simplest fare, and no one — common little pleasures that the average man seldom gives one thought to, and yet of what magnitude when man has deprived himself of them!

Rev. Mr. Webb said that the Lord balances the gifts that he gives to men, and that if a man is poor financially he is generally well off in other respects. Material poverty is no disadvantage in a spiritual sense.

So lavish, remarked the speaker, is God in bestowing riches of gold and silver, that He gives to those who serve Him as well as to those who do not. He is prodigal in giving material things, but these He can reclaim in an instant. There is one thing in the world, however, that God is very anxious about, and that is man. He cannot have man, unless the latter assents. Man must seek God willingly, in all love and respect.

Rev. Mr. Webb then made mention of the very notable work the congregation of the Murray street Baptist church had done quite recently when they sent Rev. Mr. Scott and his wife far off to South America, for the glory of God and the welfare of Christianity.

He also stated that while God is seeking men those that belong to Him should strive to seek the fallen for Him. There was a great work for the church, and he asked for the co-operation of the people that sinners might be saved and won for Christ.

Rev. Mr. Webb closed his sermon by an appeal to the people for their support, that his work with them in their behalf might result most favourably, and that his ministration might be a success.

The formal reception to Mr. Webb as pastor will take place next Friday night.

THE CARPET MAKERS' HOPE NOW CENTRED IN THIS CITY

Decadence of the Carpet Industry in Kidderminster—Pre-eminence of That City is on the Wane, Say Manufacturers

OTHER FACTORIES WILL ALSO COME

The Canadian Journal of Fabrics says: "While Canada is congratulating herself on the acquisition of some highly important and valuable Old Country industries, and at a time doubtless when there are serious thoughts of others coming shortly, especially with such splendid advertisements being given the country as that of Lord Grey before the Toronto Canadian Club, it is of interest to note how this same thing looks from the other side. In this connection we learn that there is a probability of the action of the manufacturers of high grade carpets being followed by one or two of those who have made a reputation in making the cheaper qualities. The London Standard of a recent date had the following:

After a successful manufacturing career, dating back to the Lay Subsidy Roll of 1280, Kidderminster is engaged in the melancholy task of endeavouring to "make both ends meet." She has woven wool for over 500 years. In carpet making she has been almost mistress of the loom, but now she has ringing in her ears, Johnson's prophetic words, "Trade's proud empire hastens to swift decay," and seeing her trade leaving her, she is breathing prayers for help.

Regulations as to the making and selling of woollen cloths in the town are extant for 1334; an act of Henry VIII. recites that Kidderminster had long been maintained and upholden by reason of making woollen cloths.

Her pre-eminence, however, is on the wane, and there are far-seeing men who prophesy that unless the country mends its business ways, or Kidderminster seeks a new industry she will sink into oblivion.

"It is the development of the American trade that is largely responsible for the falling off of our manufactures," says the veteran manufacturer of Kidderminster. "We used to send two-fifths of our whole produce to the States — up to the sixties, but now we only send a small amount of goods to the millionaires to whom the price is of no account, and who swallow the enormous duty without care. We are hoping to do well in Canada, where—at Peterborough, Ontario—we are starting a factory. The factory is finished and the looms and other machinery are going in. We have kept our doors open for the unemployed here in Kidderminster, and are encouraging them to apply for work in Canada.

"Bad trade has been made worse by an advance of 300 per cent. in wool, during the last 18 months—a rise due in the main to the operations of the Americans in the open markets in which we purchase our raw material. You see, these competitors have the advantages of us in every way, and the same may be said of our competitors in the East, where wages are as low as 2 1-2 d. per day, and the manufactures are carried on under the most insanitary conditions."

CITY SHOULD HAVE THE DAIRY SHOW

Is the Opinion of Mr. N. G. Somerville—Give Honour Where Honour is Due

"Give honour where honour is due," were the words of Mr. N. G. Somerville, Dairy Instructor of Brockville, in speaking of the proposed National Dairy Exhibition to an Examiner reporter on Saturday. He was asked which of the three places proposed should be the one to get the show. He believed that Peterborough deserved the exhibition for the great reason that the people of this district are more interested in dairy work than any other in the Province.

He referred to the grand reception accorded the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, which met here a year ago.

"Peterborough has excellent railway facilities," he said, "and is the most central of the three proposed cities."

In his tour through this country Mr. Somerville found the greatest possible interest exhibited in the dairy questions, and he considered that no mistake could be made in making Peterborough the location of the big exhibition.
